1ST ACCOUNTING OF LARGE ESTATE

R. T. Colburn, Uncle of W. H. Colburn, of This City, Makes Odd Bequests.

NEPHEW RECEIVES $600

Deceased, Who Was a War Correspondent, Buried In Hillside Cemetery—Estate Valued at $376,673.91.

New York, Sept. 1.—The first accounting of the estate left by Richard T. Colburn, uncle of W. Harry Colburn, a mason, of 1,407 South End avenue, Plainfield, was filed today in the office of the clerk of the surrogate's court. According to a statement made by the United States Mortgage and Trust Company, executors, the will may be contested by the heirs.

Mr. Colburn was a war correspondent, a railroad man and a banker. He died from the rupture of a brain blood vessel on December 9, 1913, aged eighty years, leaving a will in which he directed that the distribution of his estate be as follows:

The sum of $600 to the Plainfield nephew; $3,000 to be divided equally between six other nieces and nephews, one of whom is Agnes C. Brown, of South Bound Brook, and $1,000 in cash, $73 in furniture and an annuity of $1,200 to his widow, Lida D. Colburn, of 244 West Ninety-ninth street.

The document contains the odd proviso that all the beneficiaries must prove, before they get their money, that they were not in any way responsible for bringing about his death.

The widow is to receive the $1,000 and the $73 worth of furniture under similar conditions if she renounces her right of dower, does not attempt in any way to contest the will, and proves that there has occurred "no estrangement, separation, or refusal to live peaceably with me at my domicile."

The annuity of only $1,200 is given to her "In order not to encourage or tempt her to sound investments, speculations, or lures of promoters, fortune-hunters, bloodsuckers, charlatans or parasites. A modest scale of expenditures is my injunction to her."

The residue was bequeathed equally between the American Association for Advancement of Science and the Carnegie Research Fund, both of Washington.

The accounting by the executors show that $376,673.91 has come into their hands, out of which they have paid $58,042, leaving a balance of $318,631.91 for further distribution, subject, however, first to the deductions of their commissions and the expenses of the accounting.

The report shows that all bequests to relatives have been paid, the widow having received $2,000 on her annuity, the difference between the $58,042 and that given to the relatives having been spent for the payment of taxes, funeral, creditors and other debts, as charged up against the estate.

Mr. Colburn, in his will, directed that his remains be interred in Hillside cemetery, at Plainfield.

September 8 will be the last day for filing petitions for the nomination of candidates to be voted for at the primary election within a single municipality and for members of the Boards of Freeholders, to be voted for in two or more municipalities.

Tailor Removes.

Joseph Himmelfarb, who has conducted a ladies' tailoring establishment at 311 New street for many years, will remove his place of business to 114-116 West Second street, Plainfield Theatre building, on or about September first. Although Mr. Himmelfarb has been most successful in his quarters on New street, he feels that a more central location is to be desired in order to accommodate his many customers and the general public.—Adv. 8 30 3

YOUNG WOMEN TAKE THE VEIL

Solemn Ceremonies Held at Mt. St. Mary College Today.

FATHER HART PRESIDES

The Misses Mary Diamond and Anna Carney Take Their First Vows—Misses Katherine Carroll and Mary Strumback Enter Religious Life.

Mt. St. Mary College was the scene of an impressive rite this morning, at 10:30 o'clock, when the solemn ceremony of profession was conferred on the Misses Mary Diamond, of Belleville, and Anna Carney, of this city, by Father Peter J. Hart, pastor of St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, assisted by Father John Baldwin, chaplain of Mt. St. Mary College; Father Thomas McEnery, of Caldwell, and Father John McCorriston, of the Sacred Heart church, of Trenton. The occasion marked their entrance into the religious order they have chosen for their life-work, and the first vows taken by the young women this morning follow a two and a half year probation in the novitiate.

Miss Diamond took the name of Sister Mary Eymard, while Miss Carney will bear the name of Sister Priscilla. The former will enter her religious duties in Camden, while the latter will remain at Mt. St. Mary College.

This afternoon another ceremony took place when the Misses Katherine Carroll, of Trenton, and Mary Strumback, of Plainfield, after a six months' probation, were received into the religious life. The rite marked their initial donning of the sisterhood habit, which they will wear for two and one-half years before receiving their first vows.

In conection with the ceremonies at the college today, Father Hart made an eloquent address, in which he gave the young women some advice as they were about to undertake their religious work. The visiting priests also addressed the young women briefly, outlining their duties and giving them encouraging words. The ceremonies this afternoon were followed by an informal reception, at which the priests and Sisters of the college were present.

WILL ORGANIZE BRANCH OF ORDER OF CLINKS

Charles H. Denman, of Westfield, is in Plainfield endeavoring to organize a branch of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Clinks, and is circulating a petition to that effect.

A branch was organized in Westfield Washington's Birthday last and has a membership of about 800. There are 46 Plainfielders numbered among those in the Westfield branch, who would be transferred here, and Mr. Denman hopes to be able to call a meeting in this city very soon for the purpose of effecting an organization.

The object of the society as applied to Westfield is "To perpetuate the town of Westfield as a wholesome community, where the rational rights of individuals are respected." It is an Anti-Prohibition movement.

50TH ANNIVERSARY AS FIRE FIGHTER

Chief T. O. Doane Today Completes Half Century As Member of Local Department.

RECALLS EXPERIENCES

Throughout His Long Career He Has Fought Many Battles—Now Attending International Fire Chiefs' Convention.

Possessed of a vitality that a man half his years might well feel proud of and blessed with a knowledge of the fire-fighting game that rivals that of the country's best known municipal department heads, Chief T. O. Doane today is celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of his advent into the profession that has become his hobby; and at seventy-two he is piling abuse on the Dr. Osler theory that a man has passed the state of worldly usefulness when he nears the half century mark. To recount the experiences of a half century of fire fighting would be well night impossible, but to say that the head of the Plainfield department has done more than his share toward putting his hobby on its present high plane of excellence is expressing in a modest and general way the use to which those fifty years have been put. As nimble to answer an alarm as the youngest man in the department; as regular at his desk and where duty calls

FEDERAL BUILDING PLANS RETURNED

Contractor Charles Gilpin Is Now Estimating the Cost of Proposed Changes.

Although no actual work is being done on the new Plainfield postoffice building, the material is arriving slowly and being carted to the grounds. So far two carloads of granite and four carloads of limestone have arrived from the quarries, all properly cut and marked, ready to be placed in position by the stone layers.

The plans calling for the changes in the original specifications are in the hands of the general contractor, Charles Gilpin, of Philadelphia. United States Inspector S. H. Healy, who is in charge of the work here, has already figured the cost of the changes. It is the custom of the Government to receive an estimate from the successful bidder on the original job when it is necessary to make changes, and if his figures are not excessive, to award the contract for the new work to him. This is the course which will be followed in this case. If Contractor Gilpin's estimate corresponds with Inspector Nealy's figures when it is received, Mr. Nealy will simply send it on to Washington with a recommendation that it be accepted.

The alterations to be made will provide for additional office room in the building in accordance with a request to that effect made upon the Government through United States Senator James E. Martine. The changes were allowed by the authorities at Washington and the work was stopped two weeks ago.

In addition to enlarging the office rooms on the first floor, the revised plans call for another office in the basement, and certain changes in the basement will have to be made to provide for this office.

Just how much longer the work will have to be held up cannot be said. While only the one general contractor is to be heard from, this man will have to obtain estimates on the changes from all the sub-contractors affected as well as many material men. The contractor has until August 1, 1916, to complete the building, but will probably be granted additional time in view of the fact that the work has been held up by the Government and not through any fault of his.

ANOTHER WHEEL TAKEN.

The Board of Health office reported to the police yesterday afternoon that a bicycle belonging to that body had been stolen from in front of the office in the City National Bank Building. This is the second wheel taken from a stone's throw of the corner of Front street and Park avenue within the last ten days.

PLAN FOR A DANCE.

Routine business and arrangements for a dance were discussed at the meeting of the Y. W. H. A., held last night, in the Y. M. H. A. rooms on Front street. A special meeting was called for Tuesday, September 7, at which time plans for the affair will be completed. A large turnout of members is requested.

FIRST PETITION FILED IN CITY

Slate For Councilmanic Candidates Is Rapidly Filling.

TOWNSEND UNOPPOSED

L. M. Booth First to Present Endorsement With City Clerk MacMurray—Richard A. Claybrook Will Not Succeed Himself.

With but a week left for the filing of petitions for city offices, the Republicans have about completed their slate for councilmen, while the Democrats have three places to fill. Up to the present time the only candidate for the city collectorship is the present efficient incumbent, William R. Townsend. The only councilmanic candidate whose petition has thus far been filed is that of Levis M. Booth, of the Second ward, which was delivered to City Clerk MacMurray this morning. The candidates thus far known are as follows:

First ward—Charles S. Sminck, Republican; Theodore Martin, Democrat.

Second ward—Levis M. Booth, Republican; Howard Lapsley, Democrat.

Third ward—Thomas F. Hylan, Republican; Den J. Galbraith, Democrat.

Fourth ward—Charles C. Graves, Republican; Charles Senger, Democrat.

At large—*John H. Cose, *Juan Babcock, one to fill, Republican.

*Seeking re-election.

The Plainfield Democratic Club at a recent meeting endorsed Councilman Richard A. Claybrook for re-election as councilman-at-large, and he also received the endorsement of the Second Ward Republican Club, but he announced definitely last night that because of his health he would positively not be a candidate for the office. This leaves the Democrats with three places to fill for that position, as well as possibly having a candidate for collector.

CITY COLLECTOR BACK ON JOB AFTER OPERATION

With the declaration that "he never felt better in his life," City Collector William R. Townsend resumed his office this morning, after an enforced absence of three months, following an operation for appendicitis and other complications. He has lost twenty-five pounds in weight, but says that he feels better for it. He found considerable work awaiting him in connection with the sale of property for unpaid taxes, which will be advertised in a few weeks, and in preparation for the annual tax bills, which go out in about two months. After he left Muhlenberg Hospital, Mr. Townsend went to Brewster, N. Y., where he spent several weeks recuperating on a farm.

ANDERSON WILL OPPOSE HAMMOND FOR NOMINATION

Former assemblyman William de LaR. Anderson, of North Plainfield, who has just returned from his vacation spent on Long Island, announced today that he had decided to seek the Assembly nomination, opposing Assembly Ogden Hammond, of Bernardsville. Mr. Anderson's petition has been placed at Howard G. Debele's store on Somerset street for signatures.

Mr. Anderson is known to be in favor of local option and should he receive the nomination, he will undoubtedly conduct his campaign on that platform. The fact that Mr. Swackhamer is seeking the Assembly nomination on the Democratic ticket, and is also in favor of local option will result in a lively campaign in Somerset county.

T. E. H. CURTIS, ART COLLECTOR, DEAD

Well-Known Resident of Plainfield Passes Away at Atlantic City.

WAS RETIRED BROKER

His Collections Were Valued at More Than $1,000,000—Refused J. Pierpont Morgan's Offer of $400,000 For Phoenician and Roman Glass.

Thomas E. Hulse Curtis, aged 63 years, who was a resident of Plainfield for nearly twenty-five years, and who was perhaps one of the best known art collectors in this country, died at the Traymore Hotel, Atlantic City, Monday night, a victim of progressive atrophy. The funeral and burial will take place at Middletown, N. Y., tomorrow.

Mr. Curtis, with his mother, Mrs. Harriet Curtis, and his sister, Miss Louise Curtis, together with three daughters, the Misses Florence, Louise and Sylvia Curtis, spent considerable of their time at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, although they maintained a handsome residence at 511 West Eighth street, where they lived during the early spring and summer. It was here that Mr. Curtis kept his valuable collections, which are said to be valued at more than $1,000,000.

Several years ago the late J. Pierpont Morgan made an offer of

H. T. CLARK'S ESTATE VALUED AT $137,778.06

Walter and Charles Clark, of This City, Brothers of Deceased, Are Beneficiaries.

New York, Sept. 1.—An appraisal of the estate left by Heman Thomas Clark, brother of Walter and Charles Clark, of Plainfield, N. J., who died August 30, 1914, at the Presbyterian Hospital, this city, filed today in the office of the clerk of the Surrogate's Office, shows that he left a net estate of $137,778.06, in which the Plainfield heirs share.

Mr. Clark devised his money as follows: The sum of $43,544.25 to Rose Noethinger, a friend, of 828 Eastern Parkway, New York; $100 to Marguerite Clark Wessells and George Clark, each, daughter and son, both of Carmel, N. Y.; $200 for the care of the grave, and $2,000 to be divided between three aunts, an uncle and two cousins. The rest of the estate is to be divided equally between two sisters and the three brothers, Nettie A. Kert and Margaret C. Lavin, both of Portchester, N. Y.; Walter and Charles Clark, of Plainfield, and John S. Clark, of Patchogue, L. I. Nettie A. Kert, Margaret C. Lavin and Walter C. Clark are the executors.

Hardly had the will been offered for probate when both of the decedent's children filed objections to the probate of the document, charging, among other things, that the execution of the document was obtained by undue influence and fraud by the residuary legatees and Rose Noethinger, and that their father at the time of the execution of the document was not of sound mind and memory or capable of disposing of his estate by any will.

Following a compromise out of court the objections were withdrawn, but the papers on file in the Surrogate's Office do not show how the controversy was settled.

The report, however, shows that Martha E. Arnold, of No. 1,404 Main street, Peekskill, N. Y., grandmother of the two contestants, put in a claim against the estate for $23,173.52, claiming that the estate owed that amount to her for board and the support of the two children for the last twenty years and that her claim has been rejected. The executors expect to fight a suit for that amount in the courts.

Mr. Clark, who was 47 years old, died following an operation. He was a native of this city and was the son of the late Herman Clark. He lived at No. 828 Eastern Parkway, here.

ABANDONMENT OF SUBMARINE POLICY BY GERMANY ANNOUNCED BY COUNT VON BERNSTOFF TODAY

WASHINGTON AUTHORITIES TOLD THAT KAISER HAS DECIDED TO ACCEPT PRINCIPLE OF AMERICAN POSITION.

U BOAT THAT DESTROYED ARABIC IS WRECKED

Ambassador Page So Notifies Washington Authorities—Berlin Says Friedrichstadt Will Soon Fall, Followed By Riga and Vilna—300,000 Russians Killed and Wounded Since May—Germans Renew Attacks In the Vosges.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Germany has abandoned her submarine warfare policy.

Secretary of State Lansing officially announced today following a conference with Count von Bernstorff that the German Government had decided to accept in principle the American position on submarine warfare against merchant vessels.

In compliance with a request of the Secretary of State, the German ambassador reduced to writing his conversation and sent by special messenger the following letter to the department:

"With reference to our conversation this morning, I beg to inform you that my instructions concerning our answer to your last Lusitania note contained the following passage: 'Liners will not be sunk by our submarines without warning and without safety to the lives of non-combatants, provided the liners do not try to escape or offer resistance.'"

Count von Bernstorff was received by the President early today at the request of the ambassador. Prior to the conference the Secretary of State was closeted with the President for some time. Mr. Lansing was not present at the conference. The German situation generally and the case of the Arabic in particular are understood to be the reasons for the conference. The President received from Secretary Lansing a report of the latest developments in the German-American situation.

The fact that the conference was at the request of the German ambassador caused greater optimism here regarding a peaceful solution of the questions at issue between the United States and Germany.

Nothing official has reached the State Department from the German Government that the submarine which is supposed to have sunk the Arabic has been lost at sea.

Ambassador Page, at London, cabled the State Department today that it is generally believed in official circles in Great Britain that the submarine which sunk the Arabic was itself sent to the bottom the next day. He said that no official report had been made.

London, Set. 1—A report from Liverpool today is that the submarine that sank the White Star liner Arabic has been captured and not sunk.

The Admiralty is silent on the subject, as it is the policy of the Admiralty to withhold news of this character.

Other reports are that the submarine had been sunk. It was said the craft attempted to torpedo the British steamer Nicosian, which arrived at Liverpool from New Orleans on August 24, five days after the Arabic went down. According to this account, the Nicosian escaped and the submarine, while attempting to sink her, fell victim to a patrol boat.

Berlin, Sept. 1—Capture of Friedrichstadt by German troops is imminent, according to latest reports received here today. This will permit the crossing of the Dwina River which, according to German military experts, will result in the immediate fall of Riga and Vilna.

The German Review declares at least 300,000 Russians were killed or wounded since May 2, asserting that this estimate is conservative.

Paris, Sept. 1—"Renewed German attacks in the Vosges resulting in the repulse of the Germans at Lingkopf and Schratzmaennele," are reported in today's official statement.

CLAYBROOK IN HOSPITAL.

Councilman Richard A. Claybrook entered the Polyclinic Hospital, in New York, to remain a week, during which time he will have a thorugh diagnosis made of the illness which has been troubling him for over a year. His many friends in the city are hoping to hear of his speedy recovery.

SMINCK ENDORSED FOR COUNCILMAN

First Ward G. O. P. Pick Secretary of Former Senator Ackerman As Candidate.

Charles S. Sminck, who lives on East Front street, was last night endorsed by the First Ward Republican Club as a candidate for Common Councilman to represent that ward. Theodore R. Martin, Democrat, is the present incumbent, and will seek re-election.

Mr. Sminck is well known in this city and has many friends, particularly in the ward where he resides. He has been active, a close student of State and city affairs, and is private secretary to former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman.

Following the meeting of the Ward Club, the City Republican Executive Committee met. The question of nominees for councilmen-at-large occupied the attention of the committee. A committee was appointed to seek a third candidate for this office, as Councilman John H. Cose and Juan A. Babcock will seek renomination. Richard A. Claybrook, Democrat, came up for discussion, and the committee decided that despite the fact that Mr. Claybrook was endorsed by the Second Ward Republican Club at a recent meeting, it was advisable to put a full ticket in the field.

The committee will meet again Friday night, at which time it is expected that some name will have been decided upon to run with Messrs. Cose and Babcock.

The interest in last night's meeting was a matter of satisfaction to those interested in the forthcoming election.

SOMERSET ASSEMBLYMAN AGAINST LOCAL OPTION

Bernardsville, Sept. 1.—That he had been misrepresented as a local optionist in past campaigns was the declaration of Ogden H. Hammond to a gathering of local Republicans here that had just indorsed him as a candidate for re-election to the Assembly from Somerset county. The gathering was in Bernards Inn, and Mrs. Hammond is a resident of Bernardsville.

In acknowledging his indorsement, Mr. Hammond declared that in past campaigns he had been misrepresented when it was said that he was in favor of local option.

"I am for local option," the speaker said, "if it will mean that the sale of rotten whisky and spirituous liquors is stopped. I am against local option if it will result in the curtailment of the sale of beer and white wines."

"PEGS" PLAN TO MEET.

The first fall meeting of the "Pegs" will be held in the Plainfield High School gymnasium, Wednesday night, September 8. Miss Clara Smith, president of the organization, will be in charge. It is especially requested that a large number be present as plans for a winter schedule will be discussed and several affairs arranged which will take place in the near future.

BOROUGH COUPLE MARRIED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Todd Entertain Many Guests In Honor of Event.

Fifty years of wedded life were completed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Todd, of 246 Front street, last night. During the day the couple were showered with letters, telegrams and verbal well wishes and congratulations, while in the evening a reception was held at their home where a large number of relatives and friends came to offer their respects and greetings. Living in this section practically the full half century, both Mr. and Mrs. Todd have won the esteem and affection of hundreds of friends in the town as well as suburban districts.

Mr. Todd was born in Martinsville seventy-two years ago while his wife, who was Miss Kryia A. Mundy, of the same town, was born eight years later. Each neighbor and friend always has a welcome smile and pleasant word from the two. The couple were married fifty years ago in the parsonage of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Lester C. Rogers, then pastor.

During the Civil War, Mr. Todd enlisted in the Thirtieth Regiment, N. J. Vols., under the captainage of J. C. Bloom. Although a mechanical blacksmith by trade, Mr. Todd has for many years held a position as brakeman on the New Jersey Central.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The junk dealers' ordinance, passed by the Borough Council in June, became effective today, and hereafter all hawkers, peddlers, exhibitors and the like are apt to be arrested if they are caught doing business within the town limits without a license. More for the sake of gaining control over their movements than from the revenue derived, the ordinance was introduced in the Council following certain unfair dealings practised by those who the ordinance will curb. Licenses are fixed at the following varioues sums: Junk dealer, $1 a year; exhibitor, $50 a day; gypsy, $10 a day; peddlers and hawkers, $2 a year, and auctioneers, $1 for each sale.

Application will be made at the meeting of the Borough Council tonight for a renewal of the hack licenses of all of the local liverymen. The drainage question in the borough will also come up for discussion, it is said.

The regular meeting of Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will be held in the Excelsior Hall lodge rooms tomorrow night.

Rev. Oscar S. Michael, pastor of the Episcopal church, has been spending several days in New England. He will instruct the members of the confirmation class of the Episcopal church tonight.

W. W. Outwater, of Tilliston road, has just returned from Mexico, where he spent several months in the interests of a New York brokerage firm.

Miss Mary Thomae, of Bound Brook, has been visiting her cousin, Miss Rose Thomae, of North avenue for several days.

As the time grows shorter in which aspirants for borough offices will be able to circulate their petitions, matters seem to be getting more confused and further from being settled than ever. Mayor Hoar said yesterday that he was not yet ready to announce one way or the other as to his candidacy for re-election at the coming primaries.

A Galley o' Fun!

HIS VIEW.

Willis.—Do you think a man should be allowed to hold the highest honor in the United States more than four years?

Gillis.—Sure thing! I say, if a man can top the league in batting for ten or eevn fifteen years, let him stay in the game for the good of the sport.

THE REAL THING.

Stranger.—Have you a good hair tonic you can recommend?

Druggist (Prohibition town).—Here is something that is spoken of very favorably by people who have drank it.

Willis.—Did they have a good time at your reception last night?

Gillis.—Yes, the guests enjoyed it hugely. All my wife's arrangements went wrong.

A DEPOSED TYRANT.

"I would like to look at some towels, please."

The clerk never moved. He was idly watching the crowd in Bargain Square.

"I asked you to show me some towels," repeated the customer with some impatience.

"Do you want to look at something? Why didn't you say so?"

"I did, I——

"You did not!" stormed the young clerk, as he slammed a pile of linen upon the counter.

"How much are those?"

"Fifty cents."

"Why they are only marked thirty-five."

"What do you know about it?" sneered the salesman.

"Do you think you can come in here and teach us how to run our business?"

"The lady is right," corrected another clerk. "The towels are thirty-five cents."

"Then I will take four," announced a white-haired customer, as she fumbled in her wrist-bag.

"Don't keep me waiting all day for the money," grumbled the man behind the counter, and the woman nervously produced a two dollar bill.

The crowd began to move from "other people get near the counter." The youth handed the woman her parcel.

"Where is the change?" she asked.

"There is none coming. You only gave me one dollar forty—even money. Get out of the way and let Bargain Square to the linen counter; But instead of obeying she proceeded to argue about her change.

The clerk grabbed her by the arm, and when she tried to extricate herself he tore her sleeve. The floorwalker wrathfully approached the counter. "See here, young man, if you want to clerk for this firm——"

"Clerk? Oh, yes, I forgot," replied the employee. "Excuse me ladies. You see, I was a street car conductor."

Eva Osler Nichols.

REVERSED.

Tourist (to Indian standing beside a pile of arrow-heads, etc.).—Heap scrap?

Indian.—Nope. Scrap heap. I'm just waiting to sell the lot to the first Eastern junk curio dealer that comes along this way."

CONSOLATION.

The cost of the necessities of life grew greater and greater till at length the Ultimate Consumer was fain to cease consuming.

He brooded much over the plight in which he found himself. His mind became unsettled.

"The Ultimate Consumer—no longer a consumer!" he muttered, over and over. Then brightening all at once, he exclaimed: "Why, that makes me the Ultimate, which philosophers have sought in vain from the earliest times!"

Whenceforth he was observed to carry himself with an air of profound satisfaction.

IF AT FIRST, ETC.

Pedestrian.—Hey! You just missed me by an inch!

Chauffeur.—Be patient! I'm coming back directly!

OUTCLASSED.

Apollo was weeping bitterly.

"No use," he sobbed, "I can never look as handsome as the young man in the ready-made clothing ads."

Angrily he tore up the pages.

THE MANLY ART.

The Lady.—What do you want, little boy?

The Kid.—Could we pull off a fight between "Butch" Riley and "Puncher" Smith down in your cellar, and could you guarantee dat dere'd be no police interference?

WISE TO THE GAME.

Mrs. Gramercy.—If you work for a living you'll never have much money.

Mrs. Park.—That's so. I think I'll take up bridge and live on other women's alimony.

Because it has had some use, and is, therefore, "second-hand," may not greatly impair its usefulness to you. So watch the 'For Sale" ads.

You Touch a Magic Button When You Become a "Want Advertiser."

Our day is the day of "touching buttons."

A President presses a button in Washington, and a titanic explosion, thousands of miles away, weds the two great seas.

We are fond, nowadays, of accomplishing big effects with simple processes.

And so the "button-pressing" magic applies to the "little things" of life, as well as to the big episodes.

When you become a "want advertiser" you press a MAGIC BUTTON—and the influence is felt in the homes and business places of the city.

Your quest becomes of interest to the people who are able to help you accomplish it.

If you seek work, and "press the button" of Plainfield Daily Press want advertising publicity, your quest becomes one of personal interest to the people who need you. The same law operates in the working out of every "want ad task."

For classified advertising makes the whole city your market; makes the right people your audience; delivers your message to all people to whom it could have any interest or importance.

Until September 11 the Daily Press will go to press on Saturdays at 1 o'clock.

Many a gunner spent a few happy hours last night cleaning up his pet gun in anticipation of the opening of the shore bird season today. MRS. MALLERY DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Wife of Rector of Church of the Heavenly Rest Passed Away Today.

After an illness extending over a period of two years, Mrs. Florence Mallery, wife of Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery, rector of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, died at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the church rectory on Clinton avenue. Mrs. Mallery was unconscious for several hours before death came, and passed away quietly. No arrangements have been made for the funeral as yet.

Although an invalid for two years Mrs. Mallery's death was hastened by a cold she caught last Friday, which brought on an acute attack of the malady with which she was afflicted. Always a patient sufferer, she was a martyr to pain, but always bore her affliction with fortitude, and never complained.

Mrs. Mallery was born in New York, but came of English stock. She had resided in Plainfield for about five years, the length of her husband's rectorship at his present charge. She leaves a husband and four children, Miss Alice Mallery aged eighteen; Jessica, Clarice and Paul, the latter six years of age. Besides the children, Mrs. Mallery is survived by a mother, Mrs. Mitchem of New York; a brother, Rev. Charles Mitchem, rector of an Episcopal church in Hackettstown, and two sisters Miss Edith Mitchem, who resides with her mother in New York and Mrs. Foster, of Washington, D. C. The Misses Alice and Jessica Mallery are visiting their aunt in Washington, where they have been for several weeks. They are expected to return home this afternoon.

Mrs. Mallery was distinctly a home body. While she took an active interest in all church and charitable work, her duties at her home occupied the greater part of her time.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO QUEEN CITY

Local Stores Are Thronged With Patrons Today In Observance of "Dollar Day."

Without a parallel "Dollar Day" will go down in the annals of Plainfield's business days as a record-breaker. All roads leads to Plainfield today and as early as 7:30 suburban roads were thronged with rigs, Fords and other vehicles, all conveying buyers to this city, while many tramped miles to get here in order to have first choice of the splendid lines offered at such spectacular prices. Every house in the city has been doing rushing business the whole day, in a number of instances extra help was necessary to afford purchasers quicker service. Without a doubt the shoe stores of the city did the most business, their stores being besieged by enthusiastic buyers. In several cases the supply was exhausted by noon today.

Department stores and gents' furnishing stores all came in for their share of the bargain hunters. Jewelry stores proved the mecca of present seekers and indications point to the fact that many handsome gifts will be stored away for the coming Christmas season.

An avalanche of values in home furnishings, wearing apparel for men, women and children were in evidence everywhere and everyone with one eye for quality and another eye for economy took advantage of the tremendous bargains. No question remains in the minds of the local merchants but that the effort for home trade was worth while.

SHIPS ARE QUARANTINED.

New York, Sept. 1.—Quarantine of all the ships of the Hamburg-American Line berthed in Hoboken was ordered by the health officers of that city today owing to the fear that fifteen cases of illness aboard the President Lincoln were the Asiatic cholera.

Tobacco Production.

India, second only to this country in the production of tobacco, consumes most of its own product and imports very little. Russia is third and raises practically all her supply, importing and exporting only a small quantity. Austria-Hungary is the fourth producing country, importing more than a fourth as much as it raises and exports one-eighth of its own crop. Germany is an extensive grower of tobacco, but imports two and a half times as much as it cultivates and does not export any. France raises considerable tobacco under government supervision and imports great quantities of the milder Virginia tobaccos to keep up the quality of the cigarettes and other product made under the state monopoly. Both France and Spain keep buyers in this market.

Not For Strangers.

"What in the world does that mean?" asked the traveler through a sparsely settled region on the Cape. "There's no such place on my road map."

The man whom he addressed first took a leisurely survey of the traveler and his horse and then turned his eyes toward the weatherbeaten sign which bore the single word "Tolpom."

"That ain't a name," he said, with dignity; "it's jest an indication. It means 'To Long pond one mile.' It's plain enough to folks from nearby that's hunting for the pond, and we don't reckon on strangers taking much interest."—Youth's Companion.

A Master of One Art.

"Have you ever loved any other girls?" breathed the maiden tremulously.

"Well, I have attempted a few kindergarten, prep school and college courses in affection," responded the man in the case, "but this represents a real purpose to get rid of my bachelor's degree."

Whereupon he took a little firmer hold.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Professional Reticence.

"Did that man quote you correctly in that interview?"

"I can't tell," replied Senator Sorghum.

"Don't you know?"

"Yes, I know, but I can't tell until I have learned how my constituents like the article."—Washington Star.

Hard Water.

The streams of water used in hydraulic mining are said to be so swift that if one tried to hack into them with a sword the weapon would fly to pieces. The water is moving so rapidly that it has no time to yield beneath the stroke and in consequence is like a bar of iron.

A small bag cannot be made to contain what is large. A short rope cannot be used to draw water from a deep well.—Chinese Proverb.

VALUES GALORE IN HOME REPLENISHING SALES

A number of manufacturers who were not represented in the goods we offered for sale on the opening day have come forward with extraordinary concessions in view of getting our regular business later. Many of the offers, although tempting in price, failed to conform to our exacting standard of quality, and had, therefore, to be rejected. New lots will be placed on sale tomorrow and will be found fully as remarkable in the values they offer as the merchandise with which we began the sale.

HOOKED BOMBS FOR ZEPPELINS

England Has New Devices to Repel Aerial Raids.

SO far the dreaded Zeppelin raids upon the English coast and upon London itself have done but little damage. They have not yet proved themselves to be dominant in the air as have the submarines in the sea. Ninety bombs were dropped in the recent raid on London, but only four persons were killed and a few injured. Compare this with the damage done to the Lusitania by a German submarine.

The illustration shows bombs from a Zeppelin that never reached London, but was obliged to descend upon one of the Faroe islands due to an accident. The crew reached ground safely and disguised themselves as fishermen. They had almost made good their escape in a fishing smack when their identity was discovered, and they were interned by the Danish authorities. An explosion destroyed the Zeppelin, but its bombs strewed the coast and are an object of curiosity to the islanders.

Though England has not suffered seriously thus far from Zeppelin attacks, it is nevertheless guarding against the German threat that London will yet be destroyed by the Zeppelin. The censorship is strict, especially strict as to the methods of defense against overhead attacks from the monsters of the air, but nevertheless it is known that anti-aircraft guns are in readiness to shoot the heavens full of holes and that London fire brigades have been especially coached to deal with fires caused by bombs.

The aerial wings of the army and navy have several cards unplayed. Unofficially it is learned that throughout England huge aerodromes have been constructed, each harboring a dozen fast air cruisers. Connecting them is a veritable "fire alarm" system which in due time will tell every aerodrome by the tapping of a gong that the kaiser's Zeppelins have arrived on their fearful mission.

It will be a signal for great activity. Hundreds of "bumblebee" warriors will soar into the air for the attack. Every one of them will carry a magazine full of small, high explosive bombs equipped with sharp hooks. It will be the aim of the British aviators to rush at the Zeppelins at the rate of 100 miles an hour; then to slow down over the gigantic gas bags and launch the hooked bombs.

These bombs are equipped with time fuses. After they hook themselves into the tough silk fiber covering of the Zeppelin they will not explode until ample time has been given for the aeroplane to wing itself to safety. Every explosion, according to the accepted theory here, will mean one less Zeppelin in the kaiser's air fleet.

The admiralty made no announcement as to whether the new "hooked bombs" were used in the recent Zeppelin raid, but the general public believes they were. The theory is that common round bombs would be shed from the top of a Zeppelin like water unless they carried hooks.

In addition to attack with bombs, airships can, of course, attack with ordinary rifle and machine gun fire from aeroplanes. It is quite possible that a stream of bullets from a machine gun would penetrate the petrol tanks of a Zeppelin and cause a petrol fire in the car of the machine, which would spread up to the envelope itself, and it is also possible with luck so to damage the steering gear that the machine will become uncontrollable and either drift helplessly or come down.

Apart, however, from doing damage in the cars, either to tanks, engines, control gear or crew, ordinary rifle fire or machine gun bullets can have very little effect on a big airship because it would take some thousands of bullets in the gas bags to cause an escape sufficient to bring the machine down within the short time necessary for it to get back to territory occupied by German troops.

The man or woman who have not the habit of "trying again" very often fail as want advertisers, wholly for that reason.

STOCKTON NAMED PERMANENT RECEIVER

Appointment Is Made By Vice Chancellor Backes at Trenton Today.

Trenton, Sept. 1.—Vice-Chancellor Backes today made permanent the appointment of Richard Stockton, of Newark, as receiver for the Endress Company, of West Front street, Plainfield, which owns $10,000 worth of property, with no assets, which property was recently sold under foreclosure proceedings by the State Trust Company, of Plainfield, for the Perth Amboy Beef Company.

The market is now run by S. Shipkin, a nephew of Goldman Brothers, owners of the Perth Amboy Beef Company, the place being known as the Queen City Market.

The Endress Company was the successor to Fred Endress, the principal owner being John K. Roundey, who gained much notoriety through his marital troubles, his wife, Mrs. Florence Roundey, both suing and being sued through a number of court actions.

Mr. Roundey disappeared July 15 last, and it is said that during the week prior to his departure the concern made several unusually large purchases, including a $240 bill of eggs from M. Augenblick & Brother, of Newark, and another purchase of a large bill of beef.

Mr. Stockton today obtained from Vice-Chancellor Backes a rule to show cause why Mr. Shipkin should not be punished for contempt in refusing to turn over to him the books of the Endress Company. It is understood that Mr. Shipkin says that he acted upon the advice of counsel. The above rule is returnable next Tuesday.

TRY FOR NEW TRACK RECORD AT TRENTON

Special Prize For Horse That Passes Figure of Prince Alert. Good Program.

With a special prize offered for the horse which breaks the record of the track, Trenton Interstate Fair promises to have a better harness racing card this year than ever before. More than $7,000 will be awarded in premiums.

Horace P. Murphy, the racing secretary, has arranged a program that is attracting the attention of the leading circuit drivers. The trots will be 2:14, 2:17, 2:19, 2:21, 2:24, 2:27, three-year-olds. The paces will be, free for all, 2:12, 2:15, 2:17, 2:19, 2:22, 2:25.

Thousands of dollars were expended on the track after the 1914 Fair, and prominent horsemen who have worked on the track this summer pronounce it faster than ever before. It has been entirely resoiled and, as it is better for the steppers, it is expected that the old figures will be broken. An extra cash prize of $500 has been placed for the driver who accomplishes this. The present record, 2:07, made by Prince Alert, the famous pacer, has stood for ten years. A single winning of more than $750 is made possible with one horse by this offer.

The program for the week follows:

SUFFRAGISTS DISCUSS PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN

Hope of victory was the keynote of the suffrage meeting held yesterday afternoon at headquarters, on Depot avenue. Mrs. A. B. Jones, president of the Plainfield League, outlined a plan of work for the remaining seven weeks of the campaign, and announced a fine program of speakers for the Saturday night street meetings. Mrs. Jones said that the suffrage campaign was really launched at the great Lucy Stone demonstration in Orange on August 13.

The window committee received commendation for the decoration showing flags of nations where women vote. This window will shortly give place to another and very entertaining presentation of the suffrage plea, and the new decoration promises to be of interest alike to children and grown people.

AGOGA BIBLE CLASS GIVE PLEASING PROGRAM

The musical entertainment given under the auspices of the Agoga Bible Class, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, last night, was a success, and reflected much credit upon the performers as well as upon those having the affair in charge. The complete program of the evening was as follows:

Piano duets, Misses Martha Casner and Lena von Toble; baritone solo, Raymond Manley; violin and cornet duet, Mrs. Willard M. Maxim and T. S. Casner; recitation, Miss Edith Morse, of Merchantville; bass solo, E. Elwood Waller, Jr.; mandolin and guitar duet, Raymond Manley and Alfred Manley; quartet, Howard Palmer, Raymond Manley, John Lindabury and Walter Weber; cornet solo, T. S. Casner; tenor solo, Alfred Manley; duet, Miss Clara Hadley and Elwood Waller, Jr.; recitation, Miss Edith Moore; trio, mandolin, Alfred Manley, guitar, Raymond Manley, 'cello, "Count Bzwolski;" baritone solo, Fred Mills; quartet, Howard Palmer, Raymond Manley, John Lindabury and Walter Weber.

One of the features of the evening was a topical song by the male quartet, several members of the church receiving their share of good-natured "knocks." An original number that afforded considerable amusement was introduced by Elwood Waller, who, in the absence of "Count Bzwolski," in the instrumental trio, filled the gap with selections on an instrument constructed out of a broom, a cigar box and violin strings.

The entire program wass well rendered and enjoyed by the large audience present. The committee having charge of the presentation was composed of Elwood E. Waller, Jr., and Raymond Manley. Miss Martha Casner and Miss Clara Hadley accompanied in the various selections.

ANNIVERSARY OF FIRE FIGHTER

as a clock, Chief Doane well deserves the praise that other department leaders have bestowed upon him for his achievements in Plainfield.

Chief Doane is now attending the International Fire Chiefs Convention in Cincinati today. An anniversary date means little to him, but his ambition is to round out fifty years as chief of the department. With twenty-seven years of this time already placed in back of him, the prospects of his achieving the remarkable feat are unusually rosy. Two years ago he celebrated his twenty-fifth anniversary as chief in the same modest way that characterizes the event of today.

During his long connection with the helmet of the Plainfield fire-fighting corps he has fought many notable battles, and he has been in many perilous positions. Scars on his face are the only outward evidences of injuries he has received in combating blazes, and his claim that he is young at seventy-two is very well carried out by appearances.

Today the Plainfield fire department offers a marked contrast to the Zephyrs Truck Company, which was in existence when Chief Doane fought his first battle with the flames. Plainfield's first piece of fire apparatus, purchased at New Brunswick for the sum of $219, was housed in a small, one-story building on a portion of the lot now occupied by the Conklin building, where S. S. Kussy Co. has its store now. Today the Plainfield department has nine pieces of fire fighting tquipment valued at nearly $50,000 stored in four modernly equipped firehouses in the east and the west end sections of the city.

He enlisted in the service of the city in 1865, and in 1870 he was second assistant chief. Previous to 1888 the fire matters were under the control of a board of fire commissioners elected by property owners, and both city and borough fire matters were under the same jurisdiction. The first step toward taking over the fire department by the city was in 1887, and came through a result of a man refusing to pay his fire tax. In order to collect it, the local authorities seized his horse and buggy, but he replevined the rig and carried the case to the court. There it was declared that the method of collecting the fire tax was unconstitutional, because taxpayers were assessed for maintenance of a department which could cover only a part of the city and borough with its protection. When the department found itself without funds from a tax the next step was to turn the equipment over to the city. At that time the department was made up of five companies, viz., three steamers, Gazelle No. 1, Plainfield Engine No. 2 and Warren Engine No. 3, the last-named being still in use in North Plainfield. There was a hook and ladder operated at that time by the Zephyr Truck Company, and the same company owned an Alert hose wagon. When the Plainfield and North Plainfield departments separated the borough bought a portion of the equipment, and many of the old relics may still be found in the headquarters on Somerset street.

The first board of engineers under the present regime, twenty-six years ago, comprised T. O. Doane, as chief; Thomas Lyness, as first assistant, and Eugene Laing, as second assistant. In 1890 Lyness dropped out and Laing was made first assistant, and James H. Martin, former postmaster, was made second assistant. Laing served in this capacity for two years and finally retired, and Martin automatically succeeded him. John Murray, of West Fourth street, was at that time appointed as second assistant and served the local department for sixteen years in an efficient manner. He was appointed first assistant to Chief Doane in 1902, when Martin retired, and acted in this position until 1906, when he resigned. During Mr. Martin's regime, Andrew Jennings was second assistant, and he automatically succeeded him. When Mr. Murray dropped out it was decided to abandon the office of second assistant because of conflicting conditions that presented themselves at that time, and as a result the present department has no second assistant, nor has there been any need felt for one.

Under the old volunteer system Chief Doane was elected in 1876, with Jacob Kriney as first assistant, and B. Frank Corriell as second assistant. He was re-elected in 1877, and was succeeded in 1878 by Mr. Corriell for one year. At the elections in 1879, however, Doane was again chosen, with Andrew L. Carney as first assistant, and James C. VanWinkle as second assistant. Chief Doane was then succeeded by W. H. Voorhees, F. W. Vail, A. L. Carney, A. D. Jennings, Augusta Saltzman and J. Erwin Waters, when he was again elected chief in 1888 and has held the office ever since.

The first chief under the city fire department was John Rosell, who was appointed in 1867. He was succeeded successively by Theodore F. French, J. F. G. Frazer, Jeremiah Van Winkle, W. G. Voorhees and John Chandler, up to the time Doane was appointed in 1888.

T. E. H. CURTIS DEAD

$400,000 for his collection of Phoenician and Roman glass, but Mr. Curtis informed Mr. Morgan that his collection was not for sale. Mr. Curtis, with his father, was engaged in the bond business and he was a member of the New York Stock Exchange. His seat on the Exchange was sold a few years ago, bringing the highest price paid for a seat up to that time. His father left a fortune to Mr. Curtis, his mother and sister, the elder Mr. Curtis dividing his securities among the members of his family before his death.

Mr. Curtis was an organizer of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and he was also the founder and first president of the Bloomingrove Fishing and Hunting Club, which has a tract of 65,000 acres at Glen Eyre, Pa., near Scranton. He married Miss Louise Florence Thorpe, of Fair Haven, Conn., by which union there were the three daughters.

Mr. Curtis was a graduate of the College of the City of New York and a member of the Gem Club, which is composed of numismatists. He was also a trustee and vice president of the Institut Francais, which conducts a museum of French art in New York city. He was interested in the organization of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, and it was expected that he would donate $500,000 for the erection of the Academy. Mr. Curtis' illness interrupted negotiations for his transfer of the funds.

Mr. Curtis' collection included costly vases of murrhine glass, inlaid glass and rare objects of beauty and delicacy composed of strips of glass of various colors, the manufacture of which is said to be a lost art. Several of the pieces were obtained in Antioch, the ancient capital of Syria, and in Egypt and Rome. In 1908 he obtained from an excavation near Tyre, Syria, an interesting example of Etruscan art. It was the side of a terrocottas sarcophagus for the collection of ashes of the dead. The only other object in this country like it is a funeral urn in Columbia University. The period of the urn is said to be the fourth century B. C.

"W... ...ERICA?" IS THE ... IDEA BEHIND ... CAMP

By THOMAS R. SHIP.

Three facts about the Military Camp for Business and Professional Men at Plattsburg, N. Y., hit you right between the eyes. First, it is NOT a war move. Second, its main purpose is NOT to train men to be officers and, third, its men are NOT exclusively from the East.

The camp has a meaning to the nation, which few people seem to realize. While the idea was conceived only a few weeks ago, it has been in the subconscious minds of thoughtful, conservative men for a long time. It is that America must be awakened not only to its defenseless condition but to its need of "national discipline."

It took the Civil War to make the nation, but a new generation has grown up and there has been a slump in national discipline. We have become smug and self-satisfied. Even now treading on the very verge of a situation that might mean the complete overturning, if not the obliteration of everything that we as a nation and as individuals hold dear, WE ARE ASLEEP.

The big men in camp are anxious over this condition. They say that if the country could be shaken out of its complacency by some great orator like Webster, it would be sufficient. But no such man has arisen. Hence the camp at Plattsburg. There the learning of the drill manual, important in itself, is secondary to the big idea in the minds of the men who made the camp a possibility that America should wake up.

Robert Bacon, once Ambassador to France and former Secretary of State was a Plattsburg private until the record he made there advanced him to sergeant. He says he is there as a protest against conditions that permit our present unpreparedness. The men in the ranks whose names "mean something" are too many to attempt to record them. Company rosters read like pages of "Who's Who in America." For instance, there is Mayor Mitchel of New York, Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port of New York; Nelson O'Shaughnessy, formerly charge d'affaires in Mexico; Raymond P. Tenney of Pekin; George Wharton Pepper, famous Philadelphia lawyer; J. W. Pickering of Massachusetts; Willard Straight, of the J. P. Morgan firm; Richard Harding Davis; the Cabots and Bancrofts of Massachusetts; the Pages of North Carolina; the Roots and Roosevelts and Hamilton-Fishs, the Morgans, the Pierreponts, the Chanlers and the Iselins of New York; Haughton and Wheeler, the football stars, and the Poes; there are three nephews of Henry James, who recently renounced his American citizenship and men like G. F. Porter, of Chicago, and Murray Cobb and Bazil Miles, of Washington, and R. B. McClure, of Piedmont, Calif.; G. A. Dreyfous, of New Orleans; J. S. Miller, Jr., of Winnetka, Ill.; E. C. Starrett, of Sheldon, Ia.; H. L. George, of Pittsburg; J. H. Batchelor, of Kansas City, Mo.; Cleveland Mather, of Denver; W. M. Bullitt, of Louisville, Ky.; R. H. (Dick) Little, of Chicago, and others from everywhere.

General Leonard Wood and thirty other officers of the army are at the elbows of these prominent Americans, teaching them intricacies of the school of the soldier. And the men don't shirk. They are up at day break. They drill all day. They are learning by hard work the fallacy of the argument that America could raise an army over night.

JOINT WINNER WILL RECEIVE LOVING CUP

Additional Entries Made For the Feminine Athletic Meet Labor Day.

Following the course established in other cities of the State and country, the Recreation Committee in this city has scheduled an afternoon of feminine sports on the Parker Field, on Labor Day, to which an invitation is extended to every girl in the city, irrespective of her connection with any club or organization. She may enter individually or as a representative of some club. Although the meet is arranged primarily for the sake of the fun the girls will get out of the events, the Public Recreation Club has donated a handsome silver loving cup to the individual girl who scores the highest number of points, while smaller prizes will be offered in every event. The list of events is as follows: 50-yard dash, 50-yard back walk, running high and broad jump, standing high and broad jump, baseball and basketball throw, potato race and obstacle race. A baseball game between local business men and the doctors will immediately follow the events.

At a meeting of St. Mary's Social Club last evening the following young women entered their names: Misses Annie Murphy, May McAfee, Helen Hogan, Julia McCauley, Theresa McDonnell, Catherine McDonnell, Mary Donnelly, Jennie Higgins, Lillian McGarry and Margaret Gill.

The Misses Bertha Keller and Edith Jahn also filed their names, the former a valuable member of the North Plainfield High School basketball team, while the latter is a representative of the Scotch Plains girls who will compete with the locals.

Miss Lillian Lamson, supervisor of the event, will be at the Plainfield High School gymnasium this evening to receive any further entries. The regular Wednesday night swimming and gymnasium class will meet at that time also.

Make your Real Estate "ad" one which investors and home-hunters will investigate in their own interests.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR JUNIOR MEET

Entries Will Be Received Up to 11 o'Clock Tomorrow Morning.

All is in readiness for the big annual junior athletic meet which will be held at Parker Field tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Entries have not yet closed, contestants being able to register up until 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The following events are on the program and much enthusiasm is sure to prevail when each is started: 100-yard dash (boys, 70-89 pounds); 100-yard dash (boys, 90-110 pounds); 100-yard dash (open); 220-yard dash (boys, 105 pounds and under); running broad jump (open); 440-yard run (open).

Supervisor George W. Wriston, who has charge of the meet, will have Ralph Runyon, the Pastime A. C. athlete, assisting him. Toothsome prizes will be awarded to the successful contestants in the various events, boxes of candy going to those who finish first and second in each of the contests.

As a grand climax to the afternoon's sports a baseball match between two Parker Field League teams will be played. Frank Mullin has charge of one of the teams, while Oscar Dilts is looking after the interests of the other combination.

Numbered among the many youths who take advantage of the athletic exercise afforded by the excellent facilities at this popular amusement centre are many who have already hung up athletic records. It is known that several of the boys are rivals for honors in many particular lines, and it is said that the disputes will all be settled tomorrow afternoon.

The meet will start at 2 o'clock sharp in order that the events may be finished in two hours, enabling boys who have newspaper routes to attend to their work.

One of the most pleasing features of the whole affair from the small boy's point of view is the fact that the winning baseball team will be taken down to the Ritz and given a round of ice cream. Should rain spoil the day's card the meet will take place at 10 o'clock Labor Day morning.

SPORT BRIEFS

Second day's play in the United State tennis championship tourney at Forest Hills, Long Island, started this morning at 10:30.

Frankie Burns knocked out Artie Edwards in the third round at the Wallace A. C. last night.

Miss Detroit, Winner of Gold Cup, Is Not the Fastest Motorboat In Country.

MOTORBOAT enthusiasts are still talking over the big carnival held recently on the waters of Manhasset bay, New York. Although Miss Detroit captured the American Power Boat association's gold challenge cup, the blue ribbon prize for high speed motorboats, the Tech. Jr., which finished third in the race, is the fastest boat in the country. The day after Miss Detroit won the final leg for the gold cup the Tech. Jr., fairly flying over the smooth waters, covered the mile in 1 minute and 16 seconds. The reason the Tech. Jr. did not make a better showing in the cup finals was that she was unable to make the turns.

RING'S CLEVEREST BOXERS TO MEET

McFarland and Gibbons Ready For Ten Round Clash.

BOUT TO COST FORTUNE.

Promoter to Spend $40,000 on Staging the Bout—Battle Between the Two Should Be the Climax of Their Careers if Men Do Their Best.

When Packey McFarland and Mike Gibbons meet in a New York ring on Sept. 11, two of the most scientific boxers of modern times will face each other. What will be the outcome? Will the public, whose patronage makes such contests possible, witness a decisive victory, or will these two masters of the art of self defense just trail along for ten rounds in a strategic fashion? In no other athletic pastime or the matching of strength and skill, man to man, would such a doubt exist. Their ring records, and particularly their latter day exhibitions, caused the question to be asked. The contest should be the climax of their respective careers. They will be up for public judgment, and neither can afford to relax for a moment. If he does and makes a weak effort he will be forced to retire from the ring, and the stain will remain on his record as long as he lives. There is a governing body in all branches of sports in America excepting boxing. Violations of set rules are promptly punished. In the case of McFarland and Gibbons it is purely a question of honor. They can prove to the world at large whether they have entered into a pact to box ten rounds and do their best to win in a decisive manner or whether they have merely conspired to give a "scientific exhibition" for points.

Purse Is a Record One.

The purse is the largest ever offered for a ten round contest in the history of the sport in this or any other country. The promoter is no philanthropist. Neither is he in the business for his health. He expects to take the amount of the purse and a substantial sum besides at the gate. The public will make this possible. McFarland and Gibbons have each deposited $2,500 to guarantee weight and appearance. Now, would it not be a good idea for the promoter to insist that this money should also go for the faithful performance of their contract? He is obliged to deposit more than $30,000 before the men step into the ring to insure his part of the contract, and as a protection to the public the two men who are to reap the greatest financial benefit should be made to do their share of protection.

With the match on the tongues of the pugilistic fans throughout the country, the question is asked:

"Will McFarland make good?"

That question is a natural one, but there is only one way in which it can be answered, and that is by actual combat. Packey has agreed to take the chance that finding out entails, and when the fact is taken into consideration that the Chicago boy has not fought a battle for one year and nine months there will be found numbered among those who do not think well of his chances a formidable array of fans.

Packey Not Same Master.

The Packey McFarland of today, regardless of all talk to the contrary, does not present the same appearance of the Packey McFarland of lightweight days. He is not the sleek speed marvel of three or four years ago, and he admits that he is burdened with considerably more avoirdupois than he carried a couple of years ago when he stepped out of the ring after making the assertion that he was through with the game. That admission, however, isn't at all necessary, for one peek at Packey's round face and bulging neck is sufficient evidence of the fact.

"Packey is young, and he hasn't been out of the game long enough to have gone back," said a fight manager the other day. "Besides that, he isn't the kind of boy who dissipates, so a matter of a little less than two years of ring idleness isn't going to hurt him in the least. Perhaps that long rest will be of great benefit to him, for it will eliminate the chance of his becoming stale in training. He should be just as speedy as he ever was, and in batting at the feather weight he is simply meeting his opponent on even terms."

Absence From Ring Hurtful.

That way of looking at the approaching battle is not shared by a great many followers of the game, for the general view taken is that the former stockyards miller will find that his absence from the ring has done damage. Packey may let loose at that same fast clip in his training and even in his work with his sparring partners he may be able to display all the cleverness that made him famous. He may think that he is just as good as he was before he quit a couple of years ago, but the wise birds of the ring are going to be careful how they lay their money. They are not going to place it on reports from the training camp.

Anyone who knows Mike Gibbons and his ring ability will not hesitate to give McFarland full credit for being game enough to take the battle that he has signed for, regardless of the fact that the main reason for his doing so is the big bank of coin that the Brighton Beach sporting club of New York has guaranteed.

Gibbons Hardest Opponent.

In the "phantom" he will stack up against the toughest man that he ever was called on to meet. He will find Gibbons a master hand at his own game of self defense. He will find Mike slipping his head so fast that many of the well intended lefts and rights will miss the spot for which they were aimed; but, of more importance than this, he will discover that the man from the stockyards carries a stinging punch in both hands.

Any effort to compare the two boys in hitting power must be made from past performances, which in this case is nearly worthless, for in their previous battles they fought in different classes. But if one may judge from glancing over the "dope" books it would seem that Gibbons is by far the harder hitter. Mike's record is well sprinkled with the "K. O." sign.

If there is any one person who realizes what tough game Packey is going to meet that boy is McFarland himself, and he is going to prepare himself with care to meet the test. No ring man of past or present ever had more confidence in himself than Packey McFarland, and in meeting Gibbons the Chicago boy isn't figuring on making a losing fight by a long ways.

With these master hands in action one of the greatest mills in years should be staged. It will be a bout worth going many miles to see.

Eighteen-year-old Schoolboy Now Clearing Six Feet Consistently.

California is grooming another high jumper to take the place of George Horine and Eddie Beeson when the spring has departed from the legs of the latter pair.

The new leaping prodigy is Ira Jacobs, an eighteen-year-old schoolboy, who is clearing better than six feet consistently and with little effort.

Shafer Takes Up Golf.

Arthur Shafer, former third baseman of the New York Nationals and hero of the "pink note" episode, has taken to golf. Shafer won the spring handicap tournament of the Los Angeles Country club and may be expected to issue a challenge to Christy Mathewson and Umpire Bill Klem in the near future.

How to Keep Our City Moving

We must keep moving. A city booms only so long as its manufacturers and merchants keep moving. The wheels of every line of endeavor must be kept turning if the city is going to develop, and what is of deeper concern than the wheels of Plainfield kept turning?

Should every one who has the interest of Plainfield close at heart buy goods from our merchants, the benefits all around can easily be seen. Thousands of dollars that would otherwise go out of the city will be kept circulating here and contribute a big share towards making a bigger and busier Plainfield.

A dollar spent at home will keep that dollar at home and all will share in the profits.

TIMES ARE CHANGING.

President Wilson has unquestionably pleased the majority of the men of all parties by his clear-headed, patient and conservative handling of the situation brought about by the European war, with its many perplexities and practically unprecedented problems. That he will be the candidate of his party next year is a foregone conclusion.

There may be a considerable number of Jeffersonian Democrats left even in these changeful times, but it is not possible to count among them President Wilson. He stands essentially if not nominally, for the continuing expansion of the Federal power beyond the original constitutional limits, and this is the very antithesis of Jeffersonian Democracy.

The Jeffersonian ideal was a confederation of States, with a general government at Washington restricted to certain delegated powers; but the Wilson administration, like the Republican administrations preceding it, has forwarded the long-continuing expansion of the Federal power at the expense of the States. Jefferson held that the country is governed best that is governed least, but the Wilson administration, also like its recent predecessors, has taken the modern trend toward a multiplicity of laws, and more and more has the arm of Federal authority been reaching out in every direction. Perhaps the most remarkable part of it all has been the eager applause of Democrats who appear to have forgotten the old distinctive doctrines of their party.

President Wilson on the other hand is Jeffersonian in his expressed desire to stand for the masses of the people against the so-called "princes of privilege." This and the eagerness to secure reform legislation, it would appear, have caused Democrats to overlook the more distinctive doctrinals of their party. To the old-fashioned Democrat, who does keep these doctrinals in mind and who believes in them, the processes at Washington in recent times have suggested the policy of cutting off the head in order to cure a pimple on the face, but to the younger and more progressive members of the party the President's course is entirely satisfactory.

OUR NAVAL GUNS.

Secretary Daniels told the Governors in conference last week that naval guns now being mounted for our service will "shoot further, shoot straighter and hit harder than any naval gun now in use by a European country."

In the Queen Elizabeth the British have a dreadnought carrying 15-inch guns which are larger than any the United States is putting on any of its battleships built or building, but our naval officers hold that the best American dreadnought armed with 14-inch guns is more than a match for the British vessel. They point to the naval axiom that a ship should mount the smallest guns that will pierce the enemy's armor at the maximum probable fighting range. They assert that the 14-inch guns of the Pennsylvania will pierce the maximum armor afloat at 12,000 yards, and that the Queen Elizabeth's 15-inch guns will do little more than that.

According to Secretary Daniels, the 14-inch guns on the Pennsylvania will range a little farther than the 15-inch guns on the Queen Elizabeth, and their "flatter trajection" gives them increased probability of hitting. Moreover, the Pennsylvania mounts twelve guns to the Queen Elizabeth's eight, giving an increase of 50 per cent. in the volume of our fire over the British. Owing to this increased probability of hitting and greater volume of fire, it is estimated that the number of blows delivered by the American ship in a given time will exceed those given by the British 70 per cent. It is admitted that the bursting effect of the 15-inch shell will be greater, but it is contended that the destruction caused by the 14-inch shell will be quite sufficient for the purpose.

Some of these points may not be entirely clear and convincing outside the limited circle of experts, but nobody will question the advantage of a greater number of guns or the desirability of delivering seventeen hits to ten of the enemy, provided the hits are made effective by guns powerful enough to serve the purpose.

Of course our naval experts have most carefully investigated before deciding that twelve 14-inch guns are more destructive than eight 15-inch guns, and their optimism and air of certainty tend to inspire confidence, but they and the heads of other navies will probably be better informed as to big gun ranges and armor penetration after the present war is over. Meanwhile our experts must decide these matters to the best of their ability.

Speaking Of Us

We scorn the plenteous rubberneck
That so infests most every town.
Who any task of his will check
To watch men tearing something down.

He'll stop (this gutta-percha lad)
And stand for hours at a time
To see a house put to the bad,
Although it gets him ne'er a dime.

He'll cease his own job, cheerfully,
When men put props against a wall
And heave and heave—he has to see
It topple to its dusty fall.

I do not like such men as he;
Who so infest each little town—
Unless he's short, I cannot see
Those workmen tearing something down!

Too Hard Work

We admire the hero of a popular novel, all right, but we shouldn't like to swap places with him. He has to go through such oodles of hard luck before the story turns out right.

The Buggy Ride

The head bookkeeper stopped in his perusal of the traveling man's expense account, looked again at a couple of items, crawled down from his high stool and went to the boss.

After consultation, the traveling man in question was caught on the long distance, and asked:

"Why did you charge us up with sleeping-car fare and a buggy-ride that same night?"

"Because," answered the grip-knight, "that's what the ride in the Pullman was. Something bit me like Sam Hill in my berth."

To quite too much appreciate himself.

An Unbiased Opinion

Somebody from Dayton, O., writes to ask us if we believe in seeing America first.

We do. Some of us have to. If America had seen some of us first she'd have managed to lock the door and lose the key and be not at home.

Such A Disposition!

"Talk about women's equal rights!" snorted the Mean Old Thing. "What man would dare appear in public, dressed in a pair of galluses above the waist and a winder curtain below!"

Rightly Named

They named the cur a watch-dog—
He was skinny as could be;
And spiritless as anything
That anyone might see.

But yet they named him watch-dog,
And the name still firmly sticks.
He's surely a thin model,
And most drefful full of ticks.

Then Something Happened

We can't always keep our temper. We won't tell what we said when we got this "joke" by mail:

"Isn't it true that the smarter the child the less obedient he is? Haven't you always heard that 'it's a wise child that noes its own father'?"

HEALTH TALKS

by WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Delirium Tremens

THE other day a news item told of a case of delirium tremens in a city lock-up, and described how the physician employed by the city instructed the police to turn the hose on the prisoner whenever he misbehaved. That prisoner, or his relatives, ought to obtain handsome damages from the city that perpetrates such criminal malpractice.

Delirium tremens, like hysterical seizures, is a disease deserving careful treatment and not inhuman abuse. Indeed it is a very fatal disease under the most skilful treatment. A city lock-up or a jail cell is no place for such a man; no matter what caused his illness, he deserves humane, intelligent care in an institution properly equipped for the purpose. There are hospitals that object to the trouble of caring for such cases, but not public hospitals; the little, one-horse institution, catering to the easy cases, is usually averse to receiving a case that demands much nursing.

Patients with delirium tremens die of "wet brain"—edema or dropsy of the brain, due to a steadily increasing weakness of the heart and circulation. Obviously a police guard, or a cheap, political police surgeon who consents to assume unreasonable responsibilities for the sake of his job, cannot recognize the approach of this serious brain involvement—and so many a poor fellow succumbs in a cell who might have been saved and cured of his craving if he had been given a fighting chance.

Another danger ever present in cases of delirium tremens is the development of sudden edema of the lungs, or rapid filling of the air spaces with fluid, which causes asphyxiation and death in a few hours if not detected and treated in time. And of course pneumonia is the drinker's favorite mode of exit.

In this day of enlightenment a public official who permits a prisoner to remain in a cell under such circumstances should be made to feel the full responsibility for his culpable negligence, and it makes no difference whether the prisoner is a low-down loafer or one of the high fliers of the town.

Best Kind of Hair Brush

What kind of hair brush is best?

Answer—If one has dandruff, a brush that can be washed or otherwise sterilized frequently—as frequently as the head is shampooed—is best. Long, flexible, genuine pig bristles. A good brush to stimulate the scalp is the Hughes Ideal brush, which has bristles implanted in a pneumatic base. It permits vigorous brushing without scratching or injuring the scalp.

Prescription For Morning Malaise

Can you suggest anything to prevent or relieve morning malaise—that miserable, headachy, dull, irritable, mean feeling one wakes with, though in fairly good health?

Answer—The surest cure for this form of toxemia is a bed in the open air. Build a porch bedroom. An open bedroom window wont do.

GETTING OUTDOORS

GETTING out doors has become the great American remedy for everything, including business and the fox trot.

America contains more outdoors than almost any nation. If all the citizens of the United States were to get outdoors at once they would have to talk with each other through megaphones. It is possible for almost every free-born American to go outdoors at no expense at all and breathe in huge quantities of ozone and good spirits.

Ozone clears the brain, strengthens the legs, improves the digestion, rectifies the temper and makes one more particular about voting for the right candidate. After a man has spent a couple of years outdoors he is usually a philosopher who ignores the high cost of living and cannot wait to quarrel with the waiter before eating his meals.

Many people spend vast sums in getting outdoors. By taking a wad of bills as thick as an automobile tire one may travel to a very superior brand of outdoors in Alaska or other secluded sections. However, it is not necessary to do this. The outdoors around home may be slightly tinctured with coal smoke and profanity, but it is good enough for all practical purposes.

By walking home at night instead of doing a sardine sketch in the subway the citizen of seething New York can acquire a larger chest measure and a superb indifference to the toughness of chuck steak, to say nothing of a good knowledge of architecture.

By cultivating a garden as large as three $100 Turkish rugs the citizen of Chicago can accomplish results which would cost $500 to obtain in a log camp in Nova Scotia and can also help put a crimp in the vegetable trust.

By sleeping on an upstairs porch in Philadelphia a citizen may inhale so much outdoors at no expense at all except for mosquito netting that the undertaker will give him up in disgust and fall back upon the automobile racers for support.

Outdoors is about the only free thing left in this country except advice and the wise citizen will grab his share wherever he can find it.

Views Of The Press

A Hymn Of Hate

THE following parody of the German "Hymn of Hate" appears in the Toronto Daily Star, with "no apologies to Herr Lissauer":

Carrots or beets we hate them not,
We love them not, we hate them not.
Of all the things that land on our plate
There's only one that we loathe and hate;
We love a hundred, we hate but one,
And that we'll hate till kingdom come—Sauerkraut.

It's known to you all, it's known to you all,
Pilgrims on this terrestrial ball;
Full of vinegar in distress,
Making a most unsavory mess.
Come, let us stand in our eating-place,
An oath to swear to, face to face;
An oath of bronze no wind can shake,
An oath for all sons of guns to take.
We will never forego our hate;
We have all but a single hate.
We love as one, we hate as one,
And we'll hate that dish if we do it alone—Sauerkraut.

Wienerwurst, leberwurst, lager beer,
Many a time have given us cheer;
Not so bad if made just right;
Bad to take going to bed at night:
Better by far to lunch in—"The Day."
Then there won't be the devil to pay.
But you we hate with a lasting hate;
We will never forego our hate;
Hate of the stomach and hate of the tongue,
Hate of the senses every one,
Hate of millions who've choked it down;
Hate of the country and hate of the town.
We love a thousand; we hate but one,
And that we'll hate with hate of Hun—Sauerkraut.

—But

Of all the useless word barriers ever coined—"But" takes precedence. Grammarians call it an Adversative Conjunction. It is all of this and more. When put to work and into life, it typifies Obstruction and Inaction.

Here's the way it works: I feel fine—But. Everything is all right—But. I would have accomplished a lot I set out to do—But. I'll do it—But. Like a wet blanket, like a slap in the face—"But" seeks to dampen the very ardor of one's soul and to squeeze out the last full drop of Hope and Endeavor inside one's heart.

Muster the forces of your character and dismiss—"But" from your service. Just drop it—that's all. Here's the way it will work then: I feel fine. Everything is all right. I will accomplish a lot I set out to do. I'll DO it.

Failure is the father of —"But." Success and Achievement never heard of the word. If you have ever heard of it—forget it—without delay.

Living at a boarding house affects a man in the same way teaching school affects a woman. At the end of three years he begins to show it.

The bride who rode up-town yesterday in a carriage should have kissed it good-bye. It probably was the last time she will ever see one.

After a man has attended a ball game he finds it hard to realize that there was a time when there were only two jackasses in the world.

The first year of married life is devoted to experiments by both husband and wife, the experiments being prompted by a desire to learn who is boss.

If a woman is tolerably worthless some man will think a lot of her. If she is wholly worthless there will be half a dozen men hanging around her.

After you have once watched a man mow your lawn you know why he is mowing lawns for a living.

Every woman who entertains gives "receptions." But no woman ever speaks of a "reception" except to make fun of it.

Current Poetry

Geese

When folk do silly, foolish things,
Then people laugh and cry:
"Why, they are geese!" and yet, you know,
I often wonder why.
For geese are stately, queenly birds,
Too grave to fly or sing;
And I have never seen a goose
That did a foolish thing.

An ostrich has been famed in jokes,
Because he hides his head;
And chickens run across the road,
'Neath cars that leave them dead—
But geese—they walk with solemn grace;
They seldom shriek or call;
Perhaps you'd like, for all folk say,
To be one after all!

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Child In the Moon.

"I HAVE no doubt you kiddies have wondered a lot about the man in the moon," said daddy, "but have you ever thought about the child in the moon?"

"Why, no!" exclaimed the children. "Is there a child in the moon?"

"Well," replied daddy, with a smile, "just to make a story we are going to pretend that there is, because what would the man in the moon do without his child? You may be sure that he would be pretty lonely.

"Of course you cannot see this child in the moon, for the man in the moon is so large and casts such a shadow that the child is rather eclipsed by him. He hides behind his father's shadow, though I rather doubt that he likes this very much."

"How about the moon child's mamma, daddy?" asked Evelyn.

"Oh," replied daddy, "the mamma is the moon herself! They call her Luna, you know. So the family consists of Mrs. Luna, her husband, who is the man in the moon, and their moon child, whom I imagine is a little boy. And there are no other people up in the moon, though it is believed by scientists that once it held lots of other folks like our earth. There are just these three, and they are obliged to spend their time as best they can, especially as they have all the time there is.

"Mrs. Luna and her husband, the man in the moon, have grown quite used to being up there all alone, but the moon child, like most children, I fancy, without other kiddies to play with, grows quite lonesome.

"Let us listen to his little wailing voice asking his daddy an old, old question that he asks quite often through the long years.

"'Daddy,' asks the moon child, 'what's that funny little globe down there, whirling around, all covered with land and water and with the funny little things in the water and the little bits of dots hurrying around on the earth?'

"'Oh,' explains the man in the moon, 'I've told you that so often! That is the earth upon which people live, ever so many, and children like yourself, and the little things in the water are ships upon which the people sail.'

"'Daddy,' begs the little moon child, 'why can't I slide down to the earth on a moonbeam and play with the little children down there? I'm lonesome.'

"'Hush your nonsense!' the man in the moon tells him. 'You are so big that you would crush those poor little children all to pieces. Besides, you are so heavy that a moonbeam would break under you, and then where would you be? You stay right where you are, child.'

"So, kiddies, the little moon child has to stay right where he is, which is just as well, since he is so big and cannot play with earth children anyway."

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Dear Nell: I told you of our plan to keep people from knowing we are bride and groom and of course you are interested to know how the scheme worked out. We could not escape rice and old shoes and beribboned baggage at Detroit, of course, but as we took the night boat for Cleveland we had ample time to shake the rice and chuck the ribbon before we landed, and the most rigorous inspection would have failed to detect any bridal symptoms. At Cleveland we took the train east and landed after protracted ridding in this dear little Maine coast town. The hotel is small and there are no society people here, to my inexpressible delight. Pursuant to our old married people role, I began to talk of "little Hal" as if he was my own boy for whom my heart yearned. An inquisitive neighbor who was crocheting on the porch asked, "Is Hal your little boy?"

"He's a very dear little boy," I parried, "and I wish I had hold of him this minute."

I heard the doctor smothering a laugh, and turning my back on him in order to be able to keep my face straight I began examining the pattern she was crocheting.

"How many children have you?" I asked, hoping by getting her started on her own darlings to keep the conversation off my own affairs, but, bless you, she was an old maid. By persistent probing I dug up some nephews and nieces for her to talk about. When they showed signs of being threadbare I suggested to the doctor that we walk on the beach.

How I love this wild, rocky coast, with the sea stretching away so blue, so green or so gray—according to the light—dotted with the white sails and rocky isles, and the shouting billows that rush in glee on the rocks. All the world is ablaze with glory and beauty. But I meander; this is not my story.

We stayed long on the moonlit shore, leaning against a friendly rock and talking rarely. There are silences more eloquent than any words. When we returned the verandah was vacant, as I hoped it would be. The doctor smoked on the wind-swept porch the next morning, and I sat at the other end by the crocheting woman. I heard him say, "Yes, Hal is one of my boys."

"How many children have you?" inquired my neighbor.

I was panicky at once. What if the doctor had given a number and mine should not agree with his.

"I hardly know sometimes whether I have four or forty; healthy children are so noisy. Excuse me, please." I rushed over to where the doctor sat smoking. "How many children did you say you had?" I whispered.

"I think it was a hundred and fifty last time I counted." There was a merry twinkle in his eye. "I've been practicing eight years."

No help there. So I settled on four, my sister's three and your one. They all belong to me; I love them so dearly. When I sat down again I launched into a description of my children and their diseases. I described Hal's spasm and what I did for him and told of little Marjorie's whooping cough. In a lull in the conversation, the doctor's voice floated serenely over. He was saying:

"No, my children have been remarkably healthy. I've never had to call a doctor for them."

The old maid looked suspiciously at me, and I reddened horribly. "He doesn't tell that he is a doctor himself," I said in an aside. "He wanted to forget all business on this trip." So the day was saved.

I coached him as to the number of children and the diseases that had laid them low, after we went to our room. It's very exciting to act a part all the time. I plan every day the things we will do together when we get home in Fairport. Kiss "my boy" for me and remember me to Dick. The doctor is not here to send any messages.

Lovingly, OLIVE.

Household Hints..

THE TABLE

Foamy Sauce—Cream one-fourth cup butter, add one-half cup powdered sugar, mix well; add three tablespoons cream and one of vanilla. Double recipe for cherry puff, serve with milk and sugar; makes entire meal for two.

Loaf Cake—A loaf cake that will keep fresh for four weeks or longer is a great help to the housekeeper. Make a custard of half cup milk, one cup sugar and one yolk of egg. Remove from fire, add grated rind and strained juice of one lemon. Allow custard to cool. Cream half cup butter with one cup sugar, then beat in yolks of two eggs, and add slowly half cup milk. Now sift two cups flour with two teaspoons baking powder; add and beat well. Fold in beaten whites of two eggs and turn into buttered and floured cake tin. Bake in moderate oven forty minutes.

RECIPES

Stuffed Peppers—Half cup of rice, half cup of tomatoes, half an onion, salt, two large sweet peppers. Boil rice till tender, strain, add tomatoes, half teaspoonful salt, onion chopped and dash of garlic seasoning (comes like celery salt). Fill peppers, bake thirty minutes.

Cream Tea Biscuit—Two cups of flour, one teaspoonful baking powder, one tablespoonful baking powder, one tablespoonful melted butter, cream, salt, sift flour with baking powder and pinch of salt. Add butter to cream and mix a soft dough. Roll thin, cut into small biscuits and bake in quick oven.

Veal Stew in Caserole—Three-quarter pound of veal off shank, four small onions, two carrots diced, six small potatoes, parsley, seasoning, and flour thickening. Cut veal in small pieces, fry brown in drippings. Heat two cups of water in caserole, add veal and one-half teaspoonful salt, simmer half hour. Add carrots and onions, cook half hour, add potatoes and parsley, cook till tender, about half hour, season further with dash of garlic and paprika, teaspoonful kitchen bouquet and thicken.

Fish Omelet — One small cup (shredded) fish, three eggs, two tablespoons milk, one-quarter cup butter, pepper, salt. Melt half the butter in a stew pan, add fish, one pound milk and seasoning and keep hot at side of fire, melt half the butter in omelet pan, pour in eggs slightly beaten, with one tablespoon milk. Stir over fire until mixture begins to set, then shake well. Put fish in middle, fold over and serve on hot dish.

Date Muffins—Two eggs, one cup milk, one and one-half cups whole wheat flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half cup chopped dates. Scald and stone dates and put them through meat grinder. Separate eggs, add yolks to milk, flour and baking powder and dates. Fold in well-beaten whites and bake.

Rice—Into a quart of boiling water sprinkle well washed rice very slowly. The brisk boiling must not stop. The rice will be done in twenty minutes. Few people realize that this is the right way to cook rice. It saves time and fuel, and the rice which will swell four times its size is delicious. About three minutes before removing from fire drop raisins in slowly. Then drain the rice and let stand at the oven door to dry. The following day make croquets by adding one egg and rolling the rice into balls with a spoonful of currant jelly on the inside.

Ripe Cucumber Pickle—Cut cucumbers in halves lengthwise, cover with alum water, allowing two teaspoons powdered alum to one quart water. Heat gradually to boiling point and then let stand on back of range two hours. Remove from alum water and chill in ice water. Make a syrup by boiling five minutes two pounds sugar, one pint vinegar, two pounds whole cloves and three sticks of cinnamon, add cucumbers and cook ten minutes. Remove cucumbers to a stone jar and pour over syrup. Scald syrup three successive mornings and return to cucumbers.

Watermelon Balls — Chill melon and scoop out with a potato ball scoop. Serve in individual glass dishes on top of a little cracked ice. Garnish by placing upright in the center a sprig of mint, which has been powdered with pulverized sugar. This is a splendid summer "appetizer."

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

In answer to the Anti-Suffrage column of August 28, the "Votes for Women Column" submits the following facts to a candid world:

Where Colorado Wins.

Mr. "Jim" Nugent, of Newark, in an interview in the Newark Evening News, May 29, stated that his chief reasons for violent opposition to equal suffrage in New Jersey were the "deplorable conditions," financial and political, of Colorado, where women have voted for twenty-two years.

Here are some of the facts regarding the financial conditions of Colorado and the State for which Mr. Nugent professes to be earnestly trying to save.

The per capita wealth of Colorado is $2,765, and that of New Jersey $2,140. The increase of wealth in Colorado from 1900 to 1912 was 251 per cent., in New Jersey 210 per cent. In Colorado 30 per cent. of the homes are mortgaged; in New Jersey 50 per cent. Colorado is the only State in the Union which decreased its per capita tax levy between 1902 and 1912.

School administration figures also make an interesting comparison. 87 per cent. of the children of school age of Colorado are enrolled in the schools; only 68 per cent. of those in New Jersey are enrolled. Colorado has one-third of New Jersey's population but it send 4,884 students to its colleges. New Jersey sends 3,216. Colorado is 4.2 per cent. illiterate; New Jersey is nearly 6 per cent. illiterate.

Poor New Jersey!

But cheer up fellow citizens, there is every chance of success for the suffrage cause on October 19.

The following letter from a Suffragist down the shore is one of the indications of it:

Suffrage Matinee.

Dr. Anna Shaw drew an audience to the Esex Hotel, Spring Lake, the 26th, that filled the dance hall to repletion. The managers estimated the crowd at 1,200 by the chairs needed to seat it. It was a typical society crowd. Not the "smart" set, but the well-groomed, well-bred, thoughtful class of women with their husbands and big boys and girls. They were a skeptical lot, but open to argument. They followed Dr. Shaw with manifest interest and I am quite certain that scores were converted.

She was in splendid voice and good spirits; started out with a tactful compliment of surprise and delight and with raillerie and a string of paradoxes fascinated that big audience of beautiful women. Her talk lasted an hour and not one left the ballroom when a plea was made for funds. One woman offered $500 provided another would contribute the same sum. During her reply to question a request was made for dollar bills. One woman contributed $1,000.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

There is plenty of mystery in "The House of a Thousand Candles," and what with burglars creeping about in the wee sma' hours of the night and jealous lovers taking pot shots at one another there are occasions when the much sought for thrill takes one in its grasp. This splendid subject was the chief attraction at the U. S. Astor Theatre yesterday and will be shown again this afternoon and tonight.

A feature of this film, which will interest local theatregoers, is the excellent portrayal of an exacting role by Effingham Pinto, of Eighth street, Plainfield. Mr. Pinto, who has achieved wide fame on the legitimate stage, shows marked ability as a screen actor. His performance as Don Jose added considerably to the artistic merit of the film.

We originally see Jack Glenarm dissipating in the city. His virtues as a hero may be many, but they are well concealed. Like most heroes he has no ostensible means of support other than an eccentric and excessively wealthy old grandfather, the squire of Glenarm Manor. Jack at first writes that he will return to the manor and spend the summer. On second thought the young man decides that night life in the city is more to his liking, so he wires the squire that the manor will not see him. There is much lamentation and shaking of heads upon the receipt of the news, but the squire concocts a scheme. He and his faithful servant go to Italy. It is not long before the servant returns alone to report his master's death. Under the squire's will Jack is to receive a million in securities if he lives a year on the manor without leaving the grounds. And here the story, which is replete with dramatic incident and enough humor to cause laughter, begins.

Besides Mr. Pinto, Harry Mestayer and Grace Darmond acquit themselves admirably in difficult roles.

Tomorrow's feaure at the Astor will be "Help Wanted," with Lois Meredith.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Local theatregoers who enjoy the unusual in stage performances will appreciate a view of George M. Cohan's mystery farce, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," when it is presented at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night. Talk about melodramatic thrills and surprises, this play, according to general report, will lift the lookers-on right out of their seats, it's that full of them. From the story of the same name by Earl Derr Biggers for his foundation, young Mr. Cohan has constructed the only new thing in playwriting that has been offered in years. There's a punch in every line of its dialogue and a volley of laughter following every punch.

"High Jinks," which Arthur Hammerstein will send to the Plainfield Theatre, Saturday night, September 4, was founded by Otto Hauerbach on a bright French farce. Rudolf Friml, who composed the score, has written lively new tunes, mostly of the dance variety, to suit the action of the farce. The labors of these two brilliant men are said to furnish the brightest musical entertainment enjoyed in many seasons.

PICTURES PACIFIC COAST WONDERS

Miss Agnes Leighs, Winner of Daily Press Trip, Describes Visit to California.

ENJOYED SIDE TRIPS

Prolonged Stay of Plainfielders In the West Afforded Them An Opportunity to Include Many Interesting Points On the Journey.

Seven weeks of sight-seeing through all the wonders of the West has been the delightful experience of Miss Agnes Leighs, of West Fourth street, first prize winner in the Daily Press Panama-Pacific Exposition contest held early last spring. Besides completing the four weeks' tour offered by the Press, Miss Leigh and her mother extended their stay in the West and completed a second Cook tour, returning to Plainfield last Tuesday. Miss Leighs is extremely enthusiastic about the splendid trip, and an account of her travels after leaving the two other Plainfielders, Miss Anna McGinnes and Miss Lorina Harris, on July 29, is here given.

"The extra time that my mother and I spent in the West afforded us an opportunity of seeing many interesting things. We spent three weeks with my uncle, Charles Stace, at Long Beach, twenty miles out of Los Angeles. This is the finest beach for bathing on the Pacific Coast. Here the first jitney bus was started. We had the prvilege of seeing the highest high tide here in the latter part of July. The Pacific is so calm and beautiful at low tide, but it is marvelous to see the hugh waves strike the side of the concrete walk and dash into the air about one hundred feet. These do considerable damage to the wall every little while. The battleship Maryland was anchored in the bay for several days. A short distance from Long Beach, at Seal Beach, we saw some of the two hundred sea lions that have inhabited this part of the coast. We have seen the fishermen bring in tuna, some small sharks and octupus, a string tail, etc. One morning we went through one of the tuna fish canneries—the Blue Label Brand Tuna Company.

"On the pier the fish are washed after they are brought from the small boats. They are all caught with a hook, the Japanese being the prevailing tuna fishermen here. The fish weigh from five to ninety pounds—the average is fifteen pounds. No one has ever seen a tuna smaller than five pounds, no one knows where they come or go. Their season is from July to November. The fish is cleaned in the dripping room and placed in the refrigerators, which have a capacity of four hundred tons, till the packers are ready. After the first cooking the girls clean off the skin, quarter the fish and take out the back bone, which is the only bone. The scrap is carried away. An automatic machine drops into the cans salt, and then oil, at the rate of seventy-five cans a minute. They travel along and are filled with chunks of the fish by the girls. Then the cans go through a machine that by vacuum draws out the air and hermetically seals and washes them. No solder is used by this machine. The cans are put in ovens—each oven has a capacity of three tons—and steam-cooked for one hour and ten minutes at a 240 degree heat. An automatic labeling machine finishes the process, and the cans are boxed and packed in the freight cars. This factory cans thirty tons of fish a day. Forty tons a day is called a 'good catch.' The scrap, which has been mentioned, is pressed and sixteen gallons of oil are taken from one ton. This oil is refined and used for varnish and paint. It is very elastic. What is left of the scrap, after the oil is extracted, is ground into fertilizer. This sells for $40 and $50 a ton. It contains protein and is good for chickens as an egg producer. There are five or six of these tuna factories in Long Beach that produce about one hundred thousand cases each in a season.

"We took several side trips to Pasadena and Busch's Gardens, Venice, Ocean Park and Hollywood. At the latter place we could see the oil wells of part of the tremendous oil belt. Hollywood has many moving picture studios—Laky, L-Ko, Majestic, etc.

"We left Los Angeles with another Cook party for San Francisco. At Santa Barbara we visited the Mission, founded in 1786, with its wall from six to eighteen feet thick. At one time 17,000 Indians lived round here and were cared for by the Mission. From Del Monte, on the 'Seventeen Mile' drive through Monterey, the first capital of California, we saw the old theatre where Jenny Lind once sang; the landing place of Cabrillo, the Spanish explorer of 1545; the forest of 6,000 acres; the wonderful 'Cedars of Lebanon,' which resemble those of the Holy Land, that scientists claim to be over one thousand years old. No one knows how they ever came to be there. At Santa Cruz we saw the 'Big Trees' grove, and the 'Giant,' which is 306 feet high and 65 feet in circumference at the base. These trees are a specie of red cedar.

"We found a great change in the temperature at San Francisco. People were wearing furs and heavy overcoats in the evening. The city was aglow with lights. Our first view of the Exposition grounds, which cover two and one-half miles along the southern shore of San Francisco Bay, inside the Golden Gate, was superb. The cost of this Exposition is estimated at $50,000,000. The Tower of Jewels, which has the central position, 435 feet high, or equivalent to a thirty-seven story building, and is ornamented with 125,000 hand-cut and polished Austrian jewels called 'Noragems.' These landed in the United States two days before war was declared. Some nights the Tower is colored by the searchlights with a primrose red shade and other nights with pure white. The light is flashed back by the twinkle of the jewels. The illuminations are also marvelous in the Court of the Four Seasons, Court of the Universe and the Court of the Abundance, where we found one of Burbank's productions—large beds of violos.

"These are a cross between the English violet and pansy, having the odor and color of the former and the size of the latter. The combined searchlights used for illuminating have 3,600,000,000 candle-power. The light supplied by the Exposition system would be sufficient for a city of 200,000 population. Fireworks, manufactured at Seattle, Wash., are shown three nights a week. Twenty-eight States and twenty-two foreign countries are represented by buildings. There are eight exhibit palaces beside Machinery Palace, Fine Arts Palace, Horticulture Hall and Festival Hall. All these buildings are most interesting and contain about 70,000 separate exhibits. The 'Zone' is the street of amusements and represents an expenditure of $10,000,000. Charles Niles has been making some spectacular aeroplane flights.

"On our sight-seeing trip through the city we saw the site of the Civic Center, which will be the finest in the world, costing twelve million dollars. This will contain four buildings. One, the City Hall, is almost complete. We visited the Cliff House and the Presidio Reservation of 1,542 acres. Here may be seen some splendid fortifications. One evening a party of us took a trip to Chinatown. We visited a basement home, where the children sang in Chinese and English. The San Francisco Joss House or Temple is the finest this side of the Orient. Our guide explained many of the Chinese beliefs. We bought souvenirs at Sing Fat's Bazaar, and had tea and rice cakes in one of the tearooms.

"On the Western Pacific Railroad, en route, we crossed the Great Salt Lake. In Salt Lake City we visited the Mormon Tabernacle and heard J. J. McClellan, one of the five finest organists in the world, give a recital. This is a city of splendid streets. State street is twenty-two miles long and 132 feet wide. The new State Capitol stands at one end. In the West the streets are made with a concrete bed, filled in with crushed stones and covered with asphalt from curb to curb. They last for many years.

"In Colorado, via the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, we crossed the Tennessee Pass, 10,240 feet high. There was snow on several peaks. At Buena Vista we switched to the Colorado Midland Railroad because of a washout ahead. An engine was attached to the observation car at the rear to pull us back to Buena Vista, so that we could proceed on the Denver and Rio Grande again. The trains are all very long because of the heavy traffic just now. The ties gave way under the weight and several of our cars jumped the track during the night, and when we viewed the wreck next morning, we all agreed that Providence alone saved us all from a terrible death. As a result of this we were thirty-six hours late after passing through the Royal Gorge getting to Colorado Springs. We were scheduled to have two days here, but the delay made it necessary to give up one of these.

"A few of us started early in the morning for the trip up Pike's Peak. It took one hour and forty minutes to climb to the summit on the 'Cog-Wheel Railroad.' The high boulders, waterfalls, flowers and view are marvelous. It was growing colder and colder. On the top we were 14,109 feet high, and could see an area of 60,000 square miles. We made snowballs and were glad of the opportunity to stand around the fire in the Summit House. The descent was made in one hour and fifteen minutes. Our sight-seeing trip took us through Colorado City and up the highest automobile drive in the world—to Crystal Park. The road is fifteen miles long and was made by blasting the rock. There are thirty-one curves in one mile of this road. We were climbing constantly, and at 'Sublime Point' we could see 150 miles ahead, twelve towns and twenty-six bodies of water. Crystal Park is 8,500 feet high. The remainder of our trip took us through the Garden of the Gods. The red sandstone which has made these wonderful rock formations runs through the Rockies for five hundred miles. We came back to Colorado Springs over the Mesa Natural road. This highway is just as it was used by the Indians as a race course.

"We had another splendid drive through Denver, round the State Capitl, through the parks, and visited the Museum of Natural History. Here we saw fine exhibits of gold and radium.

"The rest of our homeward journey was made over the Rock Island Railroad, through Omaha and Des Moines to Chicago, and then via the Pennsylvania and Philadelphia and Reading Railroad to Plainfield.

"This has been a trip of all kinds of experiences, and we have thoroughly enjoyed it. I will take this opportunity of once again thanking all those who have helped me obtain this glorious trip."

QUAKER DRESS FOR LITTLE GIRLS CHARMING.

No. 9021.

It is very pleasing to see how many of the styles can be easily adapted to the young girl with success. One style that is used extensively by adults that seems to belong more appropriately to the little girl is the Quaker dress with an Empire waist. The Ladies' Home Journal Pattern shown above, No. 9021, is a very winning little dress. With its high waist, full skirt and large collar, it is very stylish and up-to-the-minute indeed. It is cut in sizes 2 to 12 years, size 10 requiring 3½ yards of 36-inch material.

Patterns may be obtained at the store of A. E. Force & Company.

You May Find a Worker Trained and Fit to do Your Work.

A worker whose salary you will voluntarily raise in a short time!

"Getting along" with half-competent help, in home, office, store or factory, is a poor plan—a poor business policy.

The quest for the Competent Worker is important enough to justify a real campaign of classified advertising in the Plainfield Daily Press—although it does not often require a very long campaign.

FOOTBALL SQUADS BEGIN TRAINING

More Than a Thousand Athletes Preparing For Gridiron Campaign.

More than a thousand colleges and schools throughout the country are preparing for the greatest gridiron campaign in the history of the sport. Already the squads are in training, and within the next few weeks the first games of the season will be played. Each succeeding Saturday will witness a steadily increasing schedule of contests until the top of the sport is reached late in November and the play declines to the final matches of early December.

Not since the early seventies, when American intercollegiate football was born, has there been an autumn which held forth as much in the way of football activity as that of 1915. According to the official schedule prepared by the rules committee, close to 3,000 games will be played by the leading college and school teams of the United States between September 18 and December 4.

The honor of opening the season falls to four Pennsylvania teams, for the Carlisle Indians play Albright and Bucknell opposes Bloomsburg Normal in the first games of the autumn on Saturday, September 18. A week later the activity will spread to scores of line-marked fields, for more than one hundred colleges play their opening games, including Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsy, Dartmouth, Tennessee, Virginia, Vanderbilt, etc.

Cornell will not begin play until the final days of this month. On October 2 the Military Academy and the Naval Academy elevens will make their debut, against Holy Cross and Georgetown, respectively.

Michigan, like Cornell, has selected a midweek day for her opening game, but will join the Saturday brigade on October 9. Minnesota plays Iowa that day. Cornell meets Williams, Harvard plays the Indians and Princeton meets Syracuse. A week later Chicago vs. Indiana, Georgetown vs. North Carolina, Pennsy vs. Navy, and other important games are scheduled. On October 23 Harvard and Cornell clash, and Princeton clashes with the big Green team from Dartmouth. The Navy meets Virginia Polytech, Michigan matches up with her Aggie neighbors, and Yale entertains Washington and Jefferson.

The final Saturday in October brings some intersectional games that will be watched with interest. Michigan plays Syracuse, Cornell faces Virginia Polytech, and Michigan Aggies oppose the Oregon Aggies. Chicago meets Wisconsin, Yale and Colgate meet, Princeton plays Williams and Dartmouth is at Amherst, on the same day.

The first Saturday of November finds Pennsy and Dartmouth fighting it out at Boston, Princeton and Harvard clashing at Princeton, and Cornell invades the West to play Michigan. Yale will have her hands full with Brown.

A week later the headliner in the East will be Yale vs. Princeton, while Minnesota and Chicago will play the leading roles in the Middle West. Michigan will be at Pennsylvania and Washington and Lee at Cornell on the same day.

The final games of many college elevens will be played on Saturday, November 20. The annual contest between Harvard and Yale, at Cambridge, stands pre-eminent on the day's card, but there are other games of importance scheduled, including Colgate at Georgetown, Dartmouth at Syracuse and Illinois at Chicago.

Thanksgiving Day brings together Pennsy and Cornell at Philadelphia, the Carlisle Indians and Brown, Syracuse and the University of Montana at Missoula, Notre Dame and Texas at Austin, Southern California and Oregon Aggies at 'Frisco, and Vanderbilt and the University of the South at Nashville.

The annual Army-Navy game is set for Saturday, November 27, and New York gets the big game. Syracuse winds up its Western trip on December 1 at Portland, Ore., against the Oregon Aggies.

THONEY'S PROTEGE PITCHES NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Jimmy Lavender, the diminutive hurler of the now clawless Cubs, twirled a no hit, no run game against the Giants at the Polo Grounds yesterday. Lavender's feat would have been a perfect one had not one extra man faced him in the seventh inning. He held the hard clouting Giant machine in check at all stages of the game and earned the honest applause of all of the fans present.

It will be remembered that Lavender, when playing in the minor leagues, had for one of his tutors and admirers, Jack Thoney, the present Federal League hurler and member of the local Tabs' City League team. When Thoney last visited this city he predicted a wonderful future for the Cub hurler and that he would make a distinct mark for himself. Lavender came to the Chicago team from the Providence Grays, last year's International League champions.

QUEEN CITY AGGREGATION WILL MEET LINCOLN A. C.

The Queen City baseball team, of which Stanley Houston is the manager, will take on the fast Lincoln baseball squad at that place this Sunday and expect to annex the tilt. The Queens are looking for a formidable opponent for Saturday afternoon and are also angling for a double header for Labor Day. The manager of the local troupe writes that his boys want another crack at Kachelries, the Farmer A. C. hurler, who has earned for himself quite a local reputation.

The locals will have Butler on the mound Sunday with Cohen behind the bat. Stanley Houston will cover first, "Buck" Semer will bounce around second, Vincent Mullin intends prancing in the region of the shortfield, Joe Paritz has promised to look after things in the vicinity of the difficult station. The outfield work will be taken care of by Velard, a relief pitcher, Randolph and VanNest, a substitute catcher.

SAVAGE EASY.

"Charley" Weinert, Newark's aspirant for the heavyweight title, increased his pugilistic stock last night by decisively defeating "Jim" Savage, of Orange, in a ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden. On his last appearance in New York, Savage gained some prestige by winning handily over "Al" Reich, and as a result of that encounter much was expected of him last night, but he found Weinert an opponent of different calibre and he was lucky to remain until the final bell.

WILL PRESENT HALF-MILE RECORD FALL THIS YEAR? TABER WANTS TO BREAK IT

The question uppermost in the minds of those who follow track and field sport just now is whether or not the world's record of 1 minute 52½ seconds for the half mile will be wiped off the slate ere the snow flies. These figures stand to the credit of Ted Meredith since the last Olympic games at Stockholm and were the result of a continuation of the 1,500-metre event of the regular program in which Meredith also made a notch on old Father Time. Dame Rumor has had the news for some time that Norman Taber has his eye on Meredith's mark and may make a bid when he feels fit, and even still fresher information is that Meredith himself may take a crack at the mark.

Quite a lot of speculation has been stirred up as to what chances Taber might have against the record and curiously enough there exists a widespread feeling that if the half-mile mark is to be disturbed the Oxonian Rhodes scohlar is the man to create the disturbance. He can beat 50 seconds for the quarter mile any day and that he can stay the journey at a top clip there is not the least doubt.

MILLER'S PITCHING WAS A FEATURE

Timely Hitting By Dixon and Harriman Also Helps to Give Saurers a Victory.

The Saurer victory Saturday, according to the score submitted by the Netherwood official, came as a result of splendid pitching on the part of George Miller and timely hitting done by Lou Dixon and "Chet" Harriman. Only four safeties were registered by the Orientals and half of these were made by "Dipper" Smith.

Owing to the fact that the regular Netherwood catcher failed to appear "Box" Apgar, of the Clinton forces, was rushed in to fill the vacancy. He did nothing to secure a Netherwood win nor did he do anything to bring about a Saurer victory.

Since no box score of the match was handed in Monday the tabluated result is printed below:

ATHLETES SUSPENDED.

The registration committee of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. has suspended Hal Heiland, of Newark, and Don Lippincott, the University of Pennsylvania sprinter, pending further investigation. The charge is the formal one of participation in an unsanctioned race meet. Suspension is the usual course in such cases. These suspensions come on top of reports of an athletic scandal in connection with an alleged framed race at Ilion, N. Y.

AMATEUR BALL JINGLES

Jack Denny deserves much credit for his splendid hurling on Saturday. Whiffing fourteen men, fielding errorlessly and slamming out three hits is no everyday occurrence with most of the ballists around this vicinity. Many of the critics predicted an easy win for the Hope Chapel artists before they and the Tabs clashed Saturday, but things did not turn out as the dopesters figured.

Nels Luthman should get a little boom also. Very few manager would have consented to play under the conditions which surrounded the Hope quarters Saturday. The weather conditions were none too good and the loyalty of several of the regulars could have been decidedly better. Nevertheless Luthman allowed the battle to go on with sad results.

It does not seem to us that Dick Schott made any too wise a move when he joined the ranks of the semi-pros. Pitching for Hopewell may be a paying proposition, but we fail to see where any notoriety or fame is attached. So far Schott has not pitched any notable victories. In fact, the only creditable game he put up at all was the fourteen-inning affair with Flemington.

Come easy, go easy. The Hopes had very little trouble signing Frank

Here's hoping the Brennen benefit will be worthy of the name and that when the receipts are counted they will make a substantial total.

George Miller pitched a fine game Saturday. Holding the hard-hitting Netherwoods to four hits is no mean accomplishment.

There seems to be a great demand for the services of one Savidge hereabouts. It is most likely, however, that he will perform with the Hopes. Anyone who entertains the proposition that the Tabs will get his services is apt to be laboring under a decided delusion. Savidge is not now and never was, and probably never will be a member of the T. A. B. Society. Why Jimmy Monahan signed him up is not very clear. Perhaps he is short of players. If so why not re-sign one of the three ballists he fired recently. It is said that, at least, one of them, would be glad to get back on the job.

"Chet" Harriman is playing great ball this season. He certainly can hop around when he wants to. Then too, he can hit the pill to all corners of the lot, if he is in the humor. Fortunately he is very often in the humor.

There will be a regular baseball match at Parker Field tomorrow afternoon. The game will be staged by two rival juvenile outfits and will be run off in connection with the junior athletic meet.

Aaron Hirsch has been fielding very well this season, but his hitting has not been of the best. Hirsch can scoop up any kind of a grounder but he has an awful time connecting with a curve. Benny Rosenson is the boy who has it on Aaron. When ever Hirsch approaches the pan and Benny is the slabman something is surely to be pulled off. Usually Hirsch bites the dust. Often he flies out.

Not even daunted by the announcement that Pat Moran, manager of the Philly Nationals, had recalled Jack Martin, Brit Martin's brother, leader of the Saurer forces placed the name of the big league on the Saurer City League roster. While it is not likely that Martin will have much of a chance to participate in many games for the local club it is, indeed, a good thing to have his name entered.

James J. McNamee, better known as "Mac," sporting editor of the Press, is spending his vacation in Asbury Park, during which time he is studying excise conditions in that borough. He is an ardent supporter of the cause. Word also reaches here that the young Plainfielder is creating a sensation at the shore as a result of his exhibitions in dancing contests. It is well-known in this city and quite generally acknowledged among his friends that "Jimmy" would outclass any expert here, inasmuch as it is reported that he has been taking terpsichorean lessons from a well-known professional.

COWLER TO FIGHT.

Tom Cowler, the English heavyweight who made a very poor showing against Gunboat Smith a few weeks ago, and who has for trainer and coach Jim Corbett, will meet Jack Hemple, the California clouter, at the St. Nicholas Rink tonight. Jim Corbett has secured Bob Fitzsimmons, of Dunellen, to assist in putting the final touches on the big Briton. According to Fitz, Jack Hemple is going to be put to sleep.

HANGED HIMSELF ON GOLF COURSE

Caddies Find Body of Unknown Man at the Cranford Country Club.

NO CLUE TO IDENTITY

Victim Apparently a Hebrew About Fifty Years Old—Poorly Dressed—Coroner Summoned and Directs Removal of Body to Morgue.

The body of an unknown man was found hanging from the limb of a tree on the Cranford Golf Club grounds at noon today. The remains were viewed by County Physician Westcott and ordered removed to Higgins' morgue, in this city, where they are awaiting identification.

There is no clue to the man's identity. He was a tall, thick set man, about fifty years old, smooth faced, and dressed in the clothes of a workingman. His weight was about 165 pounds. It is probable that he was a Jew or a Polish Jew. Near the spot where the body was found were the remains of a small fire in the flames of which he had evidently burned all his papers and effects, as there was nothing of that nature to be found upon him. Traces of burned paper in the ashes led to that theory.

Some caddy boys discovered the body and they notified Acting Chief Caulfield, of Westfield, who in turn called up Dr. F. W. Westcott.

It is not known when the deed was committed, but it is certain that it was done some time after dark last evening, probably late in the night or early this morning. The scene of the suicide was a hollow, where the body was not likely to be discovered unless some one went near it.

A very small tree had been selected, one with an out-reaching limb. It appeared that the man had climbed into the tree, tied the rope to the limb, then dropped off. The place where the deed was committed was in Westfield township.

THIS BOY TELLS A DIFFERENT STORY TO POLICE EVERY DAY

The police are having a merry time trying to get Edward Dandridge, a 16-year-old colored boy, whose home is on East Third street, to give them some information which they are satisfied he is withholding. They are satisfied that he knows something about the recent robbery at the store of Edward A. Laing, but thus far he has succeeded in telling them so many different stories that they have not been able to get any real facts about the case.

Dandridge was arrested last week after he had returned from a trip to Philadelphia, on which he started shortly after the Laing robbery. The police learned that he had been seen with several watches of a make which were taken from the Laing store, and the boy finally admitted that he had three of them before he went to Philadelphia. He told Captain Flynn that he sold two to a man in Skillman, but when Flynn took him there the man denied the story. Then the boy said that he had gotten the watches from Percy Brown, also colored, as a result of superior skill at shooting crap, and had pawned two of them while in Philadelphia. He told the authorities that he had left the tickets under a rug in his uncle's house, and his father and aunt went to Philadelphia yesterday, only to learn that the report was far from truthful. Judge DeMeza remanded him back to a cell this morning, and he will be kept there until Saturday, when it is thought that he may change his mind and tell the truth.

William J. Trembath, of Chatham street, who has filed his petition for the nomination as borough tax collector and treasurer, has put out cards calling the attention of voters to the dates of the registration days, ending with, "Be sure you are registered and cast your vote for William J. Trembath, Republican candidate for collector." He and his friends are working hard to land the nomination.

RESCUE BORO GIRLS FROM RIVER WATER

Ruth and Catherine Foulks Have Narrow Escape From Drowning at Brielle.

Brielle, Sept. 2.—Four little girls, including two Plainfielders, almost lost their lives in the Manasquan River late yesterday afternoon, when a canoe in which they were riding overturned in the channel. Quick work of Wallace Liming and some fishermen brought them safely to shore after one had been almost overcome.

Dorothy and Eleanor Rathbun, daughters of Senator Charles A. Rathbun, of Morristown, Morris county, left their summer cottage early in the day, accompanied by Ruth and Catherine Foulks, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. Aubrey Foulks, of North Plainfield. They had planned a picnic to the upper reaches of the river, and the trip up was uneventful. They had their lunches and ate on the shore of the river many miles to the west of Brielle.

It was on the return trip that the accident occurred which nearly had a fatal culmination. The girls were singing and laughing on the way homeward until they were a little west of the wagon bridge here, and directly in the middle of the channel, when the boat overturned, and the children were thrown into the water. Three of them managed to reach the canoe, but little Ruth Foulks slowly drifted away. The weight of the three others caused the craft to immediately fill with water. They all screamed and attracted the attention of motorists on the bridge and of fishermen on the river shore. The more they screamed the more of their energy it took, and they were slowly tiring out, as was evident from their frenzied efforts to keep afloat.

Wallace Liming was the first to launch a boat, and he rowed to their assistance in time to catch the little Foulks girl as she went under the second time. With her safely in the boat and calling encouragement to the other three he managed to reach the others and get them all aboard. He was cheered by people on the bridge.

DOANE AND WILBUR FILE PETITIONS WITH CITY CLERK

Two more petitions have been filed with City Clerk James T. MacMurray, those of Freeholders Samuel P. T. Wilbur and J. Hervey Doane, who are seeking re-election. So far as is known at the present time neither of these men will have opposition, either in the Republican primary, or by the Democrats at the polls. Both have been members of the Board for several terms, and have given much time to the county work.

BOROUGH YOUNG MEN WILL ORGANIZE REPUBLICAN CLUB

Arrangements are being made by a number of young politicians of the borough to organize the Young Men's Republican Club, of North Plainfield. Arthur B. Cole, of Fairview avenue, and William H. Olmsted, of Chatham street, are the prime movers in the plan. There will be a meeting tomorrow night at the home of William J. Trembath, of Chatham street, when organization will be effected and officers elected. The club will have for its main object the nomination and election of Mr. Trembath to the office of borough tax collector and treasurer.

Interment took place in St. Mary's cemetery, the following acting as pallbearers: Thomas O'Gorman, Joseph G. Robinson, Lewis Chatel and Norman Rhodes.

CLARENCE ROCAP WEDS MISS HAND

Ceremony Is Performed By Rev. E. O. Tree, of Freeport, L. I., Cousin of the Bride.

A RECEPTION FOLLOWS

Miss Helen Armstrong Maid of Honor and the Misses Katherine Rocap and Ethel Webster Bridesmaids—Couple to Reside Here.

Early autumn flowers, palms and ferns, arranged in a bower-like fashion, formed a pretty setting for the marriage of Miss Lavania Hand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hand, of Fairview avenue, to Charles Clarence Rocap, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rocap, of Myrtle avenue, which took place last night at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. O. Tree, of Freeport, Long Island, a cousin of the bride, and was witnessed by the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting couple.

The bride was gowned in a charming creation of imported Chinese old ivory satin brocade, trimmed with silver lace. She wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor, Miss Helen Armstrong, of Duer street, wore a pretty gown of pink crepe de chine, trimmed with pink net and silver lace. She carried an armful of pink roses and snap-dragon. The Misses Katherine Rocap and Ethel Webster, the former a sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaids. They wore dresses of white net, trimmed with white satin and carried bouquets of pink asters. Miss Helen George, of Duer street, played the Mendelssohn and Lohengrin wedding marches. Dr. Stephen A. Aldrich, of this city, was the best man.

Following an extended wedding trip in the Berkshires, Mr. and Mrs. Rocap will be "at home" to their many friends at 34 Fairview avenue after October 19.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rocap are well known in the younger set of the city and borough, and have a host of friends. Mrs. Rocap was graduated from the North Plainfield High School with the class of 1907, while Mr. Rocap was graduated from the Plainfield High School, class of 1903, and from Cornell University, with the class of 1908. At present Mr. Rocap holds a position with the New York branch of the International Motor Car Company. Following the ceremony last evening, there was a reception, and supper was served. The bride received a large collection of gifts.

SMALL BLAZE DISCOVERED AT RED CROSS PHARMACY

A small quantity of paraffine, ignited from a candle or gas jet, in the Red Cross drug store, Liberty and West Fourth streets, set fire to some boxes and paper in a back room of the store last evening and damaged the stock and building to the extent of $15. Samuel S. Rubin is president of the concern. There was no insurance.

Mrs. Rubin, who was in the front part of the store at the time, discovered the blaze. She shouted an alarm, and two persons in the store did excellent work in stifling the flames. In the meantime an alarm had been rung in from box 34, West Fifth and Liberty streets. The fire was quickly extinguished.

JITNEY HIT BICYCLIST.

Max Cohen, a jitney bus driver, was before Judge DeMeza, this morning, an complaint of Samuel Semer. Cohen ran into the latter when he was riding his wheel on Front street, about two weeks ago, and the wheel was considerably damaged. Cohen agreed to reimburse Semer, and pending the restoration of the wheel to its former condition, Judge DeMeza postponed the case until next Monday.

MEMORY FAULTY, JUDGE TELLS MAN TO PAY MONEY BACK

Henry Wilkes, colored, a cook, known as the "Beau Brummel" of West Third street, has a deceptive memory, and as a result of it Judge DeMeza gave him until next Monday to repay $4.25 to Rosa Carter, his next door neighbor, or go to jail. Henry promised that he would pay the money. Some time in June, Rosa gave him a letter containing $4.25 which he was to register and mail to her son in Philadelphia. The son never got the money and the postoffice has no record of the letter being registered. Wilkes told Rosa that he mailed it, but had lost the registry receipt. Yesterday when Captain Flynn asked him about it he said that he had mailed it, but had not registered it, and this morning he thought again, and told the judge that he was sure that he had lost the letter. His stories varied so that the judge decided he would let Wilkes refund the $4.25 which he promised to do.

FANWOOD WANTS SEWAGE SYSTEM

Steps Taken to Have the Borough Connected With Plainfield's Trunk Line.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Plan Is to Establish a Sinking Fund Which Would Enable the Building of Pipe Lines—350 Candle-power Light to Be Installed.

The first steps looking toward a solution of the sewage problem in Fanwood was taken by the Borough Council, last night, when a committee was named to take the matter up at the earliest possible date. The committee comprises A. I. Nichol, chairman, and Augustus Sheelen, representing the Council; Burton P. Hall and William M. White, representing the citizens, and Dr. Ray Munger, representing the Board of Health.

It is the purpose of the committee to thoroughly acquaint itself with the sewer situation and a conference will undoubtedly be held with the Plainfield authorities with a view to establishing a sewer system in Fanwood which can be connected with the one in Plainfield. It is believed that a satisfactory arrangement can be made with the city to dispose of the borough's sewage when the trunk sewer now being built in Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen is completed.

The committee will arrange to meet with the Joint Sewage Commission with a view to making a proposition to that body. The Fanwood Council is considering a plan to establish a sinking fund so as to make it possible to begin the work of installing a system at once.

Although the matter was laid over until the next meeting it is probable that a large arc light of 350-candle power will be located at the junction of Martine and North avenues. This question of a light at that point has been agitated for some time by borough residents. It would replace two lights of 25-candle power each. The extra light would, it is believed, remove the danger of vehicular collision at night. The macadamizing of Farley avenue has been started under the supervision of the street committee and where recent storms have caused wash-outs repairs have been made.

The Fanwood hackmen made their applications for a renewal of their licenses and the clerk was instructed to inform them that it is the intention of the Council to strictly enforce the hack ordinance. The clerk reported a total of $1,170.95 in cash on hand.

BODY OF INFANT FOUND IN LAKE AT WESTFIELD

Under similar circumstances as those which surrounded the finding of the infant baby in the waters at Garwood several weeks ago, a baby girl was discovered in the lake at Westfield yesterday afternoon by Fred Singer, one of the city engineers who was at work in that vicinity. County Physician Westcott viewed the body, which was considerably decayed. It is about six months old and has been in the water at least three weeks, it is thought.

Police Chief Caulfield, of Westfield, has taken the matter up and will conduct an investigation into the two cases. The body was sent this morning to Higgins' mortuary parlors, in Plainfield.

BOROUGH REGISTRATION DAY.

North Plainfield voters will have two opportunities to register before casting their votes at the primary election. The first registration day is Tuesday, September 14, when the polls will be open from 1 to 9 p. m., and the second is primary election day, when the polls will be open for the purpose of registering and casting votes for candidates from 7 o'clock in the morning until 9 at night.

NETHERWOOD HOTEL HAS SHORT CAREER

Closing Today After One Month Under Management of Adolph Ruehl.

After an eventful month under the management of Adolph Ruehl, of New York, the Netherwood Hotel will close its doors before the day is over. Ruehl came to Plainfield a little over a month ago, and is said to have agreed to put up a bond of $10,000 with the owners of the house before taking possession, but this was not done. He opened it however, and only a few days afterward several local attorneys were asked by creditors to collect checks which had been issued by Ruehl, but for which there were declared to be no funds in the bank. After about three weeks the police descended on the place on a Saturday night, and say they secured evidence of illegal sale of liquor. A warrant was sworn out for Ruehl, and he disappeared, and so far as the police have been able to learn he has not returned to town since.

During the last two weeks several employes have approached local attorneys asking help to get their salary, not a cent of which they claim has been paid to them since the house opened. Yesterday Constable George York attached all property belonging to Ruehl to satisfy a $350 judgment procured by Charles L. Stanley.

After the raid, B. Erickson, who says he was the night clerk, in an interview which he gave to a Daily Press reporter, stated that within two weeks a well-known and successful hotel woman would take over the management, but today he stated at police headquarters, while talking to Lieutenant Higgins, that the house would close at once.

There were many people in the neighborhood of the hotel who wanted to see the place opened, and efforts were to be made to get a license for it, as it was believed that it could not be successful without such a permit. After Ruehl had been in charge for about two weeks these people were not fully satisfied with the way in which the house was being run, and they withdrew their support.

SPECIAL MARSHAL SHEATS IS ASSIGNED TO DUTY

A new special marshal is doing police duty in the borough. He is Cornelius Sheats, and takes the place of George Cooper, who recently resigned. Mr. Sheats was formerly a sewer inspector. He began his new duties last night.

Roundsman Charles Keller has returned from his vacation and Marshal Pope is doing day duty again. This permits Chief Marshal Weiss to look after headquarters once more and to dispense with the services of Justice Thomas H. Snape, who acted as clerk during Keller's absence. Marshal Swody is now taking his vacation.

BOSCH MAGNETO COMPANY GRANTS MEN SHORTER DAY

Although the Bosch Magneto Company's plant in this city has been running on the eight-hour a day basis since August 19, the shorter day has just been adopted in the New England shops. The Springfield, Mass., shop today dropped from a 9½-hour day to one of eight hours.

That is the only large metal shop in that city outside the United States Armory where the demands of the men for an eight-hour day have been met. In Plainfield the pay for the shorter day has been adjusted accordingly, but in Springfield, it is said that the same pay is given for the shorter day that was given for the 9½-hour day.

WASHINGTON SEES PEACE PROSPECT

Think Cardinal Gibbons and President Will Discuss the Subject.

RUSSIANS DODGE TRAP

Teutonic Forces Fail to Cut Off Left Wing In Galacia—Four Transports Sunk By Allied Fleet at Dardanelles.

Washington, Sept. 2—Many officials here believe the success of the negotiations with Germany over submarine warfare places the United States in an advantageous position to bring about an agreement between Germany and Great Britain on the question of maintaining the freedom of the seas, which ultimately may pave the way to a discussion of peace terms.

Cardinal Gibbons will have an interview with the President this afternoon. This is regarded as significant, in view of the recent reports of the Pope's hopes to bring about peace through co-operation with heads of neutral governments.

A Rome despatch states the Pope is preparing a new document in which he will for the first time point out the advisability in the interest of all belligerents of an early settlement of the war.

Petrograd, Sept. 2—Efforts of the Austro-German forces to cut off the Russian left wing in Galicia from the main army have completely failed, the war office announced today. The stubborn defense offered by the Russians for four days on the Zlota and Strypa Rivers gained time for the withdrawal of all the artillery, and practically all the infantry to positions prepared behind that front.

Paris, Sept. 2—Artillery duels and conflicts with grenades and petards formed the feature of fighting during the night, according to today's communique from the war office. The text of the bulletin follows:

"There were reported in the course of the night only some combats with grenades around Souchez, some artillery duels in the sector of Neuville and the region of Roye, and in the Vosges a fight with petards at Schratzmaennele."

Four Turkish transports have been torpedoed at the Dardanelles, it was officially announced today.

The statement added the following:

"At the Dardanelles the last week of August was in general very calm on the south front. In the north zone British troops fought some successful engagements which has put into their possession a hill to the west of Biyuk, Anafarta, which had been sharply disputed.

'A transport was sunk on August 29 by one of our aeroplanes at the anchorage of Achashliman. It should be added that four were torpedoed by a British submarine, two at the same stop and two others between Gallipoli and Nagara. The guns of the warships struck many navy vessels anchored at the Straits. The statement gives no information as to the loss of life on the Ottoman vessels."

A despatch from Athens says that a financial agreement has been signed by the Entente powers and Greece concerning navigation and commerce.

Berlin, Sept. 2 (by wireless)—The Admiralty announced today that the British cruiser sunk by German torpedo boats in the sea battle of August 17 was of the Auror class, and that the ship sank within four minutes after she was struck. The official statement reiterated that a British destroyer was also sunk. It said the British forces were taken by surpirse off Horn's Beef Light. British cruisers of the Aurora class are of 3,600 tons.

German troops have captured the outer line of forts defending Grodno, the general staff reported today. Czarnoko, a fortified town on the Vilna-Grodno Railway, has been taken by storm. This cuts off the retreat of the Russians left to defend Grodno, which relieved the main Russian armies when they retreated. It is believed that Grodno will be in German hands by tonight. In the west, trenches lost in the Vosges from August 18 to August 23, have been recaptured, the Germans having possession of the Linkekopf-Burenkopf line.

Amsterdam, Sept. 2—A French army aviator last Friday appeared over Brussels, says a despatch from the interior of Belgium. He dropped bombs accurately and effectively upon the barracks at Etterbeck, killing several and damaging buildings and then returned safely westward.

A man who was stationed on the rear of the truck called to the driver, but his voice was drowned by the noise of the machine. Marshal Patrick J. A young deer, which is thought to be the one that escaped from the estate of Percy Cook, of Springfield road, has been seen by the residents of the King street section of the borough for the past few days. On several occasions it has been seen near barns feeding on hay mows. No effort has been made so far to catch the animal.

The dispute which has been rife between the governing bodies of the township and borough for a number of years past concerning the upkeep of the roads that form the boundary line between the two places, has been settled following an opinion received by the borough from its attorney. It does not matter if the boundary line runs on the inside gutter of the road, as the expense of its upkeep must be borne equally by both towns. Westfield road, Summit avenue and King street were the thoroughfares affected by the dispute and as a result nothing had been done to keep them in repair. King street is now being macadamized under the new agreement and the other two roads will receive like attention as soon as possible. It will mean quite an addition to the roads appropriation in both the borough and township.

Mrs. John Kandelky, of Forest road, has gone to a Glen Gardner sanitorium for treatment.

Announcement will be made within the next two or three days where the moving pictures taken of the "community picnic" can be seen. Rutgers Neilson is now making arrangements for them to be shown at a nearby theatre.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Miss Dorothy Donnelly, who leaped into prominence through her remarkable characterization of "the women" in "Madam X," a sensational drama of several years ago, will appear on the screen of the U. S. Astor Theatre this afternoon and tonight in "Sealed Valley," produced by the Metro Pictures Corporation.

"Sealed Valley" is just the type of play for which Miss Donnelly, as leading woman, is best fitted, and the role to which she is assigned fits her down to the ground, so to speak. The story is one of compelling interest and has especial appeal to young and old alike. The plot moves swiftly through numerous dramatic incidents, and thrills are frequent.

Another splendid picture will be presented as the feature of a high-class program at the Astor tomorrow. The chief attraction will be "The Woman," with Lois Meredith portraying the part of the telephone girl created in the drama at the Belasco Theatre by Mass Mary Nash This subject was produced by the Lasky Company with the aid of Mr. Belasco and the hand of the wizard of the theatre is apparent in all of the settings. Dividing leading honors with Miss Meredith, who is recalled for her excellent work in "Help Wanted" in New York last season, will be Theodore Roberts, the famous dramatic actor.

RECREATION NOTES

In the auditorium at Washington School the regular weekly Dunbar dance will be held. This affair is very ably managed by the colored people of Plainfield. A large attendance has become a regular occurrence. One hundred and thirty-four were present last Friday evening.

The municipal dance that was held all last winter in the Washington School Auditorium on Saturday evenings, will be opened again on Saturday, September 11.

NEW BRUNSWICK LOOKS FOR A LOW TAX RATE

The Middlesex County Tax Board will meet next Wednesday to receive the last of the tax duplicates and figure out the tax rate for the various municipalities of the county. While the exact figures for New Brunswick cannot be obtained, enough is known to make it certain that the rate will drop about 20 points under the estimate given out by the city's financiers a short time ago.

Perth Amboy and Spotswood are the only districts from which the Middlesex County Tax Board has not received returns on ratables. Both of these places are known to have increased ratables over those of last year. It is estimated that the net valuation taxable in the county this year will reach $83,500,000, which is $5,500,000 higher than last year. The ratables in New Brunswick jumped approximately $1,300,000. The New Brunswick tax rate last year was $2.58 on each $100 of assessed valuation. This year it will probably be around $2.40.

MANY ATTRACTIONS OFFERED AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

The golf and tennis oard at the Plainfield Country Club, Labor Day, is possessed of unusual merits. Hardly ever before in the history of the organization has so attractive a card been offered. Competition for the Golf Committee Cup will be continued while a medal play of 36 holes will be run off. This will be a handicap event and should be productive of plenty of excitement and some close matches. Prizes will be given for the best net and gross scores. In addition to these events a mixed foursome will be staged as will an approaching and putting contest. This latter competition has been hanging fire for some time and now that the merits of the many club members are to be decided on the putting green not a little excitement and enthusiasm will prevail.

The dinner dances which have been so popular at the club will be resumed Labor Day and will continue to be held on the following dates in September and October: Sept. 6, 11, 18 and October 2, 9, 18.

A Galley o' Fun!

LITERATURE.

Friend—Make any money on your last novel?

Author—You bet! I sold that description of the Palisades in Chapter Three to the Quickline Railroad for five thousand dollars; my tribute to the Plaster de Paris Hotel in New York, Chapter Ten, brought me three thousand dollars from the hotel people; and the United Resorts, Ltd., paid me another thousand for my rhapsody on the sunset in the Wampegog mountains, Chapter Thirty, where the hero takes her in his arms. What's left of it I think I can boil down into a short story and make a ten-spot on it.

MEXICHORUS.

I'm glad I don't live in that dear old Guerrero,
With all the insurgents and ladies therero,—
It may be excting but I don't carero.

Hohokus is better, I think, than Chihuahua;
It may be some quieter, but -ou-la-la-labua,
You won't be shot dead for a single rah-rahua!

So, though I detest and abhor old Porfirio,
And shed for his victims the salt-flavored teario,
I'll keep on detesting and shoulding right herio!

EASY FOR THEM.

Mrs. Dorcas—This is a harder world for women than it is for men.

Dorcas—Don't you believe it. A woman can find relief any time by merely taking off her shoes and unlacing her corsets.

A SPECIAL OCCASION.

Dinah—Dat Mistah Sam Jackson seems to be a puhson ob de mos' chahming manners.

Pete—Betcherlife! You'd orter seen him when he was tryin' to tech me for two dollars!

THE SOCIETY CHILD'S LAMENT.

Mother has gone to Reno,
Father lives at the club;
Sister is over in Europe
Hunting a titled dub.

I'm left alone with the servants;
I sit here and wonder all day
If I can Father's or Mother's—
Kind Judge, won't you hurry and say?

UP TO DATE.

Floorwalker—Looking for anything, sir?

Customer—Yes, my wife.

Floorwalker—All right, sir. Put up a notice in the "Lost" column of our daily paper published on the thirty-third floor, second counter, by three o'clock, and it will be on the corridors before four.

AN IDEAL SUMMER RESORT.

Not to the glen nor the mountains they,
Not to the beach nor the highlands:—
Had the kids their choice they would sail away,
To the Ice Cream Sandwich Islands.

NEW DISAPPOINTMENT.

Second Summer Girl—Yes; but as we got a closer view we saw it was only a bird.

NO WORD AS YET FROM L. BELLUCCIO & BROTHER

Nothing has been heard from L. Belluccio & Brother, the contractors of the Harrison Avenue School, North Plainfield, in reference to the three-day notice to resume work served on them Tuesday, and unless they heed the notice by 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, the building and grounds committee of the North Plainfield Board of Education will have another man on the job ready to finish the mason work.

The contractors are said to have retained for themselves practically all of the last payment made on account by the Board, and have kept away from the job for several days. They still have some patching and the concrete floors in halls and toilets to lay, and this is the work which another contractor will be engaged to do if the Belluccios do not put in an appearance by tomorrow. In the meantime the carpenters have been working in a desultory way, for they are being held up by the lack of the concrete floors.

D. A. R. TO CELEBRATE SILVER ANNIVERSARY

National Conference Will Be Held In California During the Month.

The National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary by holding a "National Conference" in California during this month. This is not a conference of delegates, but of all members. Much interest is manifested in this conference, as it is the first of the kind ever held by the National Society. Many elaborate social functions are to be given by the California Daughters, and many chapters between New York and San Francisco have made extensive plans for the entertainment of those traveling on the two special trains. One train will leave New York tonight at 6 o'clock. This is called the official train because the president-general will travel on it.

Many national officers will be on both trains. The second train will leave Washington at the same time over the Southern Railway, and will join the New York train at Denver. From Denver the two parties will travel together, and be entertained at Colorado Springs, Salt Lake City, and Yellowstone Park, where they will spend four days. After spending four days in San Francisco, the party will go to Los Angeles and then to San Diego. Mrs. Charles B. Goldsborough, 600 West 113th street New York city, is chairman of the transportation committee, in charge of the New York train. Mrs. E. F. Parham, 1300 Pennsylvania avenue Washington, is in charge of the Washington train.

RUTGERS COLLEGE PLANS A WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN

The 150th anniversary of Rutgers College next spring is to be marked by a whirlwind campaign of two or three weeks to raise enough money to wipe out the college debt of $165,000 for new buildings, according to a plan just proposed by the alumni association. The alumni organizations will work during the winter to obtain a few large gifts as a start. President Demarest desires an increase of $1,000,000 in the endowment and it may be decided to make this a part of the anniversary campaign.

ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR NEGRO.

Winchester, Ky., Sept. 2—Wallace Smothers, the negro who was convicted of criminal assault upon little Georgia Baird, of Thompson Station, will be electrocuted at the Eddyville Reformatory tomorrow. Judge Benton overruled a motion for a new trial next month. Smothers was convicted July 28 of assaulting the Baird girl, who is only seven years old. All Kentucky was aroused over the deed, and Smothers escaped lynching only by the vigilance of the officials.

FIRST ANNUAL DANCE.

The first annual dance given by the Polish Falcon Gymnastic Society will be held in the T. A. B. Hall, on West Fourth street, Saturday night. Excellent music has been secured for the occasion, and the committee promises all attendants a most enjoyable time. Joseph Dukszta, chairman of the dance committee, has made elaborate plans for an evening's entertainment, several features being scheduled for the dancers.

COMMUNITY CIVICS BENEFITS THE CHILD

Urged That They Be Taught In the Elementary Grades of Public Schools.

"Community civics helps the child to know the meaning of his community life, not merely a lot of facts about it," says a bulletin just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. This bulletin was prepared by four members of the committee on social studies of the National Education Association—Dr. J. Lynn Barnard, School of Padagogy, Philadelphia; F. W. Carrier, principal of Wilmington (Mass.) High School; Arthur W. Dunn, specialist in civic education, United States Bureau of Education, and Clarence D. Kingsley, of the Massachusetts Board of Education.

"The significance of the term 'community civics' does not lie in its geographical implications," says the bulletin, "but applies this point of view to the national community as well. Emphasis is upon the local community because it is the one with which every child-citizen has most intimate relations, and for that reason it is easier for him to enter into actual co-operation with it."

The authors of the bulletin make clear that the term "citizenship" is used broadly. The "good citizen," they say, "is a person who habitually conducts himself with proper regard for the welfare of the community of which he is a member, and is active and intelligent in his co-operation with his fellow members to that end."

Community civics, according to the bulletin, should be taught in the elementary grades of the public schools, and should be continued in a more comprehensive course in the first year of the High School. "Many pupils do not enter High School at all, and those who do should already have begun to acquire habits of civic thought and action. The greater maturity of the High School pupil makes possible the development of phases of the subject that are impracticable in the elementary school."

"Many courses in civics fail," the authors think, "because they fix attention upon the machinery of government rather than upon the elements of community welfare for which government exists. They familiarize the pupil with the manipulation of the social machinery without showing him the importance of the social ends for which this machinery exists. A lesson in community civics is not complete unless it leaves with the pupil a sense of his responsibility, and results in right action. To attain these ends is, perhaps, the most difficult and delicate task of the teacher."

"Much civic instruction," declares the bulletin, "has been ineffective because it has left the pupil to work out for himself the application of general principles. The translation of principles into conduct is more difficult than the comprehension of the principles themselves. While we urge that the citizen should engage in these activities as far as opportunity offers, it is necessary to cultivate a motive sufficiently strong to lead him actually to do so. This motive is to be found in the common interest, which includes his interest, at least until such time as an ideal altruism may lead to the placing of the interest of others and of the community above the interest of self."

September 22—Sample primary ballots mailed to voters.

October 4—City committees meet for reorganization.

October 5—Republican and Democratic State conventions held in Trenton.

October 19—State referendum election, and third registration day in municipalities of more than 5,000 people.

October 26—Third and final registration day in municipalities of less than 5,000 inhabitants.

November 2—General Election Day.

With the framing of the Nugent primary slate for Essex county on Sunday and its formal ratification by the entire Essex County Democratic Committee, it was announced that the Wilson League will also have a primary ticket. John L. Cox, of Montclair, has been selected to run for registrar against John F. Otterbein, of West Orange, and an entire list of Assembly aspirants has been selected. That Commissioner Charles P. Gillen, of the Board of Works, who was rejected by the regulars for a renomination, presumably because of his independence in fighting paving and other special interests, will be endorsed by the Wilson League is expected. The Progressives have already endorsed Mr. Gillen. The latter, however, may run as a straight independent candidate on election day instead of entering the primaries.

With the selection of Frank Krasa as a candidate for excise commissioner and William L. Lloyd, of Westfield, for Assemblyman, the Socialists have completed their plans for the fall campaign. Ernest J. Beutel, of Rahway, and John C. Keyes, of Elizabeth, had previously been chosen as candidates for Assemblymen, and the excise ticket is likewise complete. The Socialists will hold a campaign picnic Labor Day at Progress Park, Linden.

I. Snowden Haines' candidacy for an Assembly nomination in Burlington county on the Republican ticket has attracted much interest. Mr. Haines is a prominent banker and former president of the State organization of bankers. He took a prominent part in the fight against the bank stock tax law.

Henry Johnston, Mayor of Washington, this State, for several terms, is seriously ill. He was prominent as an active worker in the S. P. C. A. and in the Prohibition cause. That local option was only a half-way measure and nothing but a fraud, was his repeated assertion.

That ex-Assemblyman Frank V. Dobbins, city attorney of Rahway, will likely be a candidate for Democratic county chairman against Lucius T. Russell, is given color by Mr. Dobbins' failure to become a candidate for an Assembly nomination again. That Mr. Dobbins will positively make a fight against Mr. Russell when the time comes for reorganization, however, is uncertain, and probably depends upon conditions at the time.

Instructions have been issued the election officers of Essex cuonty by County Clerk McDonough to permit voters in the special constitutional election, October 19, to register and also vote between the hours of 1 and 7 p. m. that day. In Morris county, however, County Clerk Mott refuses to issue such instructions, although they are authorized by the Attorney-General. The act covering the special election says names may be added on that day to the poll books. In municipalities of more than 5,000 inhabitants, th day is also a regular registration day for the general election, and for that purpose the polls are open from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m. For the special election, the polls are open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. Under the Attorney-General's ruling, the names may be added October 19 only, while the polls are open for registration, so that a voter not previously registered may not register and vote on the amendments until after 1 p. m.

Something new in the line of political speeches was introduced by James R. Nugent at a recent Democratic meeting in Newark. Referring to Mayor Raymond, the former State chairman spoke in the following language: "My attention has been directed to the fact that this little big Mayor, who is said by many to be an anthropological anomaly, with the eyes of a gazelle, the nose of a fawn and the mouth of a llama, has taken umbrage because I have termed his obstructive administration of the affairs of our city puerile and childish. This capricious ethnological pedant raises his tremolo voice and, with pianissimo accents, requests the good pepple of Newark to judge him not by what he has done, but by what he has left undone. Every man knows that this incarnation of caprice has sought to escape criticism by being nothing, doing nothing and saying nothing, so that his record in office is marked by the zero and minus sign." 'Tis said that "Jim's" faithful lieutenants and sub-lieutenants are still wondering what their hero was talking about. They are convinced now, however, that Raymond is a dangerous character.

The Wittpenn slate in Hudson county is now completed and was scheduled to be formally announced at the outing today of the Bernard J. Kailt Association. Ex-Assemblymen Brackner, Mulligan, Gannon, Long, Devlin, Dugan and Kuhlke, who were in the 1914 Legislature, are among those on the Assembly ticket. The anti-Wittpenn ticket will include a majority of the delegation in the 1915 Legislature. Ex-Mayor George H. Steil, of Hoboken, has gone back on the antis' freeholder slate. The result of the freeholder election will determine Wittpen's future hold upon the county government.

Assemblyman Henry T. Kays, of Sussex, has announced that he will not be a candidate for renomination, and furthermore that he will not seek to defeat State Senator Samuel T. Munson for renomination on the Democratic ticket. The latter announcement is of great relief to Democratic leaders in Sussex, who feared a serious primary battle. Edward Mott, a Vernon township farmer, will likely be the Assembly candidate. Mr. Kays, who is a lawyer in Newton, has served in the Legislature three years. Philip S. Wilson, head of the Newton Academy, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Assemblyman.

Carlton Godfrey, speaker of the Assembly and prospective candidate for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination next year, has opposition in his effort to be returned to the lower House from Atlantic county. His colleague, Assemblyman Bertram E. Whitman, has primary opposition likewise. Mayor Riddle, of Atlantic City, has succeeded in inducing Dr. Underwood Cochran and former Recorder Martin F. Keeffer to announce their candidacies on a platform advocating greater "Sunday liberality."

Peter J. Olde, of Elizabeth, who was considered as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Assembly, announced yesterday that he would not run. This means that the Republican ticket, composed of the three present Assemblymen—William N. Runyon, of Plainfield; Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, and Charles L. Morgan, of Elizabeth, will go into the primary unopposed. A petition had been put in circulation for Mr. Olde. When asked if he would file the petition today he said that he had declined to accept.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"High Jinks," a musical farce by Otto Hauerbach and Rudolf Friml, will be presented at the Plainfield Theatre, September 4, by Arthur Hammerstein. The show takes its title from a magic perfume, invented by an explorer and used by an American nerve specialist practicing in Paris. The perfume has the property of compelling those who inhale it to sing and dance and laugh joyously. A kiss, "committed under the influence of this perfume," starts the plot, and the action develops into an amusing complication of wives and husbands.

A $200,000 pearl necklace and the smuggling of it into the United States forms the basis for "Under Cover," the latest success brought out by Selwyn & Company, the firm responsible for "Twin Beds," "The Show Shop," "Within the Law" and other popular entertainments, which will be the attraction at Plainfield Theatre, matinee and night, Labor Day. The play, which is in four acts, was written by Roi Cooper Megrue, and is described as an absorbing melodrama, which keeps the audience in a thrill of expectancy for three hours. Besides the detective narrative in which the secret service is concerned, "Under Cover" has a pretty love story running through it, and in form and matter conforms to all the rules of high-class drama. When Selwyn & Company present "Under Cover" here it will be enacted by an excellent company of players, each of whom has been selected with due regard for their fitness to interpret the special part they play. An elaborate scenic display is promised.

RANDOLPH PLANS "IRON MAN" STUNT

Local Twirler Will Officiate In Two Games at Perth Amboy, Sunday.

As a grand climax to a successful baseball season, Cliff Randolph, according to newspaper accounts, intends trying the "iron man" stunt when the Perth Amboy City League series is continued this Sunday. In the first game the Franklins, with whom Tommy Mullin performs, will be Randolph while the St. Anthonys will take a blow out of him in the second section. There is a little talk of using Springman, a recruit pitcher, in the first encounter, but those who are in a position to know, say that Billy Pfau, the Pacer leader, has decided to allow Cliff to undertake pitching the two games. Whether Cliff is equal to the task or not, of course, can only be decided after the contests have been staged.

Randolph's 1915 baseball career has been one of surprises marred by very few reverses. His work in the Amboy league has been remarkable, his ten victories being all of the clean cut variety and his one or two defeats being of the indecisive sort. The Lincoln Giants are about as heavy a hitting gang of diamond artists as there are in the country and yet, although they hit Cliff hard, they made no "mark" of him. Then, too, he is going to get another shot at the colored fellows and expects to reap his revenge.

PLAINFIELD BASKETBALL CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The Plainfield Basketball Club (colored) organized at the Plainfield High School gymnasium last night. [illegible] of the Recreation Committee addressed the young men and held the floor until the election of officers took place. Although no definite plans were laid down, it is the intention of the organization to have three basketball teams this winter also to engage in football. They will meet in the gymnasium every Wednesday night at 9 o'clock.

The following officers were elected: Dr. V. G. Hobson, president; Jack Hedgeman, treasurer, and Ralph Greene, secretary. The following committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws which will be voted upon at the next meeting: A. B. Jones, Ralph Greene and William Daniels.

AUTOMOBILE RACES TO BE HELD LABOR DAY

The Matty Mathews Racing Association will stage a big automobile race at Olympic Park, Irvington, Labor Day. It is expected that some excitement will be furnished by the many speed demons who have entered. Joe Dickenson, at present a resident of Newark, but more recently a native of Westfield, has entered in the big events, as has Ira Vail, driver of the Mulford Special which captured the relay event at Flemington some weeks ago. Experts pick Vail as the most likely winner of that event in Irvington.

"HOME RUN" BAKER GOES TO NEW YORK AMERICANS

Philadelphia, Sept. 2.—The sale of J. Franklin Baker, last year's third baseman of the Athletics, known as the "Home Run King" of the American League, will be announced tomorrow unless "Connie" Mack refuses to go through with the deal discussed here today. "Ban" Johnson, president of the American League; Lannin, president of the Boston club; Huston, vice-president of the New York Americans, and B. S. Shibe, of the Athletics, were in conference all afternoon, and the transfer is expected to be made tomorrow. The sale was outright and the price is believed to be $15,000.

The sale of Baker, it is said, is a step taken by American League owners to strengthen the Yankees and boost the game in New York, where interest in baseball has been affected by the poor showing of the Giants and the tumbling fortunes of the Yankees. More than one American League club will contribute to the upbuilding of the Yankees, but Baker is the only player known to have been settled upon for transfer so far.

ADDITIONAL ENTRIES FOR FEMININE ATHLETIC MEET

The Misses Amanda Sweeney and May Doughty have entered their names in the girls' athletic meet, which is scheduled for Labor Day afternoon on the Parker Field. A complete list of entrants and events will be published in Saturday's issue of this paper, thus giving an extended opportunity to any others who wish to enter to do so.

The silver loving cup which has been donated by the Recreation Committee to the girl who wins the highest number of points, also the individual event awards, will be on exhibition in Samuel Rothberg's window this afternoon.

SPORT BRIEFS

Tom Cowler last night stopped Jack Hemple in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout in the main event at the St. Nicholas A. C.

In the two-mile professional championship bike race at the Newark Velodrome, last night, Frank Kramer easily defeated Jackie Clarke.

United State championship tennis tourney matches at Forest Hills, Long Island, will continue today.

Shortstop Mike Doolan, of the Baltimore Feds, has been sold to the Chicago team of the same league.

Marvin Jacobson, star left fielder of the Brockton Club, of Colonial League, has signed a contract with the New York Giants.

ANOTHER BASEBALL TEAM.

The young men of Scotch Plains and Fanwood have organized a baseball team and have named it "Scotchwood." As yet no games have been arranged, but the manager, A. Walpole, would like to hear from the leaders of the many local baseball teams. The "Scotchwoods" are a purely representative combination and expect to trim all opposition.

Tell what you can do, clearly, concisely—in your situation wanted ad For your services are needed.

ARRAY OF BASEBALL TALENT "SIGNED UP"

Managers of Business Men's Team Plan to Whitewash "Pro" Aggregation.

When A. E. Force and Herman Schwed, the managers of the business men's baseball team, saw the line-up of the professional men's aggregation they suddenly got busy and signed an array of talent. In order that they might not be outdone by Dr. William H. Anthony, who is taking care of the "pro" team, and who signed up Ralph Smalley to catch for that team, the leaders of the rival combination engaged a few speed kings, too.

According to one of the business men the "pros'" line-up looks well on paper and ought to do well in the field, but it cannot compare with the one the merchants are going to put on the field.

The fact that "Doc" Anthony is going to do the hurling does not disturb the Force and Schwed alliance, for they have secured Pierson Bailey, a scholastic wonder, to adorn the hillock, with Jack Garretson behind the plate. The only other man who is recognized as a "regular" ball player is Eddie Conshay, who will pastime in the outfield, and who will be on hand to relieve Pierson Bailey if occasion demands.

The committee in charge of the big meet hoped to secure Mayor Leighton Calkins to umpire, but as the Mayor is out of town, and does not belong to the "baseball" party, it is not thought that he will handle the indicator. However, the second man in the "ump" game will probably be Judge William G. DeMeza. The work will be a pleasure for him, as he is used to "handing down" decisions. He will no doubt experience a funny sensation when he yells "strike" instead of "sixty days."

The most important job of the day is still untaken. The scorer of the match has not as yet been decided upon, although the offers of several have been duly considered. All of those interviewed asked too much money, and gave as their reason that hits would be so few and far between and errors so numerous that the work of keeping account of the "muddle" would be doubly irksome.

Samuel Rothberg's "home run" offer still holds good, and it is said that the derby is a "pippin." Already six or seven members of the two teams have called at Mr. Rothberg's store and have picked out the hat they want in the event that they clout out the first "homer." Not one of these aspirants seemed to have the slightest doubt but what he would carry home the derby. However, should the winner come out to Parker Field with a "straw katie" and attempt to go home with the two lids, he will surely encounter trouble.

For the sake of comparison the professional line-up is reprinted, and the business men's list is introduced to the fans. Here they are:

Business men—Bailey, p; K. Garretson, c; K. Runyon, 1b; M. Hoyt, 2b; Pete Emmons, ss; Smith, 3b; Lorenzo Townley, rf; A. E. Smith, cf; Ed Conshay, lf.

ATHLETICS TO WIN PENNANT IN 1917

So Says Connie Mack In Talking About His Team.

NOW HOPELESS TAILENDER.

But Leader of the Philadelphia Americans States His Team Will Be In Thick of Fight Next Year—Expects to Have Great Club In 1917.

American league fans who have seen the strange combination now passing off as the Philadelphia Athletics probably never suspected that they were watching a future pennant winner in the early stages of incubation. A future pennant winner is apt to be deceiving in appearances when it is real young, and there is nothing about the Athletics of today to arouse suspicion. Rather, their performances this season indicate that the embryo chick is weak in spots.

However, no less an authority and developer of champions than Connie Mack, their boss, has made a strong prediction for them. To an intimate friend, with whom he was recently discussing the possibilities of his team and his plans for reorganization, he said:

"We will be prominent in the race next year, and in 1917 we will win the pennant."

Thus do we see that while he is taking the dust in the race this year the tall leader of the Mackmen has adjusted his specs and looked over the top of a couple of years, where he sees his ball club battling for a world's championship as five other clubs have done for him in the past. Two years ahead is a long stretch for the eyes, but the prediction carries weight if for no other reason than that Connie Mack made it. Connie is a reticent man. He seldom talks about himself or his ball club, and he indulges in no idle boasts. In his quiet way he accomplishes things, and he has perhaps seen something in the present motley crew that has escaped general observation. And there are many who will string along with him.

"For good reasons I purposely wrecked a ball club that could have gone on winning for five more years," he said. "But I knew I could build another one. I have gathered together some promising players, from which I know now I can develop a winner within two years. Moreover, they are young players, some of them from colleges without previous professional experience, and they will learn and play my kind of baseball. You know sometimes a player can know too much baseball, or think he does. He gets to thinking he knows more than his manager, and then he is no longer as valuable to his club. It is teamwork, not individual playing, that wins pennants.

"I did not expect to do much this year. I haven't the ball club. But it is not nearly as bad a club as you think. It is my fault that we have not won more games. For instance, I have let young pitchers stay in the box when they were being hit unmercifully. I could have lifted such a pitcher, sent in another man and perhaps checked the rally and won out. But you can't win games and experiment with young ball players too. I have lost many games, but I have found out a lot about my new men, which is all important to me just now. We will win the games some other time when the developing stage is over."

Connie proceeded to wreck his team with deliberation, but since then he has been reconstructing with caution. Since the season opened he has tried out upward of twenty new players, and of these about a dozen remain. He has a collection of six new pitchers who made their big league debut since April. They are Crowell, Knowlson, Haas, Sheehan, Fillingim and Nabors. Nabors is from the Georgia and Alabama league. He is six feet three inches tall and the same size as his neck all the way down.

CLEVELAND'S NEW STADIUM.

Amateur Ball Players Have Fine Places to Exhibit Their Skill.

Cleveland already has one stadium where it is claimed 100,000 fans can see "amateur" contests, and now another stadium is being built. The one under construction is being rushed to completion by the city park authorities. The new stadium has a railroad embankment on one side and the other sides are surrounded by sloping hills. Inside this stadium several diamonds are being laid out.

In the Cleveland stadiums seats are not erected, but the spectators sit on the banks or stand outside the playing field and root for their favorites. Many former league players are finding it profitable to play on the "amateur" teams of Cleveland, for the business houses find it a good advertisement to employ men with baseball ability and have them wear uniforms marked with the names of their firms.

Notre Dame university will lay out modern baseball, track and football sections on Cartier field.

FOR A SMALL BOARD.

Sentiment in behalf of the small Board of Freeholders is everywhere growing and eventually, when taxpayers and voters, wake up to the necessity of looking after their own interests a bit, the old boards and their extravagances and mismanagement and even worse will be wiped out.

The latest storm of protest over the old board methods comes from Morris county. There the Freeholders' antics over the subject of road repairs has revived talk of a "small board." While Morris county has had one try at the "small board" scheme, it is said to have been hardly a fair one, and advocates of the plan think that a better showing would be made if it was tried over again. The twenty-six members of the present board have each a road that must be taken over by the county and repaired, at least it would seem so to the onlooker.

The remedy, the "small board" advocates claim, is the election of Freeholders by the county at large instead of by districts. This is not a popular project from the viewpoint of the rurals. When the "small board" was tried a few years ago the Republicans, in order to nominate candidates that would fully represent the county, divided the county into imaginary districts and called an unofficial convention of the local Republican committees. This convention selected candidates, one from each of the five districts, so that the entire county was represented. But a howl went up from those men who happened to be passed over by the convention. "Bossism" and all the other old bogies were trotted out before the voters, and in consequence only one of the five Republican candidates was elected.

The office paying only $1,500 a year, men with technical knowledge of value to the county were not attracted, and the men elected, though some of them had experience in the "large board," did not measure up to the standards the "small board" advocates had set. After the votes were counted it was found that Morristown had one man on the board, Dover one man, Rockaway Borough one and Boonton Borough two. Hardly a fair proposition to the rest of the county. The "small board" was speedily upset in the courts, and Morris is now getting along with the big board. This board is claimed to be unwieldly and too large to properly handle county business.—Trenton Times.

It was not so long ago that athletic events for girls were strictly tabooed by many. Now they are coming to be one of the principal forms of healthful and amusing recreation in the humdrum life of many of the young women of the present day. School and colleges are awakening more and more to the idea that girls, as well as boys, need the natural, exhilarating and physical activities which in time will result in strong men and women. Public recreation centres throughout the country are doing a tremendous work in this direction—they are opening the gymnasiums in the schools, the playgrounds, the recreation fields, all for the prime purpose of encouraging the American youth in the pursuit of those forms of recreation which tend to increase moral as well as physical capacity. In probably no other way is the true character of the young man or woman revealed. True sportsmanship, the ability to accept defeat with grace, is one of the strongest arguments for athletics. In a small degree the lighter forms of sports entered into by the boys and girls in Plainfield have shown their efficiency in this respect. On Monday the young women are to be given an opportunity to participate in various athletic sports which have hitherto been confined to the other sex, and the outcome of the experiment at Parker Field will be watched with much interest.

Charles S. Sminck has finally consented to be a candidate for councilman on the Republican ticket in the First ward. Mr. Sminck, if elected, and we have no doubt that he will be, will make a valuable addition to those excellent city fathers who will hold over or be re-elected. He has had a wide experience in legislative matters, while acting as secretary to Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, and as clerk of various legislative committees at Trenton. This will be of inestimable value to the people of the city, and the voters of the First ward are to be congratulated upon having a man of his calibre for whom to vote.

A State motor vehicle inspector investigating conditions in this vicinity would find cause to censure many automobilists for not obeying the law in regard to glaring headlights. While motorists generally have complied with that provision of the law, there are a few violators to be met with any night on the roads hereabouts. It was pretty generally understood that the department was in earnest when the enforcement of this provision of the law was undertaken, but while the inspectors have been active at the seashore resorts this summer, inland towns have been somewhat neglected.

If letter writers to newspapers and public officials would only realize the uselessness of sending anonymous communications they would save themselves unnecessary work and the recipients of such epistles a certain amount of annoyance. Very few modern, up-to-date newspapers will print in their columns communications which the writers are afraid or ashamed to sign. Even public officials are beginning to treat such unsigned missives as beneath their notice, and either consign them to the waste basket or leave them unheeded on their desks.

One of the most regrettable things in the recent history of the City Council is that fact that Councilman Claybrook, after two years' service, will not seek re-election because of his health. He has a large following of admirers in Plainfield, regardless of political faith, and had he stood for re-election he would undoubtedly have been sent back. Perhaps there will come a time when he will re-enter politics and then as Mayor Claybrook.

City Collector William R. Townsend's thousands of friends are delighted to see him back on the job following a serious operation. It is a great tribute to his personal popularity and his ability to fill the position which he holds, that he will probably be unopposed for re-election. It is just as well, for there is not a man in the city who can beat him.

The way they freeze that fellow—ouch!
And show him all their bleaknesses.

Killing Calves

This crusade against calf-killing should touch our heart, but it doesn't, somehow. We are too well acquainted with calves to feel at all harried in our tender sensibilities at the mere thought of putting blatting bossies out of the way.

We are so well versed in the ways of immature cows and tauruses that we have always wondered where the calf-brains of commerce came from, knowing well that they were never really found in the skull of the little idiots who used to keep us soaked with second-hand milk when we endeavored to teach them bibology from a wooden bucket.

We suppose this hue and cry to "save the calf" should bring bitter tears of sympathy from our beautiful brown eyes, but said eyes are dry enough to leave all night in a powder house without doing the slightest damage.

Two things in calf behalf we cannot join in: One is the hue, and the other is the cry.

Little calves must depend on total strangers for their defense.

HEALTH TALKS

by WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Cancer Of The Stomach

ANY person over forty years of age who begins to experience symptoms of stomach trouble, such as pain, loss of appetite, perhaps occasional vomiting, and especially vomiting of more or less blood, must be looked upon with suspicion. If, in conjunction with such symptoms, there is a failure of general health and a loss of weight, the chances are in favor of cancer as the cause.

The only possible cure for cancer of the stomach is prompt operation. Among the most experienced physicians and surgeons to-day it is an axiom that when a person over forty has such symptoms as those enumerated he should be urged to submit to exploratory operation if not relieved after a few weeks of medical treatment. Especially is this course necessary when chemical and microscopical examinations lend further color to the suspicion of cancer.

Cancer of the stomach is a very common disease. In its early stage—the only stage when surgery offers a hope of cure—the symptoms are seldom positively recognized. This is the time when, under modern precautions, an exploratory operation is at least safe. It may be a grim joke to call such an operation an "antemortem autopsy"—which in fact it is, if you know what the word autopsy really means—but for the victim of cancer it is the only hope of life.

Other signs of cancer of the stomach come too late; when a tumor can be felt, or when the patient becomes so very cachectic or exhausted that anyone can see he is desperately ill, it is too late to save him.

When a good doctor, or a council of good doctors, reaches the conclusion that there may be cancer of the stomach present, there is but one course for the patient, and that is immediate acceptance of the operation.

Every little while a foolish patient changes doctors when such a proposition is placed before him—he feels that the doctor must be crazy to think his symptoms can be caused by a cancer. Others may have cancer, but not he. Why, no one in his family ever had such a thing.

But you know the old saw about changing horses when crossing a stream.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Protest From Bereaved Husband

One of your, so to speak, health sermons, charges a stern husband, suggested a formula for a black hair dye. It worked very well on my mustache, so friend wife tried it on her hair. Unfortunately the supply we had on hand gave out when she had finished with one side of her head, and the druggist is "just out" of one of the ingredients. What had we better do?

Answer—Apply for a job at the fair—your wife would draw big. Or else try another druggist.

Heart Disease And "Murmurs"

When a doctor can hear no murmurs or other abnormal sounds, is it safe to consider the heart perfectly sound?

Answer—By no means. The most extensive degeneration of heart muscle may be present and yield no change of the heart sounds whatever. And "murmurs" are often heard over normal hearts.

Foods And "Gas"

What kind of food is more liable to form gas on the stomach? Is pepsin in any form helpful for such trouble?

Answer—Any kind of food may ferment and produce gas if there is any stasis or delay in the natural digestive movements. Pepsin is absolutely worthless in the treatment of such conditions.

PONDEROUS PERSONAGES—MACHIAVELLI

MACHIAVELLI was a much misjudged Italian who would smile contentedly for the first time in 300 years if he could get a look at the remains of international law just now.

He was born in Florence in 1469 and, after obtaining a fair education, went into politics at the age of twenty-four and got a city appointment. Politics in Italy at that time was as risky an occupation as aeroplaning. The man who played the game only stayed up a little while and usually got killed coming down. Notwithstanding this fact Machiavelli succeeded in staying in politics in Florence for forty-three years before he was banished. While his fame is not based on this fact it constituted a world's record up to that time and should not be overlooked.

Machiavelli had the job of organizing the Florentine militia. While doing this he studied statecraft. Florentine statecraft included a conscientious use of murder, arson and prevarication in its various branches and the statesman who could not drop a package of rat poison into the wine of a bumptious minority leader was a pale failure.

Machiavelli dodged trouble for a long time, but it came plentifully at last. He was tortured by the Medicis and fired from Florence with a loud report. This did not offend him, because it was all in the name of statesmanship. But it took him twelve years to get up enough nerve to go back into politics. In the meantime he wrote plays, poems, essays and a number of books on Italian politics. One of these was "The Prince." It was a slim volume full of such shocking recipes for building a kingdom that "Machiavellian" has become an adjective used to describe anything slightly worse than devilish.

This was a great injustice to Machiavelli, for he was a kind man who did not believe in Greek fire or poisonous gases. In fact he would be a little too soft-hearted to be of much use in a modern war.

An adjective used to describe anything slightly worse than devilish

Machiavelli's theory was that the State was too big and important to conform to petty rules of humanity or morality or honesty, which were only invented for common people. It has taken three hundred years for the world to understand this theory, but it seems to be absorbing it rapidly now and we may expect to see a good many statues of this great man erected in the next few years.

Neutrality Of The Air

THERE is not like to be any serious extended diplomatic exchange of notes between Switzerland and Great Britain over the former's protest that English aviators violated Swiss neutrality when they flew from French over Swiss soil to drop bombs on the Zeppelin sheds in the German town of Friedrichshafen.

Superficially, it would appear that the view of Switzerland on this subject is an attempt to dignify an altogether trivial matter, yet it has a phase which merits attention in a consideration of neutrality and of neutral or national rights both in war and peace.

An aeroplane flying very high across neutral land might be incapable of violating neutrality in any sense or any degree, because of inability to observe things or to do any damage, yet by flying low it might, on the other hand, achieve very important purposes not otherwise attainable, particularly as a spy.

It has been suggested that the three-mile limit of the sea be applied also to the air; or that the right of aviation above neutral zones shall be regulated by the flyer himself. If he can be brought down with a gun, he is unneutral; otherwise, he is neutral. But if he is to be regulated by the sea rule, and required to stay up three miles, he may well be accounted innocent of wrong doing.

In replying to the Swiss complaint, Britain expressed regret that her flyers had crossed Swiss territory, but declared at the same time that she did not concede to any nation sovereignty of all the air above its own soil—only of so much as it could occupy and control, which British legal opinion endorses. Hence, just now the only really private air is "hot air," which no national or international law is likely to curtail, while its expression is confined within the bounds of reasonable flamboyance.

But if airships may not traverse neutral territory, what about wireless messages, which are of vastly greater significance? — Pittsburg Dispatch.

Corporations and Stock Companies

Q. Please tell me some of the points of difference between a corporation and a joint stock company. Are the duties and liabilities of the members the same in either case?

A. There are some points of similarity between a corporation and a joint stock company. In the case of either a corporation or a joint stock company, the mere fact that one or more of the members may retire or die will not prevent the corporation or the joint stock company from continuing its existence. There is a similarity also in the methods employed in carrying on the business, by means of officers and agents. The principal point of difference is that, in the absence of legislation, the members of a joint stock company are liable to contribute to the company's debts. In the case of a corporation, it is the general rule that the stockholders are liable for the debts of the concern only to the extent of the shares of capital stock which such members have contributed.

Inheritance Tax Law

Q. Is the inheritance tax law of Illinois subject to the general revenue law of the state in any way?

A. The inheritance tax law has no relation to the general revenue law.

Witnesses To A Lease

Q. Is it ever necessary for a lease to have the signatures of witnesses? Does it have to be acknowledged, like a deed?

A. In some states there are statutes which require the signatures of witnesses and which also require acknowledgment, where the lease is for the period of years specified in the statute. In many other states, however, there are no such requirements.

Looking Out For Number One

Q. A man who was conducting a theatre hired another man as his agent or manager. The first man held a lease on the building. The agent, by reason of his employment, secured certain information concerning this lease and, shortly before the time when the lease was to expire, decided that a renewal would be beneficial to him, although contrary to his employer's interests. He therefore obtained a renewal. Did he have any right to do this? A. No.

An Unbusinesslike Deed

Q. If a deed has a vague description of the property will the deed be good?

A. The deed will be good if the property may be identified by means of physical conditions, measurements and other facts and circumstances.

Marriage Nullifies Will

Q. If a man makes his will and afterward marries, is the will good?

A. In your state (Illinois), the marriage operates as a revocation of the will and the instrument will be invalid.

The Jitney Problem

Q. What law governs, or will govern, the use of jitney busses?

A. The general law pertaining to common carriers will control, in the absence of any legislation to the contrary.

The Life Line

By Laura Kirkman

The Wife Who Doesn't Read The Newspaper

Why doesn't she? Plainly and simply because she isn't interested in the world. She's interested only in herself. Her whist triumphs—her trials with the new cook—her wardrobe plans — these are the things she offers her husband for conversation. She is capable of grasping, and talking intelligently about, the affairs of the day, but why should she? She is much more interested in her own affairs. She's too selfish to try to interest herself in these bigger things, for his sake. Consequently, when, at breakfast, her husband's eye falls on a surprising bit of news, he checks his involuntary exclamation. "What's the use?" he reminds himself, "she wouldn't understand—or care a rap!" He bottles up his news till he meets a more congenial companion. And right here flies a big danger flag: some day, this more congenial companion may be a woman—perhaps even some woman in his own office. The wife who doesn't make herself the intellectual companion of her husband, had better look out.

She's only a Sunday garment.

Make-Believe

Take a pair of chickens snowy,
Harness 'em with bits of string;
Drive 'em out across the meadow,
Where the first blue vi'lets spring.
Make believe that you're a princess,
Talking in a foreign tongue—
Riding through a golden palace;
(Yes, it's easy—if you're young!)

All the world is bright to greet you;
When your snowy chargers prance
Out across the dusty roadway,
All the daisies seem to dance.
Every blade o' grass is bowing,
Every cowslip bell is rung
Just to give you joy and pleasure.
(Yes, it's easy—if you're young!)

When the springtime of your fancy
Melts away to winter grim;
When the leaves of youth and childhood
Flutter from the highest limb—
Take a pair of memory chickens,
Harness 'em with strands of gold,
Make believe—an' make it easy
If you're young or if you're old!

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Giraffe Got His Collar.

The People Looked and Began to Roar.

"I WILL tell you kiddies another story in blank verse tonight," said daddy, at which Jack and Evelyn were much delighted. So daddy began:

"My story is pleasing, if not true. It's about a giraffe that lived in a zoo.

"This giraffe was striped and lank and tall, overtopping the animals all.

"That animal stood and swallowed hay in his pen at the zoo all the live long day.

"And the people passed, kids, women and men, and watched the giraffe in his roomy pen.

"And they said: 'What a wonderful, long necked creature! No wonder he's such a popular feature.'

"And the people thought it was a popular treat to stand and watch the giraffe eat.

"For he ate all night and he ate all day; down his long neck went loads of hay.

"And they said: 'I never since I was born saw a neck like that! Why, he looks forlorn!'

"Now the poor giraffe is a patient brute, buf that kind of comment didn't suit.

"His appetite sort of fell away, and he didn't eat his stint of hay.

"And he said to himself: 'I'd give a dollar if I could somehow get a collar

"'To hide my neck from the jeering crowd and stop their sneering comments loud.'

"No sooner said than a cry of 'Fire!' brought the firemen brave who never tire.

"The blaze was in the monkey house, and it was soon put out with a sudden douse.

"Then some one looked toward the tall giraffe and burst out into a roaring laugh.

"A great big length of hose had dropped by the giraffe's pen, and he had popped

"His head down there as quick as a wink, and next—well, children, what do you think?

"Well, just as sure as a silver dollar, he'd put on that hose for a rubber collar!

"But instead of laughing at him no more the people looked and began to roar."

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Come on, Nell, let's stop for the Parsons and go on over to the Jaynes mansion; I saw it was open when I came by," proposed Dick one evening after supper.

"All right. I'll put Hal's things on; you take the buggy out. Come on little fellow." Nell picked up the baby and started for the bedroom while Dick took down the receiver and stirred up the Parsons. The house was in plain sight, though some distance away, on a bluff overlooking the village. It had been modelled after a Rhine castle apparently and abounded in towers and turrets.

"The architect who designed that should be hung from one of the turret windows," said Parsons as they climbed the bluff. "It's queer people can't see that what is beautiful in one place is a hideous eyesore in another. That style would be endurable among rocks and pines, but here in this comparatively level country it stands out like a carbuncle."

"That's what she wants; nothing appropriate and inconspicuous would answer for the Jayneses. She is unhappy unless she is the cynosure of all eyes," grumbled Dick.

By this time they had reached the steps, and the children scrambled up and began racing the full length of the long porches.

"There are fine, anyway," said Jo. "With awnings and flowers I'd not ask for a pleasanter spot, and living in the house would have an advantage; you couldn't see the outside."

Dick was carrying the baby. "Come on and see the famous spinal stairway," he called, entering the reception hall. "That's not half bad."

"Look at the carving. I wonder if the Jaynes family? Probably, as they are triumphal processions of buxom women," chuckled Parsons.

"They have put in electric lights, bringing the electricity over from the factory at great expense," exclaimed Dick. "I'm afraid that will put off the day when Fairport will have her own electric plant; and the cesspool for the four bathrooms will in like manner retard the sewer we had hoped for."

"Of those things never work successfully; we'll get the sewer all right." Parsons was an optimist. "The whole place is full of carved lions and florid decorations, and with furniture to match it will hurt the eyes."

"The ears, you mean; it will be loud enough to deafen people," corrected Dick.

"Let us look at the billiard room in the third story," suggested Parsons, leading the way.

"My, I had no idea the view could be so fine from here." Jo stepped out on the balcony. In front of the large room that occupied the whole third story, the town lay in a huddle that trailed off in a ragged fringe of houses on three sides. The railroad stretched away to east and west, shining lines of steel. A fringe of woods beyond the yellow stubble showed where the river flowed.

They met Jaynes on his way to the house as they descended the little hill. "We've been up to see your new house!" Dick and Parsons extended hands in greeting.

"There's more gingerbread about it than I'd choose for myself, but the majority rules." He shrugged his shoulders. "I'd rather have a home like yours, Parsons."

"You have a fine billiard room," applauded Dick. "Do you play a crack game?"

"No, I know very little about the game. Clyde will be the one who will live up there, judging from present indications. He threatens to make billiards his life work." There was a contemptuous curl of his lip.

"He's young," said Parsons cheerfully. "Let him climb gosling hill."

"It's a long hill," said Jaynes as he touched his hat, partly by ducking his head down to meet his hand, and

CANDIES

Marshmallow Candy—Take two pans. In one put two cups granulated sugar and eight tablespoons boiling water. On the other pan put two tablespoons No. 3 gelatin and eight tablespoons cold water. When contents of two pans are thoroughly dissolved, pour together, beat until stiff and flavor. Have ready square pan sprinkled thickly with powdered sugar, pour in part of mixture. Add to the rest of the mixture one-half of coloring tablet enclosed in package of gelatin, dissolved in a little cold water (makes a delicate pink); pour on top of the other mixture sprinkled with sugar; when cold cut in squares. This recipe never fails; delicious.

Reliable Fudge Recipe—One cup granulated sugar, one-sixth cup corn syrup, one-fourth cup milk, one square chocolate, or four teaspoons cocoa, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon vanilla. Cook sugar, syrup, milk and chocolate together until a bit hardens in a cup of cold water, then add butter and vanilla. Beat and put into buttered pans.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING

When peeling vegetables or preparing fruit, protect the ball of the thumb and the first finger on the right hand from cuts by putting on each a strip of adhesive plaster. This is waterproof, costs ten cents a spool, which will last all summer for this purpose.

To Finish Ends of Silence Cloth Table Felt—Use linen thread to crochet edge, using single stitch and catching well into felt. It is far better than unfinished or the impossible hem.

For Red Ants—Sprinkle places with black pepper. They will leave almost immediately.

THE TABLE

Fresh Fruitcake—One large cup sugar blended with one heaping tablespoon butter; add a good cup of blackberries, mash well through the sugar and butter, then add two eggs, one and one-half cups milk, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder and enough flour to make a fairly stiff batter. Bake in three layers and frost while still warm. (Any berry may be used in season.) A very good frosting for the above is as follows: Butter Creme Frosting—Two cups confectionery sugar, heaping tablespoon of butter; blend till there are no lumps; add one teaspoon vanilla and about three tablespoons warm cream. Mix well and spread generously.

Cream Cake—Beat two eggs until very light, add one cup sugar, pinch of salt and any flavoring desired; beat thoroughly, then stir in one cup sweet cream; beat until sugar is dissolved, then add three level cups flour mixed with two heaping teaspoons baking powder. Beat again until light and bake in two layers. This cake may be varied in many ways by adding a cup of dried fruit of any kind desired, or by the addition of one-half cup shredded cocoanut or grated chocolate; or it may be made a spice cake. The plain batter also makes excellent cookies or doughnuts by adding flour to make a soft dough. This is both good and cheap.

Prune Kuchen—Two cups flour, two tablespoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two teaspoons baking powder, three-fourths cup milk, one egg, one-fourth cup butter, one-half pound prunes, two tablespoons brown sugar, powdered cinnamon to taste. Sift flour and baking powder, add sugar and salt, then rub butter in well. Beat up the egg, add the milk and stir in the dry ingredients. Turn into shallow pan which was buttered. Have prunes cooked and stones removed. Press prunes into dough. Sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon and bake twenty-five minutes. Cut in squares and serve hot.

Rhubarb Pie—Pour boiling water over rhubarb, let stand about fifteen minutes, pour off water. Add one cup sugar, one tablespoon flour, one egg (beat up with part of sugar), one orange sliced and grated rind. Paste strip of cloth over edge of pastry to keep in juice.

Date Surprise—Put one tablespoon butter, one cup sugar and one quart milk in sauce pan and bring to boiling point. Add four tablespoons cornstarch moistened with cold milk and cook eight minutes, stirring constantly. Add one cup dates, pitted and chopped, one-half teaspoon vanilla extract and teaspoon almond extract. Mix and pour into sherbet glasses. When cold decorate with stoned dates.

Floured Salt Pork With Cream Gravy—A delightful old-fashioned and almost forgotten dish that will be appreciated. Dip thin slices of salt pork in flour or corn meal and flour and fry until crisp. To make the gravy take one spoonful of flour to one spoonful of the pork drippings, brown and add one cup of cold milk, stir until thick and creamy.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Atchison, Kan.—Two women are now in the political field for the high office of United States Senator from Kansas. Mrs. H. K. Burnes resigned her office yesterday as superintendent of the State Orphans' Home here, to take the stump. She declares she will oppose Mrs. Lillian Mitchner, who has already announced her candidacy. The women candidates seek the seat of Senator W. H. Thompson, whose term expires in 1919.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Miss Frances M. Crittenden, of New York, yesterday became secretary of the Minneapolis Y. W. C. A., succeeding Miss M. Belle Jeffery, who resigned after twenty-three years of helpful work here to become head of the Los Angeles Association. Miss Crittenden has been supervising the city work in Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and North and South Dakota, and has made an extensive study of girls' problems in the East and Middle West.

Tokio—The leader of the feminist movement in Japan is Mrs. Akiko Yosano, who has long been known as the "dreamer." Today she holds the public attention with her poems and essays, which are written "down" to the common people. She urges her people to be researchers, originators, and to arise to the great modern opportunities. She is a firm believer in the advancement of women, and in the newspaper and magazines she predicts great things for women when they are aroused to their importance in the Oriental world. With her husband, who is also a poet and a student of Japanese society, she has grown to high popularity.

St. Louis, Mo.—Miss Louise Le Noir Thomas, one of the prettiest of St. Louis belles, has given up the luxuries of her St. Louis home to teach in the Kentucky mountains. Miss Thomas is the Eleonora Sears of Missouri, and has a dash f originality that makes her distinctive. She enlisted as a volunteer for the school work among the mountaineers at Hindman, Ky. Although she aspires to teach art and the higher branches of learning, she declares she will be content to do anything that will help, down to dish washing.

Washington, Ia.—Miss Margaret L. Cowden, of this city, who has been studying mission work, sailed yesterday for Persia as a missionary. She will make her headquarters at Teheran, and will devote herself to the Persian women, most of whom are Mohammedans. She expects to spend several years there, and will pick up the language and study the customs and the needs of the women of that ancient land. She declares that the ignorance in Persia is due to the teaching of Mohammedanism, and that it is wide in extent. Her aim is to bring about reforms by means of the common people. She hopes to establish a newspaper in Persia to aid in uplifting the ignorant masses.

Waycross, Ga.—A "joker" in the amendment to the charter of Waycross has given the women the right to vote. The bill was passed and signed by the Governor, and far down in the bill was the proviso that the right of suffrage in Waycross "shall not be denied to any citizen because of sex." Yet the law will not stand the test, if it is applied, say the lawmakers who passed the bill. Suffrage was turned down by the same Legislature, which went on record as overwhelmingly opposed. But when the Waycross bill came up, not a dissenting voice was raised. In signing the bill the Governor made special note that the suffrage feature cannot stand a test in Waycross. Now the question among the women of this city is, What are we going to do about it.?

New Orleans, La.—Mrs. Deborah A. Milliken, whose philanthropy in the gift to the city of the Milliken Memorial Hospital for Children, has proven one of the city's greatest blessings, has been awarded the loving cup annually given by the Times-Picayune to the person who during the year rendered the greatest service to the city. Three other New Orleans women have won the honor during the fourteen years the cup has been annually awarded. Mrs. Milliken is eighty-four years old, and comes of a Maine family.

Growing Up.

By Arthur Guiterman.

That dreadful morn in bright September!
It dawned upon us, fresh and cool.
We dressed the household's youngest member
And sadly sent him off to school.

Our fledgling bird, the nest forsaking,
In jacket new and collar white;
And proudly, though our hearts were breaking,
We watched him trudging out of sight.

How sweet he looked to eyes parental
With rosy cheeks and locks that curled
Yet far too tender, mild and gentle
To face, alone, the great, hard world.

The longest day must have an ending,
And home he came—but oh, how changed!
His shirt was torn beyond all mending,
His curls were rudely disarranged.

His little hands were clenched for smiting;
His eyes were bright with sterner joy.
Just think! Our angel had been fighting!
Our Baby has become a Boy!

Larger Use of School Buildings.

The change in industrial conditions has swept girls from their homes into the factories, has brought them face to face with the temptations of the street. We trust the education of youth too much to the public schools. It is the parents' work to educate their children in sex hygiene and to set an example of right living and right thinking, to know always where their children are and what they are doing for recreation. The home should be made the most attractive place to our boys and girls. To do this parents need to be educated. Let us extend the school system for the education of the parents as well as the child and run the schools twelve months in the year and six nights a week. School buildings are public property and the demand of the people is always met by taxpayers because the people are the taxpayers. So if parents would wake up to the fact that they need education, the State and city will furnish the means through the public school by means of special courses and night schools.

Feeblemindedness.

Professor E. R. Johnstone, of the State Training School of Vineland, spoke recently on "Institutions for the Feebleminded." He said in part: "Many years ago it was believed that the feebleminded could be so trained that they would become competent workers of society. At this time there is a gradual awakening to the fact that a very large percentage of the children now in special classes are not backward but actually feebleminded. It is difficult for parents and teachers to realize the true state of affairs because the child learns many new things. He is acquiring a larger number of facts, but they are all on the same mental level. A feebleminded child of fourteen having the mental age of a normal child of six acquires nearly all of the mental activities of all six-year-old children, but he will never be able to do those things which a normal child of seven, eight or nine does. We must use the measuring scale, learn all we can of the possibilities of each mental age and train in such things as may be understood and used in later years. Our tests must be developed to make them more and more accurate and the activities of childhood must be recorded, translated and interpreted."

In Plainfield a girl of eighteen who was in one of our institutions for sixteen years has been committed to the Vineland Home for Feebleminded. After six months away from institutional care, a sad misfortune brought the necessary test which for her own sake and that of the community should have been made years ago. She should never have been allowed to face the world.

Congress of Mothers.

Prof. O'Shea, of Wisconsin University, says: "The National Congress of Mothers is a very potent force in this country in developing an interest in child life. I thing it has been more consistently faithful in urging the cause of the better training of childhood than any other organization or institution in America. It has accomplished more than any other national or international society for the betterment of the conditions of child life. It is entitled primarily to chief recognition in any proceedings relating to child welfare. It has done more in America than has been done throughout the world thus far. It has developed independently of outside aid; its influence is of immense importance and as an organization, it is the natural centre around which other organizations should be formed."

Play-With-a-Purpose.

"I believe that the reason so many little children get into mischief is due to mothers telling them to run and play, without directing their games or giving them some definite goal to reach. It is only play-with-a-purpose that leads to the realms of 'content.'

"Take for instance, the playing of the old game so dear to all childhood, 'Hot and Cold.' We combined the playing of this game of hiding an article and having the child find it, together with giving her some idea of the difference of musical tones. I would hide some object and my little girl would try to find it. Instead of calling out to her 'hot' when she came close to the hidden object, or 'cold' when she drew away from it, I played a low note on the piano when she was near it, I played a high note when she was far from it. She listened intently and was thus trained in observation and concentration as well as in tone development. Even when no piano is used in a household, a mother might employ practically this same method by the singing of high and low notes."—Winifred S. Stoner.

LITERARY

Whooping Cough and Vaccination.

A word of commendation should be accorded the New York Department of Health for its appeal to the physicians of New York for their collaboration in the more extensive use of vaccine in the treatment of whooping cough. This disease, "which kills yearly ten thousand American children," occupies a unique position among the infectious diseases, in that its onset is indefinite, its duration particularly long, and its seriousness not at all appreciated by the public. The basis for this appeal is in the favorable results in the use of the vaccine already reported. It would be well, says The Journal of the American Medical Association, if the collaboration were given still wider scope and were extended to other large municipalities so that we could determine without undue delay the possibility of reducing the morbidity and mortality of this disease.

Dangerous Jobs.

"One man's meat is another man's poison," says an old proverb, while another asserts that one can get used to anything. Both these axioms are doubtless true, but we venture to think that few of our readers would care to seek employment at any of the series of hazardous occupations described in this interesting article. Nevertheless, as the author points out, there is no lack of recruits; the risks run seem to attract just the right type of man.

Something of the spirit of that hypothetical sailor who pitied the poor folks on shore during a howling gale is found in the breasts of most men who earn their daily bread at the risk of life and limb, writes F. Clayton Terriss in the September Wide World Magazine. It is, perhaps, a legacy of savage days that the dangers which can be met by quickness of eye and foot and hand always find men to face them even with delight.

The readiness and courage displayed by steeplejacks is often beyond praise. Two men were working on a scaffolding on a church steeple, and at one point it became necessary for one of them to stand on the other's shoulders in order to reach a part of the work.

Suddenly the pot of molten lead he was carrying was tipped over by some projection, and a quantity of the boiling metal dropped on the shoulders of the man below. The pain was as excruciating as it was unexpected, and it must have been very difficult for the victim to refrain from the start which would have precipitated both men into the street far below. But refrain he did; moreover, he held his ground until his mate could clamber down on to the platform again and help him away to the relief which he so badly needed. An act like that requires heroism of a very high order.

BASEBALL SEASON WAS NOT A SUCCESS

Marked Lack of Interest Shown at Parker Field This Year.

The Parker Field baseball season has closed after a rather unsuccessful year. Somehow the boys of this city and vicinity did not seem to take to baseball this season, and it was hard work trying to get them on the diamond. For the first few weeks interest increased in the junior league, but when one team, Yale, ran up a total of ten wins and one defeat, the other teams got discouraged. To bring about an even race the Yale outfit was graduated to the senior league, but it was soon shown that they were too slow for that circuit.

Some of the players despaired of ever winning a game and gradually dropped out of sight. Towards the end of the season a reorganization of both the junior and senior leagues was brought about by Supervisor Wriston in an effort to start the ball rolling. But the effort accomplished little or nothing. For the past two weeks not one league game of any account has been played, and, in fact, only two or three independent contests have been staged on Parker Field.

Last year and the year previous the league races were the talk of the town, nip-and-tuck struggles being staged daily by the Red Stars and the Laurels. The miniature world series was always played on Labor Day, but this year nothing of the sort is to be exhibited to the public.

Of course, it is realized that many of the former ballists have secured work for the summer, and they are to be commended for so doing, but, then, too, many of the boys would sooner lounge about town or in bed than get out and get a little exercise.

However, the cinder-path has been used to a very great extent, and so have the tennis courts. As usual, the gymnastic apparatus is very popular with the smaller children, who enjoy the slides and other amusement devices to their heart's content.

The playground winds up this season's work at the end of this week.

CANADIANS IN 200-MILE RACE.

Prescott, Ont., Sept. 2.—The 200-mile canoe race for the Graham Browne trophy will be started from here today. The route is from Prescott seventy-five miles along the St. Lawrence to Kingston, then down over the Rideau Lakes and canal to the finishing point in front of the Rideau Clubhouse. Racing canoes are barred. Each canoe has two occupants, and they are allowed only fifteen pounds of provisions at the start. The canoeists must also rest nine hours out of each twenty-four, and rest stations have been designated. The long canoe race is one of the most interesting sporting events of the Dominion.

Until September 11 the Daily Press will go to press on Saturdays at 1 o'clock.

The want ad way of tenant-finding is the accepted way—and means small expense and delay.

Scattered Sport Gleanings

Reports state that quite a few local fight fans witnessed the recent encounter between Charley Weinert and Jim Savage. According to the same report this city has several pugilistic aspirants, too. While Plainfield has never been really well represented in the roped arena it can find pride in the fact that "Bob" Fitzsimmons, one of the best fighters that ever donned a mitt, resides near here.

So far about thirty young women have signified their intention of competing in the coming girls' athletic meet. If all of the thirty keep their word some excitement is sure to prevail at Parker Field when the first crack of the pistol is heard. Many of the female stars who performed so well at Scotch Plains when the "Community Picnic" was held there have promised to try their luck at the popular local recreation centre.

It is hoped that Ralph Runyon and Jack Fritts, the only local athletes who have entered the coming meet at Milltown, succeed in landing first honors in all of the events in which they are scheduled to compete. Of course this is expecting a great deal from the local boys, but, in the case of Runyon, at least, the hope is reasonable. So far as is known no really great vaulting star has entered the coming event other than the local lad, and if Ralph displays his usual form he should have very little trouble.

Jack Fritts has informed us that he realizes how great an opponent he has in Randolph Granger, the Newark Irish-American A. C. and Dartmouth crack. However, many track followers are of the opinion that the fact that Granger is going to compete in a meet in Philadelphia as well as in Milltown is going to seriously impair his chances.

That promised farce between the professional men and the business men is sure going to be some match. "Doc" Anthony, who is looking after the "pros" end of the game, says that his wing is in fine shape and intimates that the business men will agree with him during and after the coming tilt. Sam Rothberg has offered a swell derby to the man who registers the first home run, but it is not likely that Sam will have to part with the lid unless errors are allowed to count. Imagine one of those rotund amateur diamond artists clouting the pill far enough to give him time to roll around the three bags. Perhaps, the fact that the young women are looking on may inspire a few of the "gents" to get out and try, but it is a pretty safe bet that very few lids will leave the "S. R. Quality Store" on Tuesday, unless a few of the players take up a popular subscription.

Friend fan, do not forget that benefit game for "Kid" Brennan. The exhibition is to be staged for a very laudable purpose and deserves the support of every one in the city. The fact that there will be no game on Baptist field Saturday will do a great deal towards attracting the crowd to Parker Field. Then, too, there are comfortable seats at the popular amusement centre and there is nothing a fan more enjoys than to be able to rest easily while his favorites battle for honors.

The Tab clubhouse is going to be a regular den now. With bowling alleys, basketball court and lounging rooms, this clubhouse is sure going to vie for popularity with the many others in this locality.

We are still laughing at the Savidge baseball muddle. It reminds us of the little squabble two City League teams had over Aaron Hirsch.

Parker Field today is the scene of a splendid junior athletic meet. At an event of this sort is the only place the boys of this city can freely exhibit their athletic ability.

My, what a poor baseball season this was. We refer to Parker Field, gentle fan, and we repeat our statement. The junior baseball leagues have been failures, due to the fact that the boys have not taken interest enough in the national pastime to take the trouble to trot out to Parker Field. Perhaps, a good sleep suits them better.

If we should suddenly make the announcement that Anita Stewart is to appear at Parker Field at the coming girls' athletic meet wouldn't some crowd be on hand. Well, some future "Anitas" are going to be there anyway and no doubt the fact will attract a large clan of rooters.

Welcome home, Jimmie Emery; welcome home.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR POST-SEASON SERIES

Not Likely That Farmer A. C. Will Be Able to Meet City League "Champs."

The Farmer A. C., managed by A. C. Campbell, has made known its desire to tackle the pennant winners in the present City League race, but it is not likely that their wish can be granted inasmuch as the season will not close until the first week in October. A number of unavoidable postponements have necessitated an extension of the playing season and as a result it is not thought that the real champions will be positively known until the very last contest is finished.

This fact has been made all the more probable by the splendid showing of the Saurer boys. As the Baptists are scheduled to meet the Saurers on October 2 and as it is generally believed that this game may have a great bearing on the matter of settling the championship argument many fans are at a loss to figure out how the Farmers can get their desired shot at the "champs."

While the Farmer team, in its present condition and with its present roster, is a very formidable one, it is not as good an outfit as, at least, three of the City League clans. It may and, no doubt, does play as good ball as some of the circuit teams, but then its opponents are weaker clubs. However, with Kachelries twirling the brand of ball that has made him famous, perhaps the "Seeds" may spring a surprise.

BIG BOXING BILL.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 2.—Three sizzling bouts are promised for the Minnesota fight fans here tonight. Milburn Saylor, who has been beating his opponents regularly, will tackle Phil Brook, the Cleveland battler. Brook's brother, Matt, will meet Billy Defoe in the prelims, and Frankie Whitney, of Cedar Rapids, will meet Jack Tillman, of this city. All the bouts are ten-round affairs.

CITY LEAGUE CHANGES STILL TALK OF FANS

Several important changes were made in the rosters of the various teams at the City League meeting Monday night. However, the most important was the addition of Jack Martin to the Saurer clan and Jim Emery to the Hope forces and the releasing of Cliff Randolph by the Chapel team. Why Cliff was given his walking papers was due perhaps to the announcement that he would be busy hurling against the Lincoln Giants and teams of their calibre for some time to come. Jack Martin and Jim Emery need no boosting. It looks as though Britt Martin has his eye on that pennant.

The Baptists dropped Savidge, who has been a source of worriment to them for some time, and signed Schenck in his place. So far as is known the new man is not a star, but may show up well. At any rate he will be much beter than Savidge, who was of no use at all. Why the Hopes and Tabs were so anxious to sign Savidge is still a mystery. The Abstainers dropped Denitzio who, although signed to a Tab contract, never played with them owing to the fact that business took up too much of his time.

ALL-STARS WILL MEET CHELSEAS ON SUNDAY

Casey Lambertson's All-Stars will meet the Chelseas, on Chelsea Park Oval, next Sunday afternoon, in the first game of a possible three-game series. As these two teams are the only fast baseball teams in that section of the city a heated melee is an-dicipated. The Chelseas are confident of putting the All Stars' lights out.

The line-up of the Stars has been given out as follows: Eddie Montross, 3b; Ernie Wahl, ss; Casey, 2b; Lee, 1b; Casey Lambertson, pitcher; Jimmy Lambertson, c; A. A. Storr, lf; Carson, rf, and Adolph Walpole, cf.

FIVE-GAME SERIES WILL BEGIN SUNDAY

Plainfield A. A. and Tabs Will Engage In Contests On Avon Oval.

"Dipper" Jones has announced that the five-game Sunday series between the Tabs and the Plainfield A. A. will begin this Sunday and will continue until one of the two outfits is returned a decisive winner. Last week Jupiter Pluvius, high monarch of the water wagon, decided that he would rid himself of some surplus baggage, and as a result the opening tilt was called off.

Each of the two managers is confident of annexing the opening encounter, and, in fact, the series. Both of the teams are splendidly equipped with twirling talent and heavy hitters. It is likely that Tone Denny, who has not hurled very much this summer, will work regularly in this series, saving his brother, Jack, for the City League games. Then, too, it is thought that Dick Lawton, than whom there are very few better juvenile pitchers, may get a chance to take a short shot at the Jones men.

It is said that Savidge will play with the Tab Sunday team, inasmuch as the injury to Frank Brennan has put Manager Jimmy Monahan sorely in need of material. Savidge ought to be a valuable addition to the Abstainers' forces as he is a good fielder and a consistent hitter.

Gifford Jones, the manager of the Plainfield combination, has not given out his official line-up, but it is understood that no new men will be employed, as the series is to be purely local. Johnny Dixon will do the bulk of the hurling for the Jones clan, with Benny Rosenson on hand to rescue him if necessary.

ROD AND REEL

We had a talk with several interested fishermen yesterday over the pollution of Staten Island Sound and one of them suggested that a fund be raised with which to engage a lawyer to apply for an injunction restraining the guilty parties from further emptying their waste acids and tar into that body of water.

The Barnegat Bay fishing is again taking a spurt. There are days when a catch of a dozen weakfish is the best any crowd can do, but Monday several of the Forked River boats brought in as high as fifty with five men fishing. One of the Barnegat captains reported his party as catching sixty-two weakfish and three snappers the same day.

One of the hardest hit industries this year is the fisheries. Guides as well as net fishermen, haven't put aside any money out of their earnings this summer, and there is very little chance for them to make up their losses with the waning season. No one seems to be able to account for the poor catches and the opinion that it is simply an off year caused by the many rainstorms seems to be as good an excuse as any.

Thus far this season fifty-six striped bass and thirty channel bass have been recorded at Seger's by members of the Asbury Park Fishing Club.

Reports from various parts of the State indicate that the fresh water fishing has slowed up considerably since the storms set in.

Bluefish, weakfish and kingfish are running good in the surf off Point Pleasant, according to advices received from there. Several good catches have been made in the past week.

A special team casting match will be held on Saturday between teams representing the Asbury Park Fishing Club and the Belmar Fishing Club. Joseph G. Young and Howard Kain, of Newark, will compete on the Asbury Park team. The contest will be decided by a series of lane events, and a special trophy, in addition to individual prizes, will be awarded. The Asbury Park team will be headed by Dr. Carleton Simon, the world's champion, and in addition to Young and Kain, will be made up of Eddie Davis, of Montclair; Jack Clayton, Nelson Schoen and Billy Sylvester, of Asbury Park. Secretary J. E. Newman will head the Belmar team, the other members of which have not as yet been announced. With suitable weather conditions, it is probable that several new records will be set up.

OFFER SILVER CUP AS PRIZE

Hebrew Associations Will Send Large Delegations to Atlantic City.

DEPARTMENTS PLANNED

Y. M. H. A. and Y. W. H. A. of This City Will Take Prominent Part In Fourth Annual Convention Which Begins Sunday.

The fourth annual convention of the Associated Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Associations of New Jersey will be held at Atlantic City, Sunday and Monday, September 5 and 6. The local organizations have made arrangements to send a delegation from both the Y. M. H. A. and the Y. W. H. A., also making a fair bid for the handsome silver cup offered to the association bringing the largest number of representatives. The delegates appointed from the Y. M. H. A. of this city are Henry Rosenbaum, Irving Kunzman, president, and Samuel Rothberg, first deputy president. The alternates are Samuel Kauthamer, Abe Schwartz and Jacob Abrams.

The convention will be opened Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Harry Cassman, chairman of the convention committee, who will welcome the delegates for the Atlantic City association. Rabbi Henry Fisher will offer the opening prayer and Mayor Riddle will welcome the delegates. The principal speakers will include David Landau, of Scranton, Pa., president of the United Young Men's Hebrew Associations and Ladies' Auxiliaries of Pennsylvania; Louis Brenner, field secretary of the National Young Men's Hebrew and kindred associations of America; Judge William Newcorn, of Plainfield, and Dr. Emil Hirsch, of Chicago.

The business session will be opened by the reading of the annual report by State President Harry S. Feller, of New Brunswick. Reports of the financial secretary and the educational, religious and athletic committees will also be read.

New business will be the order for the second session, beginning Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Among the subjects to come up for discussion are the need of a uniform constitution for all associations; the abolition of the State deputies; the invitation to the rabbis of the State to co-operate with the religious departments of the State association in the formation of a definite plan of religious work to be inaugurated in all the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A.'s in the State.

Action on the recommendation of the formation of departments on lectures, religious schools, finance, debating, athletics, boys' and girls' clubs; Friday night service and Jewish free libraries will be a feature of the convention.

The State Federation was organized with the Y. M. H. A.'s of Bayonne, New Brunswick, Paterson, Perth Amboy and Plainfield at a meeting in Atlantic City four years ago. Since then the federation has succeeded in bringing with its spehre of influence the Y. M. H. A.'s of Asbury Park, Atlantic City, Camden, Elizabeth, Hudson City, Hudson county, North Hudson, Passaic, Somerville and Trenton. Two years ago the constitution was amended to permit the admission of young women's organization.

Election of officers will take place on Monday. Winners of the State essay contest which has been going on throughout the State for the past few months will be announced at that time. Two prizes, one of $20 and one of $10, will be awarded.

GOVERNMENT DECIDES TO MODIFY ITS ATTITUDE

Washington, Sept. 3.—The administration has been persuaded to modify somewhat its attitude toward Carranza, as a result of an answer which will be sent within a few days to the question asked by General Carranza, who wanted to know whether the Pan-American diplomats had signed the joint note in their official capacities as representatives of their countries. Carranza will be assured that the note was signed by the South and Central American diplmats as agents and representatives of their governments.

ANNOUNCE WEDDING DATE.

The date of the marriage of Miss Nora Meaney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Meaney, of 211 Watchung avenue, to James Lynch, son of Mrs. Catherine Lynch, of West Fourth street, has been set for Tuesday, September 14. The ceremony will take place in St. Joseph's church, North Plainfield, and will be performed by Rev. Father Peter J. Hart, pastor of the church.

PRICE OF GASOLENE GOES TO 13 CENTS

Sudden Increase Is a Matter of Great Concern to Autoists.

The steady and constant upward rise in the price of gasoline during the last few months is becoming a matter of concern to those who use automobiles, for there is no telling where the price will stop. Today automobile "gas" is selling at 16 cents a gallon in the local garages. No one can tell what the price will be tomorrow.

Two months ago gasoline was selling wholesale for 9 cents a gallon. Today the price is 13 cents, and it is said on good authority that there will be a boost of another cent by the first of the week. Whether there will be further upward leaps, only time can tell.

As a result of the high price of gasoline it has been noticed that there is a falling off in the number of riders. Although the wholesale price crawled from 9 cents a gallon to 13 cents, the garage men kept the retail price to 15 cents until this last rise, when it was necessary to pop the price to consumer up one cent. Garage men say there is no profit in handling the commodity at a less profit than three cents.

There are various reasons given for the rise in the price of gasoline. Some reports have it that the crude oil is growing scarce because of the failing of some of the oil territory, while others attribute the scarcity to the large amount exported during the last few months. Whatever the reason, consumers hope for a readjustment of the gasoline market before long.

ANDERSON DECIDES TO OPPOSE HAMMOND

Will Wage His Campaign On a Platform of "Home Rule and Local Option."

Former Assemblyman William de LaR. Anderson, of Watchung, filed his petition for the Assembly nomination yesterday afternoon with the clerk of Somerset county. So far his only opponent is Ogden Hammond, of Bernardsville, present Assemblyman from Somerset county. Both are Republicans.

The petition of former Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhammer, Democrat, has also been filed. So far he is unopposed for the nomination. Mr. Anderson served a term in 1912, while Mr. Swackhammer has been a member of the New Jersey Assembly twice.

In an interview with a Daily Press reporter, Mr. Anderson gave his reasons for entering the campaign this year as follows:

"In the campaign of 1911 the majority of the Republican party in Somerset county stood for home rule legislation, which included local option, and Senator Smalley, who was running with me in that year, and I both adapted our stand in the Legislature to conform to the desires of the voters in this respect. Senator Smalley and Assembly Hammond were both elected again last year on the understanding that they were still standing for these principles. It developed, as shown by the record, and from speeches made upon the floor of the House, that Mr. Hammond stood opposed to local option and favored centralization of power in the hands of the State.

Believing that the members of our party should have an opportunity to make known how they wish their representatives to stand on the principles I am offering myself as an exponent of the home rule local option principles, opposed to the centralization of power in the State and in the courts. I would ask Republicans to vote for or against these principles at the coming primaries, not for or against Mr. Hammond or myself.

TWO MORE WHEELS STOLEN.

Two more bicycle thefts were reported to the police today. Louis Chandler left his wheel standing in front of the North Avenue station this morning. When he returned in twenty minutes it was gone. Elliott Detweiler, of 514 Madison avenue, reported that his wheel was taken out of his yard some time Wednesday night.

FAMILY SQUABBLE IN BOROUGH COURT

Chief Weiss Called Upon to Quell What Threatened to Be a Real Fight.

Following a quarrel yesterday between two Italian families living on Race street, over the conduct of their respective children, several members of the colony were arraigned before Recorder Fred W. Hand in the borough police court this morning and one of the participants was fined five dollars. The others were allowed to go on a suspension of sentence.

The quarrel was of such proportions that Chief Marshal Weiss considered it necessary to appear on the scene and notify all hands to appear in court this morning, the fracas having taken place too late in the day for the recorder to hear it yesterday. Accordingly the four women, their husbands and numerous neighbors occupied front rows of chairs in the court room when Recorder Hand arrived. The children, the cause of the quarrel, had been left at home.

Chief Weiss said that after he had made his visit yesterday there was comparative quiet along that section of Race street for the balance of the day, but the women must have been saving up their torrents of abuse for each other until this morning, for scarcely were they seated, and some time before the recorder put in an appearance, they took up the word fight where it was stopped yesterday.

Each side had a row of chairs to itself, and a sneering remark or two made at first was soon followed by some vile epithets and then to threats. Before long the women were on their feet and shaking clenched fists under each other's noses, while the bedlam that ensued grew so loud that Chief Weiss was forced to step between the opposing forces and stop them. Again and again he was called upon to do this until at last his patience was exhausted and he placed two of the women into cells and turned the key on them. There they remained until Recorder Hand had gotten the straight of the quarrel and had determined whom to fine. Mrs. Tony Alexander and her daughter-in-law were found to be the aggressors and the mother was fined. Mrs. Michael Terry and her daughter-in-law were held not to blame and were allowed to go with a reprimand. The difficulty arose over a quarrel between children of the two families, which ended in stone throwing. At that point their elders took it up.

PETITIONS FOR ASSEMBLY NOMINATIONS ARE FILED

Elizabeth, Sept. 3.—Petitions for Assembly nominations on the Republican ticket were filed yesterday by William N. Runyon, of Plainfield; Charles L. Morgan, of Elizabeth, and Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield. Each signed the other's petition. Dr. Howard M. Potter, of Elizabeth, filed his petition for the Republican nomination for coroner, while Patrick J. Reville, of Plainfield, submitted his petition for the Democratic Assembly nomination. His colleagues, Edward M. Meek, of Elizabeth, and William A. Leonard, of Elizabeth, filed their petitions the day before.

PLAINFIELDERS INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Wheeler, of 1023 Park avenue, return home today after an eventful automobile trip begun July 22, through the New England States. Several days ago word came from New Haven that an automobile with the New Jersey license tag No. 55960 had been abandoned in that city. Investigations revealed the fact that the license was issued to the Plainfield man.

Mrs. Charles Langworthy, who said that she was an aunt of Mrs. Wheeler, refused to discuss the matter, aside from the fact that her niece and her husband would return today. It is said that the accident occurred some time on Tuesday, after which the couple were taken to the Taft House, at New Haven, suffering from bruises and slight injuries, but were not seriously hurt. No details of the accident could be learned.

TOE CRUSHED.

John McCarthy, of West Front street, is detained at his home with a badly crushed toe. Mr. McCarthy is a foreman at Saurer's and was going about his duties when a heavy weight fell on his foot and crushed a toe. The accident, while not serious, will inconvenience him considerably inasmuch as he has just returned from a two weeks' vacation spent in the Great Lakes region.

RECEPTION GIVEN TO PROSPECTIVE BRIDE

Many Features Arranged In Honor of Affair For Miss Ella Adams.

Probably one of the most delightful of receptions given a prospective bride was that held last night at the home of Miss Ethel Adams, 316 Sumner avenue, in honor of Miss Ella Adams. The affair was in the form of a linen shower. Miss Adams, who is prominent in social circles in the city and borough is to be married to Everett H. Marsh, of North Plainfield, the latter part of this month. Mr. Marsh is well-known in this section.

There were fifty guests present at the affair last night, many coming from New York, Jersey City, Elizabeth, Trenton and this city. Miss Adams was the recipient of many use pieces of linen. Miss Ethel Adams acted as hostess, providing numerous surprises during the evening. On approaching the house one was reminded of a dainty Japanese garden. The grounds being a veritable fairyland of colored lights and jack-o-lanterns. The home was tastefully decorated, the color scheme being pink and white. Many streamers of pink and white silk were arranged in an artistic fashion overhead, while numerous tinkle bells of glass lent a musical atmosphere to the function.

The feature of the evening was a huge blackbird pie filled with many pretty favors, attached to as many strings. The fifty guests gather around the pie each with string in hand singing "Four and Twenty Blackbirds baked in a Pie." At the last word each pulled their respective string, a grand scramble ensuing in the attempt to secure favors.

Later in the evening dancing was enjoyed by many and the male exponents of the tango with their partners tripped the light fantastic to the strains of catchy melodies. Arthur Kinzle presided at the piano with Messrs. Herbert and Horace Adams assisting with mandolins. A dainty supper was served at midnight by Mrs. D. S. Adams.

L. BELLUCCIO & BRO. FORFEIT CONTRACT

Borough School Job to Be Completed By Another Concern For $450.

No word having been received from L. Belluccio & Brother, of Elizabeth, general contractors for the Harrison Avenue School, North Plainfield, and the legal three days' notice to them to resume the work having expired at 9 o'clock this morning, the members of the building and grounds committee of the Board of Education held a meeting and awarded the contract to finish the mason work to an out-of-town contractor for $450. The work to be done consists of laying concrete floors in the halls and toilets and some patching.

The delay caused by Belluccio & Brother will probably prevent the school being finished in time for the general opening September 13. It was said this morning that the building may be ready for use by September 20. In the interval the children will have to attend on half time at the other schools.

While the contract was awarded this morning, the work will not be begun until Tuesday, which will mean a further delay.

LAPSLEY WITHDRAWS IN FAVOR OF BOOTH

Democrat Declares Calibre of Republican Opponent Makes Opposition Unnecessary.

Declaring that the Republican candidate, Levis M. Booth, has "such a wholesome well posted interest in civic affairs that the city would lose a great deal by not employing his valuable experience in the Council," Howard G. Lapsley, who has been endorsed by the Democrats for the councilmanic nomination in the Second ward, withdrew his name today. Mr. Lapsley ran for Council in 1913, being one of the three candidates at large in the Democratic party, and was beaten by 318, a small majority for a Republican in Plainfield. His letter to the Daily Press says:

Editor, Plainfield Daily Press:

The writer has been suggested and endorsed as the Democratic nominee for councilman to represent the Second ward. While appreciating the honor, I do not feel justified in accepting the nomination.

My reason for declining is that the nominee on the Republican ticket—Mr. Levis M. Booth—whom I have no hesitation in recommending to both Democrats and Republicans alike, is a most suitable candidate for the honor.

Mr. Booth is a gentleman of such independence of thought, broad training and has such a wholesome, well-posted interest in civic affairs that the city of Plainfield would lose a great deal by not employing his valuable experience in the Council.

My position in this is absolutely non-partizan. While I have no doubt of the success of Democratic principles, both this year, next year and in ten years to come, I am a believer also in non-partizan local conditions, and with this in view it is impossible for me to contest an office with Mr. Booth, a gentleman of honesty and ability.

HOWARD G. LAPSLEY.

The action of Mr. Lapsley was a surprise to Mr. Booth, who did not expect it. In talking with a Daily Press reporter last night, Mr. Booth stated that he had just met Mr Lapsley, and after talking to him had concluded that he was the sort of man that is needed in the Council. He said that he hoped some way could be devised so that both could be placed there. It has been suggested this morning that the Republicans, in view of Mr. Lapsley's action, urge him to become a candidate at large on the Democratic ticket, and not nominate anyone against him. The Republican City Executive Committee will meet tomorrow night, at which time the matter may be taken up.

LOCAL THEATRICAL MEN GOING ON THE ROAD

"The Red Rose," a musical comedy owned by Daly and Derthick, the former being John P. Daly, of Westervelt avenue, this city, opens at Reading, Pa., on Monday. The company go to Reading tomorrow. Mr. Daly will remain in the New York office of the show this winter.

Two other local theatrical men, Joseph Lane and Samuel W. Cunningham, are going out with shows within a few days. Lane will be in advance of the Western company of "The Girl of My Dreams," and Cunningham will be the manager "back with the show" of the Southern company presenting the same play.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION DISCUSSES CHANGES IN BY-LAWS

The executive committee of the West End Civic Association (Inc.) met last evening at the home of the president, Thomas C. Vail, 927 West Fourth street. It was the first session of the committee for the fall and was in the nature of a get-together conference. The first regular meeting of the association will take place Friday night, September 10.

As the association has now been incorporated, it will be necessary to make certain changs in the by-laws to conform to the new order of things, and these were brought up for consideration last night. The proposed changes will be presented to the association for its ratification at the meeting next Friday night.

APPROACHING WEDDING.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Geraldine Dunham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Dunham, of 407 East Second street, to William Neil Tier, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Tier, of Westervelt avenue. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride on Wednesday evening, September 15, at 7:30 o'clock.

GRODNO, LAST FORT IN CZAR'S 2ND LINE, CAPTURED BY GERMAN ARMY AND PASSAGE OF NIEMAN FORCED

BRITISH TRANSPORT STRIKES A MINE OFF THE ENTRANCE TO THE DARDANELLES—MORE THAN 1,800 LIVES LOST.

GERMANY SAID TO BE READY FOR PEACE

Washington Believes That Kaiser Will Discuss Subject On the Terms of the United States—Austrian General Staff Contemplates Great Invasion of Southern Russia From East Galicia In Attempt to Reach Sebastopol.

Berlin, Sept. 3 (by wireless)—Field Marshal von Hindenberg's army has captured Grodno, the last fort in the Czar's second line of defense held by the Russians. Official announcement of the capture of the fortress was made in today's report from the general staff. German troops, it stated, rapidly forced the passage of the Niemen after capturing the Russian forts. There was fighting inthe streets of Grodno. The city is now in the hands of the Germans.

A British transport struck a mine off the entrance to the Dardanelles and sank with all on board, according to special despatches received from Sofiia today. The vessel carried 320 officers, 1,250 soldiers and 350 sailors, the despatches add, a total of 1,870 men. The bodies of 600 ofthe men drowned in this disaster have been recovered.

Paris, Sept. 3—The following was issued by the war office today:

"During the night there was the same artillery activity that has marked previous operations. Not a single important incident occurred."

Copenhagen, Sept. 3—A despatch from Berlin states that the Austrian general staff contemplate a great invasion of southern Russia from East Galicia. They will attempt to reach Odessand Sebastopol whence they can aid the Turks.

Washington, Sept. 3.—That Germany is willing to discuss peace, but will never sue for it, and that her terms are known to the American Government, to Pope Benedict and probably to Germany's enemies, is the belief among high officials in this city. It is also the general impression here that the American administration has known since April that Germany was ready at any time to present formally its terms for peace in case an opportunity to do so had presented itself.

No such opportunity has arisen and in the meantime the conditions have changed. The terms which Germany would have been willing to discuss in April are not the terms it will discuss now. The occupation of Warsaw and the defeat of the Russian army in Poland has changed the situation.

The peace terms which Germany would be willing to discuss at this time are briefly as follows:

Restoration of the status quo in western Europe and guarantees that none of the beligerents are to extend their territories.

Absolute withdrawal of Poland from Russian domination and formation of separate kingdom under Roman Catholic monarchs.

Freedom of Finland and institution of autonomous government, although possibly under Swedish protectorate.

Redistribution of the colonies of the belligerents, particularly in Africa.

Germany, while evacuating Belgium, will refuse to pay any indemnity to the latter, but would be willing to pay a reasonable price for the Congo Free States, the Belgian colony in Africa.

Germany proposes that Great Britain and all other nations enter into an agreement establishing the freedom of the seas and immunity of all commerce from attack in time of war.

Six months ago Germany would not have demanded that Poland be created a separate kingdom or that Finland be freed from Russian dominion. It had not won its victories then on the east front.

Today preparations are already under way for the coronation of the Polish king, and as for Finland, the German government is willing to undertake to restore autonomy in that land because it would please Sweden, which has been Germany's friend in the war.

The German officials make no denial that if the fortunes of war continue to weigh on the side of Germany and its allies, and the Teuton army win new victories over any of its enemies, the terms of peace will grow more enormous, each victory

FAIL TO IDENTIFY BODY OF SUICIDE

Detailed Description of Man Who Hanged Himself On Golf Course.

The body of the man who was found hanging to the limb of a tree on the Cranford golf links yesterday morning, awaits identification at the local morgue on West Fourth street. The body was discovered yesterday by two women golfers, Mrs. F. W. Mount and Mrs. F. H. Creary, who sent their caddies to notify the police. Acting Chief Caulfield and County Physician Westcott were notified and the latter cut the body down. The man had apparently been dead some time.

In the charred embers of a fire near the tree, a straw hat was found partly burned. A coat was also nearby. The man had the appearances of a foreigner and was about 40 years of age, tall and weighed about 140 pounds. He had dark hair and black mustache. He wore a dark suit which bore the marks of a Newark dealer. A matchbox, a small pocket mirror, a pair of gold link cuff buttons with chip diamond settings were found on him. It seems that the man had prearranged that nothing should be left that would in any way reveal who he was. All papers that might possibly cast any light on his identity were burned in advance.

When the fact became public, many friends of Alex Szabo, who disappeared from his home in Elizabeth more than a week ago, thought that possibly he might be one and the same. All these suppositions were banished this morning when Mrs. Szabo came to Plainfield and viewed the body of the man. She said the body was not that of her husband. The body will be kept at the morgue for about a week to await developments and possible identification.

VANDERHOEF AND HAND FILE PETITIONS TODAY

Two more petitions were filed today with Borough Clerk Dolliver. They were those of J. V. E. Vanderhoef, for collector and treasurer, and Fred W. Hand for justice of the peace. Both men are Republicans.

Mr. Vanderhoef, who was appointed collector and treasurer last Friday night by the North Plainfield Council for a period of four months, wishes the nomination on the ticket for the one year of former Collector George F. Brown's term.

Mr. Hand's petition was put in circulation by his friends after his reluctant consent had been obtained. The term of Justice Thomas H. Snape expires this year, and Mr. Hand would succeed him, if elected. It is understood that Justice Snape will not run again. The establishment of a District Court for Somerset county has taken away most of the emoluments of the office of justice of the peace, and there is "nothing in it" any more save an occasional fee from a criminal case still kept in the jurisdiction of that office, and such fees are very small.

Mr. Hand is the present borough recorder.

AUTOIST HAS MORE TROUBLE.

M. Fertig, of Plainfield, who was fined $5 in Easton, Pa., for recklessly driving an automobile, while running a motor truck at Bethlehem yesterday, struck and seriously injured another pedestrian.

Plains & Fanwood.

The budget for the coming year, drawn up by Collector Sheelen and passed by the Borough Council, totals to $4,500, an increase of $250 over last year. The amount for streets received the only raise, and it now reaches $1,500. Fifteen hundred dollars is apportioned for lights, $150 for incidentals and $400 for general expenses, while the police receives $950.

The second runaway within a week occurred in the borough yesterday, when a horse owned by M. C. Pomeroy, of Westfield road, took fright. The animal, a high-spirited thoroughbred, was left standing near the postoffice while Miss Edwina Pomeroy was at a nearby house. A passing automobile set the horse off on a wild dash along North avenue, across Sheelen's bridge and around to the rear of the residence of Peter Ritter, opposite the bridge, where a light buggy it was attached to collided with a tree and was demolished. The horse was unhurt and was caught by an employe of the Fanwood Lumber Company before it could get away.

Mrs. Ellen Ryan passed away yesterday at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Sternheim, of South avenue. She was tsricken with paralysis a week ago. Mrs. Ryan made her home with her sister for several years. The funeral will be held from the Sternheim residence tomorrow morning, and later from Holy Trinity church, Westfield, where a high requiem mass will be held. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

It has now been ascertained that School No. 3, now being erected in the Graceland section of the township, will not be ready for use until October 1. Supervising Principal of Schools S. Dana Townsend, has deferred completing the teaching corps for that school until that time, and is now making arrangements to accommodate the children, who would have gone to that school at School No. 1 for the time being. The teaching staff at School No. 2 will remain the same as last year, but at School No. 1, A and B sections of the fifth grade will be under new teachers. Miss Mae Scott will have charge of part A and Miss Adele Herrmann of part B.

All of last June's graduates from the local grammar school that are going to High School this fall are asked to go to the Westfield High School tomorrow and register for the coming term, which starts on the coming Wednesday. The prayer meeting at the Methodist church tonight will be led by the Rev. Raymond E. Marshal.

Watchung.

The weekly prayer meeting will be held this evening in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church.

The Pleasant Word Workers of the Wilson Memorial Sunday-school gave a picnic to about thirty of their friends, the members of the Sunshine Circle being the guest of honor. The picnic was held on the picturesque shore of Watchung Lake, the huge campfire casting a beautiful reflection on the water. The menu consisted of bacon, rolls, roasted corn, roasted sweet potatoes and watermelon. After supper the picnickers gathered around the campfire and sang songs.

While playing Kenneth Schmidt had a fall which resulted in the breaking of his arm near the shoulder joints. He is under the care of Dr. Frederic Hughes and is doing as well as may be expected.

OPPOSES PLANS.

F. W. Ralph, a member of the Warren Township Committee, expressed himself as very much opposed to hiring the township's machinery to anybody at the meeting last night. Harmon B. Tunison joined him in this protest. The discussion arose over the action of the committee at a special meeting a few days ago, when it was decided that municipalities wishing to hire the township's machinery thereafter would have to pay $25 a day for it.

Mary, the five months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ben Dare, of North avenue, died yesterday and was buried this morning from St. Mary's church. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Wescott Wants Women to Win

Attorney General John W. Wescott is a pronounced suffragist, a vice president of the New Jersey Men's League For Woman Suffrage. He says:

"If you want clean streets, pure water, food and market inspection you must give women the vote. If you want good schools, adequate playgrounds and hygienic conditions for children—the growing citizens of the future—you must give women the vote.

nt and not the master of society you must give women the vote.

"The more I see of the working of the government and social conditions of this state the more I am in favor of equal suffrage.

"You can no more keep enfranchised women from attempting to improve the social conditions under which we live than you can break a mother's love for her child.

"I certainly hope that the women's cause will win out on Oct. 19. It is true that New Jersey has conservative political habits, but she seems to be struck by a reform wave which may carry the cause to victory."

ATTORNEY GENERAL JOHN W. WESCOTT.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS COMMISSIONERS SUPPORT EQUAL SUFFRAGE.

Argues Also For Equal Pay.

The report of the industrial relations commission signed by Commissioners Frank P. Walsh, John B. Lennon and Austen B. Garrison, as summarized for the press, bears out the main contentions of the suffragists. The report states:

"As a result of their unprotected condition women and children are exploited in industry, trade, domestic service and agriculture to an extent which threatens their health and welfare and menaces the well being of future generations.

"The competition of women and children is a direct menace to the wage and salary standards of men.

"The position of women in industry has been rendered doubly hard by reason of their lack of training for industrial employment, by the oversupply of such labor and the consequent competition, by their traditional position of dependence and by their disfranchisement."

The report recommends—

"The recognition by public opinion and in such legislation as may be enacted of the principle that women should receive the same compensation as men for the same service.

"Until this principle is recognized and women are accorded equal political rights the extension of state protection of women through legislation regulating working conditions, hours of service and minimum wages is highly desirable.

"The increased organization of working women for self protection and the improvement of their individual conditions.

"The inclusion of all women working for wages, whether in industry, trade, domestic service or agriculture, under future legislation regulating their wages, hours or working conditions."

DESCRIBES WOMAN VOTER AS LADYBUG OF THE WEST.

He was a fruit grower from the west, and when he was asked about woman suffrage he said: "Woman suffrage is all right. The woman voter is the ladybug of the west." When his questioner looked puzzled he said:

"When we found that the melon aph's was ruining the melon industry we cultivated the ladybug. The ladybugs ate the aphis, and now bumper crops of melons are a common thing.

"In politics we found that commercial interests were interfering with homemaking, so we turned loose the lady voter, and in consequence we have in the west, as a whole, the best laws and the best enforced laws for home protection in the world.

"Taken as a whole, the west has it all over the east in treating homemaking as a business to be protected and encouraged."

INDIANA WOMAN SPEAKS IN JERSEY—BREAD AND BUTTER REASONS FOR SUFFRAGE.

One of the most interesting and impressive speakers in the New Jersey campaign is Miss Florence Wattles, who is a contribution from the state of Indiana. Miss Wattles makes her appeal directly to the workingman, and it is to the hard, common sense of the man that she appeals. She says:

"The workingman is afraid that if the woman gets the ballot she will go into the factory and take his job away from him. We must convince him of the truth—that the girl does not go into the industrial field because she wants to be there, but because of the drive of industrial life. If she gets the vote it is for the interests of both. When the employer must choose between a man and a woman who have equal political power and to whom he must pay equal wages for equal work—which will follow when women have political power—the employer will choose the man. But he will pay the man enough to have a home in which the wife need not also be a wage earner. In other words, when women do not underbid men, men will sooner realize their hope of securing a decent wage for their labor. And until then women will be forced to enter into industrial life because their wages are necessary.

"There is a large foreign element among the laboring people in New Jersey. They may not appreciate the spirit of American institutions, but they feel the economic element which is so vital, especially where there is constant economic pressure, and they are thinking and trying to reason out a better system. We must convince them that that system must be true democracy.

"The sinister forces which oppose woman suffrage are the same sinister forces which try to stifle the democratic striving of men. The men who vote against the suffrage amendment are cheapening themselves by carrying out the will of a stubborn American kaiserdom which some day will be overthrown if our democracy is not to be a failure."

GOVERNOR OF GEORGIA'S OPINION OF SUFFRAGE.

That political equality between men and women would help cure the morbid state of public opinion which led to the lynching of Leo H. Frank is the opinion of Governor Nat E. Harris of Georgia. When interviewed recently by a special correspondent sent by the New York Times he said:

"If a woman is a victim of a crime a fury seizes upon our men. It is a feeling that never will pass away until we have woman suffrage, which I think we will soon have."

"Will woman suffrage do away with it?" was asked by the correspondent.

"Yes," said the governor. "It will not do away with the respect and admiration men have for women, but it will do away with the protective feeling that comes from their helplessness."

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY

JEWISH NEW YEAR FESTIVAL PLANNED

Notable Feast Will Be Observed Beginning September 8.

Jewish New Year will be ushered in on Wednesday evening, September 8, with an ornate solemn service in the local temples and synagogues. On Thursday morning the service comprises a more elaborate form of worship, and combines some vestiges of antique ritual, with expressions of human experiences and feelings true and real for everybody and at all times. The Jewish New Year's festival is the oldest of all festivals celebrated in the civilized world. But it is unique for its significance as well as for its antiquity. The secular New Year (January 1) is a day of gratifications; men rejoice in that they have achieved; it is a day for sordid inventories. The Jewish New Year's day, however, is a time for serious thought on the meaning of life; it evokes pious contemplation of the difficult and inevasible problem as to right and wrong, and its appeal is not that we should get more out of practical life, but value more genuinely, more truthfully, more morally the life God has entrusted to us.

Much of the success and failure of work depends, not upon the equipment, but upon the motives. The Jewish New Year's day, accordingly, is placed b a wise tradition at the beginning of autumn when men enter upon their enterprises and obligations with zest and zeal. Just then they need a right interpretation of life and a true measure of its values.

The unique features of the ritual of that day express the aspirations all men feel equally. The trumpet calls, constituting the central part in the worship of the day, appeals for the moral stir which men should feel when they contemplate their experiences and seek for re-enforcement of their hopes. The calls are also an appeal to the large sense of life. Week-day wishes and prayers are self-centred and do not give a perspective of relations and obligations to the community and fellowman. But the New Year's day offers each an occasion to reaffirm his respect for and trust in Providence, which is the organization of all lives into an all-encompassing justice. The Jew comprehends this as a comfort in the case of misfortunes and as monitions in the successes he may have. The function of the New Year's day is to establish a moral judgment in life and experiences.

MRS. GOLDSTEIN'S DEATH FOLLOWS RETURN HOME

Mrs. Nettie Goldstein, wife of Strul Goldstein, a tinsmith, died at her home, 11 Grove street, last night from lung trouble. The funeral services were held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the house, and interment was made in the Jewish cemetery at Samptown.

Mrs. Goldstein was a patient at the Bonnie Burn until yesterday afternoon, when she was brought to her home by her husband. She died a few hours afterwards. Besides a husband, she is survived by three small children. She was 26 years of age.

POULTRY RAISERS WILL HOLD FIELD MEETING

The first annual summer field meeting of the New Jersey State Poultry Association will be held at the College Farm of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station at New Brunswick, September 9, 10 and 11. Among the speakers will be President Demarest, of Rutgers College; Hon. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, President of the State Board of Agriculture, and Hon. Henry E. Ackerson, Senator from Monmouth county. Exercises will begin at 1:30 Thursday morning.

The people of the State are invited to spend the day on the College Farm. A caterer will be on the grounds to furnish light lunches at moderate rates. Ladies who do not care to take all the inspection tours over the farm will find the grounds a pleasant place for rest and a visit with friends.

It Pays to Secure a Tenant Who Pays.

The uncertain sort of tenant is easy to find. He is always answering the call of the window sign of "To Let." He is easy to please. Even a rather high rental does not frighten him away.

But the Stay-and-Pay tenant is not so easy to secure. He is surer of what he wants. He does not take the first house, or apartment, or store that he finds. He watches and answers "To Let" Ads.

And to secure him for your tenant is a good day's work—a good week's work.

Property that is advertised adequately in the Plainfield Daily Press is rarely rented injudiciously.

THINK LOST STEAMER CREW MAY BE SAFE

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 3—The Honduranu schooner Bertha E. May picked up several pieces of lumber stenciled "Orange, Texas," in latitude 26.37 north, longitude 84.54 west, according to Capt. Herman Woods, here today from Bonacco.

Capt. Woods had seen no trace of the missing steamer Marowijne, but noticed a tramp steamer towing a deck-swept hulk toward Progresso, August 20. He was too far away to identify the rescuer.

POLICE GET FIVE ALLEGED BASEBALL POOL GAMBLERS

Howard Cohen, of 210 Watchung avenue, Frank Zeckendorf, of Second street; LeRoy Updike, of Manning avenue, the borough, all white, and George Martin and J. A. Jones, of Third street, were arrested on Park avenue yesterday afternoon on complaint of Chauncey F. Stout, who said the men were indulging in gambling on the baseball games. Judge DeMeza was not in court this morning, so the case was put over until tomorrow. The police have been trying for some time to apprehend those who have been doing such gambling, and are determined to break up the practice.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR BIG TEMPERANCE PARADE

Asbury Park, Sept. 2.—Rapid strides are being made this week in the final preparations for the temperance parade to be held along Ocean avenue on Labor Day. The participants will assemble at 110 Second avenue, where they will be assigned places in line. The procession will go east on Second avenue to Ocean, south on Ocean to Wesley Lake, turn north and go to Deal Lake and return to the starting point. The start will be made a 4 o'clock.

Prior to that time several short addresses will be given on the hotel porch until all entries have arrived. Dr. A. E. Ballard, of Ocean Grove, is expected to speak. James A. Bradley is also expected, as well as Dr. T. J. Scott, of Ocean Grove, and several women speakers.

WAR NEWS

as they say, being entitled to its own reward.

The important thing about Germany's position, as officials here see it, is that the Berlin government is now and has been for six months willing to declare its terms for peace if the proper opportunity is afforded without the appearance of being a suitor.

It is not even possible, German officials say, for them to even suggest in any formal way whatsover, that the German government has any peace terms, because such a statement they believe would immediately be construed by their enemies as an admission of weakness, and notice that they were afraid of being beaten. That belief, once engendered in the minds of officials of the enemy countries, would cause them to redouble their efforts to win a victory and would prolong the war.

What the German terms of peace may be in another six months' time may perhaps be indicated by the terms which the imperial government had in mind had the German army succeeded in reaching Paris or Petrograd. Berlin then would have expected to dictate terms of peace, and in addition to exacting huge indemnity from Russia and France, Germany intended to demand the establishment of the Polish kingdom, and the partition of Serbia between Austria and Bulgaria, presuming, of course, that Bulgaria remains neutral.

Germany is unalterably opposed to relinquishing Alsace and Lorraine to France, although the Berlin government is known to have considered a proposition that the Kaiser keep the Flemish part of Belgium and give France the French part of Alsace and Lorraine.

The impression gained from talking with German officials in this country is that the most important of all the proposed peace terms is the one for the establishment of freedom of the seas for the commerce of all nations in war as well as in peace. This is a suggestion of vital interest and is a matter over which there is a disagreement between the United States and Great Britain today.

If the United States is as successful in winning recognition of its demands from the British government as it has been from Germany, the officials of the imperial government here believe that it will be a long step toward the re-establishment of European peace.

When the peace negotiations are actually under way Germany will propose that in time of war belligerents shall limit their fighting at sea to a trial of conclusions between warships, and that attacks upon merchant vessels and the interference with commerce by naval forces be strictly prohibited by the law of nations.

This would be an extreme step to take, because it would mean abandonment of such belligerent measures as blockades of shipping, the interception of contraband, and endeavors to starve out an enemy. The outcome of discussions of this proposal might, however, be an agreement to prohibit the destruction of merchant vessels by naval forces.

Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 29, 30: Grand stand, $1; clubhouse, $2.

ACCIDENTS OF FORTUNE.

Incidents That Led to the Rise of Two Famous Dramatic Stars.

More than 200 years ago a dramatist, sitting in the bar of a London tavern, overheard a girl in the next room reading aloud from a play book, and he was so much pleased by the sound of her voice and the fluency and sprightliness of her delivery that he sought acquaintance with her, obtained her confidence and opened for her the way to a successful dramatic career. That girl, a dramatic genius thus accidentally discovered, was Anne Oldfield, who adorned the English stage for twenty-five years, whose ashes rest in the cloister of Westminster abbey and whose name is one of historic renown.

A theatrical manager in Cincinnati in the seventies, having planned to produce a popular comic opera with a chorus composed of pupils from the public schools, selected Sarah Frost, then a girl about twelve, perceived her theatrical aptitude and provided the opportunity for its development. The manager was Robert E. J. Miles, and under his direction she made her first appearance on the stage and passed her juvenile novitiate.

Her stage name at first was Fanny Brough. Later she adopted that of Julia Marlowe.—William Winter in Century Magazine.

AMBULANCE ABOUT READY.

The new automobile ambulance which has been purchased by the Mhlenberg Hospital authoritis will arrive in this city the latter part of next week and will be put into use immediately. Walter Emmons, of this city, has been engaged to drive the car. He will occupy the second floor of the roomy garage in the rear of the hospital, so as to be ready whenever occasion demands his immediate accompanying the ambulance.

Insulted.

"Why did you strike this man?" asked the court.

"He told me to use my head," pleaded the prisoner.

"Well, that's no crime, is it?"

"But, your honor, I was crushing stone at the time."—Buffalo Express.

LIGHT ON A DARK SUBJECT.

The suburbanite is a man who spends his daytime in the city and his salary in the country. He usually is old enough to know better. The suburbanite is a patron saint of transportation companies, snow-shovel makers, perambulator manufacturers, lawn-mower grinders, and growers of seed—grass, garden, and canary.

He lunches at Thompson's, dines at home, and eats his breakfast on the road to the station.

He knows his way home in the dark, but probably would fail to recognize his bungalow if he were to run up against it in the daytime.

The suburbanite usually has a wife, four children, la grippe, and no permanent cook.

He sleeps all day Sunday dreaming of trial-balances. Week-days the babies are silll slumbering when he leaves for the city in the morning, and abed when he reaches home at night. Offspring of suburbanites know only by heresay that they have a father.

All suburban jokes on record were written by cave-dwellers. Suburban life is no joke to the suburbanite. Besides, he has no time for foolishness—the seven-thirty local waits for no man.

"Yes! Cholly has taken up hunting. I believe his doctor recommended it."

WHAT IT COSTS.

Running an auto is now so much of a necessity that I should like to give my experience. I am deeply pained from time to time as I notice the gross extravagance of my friends, and I think it is high time that the real figures should be given.

When I was getting fifteen dollars a week, I talked the matter over with my wife, and we decided that we could deny ourselves the auto for another six months, but at that time I was suddenly raised to sixteen; no obstacle then preventing, I got my first car.

The cost of a car should be carefully considered. My experience is that it is better to get the best car you can—for the money, so I did not hesitate. I secured a modest little runabout for only five thousand dollars, paying the agent out of my first week's salary. The balance was furnished by my mother-in-law, who has the privilege of using it once every spring.

I have had the car now for six months; during this period we have been to California twice and we took a hurried trip over the Alps; besides this I have used it to go to and from my office.

The car has had very rough usage, and yet the total expense counting gasoline and three tire plugs, has been only three dollars. How do I account for this? I don't. I simply give the facts.

I might add that I am using the same spark-plugs as when I started, and I have been offered three times what they cost me. I intend to use them for a year or so longer, however, when I confidently expect to sell them for even more than this.

PROGRESSIVE FARMING.

"Well, yes," confessed honest Farmer Hornbeak, the while a grim grin wrinkled his weather-beaten complexion. "It's a good 'eal o' trouble, but the satisfaction I feel amply repays me for the extry work. Ye see, by degrees I'm sharpenin' up the top of every stump on the place, and in the course o' time I hope to have matters so arranged that the hired man will find it fully as comfortable to stand up durin' the day as to set down."

A letter has been sent to Frank Bergen of Elizabeth, who has a summer home in Bernardsville, Somerset county, and is president of the Bernardsville Republican Club, by Arthur A. Palmer, attacking the club's endorsement of Assemblyman Ogden H. Hammond, for renomination. Mr. Palmer, who is a Bernardsville lawyer, goes after Mr. Hammond for his vote against the local option bill, following his letter to the Anti-Saloon League in 1913, supporting the measure. Mr. Palmer charges that Mr. Hammond's speech before the Bernardsville club showed that the Asemblyman had changed fifteen minutes before voting, upon the direction of the secretary of the Republican County Committee. Mr. Bergen declares Mr. Palmer attached undue significance to Mr. Hammond's reference to his conference with the county secretary.

J. Willard DeVoe is the Democratic Mayoralty candidate in Paterson. He has been endorsed by the Passaic County Committee, as has Senator Peter J. McGinnis, who is a candidate for renomination.

That some of the Wittpenn faction in Hudson county are grafters is the statement attributed to Sheriff Eugene Kinkead. The utterance came during a short address made by that official while presiding over a gathering Wednesday night of the anti-Wittpenn forces, at the old Robert Davis Clubhouse, Jersey City. The exact words used, according to one report, were to the effect that "some of them are ordinary men and some of them are grafters." Another verbal shot from Kinkead is to the effect that: "This is a great little county of ours, the greatest in the country and the cleanest in the State," ending with an exhortation to keep it so. The meeting was attended by a number of anti-Wittpenn leaders and addresses were made by Francis P. Boland, George J. Murray and George H. Steil, candidates for freeholder.

Ward primary contests are anticipated in Morris county, according to reports from Madison. The cities in that end of the bailiwick are preparing for some of the most interesting contests in recent years. For the first time since the incorporation of the borough of Madison the Democrats have hopes of a Mayoralty victory. Former Councilman Otto Ross is the party's choice for that office and his supporters call him the best available candidate. In Passaic township the freeholder fight will feature the battle, while in Florham Park, Edgar C. Hopping, elected two years ago by a single vote, is again after the Democratic nomination for Mayor. Charles T. Rushmore is the Republican choice. He was Mayor for two terms, from 1910 to 1914, but had no opposition at that time. A citizens' ticket is possible in Chatham township, where the same measure has been adopted during the past few years.

The Progressives are without ballot boxes in Morris county, as County Clerk Mott has ruled that they are not entitled to them, not having the requisite number of votes at the last election. Chairman John H. Hopkins, head of the Moose element, has made a formal demand for the voting privilege, and as a result the matter will come up for hearing tomorrow morning before Justice Swayze at Spring Lake.

Passaic Democrats have announced a slate. J. Willard DeVoe is designated for Mayor, Peter J. McGinnis for Senator, Peter VanKirk for sheriff, and Thomas F. Morgan for surrogate. Martin Creal, John Kennell, Harry L. Schoen, Henry VanderVelde and John Fitzgerald will run for the Assembly nomination. Freeholder Roger Turner, Republican, has filed a petition as candidate for sheriff, but he will be opposed by Under-Sheriff William Burpo.

The announcement of Peter J. Olde that he will be a candidate for the Assembly nomination next year means that two Elizabeth men are already in the field for the honor of representing Union county in the 1917 Legislature.

Arthur E. Warner, who was a candidate for the nomination last year and beaten by Mr. Morgan in the primaries by a small margin, announced some time ago that he would again seek the nomination in 1916. This week he reiterated his intentions, saying:

"The entering of Mr. Olde into the Assembly fight a year from now does not necessarily mean a serious rivalry, for it has happened that Elizabeth has had two Assemblyman in the same year. Both of us might win. But unless something unforseen happens, I shall certainly be a candidate." Mr. Warner, who entered the Union county politics for the first time last year, carried three of the four cities of the county against Mr. Morgan, also some of the towns, and in others lost only by a few votes.

DECISIVE CHANGES ARE LOOKED FOR IN CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE STANDING

AFTERNOON.

Clinton Avenue at T. A. B. S.

One of the most decisive changes yet made in the City League race is due to be registered by the results of this week-end's baseball matches. Each of the six teams has its work cut out for it. A clean sweep for any of the teams, with the possible exception of the Baptists, will push that team to the top and perhaps may decide the pennant fight. Should either of the two highest teams annex all three encounters that team is almost sure of the flag.

The hardest problem for any of the managers to solve is the pitching problem. Very few of the teams can boast of more than two real good pitchers and it will take some tall thinking to assign these fellows their hurling jobs for the coming week-end. The Tab twirling stable is better equipped than any other with the possible exception of the Martin stockyard, which can boast of three fairly good flingers. Of the three one, Eddie Conshay, has contracted to appear with the Business Men's baseball team and will not be able to tackle one of the league Labor Day jobs. The fact that the Saurer outing runs tomorrow saves Martin's hash relative to the pitching problem.

The Clinton Avenue-Tab game tomorrow will be played for the benefit of Frank Brennan and ought to draw a large crowd. The Netherwood contest at Soccer Field is sure to attract the usual number of fans. Owing to the fact that the Saurer outing runs tomorrow the scheduled Baptist-Saurer tilt has been postponed.

ROD AND REEL

There will be special trips made to the fishing banks Labor Day by the boats of the Newark and Jersey City fleet.

The hunting season for reed or rail birds opened Wednesday in this state. Very few will be found in this vicinity, but reports from the southern part of the State indicate that there are plenty of them on the marshes. There has not been such a big crop of reeds (commonly known as wild rice) for many years. The tassels of this plant, bearing the minute sweet seed upon which the reed and rail birds delight to feed, bloomed early this year, and are now in prime condition for the "flights of the reedies."

The weakfish are biting peculiarly in Raritan Bay. They take hold cautiously, just sucking in the bait and unless given a chance to gobble it, you lose them before they are hooked. Very few of the fish caught yesterday bit with a smash. The lafayettes are bothersome as well as voracious, and frequently a lafayette bite is mistaken for a weakfish. It is necessary to fish close and hard for the weaks, and the best results are being had with very little lead. The best catches are being made on the flood tide and at high water slack. The tidal conditions for the remainder of the week are excellent provided the wind shifts around from the eastward.

The weakfishing this week in Raritan Bay has been good, despite the heavy northeast winds.

Bass and pickerel are biting well at Lake Hopatcong.

Weakfish are still attracting a large crowd of anglers to Morgan's Station.

JOE GARNER DECIDES TO ENTER LABOR DAY MEET

Joe Garner, the local colored "five miler," who made a good showing at the last Michelin games, has entered that event at the coming Michelin meet, to be held at Milltown, Labor Day. The fact that Garner has decided to compete brings the local entry list up to four, all of whom are good men. Fiore Commune, another five mile man, Jack Fritts, all round athlete and decathlon specialist, and Ralph Runyon, junior metropolitan champion pole vaulter, are the other three.

Garner's entry does not come as a surprise to local followers of track athletics, as it was known all along that he was in training, but, as he expresses it himself, he did not want to make known the fact that he intended running in the five mile until he felt sure that he was in the best of condition. After several weeks of earnest work Joe feels that he is as good as he ever will be. It will be remembered that Garner led a field of fifty in the last Michelin five-mile event for three-fifths of the distance, but was seized with cramps and had to slow up. Dick Gianacapolus, the Greek, annexed the honors.

TO REBUILD FED TEAM.

Subsequent to the announcement that "Mike" Doolan, shortstop of the Baltimore Federals, and formerly of the Phillies, had been sold to the Chifeds, James A. Gilmore, president of the independent league, declared there was no foundation for the report that the Baltimore club is to be transferred from the Maryland metropolis. Mr. Gilmore says that the latest moves of the club in releasing Jacklitsch, Swacina and Bender and selling Doolan only was to prepare the way to rebuild the team later on.

WANT GAME WITH HOLY CROSS.

Metuchen always a great little football centre, has decided to put a football eleven on the gridiron this season and Joe Massopust has been given charge of the team. He first called for candidates and about twenty heavy set youths responded. Then he called, and is calling still, for a match with the Holy Cross eleven of this city.

VARIED PROGRAM OF SPORTS ATTRACT MANY TO JUNIOR ATHLETIC MEET

All the Events Are Keenly Contested and Some Creditable Records Are Made—Sidney Butler Is Credited With Pitching a One-Hit Game.

The junior athletic meet, in which the boys of this city and vicinity compete annually was held at Parker Field yesterday and was productive of plenty of vim and dash. Promptly at 2 o'clock Supervisor Wriston got things under way and issued the first call for the broad jump. Pete McDonough, Maurice Roddy, "Phill" Mills, Louis Starkweather and Monroe O'Donnell, all P. H. S. athletes, were entered in this event, which was run off in three sections, each contestant being allowed three jumps, the total to decide the winner.

Pete McDonough was easily the best man in this competition, registering jumps of 16 feet and over each time he tried. However, "Phil" Mills cleared 17 feet 4½ inches on one attempt, but his previous performances were very weak. Monroe O'Donnell and Louis Starkweather fared pretty well, as did the fifth man, Maurice Roddy. The winner's best jump was 16 feet 5½ inches.

After the completion of the running broad jump, Ralph Runyon, one of the officials, issued the first call for the junior 100-yard dash. This was run in two heats, "Bill" Cuff arriving at the tape first in the initial heat, closely followed by Bundy. In the second heat Marty Kane trotted in first, with Enander at his heels., In the finals "Marty" Kane easily left the rest of the field, his time being 15 seconds.

The 100-yard dash for middlers attracted a fast field, and was also run in two heats, Maurice Roddy capturing the first, his time being 14 seconds, and Marty McDonough annexing the second heat, his time being 14 seconds. The finals in this event were hotly contested, but Roddy led the field all the way and did not have to exert himself. Marty McDonough was an easy second, with Gary a poor third.

The most amusing event of the day's athletic program was the girls' 75-yard dash, which was won by Helen Bebout, with Edith Bohl a close second. Madeline Maguire came in third. The winner's time was 11 2-5 seconds.

"Phil" Mills had no trouble winning the 100-yard open race although Pete McDonough was a close second. Monroe O'Donnell came in third, but was not very close to the winners. "Mil" did the trick in 13 1-5 seconds. Bill Daniels entered the 440 and led a fast field all the way. Again Pete McDonough kept very near the P. H. S. star and Daniels could not leave Pete. However, his final spurt at the finish gave hi mthe prize. The winner's time in this contest was 59 seconds. Maurice Roddy registered first in the 220, junior and middler final, with Marty McDonough second and Smith third. Roddy's time was 28 2-5 seconds.

Boxes of Ritz candy were awarded to first, second and in some cases, the third men, in each event, the bigger awards going to the better men. It was indeed a happy, hungry crowd of athlete that gathered around Supervisor Wriston when the prizes were awarded.

Credit is due Mr. Wriston, who has coached the boys all this season in anticipation of the meet. Credit is also due the corps of juvenile officials.

After the completion of the athletic events a baseball game between some of the best talent in this city and "Canada" was begun, the final winners being the "Can Openers," led by Tommy Mullin. These "humorists" set back the "Tin Cans," other comedians, to the tune of a 4 to 2 rattle. The official scorer gives Butler credit for a one hit game, although some say that he allowed two clouts. Be that as it may he pitched one grand exhibition and struck out several City Leaguers, among them Tonse, W. Miller and Johnny Wilson. Tommy Mullin was easily the batting and fielding star of the day. Oscar Dilts, who hurled for the victims, allowed only five hits and deserved to win. Ice cream checks were awarded to each member of the winning combination.

MANY ATTRACTIONS AT PARK GOLF CLUB

Week-end and Labor Day Events Will Undoubtedly Bring Out a Large Field.

Beginning tomorrow and continuing until September 18, there will be plenty doing at the Park Golf Club, where a full schedule of events will undoubtedly attract many contestants. This club, which is growing in popularity, is enjoying an unusually prosperous season under the direction of President H. L. Moode., H. H. Woodland, the treasurer, as well as Royle T. Phillips, chairman of the greens committee, and Walter Whitehead, chairman of the house committee.

The chief attraction tomorrow will be the qualifying round for the fall championship trophy, the first eight to qualify, and the second eight to play for a consolation cup. The first round match play for both eights will be played Labor Day morning with the semi-finals in the afternoon. The finals will be played on Saturday, September 11.

The winner of the fall championship will play H. E. Blazier, winner of the spring championship, on Saturday, September 18, for the club championship, which gives the winner the Hydewood cup, offered by Louis K. Hyde. The championship play will be 36 holes.

Among the most formidable contenders for the fall championship honors are William P. Taylor, who is low handicap man; Ralph G. Morse, who is one of the most consistent players of the club; E. E. Gano and H. H. Woodland, who are playing a strong game at match play; Royle T. Phillips, who won the spring championship last year; Charles B. Morse, who is playing a better game than ever, his scores being in the 80s; Walter Whitehead, who is improving his game, and Dr. H. K. Carroll, who won the honors last year.

Other events on Labor Day will include the play for the Holiday Cup, offered by Francis L. Sill; a tombstone or flag competition, morning and afternoon; a women's driving contest for a cup offered by J. A. Wilson, and an approaching and putting contest for mixed couples, for prizes offered by Harry G. DeMeza.

Those planning to have dinner at the club tomorrow and Labor Day should notify the steward. These dinners will be followed with dancing which is also increasing in popularity at the club.

DOUBLE HEADER WILL BE PLAYED ON SUNDAY

The Highlanders have arranged to meet the Queen City baseball team on Emerson Oval Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the first game of a double-decker. The Fanwoods, led by the renowned Casey Lambertson, will tackle the Highland laddies in the second section of the two-ply program. Sidney Butler, who yesterday pitched a one-hit game, will hurl for the Queen outfit, while Cohen will catch. The rest of the City line-up will remain unchanged, as the manager believes that his regular team is plenty fast enough for the Highlanders.

The fans who attend this double bill will witness a close tilt when Lambertson's Fanwoods connect with the East Enders, and will also have a chance to get a line on the "upland men," as they are going to challenge the winner of the T. A. B.-Plainfield A. A. Sunday series.

TENNIS EVENTS TOMORROW.

Golf and tennis program mapped out for followers of these pastimes in this city and vicinity tomorrow is an unusually good one. At the Westfield Golf Club the men's championship singles will be contested, while at the Plainfield Country Club a handicap event will be held. At both places golf and tennis matches between club members and invited guests will hold full sway. At the Netherwood and Hudson Terrace Tennis Clubs doubles will be contested. Intermingled with these will be several sets of single matches.

YOUTHFUL FANS.

Eddie McCann, Bob Clarkson, John Newell, "Pop" Keating and Francis Connolly witnessed the Giant-Philly double header at the Polo Grounds yesterday, and expressed admiration for the Philly forces.

If your property is really "worthwhile," make that clear in your classified advertising—and you'll sell it.

CLIFF DECIDES.

According to the Perth Amboy newspapers Cliff Randolph has decided to hurl both game at Amboy Sunday, pitching against the Franklins in the first engagement and the St. Anthonys in the second argument. In other words, Cliff has decided to undertake the "iron man" stunt. A few days ago he made known the fact, but seemed to be undecided. Now the scribes say he is certain to attempt the feat.

THROCKMORTON COMPETES.

Harold Throckmorton, the Princeton tennis wonder, competed in the interscholastic championship event at Forest Hill, L. I., yesterday, and defeated Cornelius Boocock, of Buffalo High School, 6—2, 6-0, 6-3. As a result of his victory Throckmorton earned the right to appear in the semi-finals which will be contested today. He is the only Jersey boy to reach the semi-finals, the other three being Keystone State stars.

"UNCLE WILLIAM" IS IN THE LINEUP

G. O. P. Mayoralty Candidate Will Play Ball On Labor Day.

Through an error the name of William L. Smalley was omitted when the line-up of the business men's baseball team was given out yesterday. Mr. Smalley is one of the best fans in this city, and is in a class by himself when it comes to discussing the national pastime. What his ability on the diamond is can be decided only after he is seen in action.

It is most likely that he will take care of one of the outer gardens, inasmuch as he does not like to have to stop some of the hot liners his son, Ralph, who has agreed to catch for the professional men, intends driving to all parts of the infield. Ralph has promised to see that he does not let one slip into the outer works, thus necessitating a little action on the part of father. He feels confident that none of the other "professionals" are capable of clouting the pill much farther than pitcher's box.

Plans are rapidly being completed for the coming girls' athletic meet, and most of the officials have already been chosen. The help of any who are willing to act as timers, starters or clerks of the course will be greatly appreciated. George W. Wriston has complete charge of the selection of officials, and he is anxious to receive all the aid he can. Miss Clara Parson, a female athlete of local fame, has filed her entry in the coming event.

A silver collection will be taken up among the spectators to help defray the expenses of the meet.

TABS AND CLINTON AVENUES TO MEET

Benefit Game For "Kid" Brennan to Be Played at Parker Field Tomorrow.

The benefit game for Frank Brennan, the Tab shortstop, who broke a leg sliding into second base in a recent City League battle, will no doubt attract a large crowd to Parker Field tomorrow.

Through the courtesy of Supervisor Wriston, Parker Field has been secured free of charge. However, the fans are expected to contribute toward the fund.

The Abstainers and the Clinton Avenues, the two contestants, are both very fast combinations, the former being the league leaders, and the Clintons, the league terrors. It was this team that so decisively defeated the runaway Netherwood aggregation two weeks ago. Tom Apgar, who has charge of the Clintonians, is confident that something on the order of the Netherwood battle, is sure to happen to the Tabs tomorrow.

The two teams will probably line up as follows: T. A. B. S.—Geary, ss; Kyle, lf; O'Loughlin, 2b; Scott, 1b; McCarty, 3b; T. Denny, cf; Lawton, rf; Winters, c; J. Denny, p. Clinton Avenues—W. Miller, 2b; Overland, rf; Pennoyer, 3b; Rosenson, p; T. Apgar, c; Hendry, 1b; L. Brown, ss; T. Apgar, cf; Gunzelman, lf; W. Brown, rf.

MARSTON IS A FAVORITE FOR AMATEUR GOLF TITLE

Golf followers in Union county should feel justly proud of the fact that this section of New Jersey possesses one of the best amateur golfers in the country. Max Marston, the blonde Baltusrol youth, who upset Jerry Travers in the championship tourney at Detroit, had little trouble in setting aside Bob Lee, a Western aspirant, yesterday. As a result of the victory Marston has earned the right to compete in the semi-finals.

In fact golf experts all over the country now pick the Jersey boy to win the title. In the semi-finals today Marston is pitted against Gardner. Jerry Travers, the only other Jersey golfer competing and who was forced to bow before Marston, is now carrying around Marston's clubs and giving him advice as he goes along. Not a trace of hard feeling exists between the two.

Profits Are of Two Kinds

Profit in Money—The difference between the cost and selling price, whch has always been small at the KIRCH STORE.

Profit in Prestige—The reputation you build. Now, both of these profits are made by the merchandise you sell.

Some goods bring big money profits because it pretends quality, is priced low, has "flash"—but when it "goes bad"—it doesn't help. PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Not since the memorable "Within the Law" was staged has any play achieved such instantaneous popular success, as "Under Cover," which scored the dramatic sensation of the year in New York with a record run of forty-four consecutive weeks at the Cort Theatre. Selwyn & Company are responsible for both productions, and "Under Cover," their newest success, will be the attraction at the Plainfield Theater, matinee and night, Labor Day. "Under Cover" is like "Within the Law" in that the play is melodrama, but there the resemblance ends. It tells the story of an effort to smuggle a pearl necklace, valued at $200,000 into the United States, and the work of the secret service to discover the fraud and prosecute the offenders. As the smugglers are numbered among the most influential, the authorities are confronted with a difficult task, and the exciting incidents of the pursuit carry the suspense until the final cuhtain falls.

Plainfield, N. J., Sept. 3, 1915.

A GREAT PROBLEM.

The decision as to the extent of this nation's military preparedness belongs to the people speaking through their representatives in Congress, and the people have no desire to see their country become either a Germany or a China. Outside of the relatively few extreme pacifists, however, the people undoubtedly want all necessary preparations made and all reasonable precautions taken with a view to put the country in a position to defend itself promptly and effectively in case of need.

Essentially this has been the popular sentiment in the past, the only difference being that the European war has made it clear that larger preparations than formerly, involving larger appropriations, are now demanded. There need be no fear that Congress will refuse to yield to the pressure of the new popular impulse. Even in the past Congress has grudgingly voted appropriations for battleships and the like only because the cost of conducting the Federal government is enormous, the treasury is by no means exhaustless, and economy wherever possible has been imperative. Show Congress where the money is to come from and it will cheerfully vote all the millions for national defense that enlightened reason (not wild panic) may call for.

In order to do this there must be economy elsewhere—but where? That will be the difficulty and the subject for debate. Not a few Americans are of the opinion that now, half a century after the war of 1861-5, it is time to stop paying as much as $175,000,000 annually in pensions to Union veterans and alleged Union veterans—a sum but little less than the cost of the French standing army of nearly a million men. But who will dare to stand on the floor of Congress and ask for a revision of the pension list, retaining thereon the names of only genuine veterans? The statesman with the necessary courage has not yet arisen, and it may be that he will not arise until foreign Huns are thundering at our gates. The problem is not one of inducing the country to consent to adequate military preparedness but of inducing the country to consent to sacrifices in order to make available the necessary funds.

Howard G. Lapsley, who has been endorsed by the Democrats to run for Council in the Second ward, today withdraws as a candidate for the office, because he believes that Levis M. Booth, the Republican nominee, should be elected. Mr. Lapsley is the kind of a citizen, regardless of party, whom the people of Plainfield should have represent them, and in recognition of his frank statement about the Republican candidate, we know of no more fitting thing that could be done than for the Republicans to urge Mr. Lapsley to take a Democratic nomination at large, and then not nominate anyone against him. Mr. Lapsley is the type of man wanted in the City Council. While he may feel that he has not had so much experience which would be directly beneficial to the city as has Mr. Booth, he has been successful in business and much interested in political affairs. Here is a splendid chance for the Republicans to forget party lines in local affairs, and support an unusually capable man for Council, who himself has been able to forget party lines.

Of all the buncome that we have ever read, the interview which was given by the chief inspector of the Union County Mosquito Commission to an Elizabeth paper and reprinted locally is the worst we have heard in some time. To tell people who have to spend all the time that they sit on their porches in the evening swatting the pesky insects, that they have been eradicated, "except on the outskirts of the town" is silly. Everyone knows better. All the inspector need do is come to Plainfield and sit on any one of twenty or more porches we can suggest, to learn that they are worse than they have been in years. There is not a man who has a garden that cannot testify that there are literally thousands of them to be found at all times of the day. It's all well enough to appropriate $23,000 of the people's money, much of which is spent in salaries, to fight the pests, if something is accomplished, but the taxpayers want to see better results than those which have thus far been shown.

'Twis a short and inglorious career that the Netherwood Hotel had under the management of Adolph Ruehl! As near as can be learned from the work placed in the hands of local attorneys, the house was kept open for a month with money furnished by the people who took bad checks. Plainfielders would like to see the house opened, but not under such management.

United States Senator James E. Martine will furnish another article for the Daily Press contributed editorial tomorrow about his trip to Hawaii in the spring and early summer. Three of these stories have proven interesting reading, and in the fourth he will tell of his only meeting with royalty, when he had an audience with the former queen of the Islands.

WILLIAM HOWARD RESIGNS AS BONNIE BURN GOVERNOR

Elizabth, Sept. 3.—Former County Clerk William Howard, of Rahway, tendered his resignation as a member of the board of governors of Bonnie Burn Sanatorium to the Board of Freeholders yesterday. It was accepted with regret. His successor was not named.

The Board voted to pay the bill of Arthur E. Smith for his work on the Grove street bridge, Plainfield, which amounts to $560. The age limit of children for half-fare on the Staten Island ferry was reduced from ten to five years, through a resolution. The National State Bank of Elizabeth was awarded the $37,000 issue of serial bridge bonds, its bid being $37,762.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TO HAVE AFTERNOON SERVICE

A departure in the time of holding the Sunday evening service will go into effect at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday, when the fall and winter schedule is resumed. Like the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, the second service will be held in the late afternoon instead of in the evening. The morning service will be held at 11 o'clock and the second service at 5 o'clock.

The change to 5 o'clock instead of 7:45 was made by the session at the request of a large number of the congregation. This new service next Sunday is to be preceded by an organ recital by Organist Harold. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, will preach at both services. His theme for the second service will be "A Great Psalm."

Chas. Lewis Turns Horse With His Head

The horse belonging to Charles Lewis became frightened by some unknown cause Friday and broke loose from the hitch-rack, sideswiping George Adkins' hardware store, and literally tearing the buggy to pieces. If it had not been for the level head of Charles Lewis in turning the horse from the way it started, it would have run into Mrs. Frank O'Brien's rig which contained two children.—New Holland Leader.

Story Of A Once Greasy Venderer

Years back when our genial squire and venderer of peanuts, George Barringer, used to be located in Piketon, he was a hard worker and also a scrapper of renown. Squire used to work in a woolen mill located in that village, and was the man who handled the wool while it was in process of preparing for the spindles for the weaving machines. In the course of his work it was necessary for him to come in contact with the wool frequently; the result was that the Squire was most generally covered with the oil from the wool—from this he derived the name of "Greasy Cat." However, since coming to Waverly and engaging in the marriage and peanut business the oil has worn off and "Greasy Cat" has been replaced by "Cork," the name the Squire is known by all over the county, and beyond its rims, too.—Waverly, O., Watchman.

HEALTH TALKS
by WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Eminent Medical Authorities

A GREAT shibboleth of the fellow who has a food, a drink, a remedy or an appliance to sell is the statement that the article is approved by eminent medical authorities, or that certain ingredients or features which enter into the construction of the article are praised by these same eminent authorities.

We suppose this must influence the lay-reader, else the advertiser would not waste printer's ink telling about it. But for the life of us we can't see why the layman should "fall" for arguments of this kind when "eminent medical authorities," voluntarily or involuntarily, can be quoted to uphold almost any foolish idea you care to mention.

Beer, brewers, tobacco manufacturers, sawdust breakfast food manufacturers, divers and sundry petroleum oil purifiers, all sorts and conditions of patent medicine exploiters, patent or mail order "systems" of exercise, diet or mental gymnastics, "Institutes" flitting from town to town with their fly-by-night expert "specialists"—all of these can quote you the most convincing words of eminent medical authorities to support their various claims.

A criminal court trial with eminent medical authorities serving as "expert witnesses" on either side for pay ought to show the thinking person how much reliance is to be placed in the testimony of "eminent authorities."

Suggest any doubtful question bearing upon health or hygiene and we will undertake to show you eminent medical authorities supporting each side.

No article so worthless but that eminent medical authorities can be, willy-nilly, made to say a pleasant word for it, or made to seem to say a pleasant word for it. The way some eminent medical authorities are misquoted to suit the requirements of some fakers is scandalous.

Beware of the eminent specialist who isn't named and definitely identified. Also look askance at the quotes which are slapped onto certain remarks attributed to well-known medical men. You know, it is possible to make a fool out of most any man by quoting only selected excerpts from his sayings or writings.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Neuralgia Or Neuritis?

Please explain the difference between neuralgia and neuritis.

Answer—Often it is a difference of about a hundred thousand dollars. Neur means nerve; algia means pain; itis means inflammation. Neuralgia means pain in a nerve; neuritis means inflammation of a nerve. Neuralgia is commonly a mere name for a pain which is localized, but not due to anything wrong with the nerve—as "neuralgia" of the heart, or the stomach, both of which are bad guesses. Facial neuralgia, however, is a common condition of the facial nerve. In neuritis there is much tenderness along the involved nerve trunk, much pain which is present for weeks instead of hours or days as in neuralgia, more or less weakening or paralysis of the muscles supplied by the nerve, atrophy and shiny appearance of the skin.

After A Bunion Operation

Would it be dangerous to leave the hospital and go home in an ambulance three days after an operation for the removal of bunion?

Answer—No, not if the foot or feet be properly bandaged and no effort is made to step on the feet.

Not Absolute Alcohol

Is 95% grain alcohol good to rub a baby's back?

Answer—No, use ordinary dilute alcohol (about 70%).

LITTLE GEOGRAPHY LESSONS — THE FALKLAND ISLANDS

THE Falkland Islands are located about 250 miles east of the coldest part of South America and are about the farthest south in civilization on this hemisphere.

There are about 100 of them, but only two are large enough to balance a sheep on with any great success. These two contain about as much land as Connecticut. The land is encumbered with low mountains, weird geological formations and morasses and wouldn't bring over $2 an acre if it were located on an American railroad with an enterprising land agent pushing it.

The climate of the Falklands is "equable." This means that it is equally bad at all times. The temperature averages 47 in the summer and 37 in the winter and the wind only stops blowing on leap year days. It is a bleak, misty, gloomy, barren land and very few animals, birds or insects live there. They have all had sense enough to emigrate. But men live there.

They live there, two thousand of them, and raise sheep. And they will probably do so until the humane society objects. With South America only 250 miles away and a ship to England once a month they live in the Falklands, where the rain falls 250 days in the year and heat can be obtained by blowing on one's fingers. And yet residents of New York and Chicago and other paradises of climate complain bitterly, and go to the seashore in the summer!

Poor as the Falklands are, nations have quarreled over them. They have nearly caused two wars and once jarred the understanding between the United States and the Argentine. Four nations have owned them, England being the present proprietor.

The Falklands have served for 300 years as a rescue station for Cape Horn. After a ship has weathered the Cape this land looks as good to it as a $600 a year appointment does to a Democrat after a twenty year drought.

Those people who are interested only in long life will be thrilled to know that the Falklands are remarkably healthful and that the inhabitants have great difficulty in dying entirely.

The Dying Race

THE talk about the North American Indian representing a dying race is not a myth. A government census of the Indian population of the United States and Alaska has just been completed. The figures will show a reduction as compared with the census of 1910 when the total Indian population was 265,683 exclusive of Alaska and other insular possessions.

Of the total Indian population, 74,825, or 28 per cent., were found in one state, Oklahoma; 160,107, or 60 per cent., in the five states of Oklahoma, Arizona, New Mexico, South Dakota and California.

In density of population Oklahoma again led with 108 Indians per square mile. The proportion which Indians formed of the total population was, however, greatest in Arizona, where it was 14.3 per cent.

The most important tribe numerically was the Cherokee, with 31,489 members when the figures were taken, while those next in order were the Navajo, Chippewa, Choctaw and Teton Sioux.

The census takers found that as compared with whites and negroes in the United States, Indians marry somewhat earlier in life and the explanation of the tendency is said to lie in part in the fact that the male reservation Indian is frequently as assured of a livelihood at the age of fifteen as he is later in life. It was found that the practice of polygamy still exists in slight degree.

Of the total Indian population in the United States in 1910, 56.5 per cent. were reported as full bloods and 35.2 per cent. as mixed bloods. The progeny of mixed marriages, it was found, survives better than that of full-blooded Indian couples. This destroys a belief that there are none sturdier than the true-blooded Indian and shows that the red man has not only gone back in numbers, but that serious physical deterioration has actually set in. Before many generations the real Indian, like the bison of the great plains of the west, will be a memory.—Scranton Times.

The PEOPLE'S LEGAL FRIEND
by E. R. BRANSON

For Services Rendered

Q. I have on my books an old account against a certain man for professional services. Please inform me when this account will become void at law.

A. In your state (Illinois), it will be barred in five years from the time your cause of action accrued.

When She Marries Again

Q. Where a man and his wife are divorced, and the custody of the children is given to the wife, and she afterward marries again, will she then lose her right to have such custody?

A. Not necessarily. The welfare of the children will be the controlling consideration. The fact of her second marriage will make no difference, unless her former husband can show that she is no longer a fit person to have the custody of the children.

Duties Of An Employee

Q. Is it the duty of an auctioneer to follow the instructions of the man who employs him? If he fails to do so, could the employer bring a suit against him for loss resulting from such disobedience?

A. Yes, to both questions.

Ohio Law Will Hold

Q. A man whom I knew and who resided in this state (Ohio) died, without leaving a will. He had some furniture and other personal belongings in this state and owned some other personal property in Pennsylvania. Will the property be distributed according to the law of Ohio or the law of Pennsylvania?

A. The descent and distribution of this property will be governed by the law of Ohio.

Master—At Least In Name

Q. Please inform me whether the husband is everywhere recognized as the legal head of the family.

A. The husband is generally recognized as the legal head of the family, except where he is insane or is absent from home for a prolonged period.

Baggage On Trains

Q. What does the law consider as the legitimate baggage of a traveler? That is, in case of loss of baggage through the railroad company's fault, does it make any difference what articles he carried with him as baggage?

A. A passenger is entitled to take with him as baggage such articles as may reasonably be considered essential to his personal comfort and convenience, as judged by the standard of his habits of life and having regard to the purposes and objects of the journey.

A Testamentary Privilege

Q. May a man, in his will, direct his executor to conduct the business in which this man has been engaged and provide for the support of the family?

A. Yes. Such provisions are frequently inserted.

When Is A Contract Illegal?

Q. Does the law of a state ever make a contract illegal?

A. Yes. Certain classes or kinds of contracts are illegal. It may be said, in general, that wherever a contract is based on an immoral consideration, or is opposed to public policy or the law of the jurisdiction, it will be illegal.

Back To The "Notions," Mabel

Q. Where a husband leaves his wife, in consequence of her own fault, and a divorce is granted, will the wife be allowed alimony? A. No.

Tinsel

Have you ever noticed that it is the plain, simple things, made up in quality, that cost the most? Go into a furniture store for some favorite piece, pick out a fabric for your clothes, select a piece of jewelry. The fact is there—the plain things cost the most. The reason is this—

Quality loaded down with Tinsel is cheapened. Quality always carries the highest value.

Into nearly every crack and crevice of life, the crave for Tinsel exists. The Unreal is everywhere offering itself for the Real. Imitation stalks abroad and is bold. But the Genuine—bereft of Tinsel—cannot be mistaken. It is recognized on sight.

Have the courage to be what you are, and to live happily on what you have. For when you leap beyond this, you acquire Tinsel—mere Sham and Counterfeit. Strong characters never bother about cheap Tinsel—mere trapping to their already big holdings in the Genuine.

Truth and Fact travel always without concern. Brass cannot long pass for Gold. Nor can a man long be what he is not. At night Tinsel may glow, but in the light of day it will show for what it is. And explanation will not avail.

Sweetening The Cup

I met her at a lawn fête, and she shyly smiled at me.
When she spoke, her voice was gentle; and her face was good to see;
And her eyes had lingering sweetness that she'd brought along from heaven.
Such a dainty little maiden!—maybe six and maybe seven.

With a confidence entrancing she had stormed the marts of trade
And was bound to make a profit. She was selling lemonade.
"I only had two lemons," (Thus confided Eve's sweet daughter),
"But mother lended me the ice and Johnny got the water."

Her frankness won a nickel, for my heart was lifted up.
"There's not much sugar either!"
(Here she tasted of my cup!)
I, looking at her rosy lips, knew sugar would be wasted.
It really was the sweetest lemonade
I ever tasted!

She Wandered Around.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Story of Yesterday's Flowers.

"I WILL tell you kiddies tonight the story of Yesterday's flowers," said daddy.

"It happened in a rose garden, through which Yesterday was wandering. She was a dear old lady with silvery hair, for you know, kiddies, Yesterday is a lovely person who grows very old in a day.

"Yesterday was really a ghost, for she passes in a day, and so you see it was not she at all. And she wandered around the rose garden with her silvery hair and her staff, and her eyes were as blue as the summer sky of the new day, and her cheeks even in old age retained their pinkish softness.

"And she wandered about the garden, looking for her flowers, poor Yesterday's flowers. There had been roses and sweet peas and geraniums and dahlias and ever so many other flowers, all beautiful in color and with the sweetest scents you can imagine. They had bloomed in profusion, making the garden a lovely place to visit, and poor Yesterday had so enjoyed herself among her flowers in that exquisite place.

"And Yesterday beheld many beautiful flowers, but she was not at all satisfied, for she knew her own blooms, and these were not among them.

"So the poor old lady ghost of Yesterday lifted up her thin voice and wept.

"'Oh, where are my lovely flowers that I cared so much for?' she wailed. 'They were so beautiful for me and smelled so sweet, and the people in the great house yonder came to see them and smelled them and exclaimed over their richness, and now I cannot find them. Where are they?'

"Then, lo and behold, a lovely maiden who was walking in the garden said to the wailing ghost of Yesterday:

"'Why are you crying, my poor, dear old lady? And who are you?'

"'Why,' responded the other, 'I am the old, white haired ghost of Yesterday, and I am looking for my flowers that grew so large and sweet and lovely.'

"'Oh,' answered the beautiful maiden, 'I am Today, and the flowers you are now looking at are mine. Yours are withered and gone, my dear.'

"Then the poor old lady ghost of Yesterday wept once more, but Today comforted her, saying:

"'You mustn't cry, my dear. Your flowers comforted many people while you were alive, and they have served their purpose. Mine do the same today. Soon I shall be a dear old lady ghost like you. A little bird told me so. Then Tomorrow's flowers will comfort the world.'

"Then the poor old lady ghost of Yesterday stopped crying, for she saw things as they have always been."

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Did you really get away from that hotel leaving the impression that you were old married folks?" asked Nell after she had allowed her friend to remove her hat and gloves.

Olive blushed.

"Tell me about it," exclaimed Nell excitedly.

"I think the crocheting old maid was satisfied when I patched up the discrepancy between the doctor's story and mine. You see he was talking professionally about his children, and as he has assisted about one hundred and fifty babies into the world he could speak of my children with conviction. When she heard him say that he had never called a doctor for them I hastened to explain that he was a doctor himself and congratulated myself that the day was saved."

"You said as much in your letter, but Dick chuckled when he read it and said, 'If they get away with that they are lucky people; they are not out of the woods yet.'"

"Well, the next day after this conversation on the porch," continued Olive, "Gaylord and I——"

"Oh, you have come down to calling him by his given name," interrupted Nell.

"Yes; he said if I could not manage it all at once I could call him Gay for short."

"That's like him; I can see the twinkle in his eye. Well, go on, Olive," she urged.

"When I was so rudely interrupted"—Olive pinched Nell's cheek—"I was about to relate that the next day we took our lunch and fishing tackle and went for a long tramp through the woods. There is fine trout fishing in that neighborhood, and though I could not catch much of anything, I got so I could hold the rod in a sportsmanlike manner and keep still, and that Gaylord assured me was scoring some. We had a perfectly grand time; the Maine woods are a delight with their clear little trout streams brawling over pebbly beds. After my arms wore out holding the fishing rod I curled up on the steamer rug and went to sleep. We got back to the hotel just before dinner; the doctor took the fish to the cook to be fried for our dinner, while I stopped at the office to get the mail. All the guests were assembled there and I understood why when I saw on the top of the pile a letter addressed to Miss Olive Dunn, Detroit, Michigan, forwarded to Mrs. G. E. Ellson. Daddy was away I know when the postman came; he never would have left me in the lurch like that. I felt all eyes upon me as I gathered up the letters and left the room very red in the face, I am afraid. You see they had been speculating all day about that letter. If I had been at the hotel when the mail came up it might never have been noticed. I knew that I was being watched all through dinner.

"'Let's go to the beach,' I whispered as we left the table. We did not stop on the porch at all, but the old thing was laying for us when we returned, though it was time she was in bed. I knew we could not dodge always, so we sat down a minute.

"'Detroit is a lovely city,' she began. 'I have a sister living there.'

"'Yes, I like what I have seen of it very much; the water privileges are great,' said the doctor cheerfully.

"'Did you say you used to live there?' she asked, turning to me.

"'My people live there,' I answered weakly. We went on up to our room and Gaylord laughed at me for being so disturbed. Nothing was said during the four or five remaining days of our stay. There was an air of suppressed excitement when we entered the dining room the last evening. Our table was cleared last. When the waiter brought my dessert he laid a card by my plate on which was pasted a clipping of our wedding announcement. Then he sprinkled me with rice. Every one cheered and clapped hands and one burly German rose in his seat, raised his glass of beer above his head and called lustily, 'Prosit! Prosit!'

"Gaylord laughed heartily and rising made a very pretty speech of appreciation, but I was glad to escape to my room."

Household Hints

CANNING AND PRESERVING

New Way to Can Peaches—Take perfect peaches; wash them, do not remove the skins (on a good peach the skin is very thin); put peaches in pans for baking, put required amount of sugar and water on them (treat the same as baked apples), fill oven with the pans. Bake, and when tender pack into hot glass jars and seal.

Stuffed Peaches—Select medium-sized peaches, wash and take out stones, cover with salt water and let stand over night. In the morning fill centers with grated horseradish mixed with a little celery seed and a small piece of ginger root. Tie each peach with string and pack in jars. Turn over them heated vinegar, with sugar and spices to taste. Seal jars, and at Thanksgiving time you will have delicious peaches to eat with the turkey.

HOMEMADE VINEGARS

Make your vinegar at home; very little trouble, costs nothing. Half-gallon fruit jars are better than stone jugs to make it in, as a larger surface is exposed to the light and air; by shaking often, souring is hastened. When mother forms, new vinegar can be made by simply adding sweetened water. Boil the water first.

Tomato Vinegar—Mash one quart ripe tomatoes to a pulp. Strain juice and put in a jar with one teacup sugar or molasses. Fill jar with boiled water and set in sun for two weeks.

Celery Vinegar — An excellent flavor for soups, gravies, etc. Put four ounces in a quart bottle and fill up with vinegar. It is ready for use in a few days.

Corn Vinegar—Put one teacup shelled corn and one teacup brown sugar, or molasses, in a jar. Fill up with water and set in the sun. This takes three weeks to make, but is one of the very best vinegars.

THE TABLE

Tomato and Lima Beans—Parboil fresh lima beans in salted water till tender, drain and reserve liquid. Place alternate layers of beans and peeled sliced tomato; season. Make a cream sauce of the liquid and pour over; sprinkle with bread crumbs and dots of butter. Bake one-half hour.

Broiled Cauliflower—Boil cauliflower as usual. Arrange on a platter in rows. Butter liberally half a cup of bread crumbs, spread over the vegetable and place under the flame in a gas oven till browned.

Summer Salad—Mix together two cups chopped pineapple, one cup chopped apple and one-half cup English walnut meats. Pour over this any desired salad dressing that is not too sour and serve on crisp lettuce leaves with a spoonful of whipped cream on top. This is also very delicious if the salad dressing is thinned with a little of the pineapple juice.

Garden Salad—One cucumber, one medium-sized onion, small bunch celery, one large cooked beet, one sweet pepper, three or four radishes, one large sweet pickle, one-half cup cooked corn, one-half cup cooked peas, two slices fried bacon, small sprig mint. Chop all together, mix with mayonnaise dressing. Pile on sliced tomato on lettuce leaf.

Salad—Take two medium-sized cucumbers, remove seed; four or five young onions; use outside of one large pepper (green), but no seeds; put all in chopping bowl. Chop not too finely, season with salt, a little white pepper and vinegar. Serve with fish or cold meat.

Stuffed Tomato Salad—Remove skins, chill, remove inside of tomato and season with salt and pepper. Combine equal parts of dried cucumber and celery, with half as much minced onion and nuts chopped. Season, mix with mayonnaise dressing, heap with whipped cream on top and garnish with parsley.

Dessert From Left-Over Fruit—Berry season is here, and this is a simple but delicious way to use any left-overs: Into the upper pan of your double boiler put a pint of sweet milk; when it comes to a boil stir in two tablespoons cornstarch which has been dissolved in a little water. Let boil five minutes. Add one egg well beaten with half a cup of sugar and a pinch of salt; let boil two minutes, stirring constantly. Flavor with vanilla and stir in a cup of crushed fruit, such as raspberries, blackberries, peaches, etc., or even stewed apples may be used. Remove from fire and beat well for a minute or two. Pour into mold, chill and serve with sugar and cream.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

"The Woman," with Lois Meredith in the principal role, will be the chief attraction this afternoon and tonight at the U. S. Astor Theatre toplining a program of extraordinary merit. "The Woman" is based on the celebrated drama of that name produced by David Belasco three years ago at his theatre in New York and possesses a story of compelling interest. Miss Meredith has appeared several times on the Astor screen but in this subject, it is said, she does by far the best work in her brief career in the films. Miss Meredith is best recalled for her remarkable work in the leading role of "Help Wanted," Jack Lait's sprightly comedy, shown last year in New York She is one of the youngest and most beautiful stars of the contemporary stage.

One of the photographic surprises of the year will be exhibited at the Astor Theatre, tomorrow afternoon and evening, when William Faversham will appear in "The Right of Way," which attained a remarkable success on the screen of the Strand Theatre, in New York, a few weeks ago. This is Mr. Faversham's first appearance on the screen and he acquits himself admirably. Many of Sir Gilbert Parker's stories have found their way to the films and a majority of them have been excellent in their adapted form. This is no exception to the rule. Perhaps the most salient feature of the adaptability of this story is the wonderful opportunity which it gives for atmosphere and color.

REDUCTION in Telephone Rates

A new schedule of rates for measured telephone service in New Jersey is effective September 1st, 1915.

The general features of the new schedules are:

(1)—The rate for Individual Line Message Rate Service where 600, 800, 1000 and 1200 messages are used is reduced $3.00 per annum.

(2)—Two-Party Line Message Rate Subscribers are able to secure Individual Line Telephone Service for the same rate formerly charged for Two-Party Line Service. The Two-Party Line Message Rate Service is, therefore, withdrawn.

(3)—A reduction is made in the annual rate for Private Branch Exchange Service and the requirements as to the minimum amount of equipment to be contracted for are lowered. The rate for telephones connected to a Private Branch Exchange switchboard where a considerable number are used is also reduced.

NOTE—No changes are made in the existing local calling areas or in the rates for Four-Party Measured Service, Flat Rate Service and Toll Service.

The September 1st bills of all subscribers affected contain a notice of the reduction.

For further information concerning the new low rates TELEPHONE our Commercial Office.

FORMER GOVERNOR PRAISES PRES. WILSON

J. Franklin Fort Says It Will Be Difficult to Find Man to Beat Him.

Newark, Sept. 3—Former Governor John Franklin Fort gave an interview yesterday stringly indorsing the Wilson administration, and asserting that in his judgment it would be difficult to find in any party a man who could defeat Mr. Wilson for re-election next year.

"I think the Wilson administration up to date has been a success," said the former Governor. "The President is entitled to the thanks of the country for the splendid work he has done in the matter of many international complications which have arisen growing out of war conditions. He has asserted and maintained the impregnable principles of international law, and the letter of Count von Bernstorff delivered yesterday to Mr. Lansing, Secretary of State, indicates the final triumph of the administration policies.

"I think the action of the American people, speaking generally, in standing by the President, as they have in this very difficult and complicated international situation, notwithstanding the criticism of certain people, has been a most remarkable exhibition of patriotism and loyalty to the President as an individual as well as the official representative of the nation.

"I do not care to discuss the political situation," he continued, "domestically in any way, other than to say that in my judgment it will be difficult to find any candidate who can defeat Mr. Wilson for re-election. It is absoultely certain that no reactionary, and no man tainted in any way with the action of the Republican national convention in 1912, has the least chance to succeed as a candidate for President.

"In this connection," continued Mr. Fort, "it is interesting and also very significant to note that the regular and old-fashioned party lines are becoming of less and less moment. Voters are voting as progressive thinkers or as reactionary thinkers. The lure and the threat of the party label is disappearing.

"A striking illustration of this is in the case of Minnesota. In the convention of Governors which recently met in Boston and from which I have just returned, was Governor Hammond of that State. I heard him speak on three separate occasions—once at a luncheon at the City Club of Boston, and they were splendid, clean cut, progressive, and fundamental addresses. Many people thought that he was a Republican—for Minnesota is a Republican State with a Republican vote of 250,000, and a Democratic party vote of but 85,000. Governor Hammond, a Democrat, was elected by Republican votes because of the things he stood for. Voters were not affrighted or deterred by the old-fashioned system of party labels.

"This is what is happening with the old-line political party labels everywhere. Men are voting for candidates by reason of proven accomplishments or principles, and not through the strain of party regularity. More and more this has become so, until old-fashioned party deductions are of little value.

"However, I do not care, as I said, to discuss the political situation in any other way than to reiterate what I said above. In my judgment it will be difficult to find any candidate who can defeat Mr. Wilson for re-election."

ACCEPT BOND OF BORO COLLECTOR

Security In the Sum of $10,000 Is Furnished By J. V. E. Vanderhoef.

POOR FUND OVERDRAWN

Council Appropriates Additional $250 to Care For the Indigent—Summit Avenue Storm Sewer Is Reported Completed.

Routine business was the order of the evening at the regular meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council last night. Sewer bills were ordered paid and the current expenses of the borough for the month of August were met.

The report of the borough collector and treasurer showed that the poor fund of $2,000 has already been overdrawn $100, but there are so many calls for assistance which Overseer of the Poor Fred Becker recommends for attention that another $250 was allowed him. The sum of $300 was ordered turned over to the Board of Health. Arrests for the months of July and August numbered seventy-six, while the sum of $138.50 was taken in fines, according to the report of Recorder Fred W. Hand.

Councilman Milne, for the street committee, reported the completion of the storm sewer on Summit avenue, and the bill of Contractor Alfred De Nyse for 85 per cent. of the price agreed upon, was ordered paid. The balance will be held, according to the terms of the agreement.

Bills amounting to $1,478.21 were ordered paid on account of the street committee; $572.71 for police salaries etc., and $407.49 on account of the fire and water committee. Bills amounting to $2,524.24 on the general account were ordered paid upon resolution of Councilman Tingley, of the audit and finance committee. Mr. Tingley also stated that as the August receipts were only $7,405.75 and the expenses over $9,000, it would be necessary to discount a note for $2,000, which action was authorized.

The bond of J. V. E. Vanderhoef, collector and treasurer, for $10,000, given by the American Surety Company, and dated August 30, was approved. Sewer expenses for the month of August, amounting to $21,965.74 were ordered paid and a check for $107.50, less $30, to be paid Miss Julia Williams for salary, was ordered sent to the estate of the late Collector George F. Brown, as August salary. A resolution authorizing the payment of $4,425, interest due on sewer bonds, October 1, was passed.

It was voted to spend $25 for a new desk for the collector's office, and the finance committe was authorized to make the estate of Mr. Brown an offer of that same amount for certain furniture in the collector's office which belonged to Mr. Brown.

Councilman Milne reported that the street committee was using the surplus gravel from the sewer trenches to fill in and grade the upper part of Watchung avenue. The work, he said, will cost less than $200, and when the street committee is through with the street, the borough will have a good job.

DRAWS PAY FOR BOTH DAY AND NIGHT WORK

The question whether an employe of the borough can work night and day and collect pay for it was discussed at the meeting of the Council last night, when Councilman Tingley, chairman of the audit and finance committee, called attention to the claim of Cornelius J. Sheats for pay for twenty-six days' work as sewer inspector during the month of August and also for seven nights police duty.

Sheats has recently been made a marshal, but the double work was done while he was still a sewer inspector. As both bills were marked correct by the proper officials, they were passed, although the question of when Sheats found time to sleep was not settled.

GRACE DAYS ABOLISHED.

State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill has issued a notice calling attention to the fact that the 31 days of grace heretofore allowed in which to re-register automobiles is abolished and the use of 1915 number plates after December 31 is prohibited. Licenses for 1916 may be obtained after December 1, but will not be recognized until January 1.

HEALTH MEETING POSTPONED.

Monday being a holiday, the regular monthly meeting of the Borough Board of Health, which falls on that night, has been postponed until Monday, September 13. At that meeting the committee having in charge the preparation of an ordinance to govern plumbers installing sewer connections, will present a draught of the proposed ordinance.

FALL ANNOUNCEMENT FOR Y. W. C. A.

Plan For Nation-Wide Every-member Jubilee Next February.

The Young Women's Christian Association of this city is looking forward to an active and useful winter, and expects shortly to announce an attractive program of classes, clubs and events for the season. The general secretary, Miss Kathryn Aller, has returned from her vacation and hopes to greet many members, old and new, during the next few weeks.

Members and friends of the association will be interested to learn that the month of February, 1916, will witness the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the association work in this country. The plan is to have every association co-operate in what will be called the nation-wide every-member jubilee. One of the objects in view is to spread, both within the membership and outside information about the national and world-wide movement. The Plainfield association will, of course, want to share in the joyous celebration, and it will require the co-operation of every member to do this fittingly and with a spirit of real enthusiasm.

At the "Home Hour" from 4 until 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Miss Aller will speak informally of association work at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. On Tuesday, September 7, there will be a "sunrise breakfast." The party will leave the association building at 5 a. m., and cook their breakfast on the mountain. All members of the association are invited. Those intending to go are requested to inform the association not later than Monday.

CLOSING SERVICE TOMORROW AT THE FRESH AIR HOME

The closing services of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be held tomorrow afternoon. The speakers will be Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First Methodist church, and Rev. Ernest R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church. The quartet choir of the First Methodist church will sing several selections. This service will mark the closing of one of the most successful seasons in the history of the Home. In point of numbers the Home has taken care of more mothers and children than ever before in the history of its existence. Many of these little people have come to the Home very much in need of the care and fresh air which the Home affords; these have been returned to their homes in New York in better physical condition and better able to cope with the many unpleasant features of the city life on the East side.

The great feature of the work of this Home is to make character, and in this Miss Curry feels her greatest good has been done. One has only to go to the Home to observe the condition when a child enters and then watch the change in mode of living and conduct, in many cases the change is little short of marvelous. The committee in charge and Miss Curry feel deeply grateful to all who have in any way contributed, either by the giving of money, food, clothing or by lending their voices in speaking or singing to these mothers and children at the Home. While the work closes here for the season, Miss Curry goes back to her busy fall and winter season at the Little Missionary Day Nursery, 93 St. Mark's place, New York city, where she will be just as happy to welcome her many friends from Plainfield as she has been to see them at the Home this summer.

The service tomorrow afternoon will be a farewell service, and no doubt there will be a large number present to wish Miss Curry Godspeed in her great work of labor and love for the mothers and children of her ever increasingly large family. This service will begin promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

POSTPONE MEETING.

Because of the holiday Monday, the regular monthly meeting of the Women's League, of St. Joseph's church, will be held in the new hall on Tuesday night. Routine business and several discussions will take place at that time. It is hoped that a large number of members will be present at this first fall meeting.

H. C. WHITE RE-APPOINTED.

Henry Crofut White was re-appointed a member of the Shade Tree Commission of the borough at a meeting of the North Plainfield Council last night, his term to be for five years, and dating from August 19.

LABOR DAY OFFERS MANY ATTRACTIONS

The Holiday Will Be Generally Observed By Merchants of the City.

Skies for the past three days have been brightening and if Jupiter Pluvius does not interfere, Labor Day will be a gala day in Plainfield. Although an exodus to many seashore resorts has already begun, the larger portion of Plainfield's populace will remain in this city to enjoy the attractive program of events scheduled for the week-end. Monday will mark the formal opening of the vaudeville season in Plainfield. Proctor's Theatre on West Front street throwing open the house after a week of renovation. The initial bill is a highly satisfactory one. On the legitimate stage at the Plainfield Theatre, "Under Cover," the New York success, will be staged.

Social affairs, outings, athletics and dances will be galore. Private parties have arranged a number of pleasant picnics. The inauguration of the annual dinner dances will take place at the Plainfield Country Club. Labor Day evening. The national pastime will probably draw the largest part of the home-stayers, baseball games being staged on practically every field in the city. In the afternoon the first feminine athletic meet will be run off at the Parker Field in conjunction with the first farce baseball game between the doctors and the business men of Plainfield.

Owing to the holiday, the postoffice will be closed after the firset delivery of mail, banks, business houses, stores will all be closed for the day. No local newspapers will be printed on Monday. Because of the celebration the Common Council meeting has been delayed until Tuesday night.

KNAPP, VAN DYKE AND FURBER FILE PETITIONS

Elizabeth, Sept. 4—Nominating petitions for the three Progressive Assembly candidates already agreed upon by the party leaders at a recent conference here, were filed yesterday in the county clerk's office by Edgar A. Knapp, of Elizabeth; Theodore VanDyke, of Summit, and James B. Furber, of Rahway. Furber and VanDyke, with Benjamin Williams, of Elizabeth, were on the Assembly ticket last year. Knapp is an admirer of Theodore Roosevelt and was a member of the "Rough Riders" with the former President in the Cuban campaign. Furber was formerly Mayor of Rahway and was a candidate for the Congressional nomination in 1912.

BEFORE COURT FOR 13TH TIME ON SAME COMPLAINT

George Curtis was given a severe lecture by Judge DeMeza, in the city court this morning, when arraigned on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He has been before the court twelve times before on the same charge, the last time having been a little over a year ago, and his name is on the local "black list." Last night he went into a saloon, and when the bartender would not serve him he became abusive and had to be put out. The Judge told him this morning that for the sake of his wife he would let him off, but that he need expect no more clemency.

RUSSIANS ARE SYMPATHETIC

Eric Moraller Talks of Conditions Among the Czar's People.

MORAL-SOCIAL UPLIFT

Speaker Tells of Past Conditions Which Have Led Up to the Present State of Affairs—The Easter Feast.

That the Russians are a most sensitive and sympathetic people was the opinion expressed by Eric Moraller, who addressed the Men's Association at Warren chapel, last night. He took for his subject, "Russia," being conversant with every phase of life in that country. His complete knowledge of the country and its people was gained through nine years of Y. M. C. A. work there.

The large and enthusiastic body of men who were present commended the speaker for the impartial manner in which he treated a very delicate subject. Mr. Moraller dwelt mainly on conditions of the past, which, he said, led up to the present state of affairs. The moral, social and industrial uplift brought about by the visit Peter the Great made to the European continent occasioned some comment by the speaker, and the absolutely fearless and independent manner in which the great Czar carried on the work of reconstruction was brought out clearly. The foundation of the present Russian navy, it is said, was a small rowboat modeled by Peter the Great after he had returned to Russia from a visit to the Holland shipyards. Reviewing rapidly the reigns of Catherine II., Nicholas 1., Ivan the Terrible and Nicholas II., Mr. Moraller arrived at a discussion of the present-day conditions.

"The religion of the Russian," said the speaker, "is, of course, the Orthodox faith, although various Christian denominations have secured footholds in the country." What impressed the audience most was the description the speaker gave of the Easter feast of the Orthodox church. Easter with the Russians is one of the greatest seasons of the year, and puts him in a very happy and friendly mood. There is a custom in the country which requires a Russian to salute a fellow countryman on that day by giving his friend the triple kiss. While this is naturally not a very hygienic custom, one who declines to accept the embrace is liable to incur the lasting hatred of the person who is willing to kiss.

After Mr. Moraller had finished his talk he invited his hearers to present any questions regarding the present or past of Russia that they wished. Many of the auditors asked questions. The vodka or liquor traffic came in for a lot of interesting discussion, after which it was decided that Russia is better off without vodka, and that it would be a good thing if the anti-vodka edict be continued after the present struggle is over.

At the conclusion of the informal talk refreshments were enjyed by the men and their wives It was announced that similar talks would be given to the Men's Association on the first Friday of every month.

DANDRIDGE TELLS COURT A LOT OF NEW THINGS

Edward Dandridge, the sixteen-year-old colored youth who has been telling the police various and assorted stories about how he came into possession of some watches which may have been included in loot taken from E. A. Laing's store, was let go by Judge DeMeza this morning, because he had found a job. He explained to the court with considerable elaboration, and no less variance from the truth, that the reason he was not at home nights was because of the meetings of the Boy Scouts, municipal dances and similar social functions of importance to one of his age and standing in the community. The judge learned some things from him about the dances which no one else ever knew and which were soon proved to have originated in the young man's brain. He also confided to him that the assistant scoutmaster of the troop to which he belongs was an expert crap shooter, and therefore he saw no harm in a common private in the ranks indulging in the same popular pastime.

HOUSE FULL OF SMOKE GIVE TENANTS A SCARE

A telephone message called the fire department to the home of William H. Almy, 729 Kensington avenue, just before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Some one, opening the door leading to the cellar, had discovered the cellar full of smoke. By the time the firemen arrived the smoke had cleared out pretty well A thorough search failed to reveal any fire.

Inquiry brought out the information that the servant had burned some paper in the kitchen range earlier in the day, and it is thought that the smoke was forced down into the cellar through the laundry stove. No damage whatever was done.

BASEBALL GAMBLERS GET $10 SUSPENDED SENTENCES

Fines of $10 each were suspended over the heads of Harold Cohen, Frank Zeckendorf, LeRoy Updike, J. A. Jones and George Martin by Judge DeMeza this morning. The quintet were arrested on Park avenue on Thursday afternoon, charged with gambling on the baseball games. All denied that when Lieufenant Higgins and Patrolmen Welsh descended upon them they were gambling, but all admitted that they had done so at some time during the summer. Zeckendorf said that his father had promised him a "licking" and Martin informed the court that if a $50 fine was put on him he'd "feel weak in the knees," so the Judge let them go with a warning that they would not get off with a suspended sentence the next time they came up.

E. H. BIRD ENDORSED FOR COUNCILMAN

First Ward Republicans Pick Former Postmaster to Run at Large.

At a meeting of the City Republican Executive Committee last night Elias H. Bird, former postmaster, was endorsed for councilman-at-large.

The Democrats are trying to induce Seymour Perkins, of Watchung avenue, to become a candidate for councilman-at-large in place of Councilman Richard Claybrook, who will not run for re-election. Mr. Perkins opposed Christie Hamilton, Republican, for Second ward councilman last fall, and was defeated by a small majority.

Mr. Perkins is in the brokerage business in New York and a director of the State Trust Company. He is interested in finances, and his friends believe he would make a strong candidate. Howard G. Lapsley, who was endorsed by the Democrats for councilman in the Second ward, but who refused to run, is circulating a petition for Mr. Perkins, and it is hoped that when the latter learns of the strong support he would undoubtedly be given, he will consent to let his name come before the primaries.

Today's French statement says: "There were artillery engagements last night of especial violence to the north and to the south of Arras in the sector of Roclincourt, Vailly and Bretercourt, as well as between the Oise and the Aisne. We exploded several mines in the environs of Vacquois which severely damaged the enemy's works. There is nothing to report on the rest of the front."

Athens, Sept. 4—Another daring exploit by the crew of the British submarine which is operating in the Sea of Marmora was reported today. Part of the crew landed last week at Kretzuo, on Gulf of Ismid, and dynamited the Gebize bridge on the Haidar. Ismid is 28 miles from Constantinople. TALENTED WOMEN WILL ADDRESS SUFFRAGE MEETING

Colonel Craft is too well-known to need introduction, except to remind Plainfielders that she gave the first suffrage street speech in this city. It was several years ago and there was not the interest in suffrage that there is today, but her audience extended as far as her voice carried and remained as long as she continued speaking.

JAMES B. FURBER TALKS ON SUFFRAGE

Addresses Largely Attended Meeting at Dunellen, Last Night.

Former Mayor James B. Furber, of Rahway, addressed a largely attended suffrage meeting at the Whittier School last night, when for more than an hour he held the close attention of all present. The speaker declared that one cannot vote in a true democracy where one-half of the people are kept from voting and that representation cannot be complete when one man in a family votes and there are several females who are not allowed the ballot.

Mr. Furber said that in 1776 there were Tories and in 1861 there were "copperheads," and in 1915 there are "antis." He added that there are twelve suffrage States and one never hears of an "anti" in one of them, for they quickly disappear like the Tories and the "copperheads." Mr. Furber said that it was reported that the saloon money is fighting the Suffragists under the guise of the Mercantile Association, of Newark.

"The women of Colorado saved that State fro mthe late strike," said Mr. Furber, "and there are 86,000 more men than women in that State. There are more female graduates from our normal colleges than men because they have better mental capacities. No man is good enough to govern women when women are not allowed to vote. You won't find any man interested in White Slave traffic, the saloon or brewers' interest, or one engaged in any other nefarious business who does not stand up for anti-suffrage."

AS TRAINMEN SEE ALCOHOL

(From the Railroad Trainman, official organ of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.)

Railroad men throughout the United States have received a document dedicated to "the well being of the general public." It is from the pen of a "safety first" advocate. It is a New Year's pledge, circulated by the Frisco system. Summarized it is as follows:

"Alcohol: It is bad company and unsafe to be with. It throws switches wrong; it reads orders wrong; sends orders wrong. It receives orders wrong; it calls red white; it never calls white red. It makes caution orders without effect; it makes show flags without color.

"It makes one meeting point another; it makes wakeful men sleepy.

"It makes duties dangerous, hot boxes cold, rough journals smooth. It makes pilots and foolboards death traps. It makes good men bad men; it makes two limbs one and it makes widows and orphans. It is against safety; unsafety is its name.

"Statistics show that it has killed more people than all the wars of the world since the dawn of history."

'VETS' TO ANSWER LAST ROLL CALL

Most of Them Are Seventy Years or More and Are Nearing Life's End.

THE NATION'S HEROES

Undoubtedly the Coming G. A. R. Encampment Will Be the Last Great Reunion—40,000 Men to Be In the Grand Review This Month.

Washington, Sept. 4—Many of the veterans of the war which threatened the nation in 1861-1865, will answer the roll call for the last time when the Grand Army of the Republic gathers in this city for the forty-ninth annual encampment and fiftieth anniversary of the grand review, September 27-October 2. Most of them are seventy years or more and they are fast passing off life's stage.

Undoubtedly it will be the last great reunion of Civil War veterans, and as such every effort is being made by officers of the G. A. R., the citizens' committee of Washington, the President of the United States and high officials of the War and Navy Departments to make it an event which will live in memory until the last veteran responds to the final summons.

Fifty years ago the proud veterans of Grant and Sherman's mighty armies marched in review before President Johnson. On September 29 those of that vast legion who still live will commemorate the event and pay homage to their absent comrades by passing for the last time before the nation's chief.

As the thin lines which now represent the solid ranks of '65 start on their last pilgrimage through historic Pennsylvania avenue at their head will be Col. George A. Bosley. It will be a proud moment for him, for he will know that of all heroes of the nation's history, to him belongs a distinction never before enjoyed by an American soldier.

When the first grand review passed before the Presidential stand the Twenty-fifth Iowa regiment of Sherman's army led the victorious hosts, and at heir head rode Lieutenant-Colonel Bosley. Since that time many have ceased to answer "here" to the roll call, but Colonel Bosley will enjoy the honor of being the first and last to lead his comrades before the commander-in-chief of the nation's army and navy.

Since 1866 forty-six men have enjoyed the honor of being selected as the highest officer of the Grand Army, but of that number all but seventeen have passed the last muster. William Warner, of Kansas City, Mo., is the dean of the past living commanders, having occupied that office in 1888.

Forty thousand men will march through Pennsylvania avenue between the United States Capitol and the White House, September 29, and thus commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the grand review of the veterans of the Civil War after their triumphant return from the war.

In the reviewing stands along the line of march will be many of the foremost men of the nation, great throngs will crowd the sidewalk for a glimpse of the boys of '61, cheers will ring forth, the Stars and Stripes will flutter in the breeze, the strains of martial music will fill the air, and every feature of the first grand review will be duplicated, save one—There will be no North and South.

"The citizens of Washington request the honor of your presence on the occasion of the forty-ninth annual encampment and fiftieth anniversary of the grand review of the Grand Army of the Republic at the National Capital, September 27 to October 2."

The simple words of this invitation need no explanation—they bid all come. Thousands of invitations—plain white cards bearing cordial welcome—have been sent North, South, East and West. They have gone to the President and the cabinet, the Vice-President and members of Congress, Governors and State legislators, army officers and naval officers, to men foremost in public and private life in the United States.

And there has been no distinction between the North and those South of the Mason and Dixon line—the same w[illegible] sent to the most ardent supporter of the union will be received by the officers of the Confederate veteran organizations.

Invitations sent to Confederate veterans have been acknowledged and in every instance the spirit of a united nation, as shown by the G. A. R., has found response. Delegations from every part of the South are expected to attend the encampment and when the campfires glow all but forgotten incidents of the war of half century ago will be told by men once foes in the death grapple, but who are now all Americans.

DAYS OF THE MIGHTY CHIEF BENDER IN BASEBALL SEEM OVER

Refusing to retire with glory, refusing to quit when the quitting was good, Chief Bender finds himself today "unconditionally released" by the Baltimore Feds.

For years one of the greatest pitchers in the land, a hurler who won several pennants and world's championships for the Philadelphia Americans, he slipped so quickly when once he struck the downward path that only a few months intervened between his participation in the first game of a world's series and his ignominious release by a league in which Bender would have found it difficult to lose a game had he been the Bender of 1913.

Entering the American league from Carlisle college in 1902, he soon became one of the brightest pitching stars of the younger circuit. Possessed of almost perfect control and a mystifying assortment of curves and slants, he also owned an uncanny knowledge of the weaknesses of the opposing batsmen and it was almost impossible to bunch hits off him. Except when his habits caused him to show poor form he practically was invincible.

His strength, however, began to wane during the season of 1913 and Connie Mack depended upon him to save games started by other pitchers and rarely called upon him to start contests. The same practice was followed in 1914. When preparing for the world's series of last October, Bender was dispatched to New York to watch the Braves and detect their weaknesses. Bender, however, was a victim of overconfidence and instead of watching the National league champions, he put in the afternoon on Broadway. The result was that the Braves hammered the famous Indian from the box in the first game of the series.

Then Bender began to listen to the persuasive voices of the Federal league agents and Mack released him outright rather than meet the salary bids of the outlaws.

Soon afterward he signed with Baltimore and the Feds of Oysterville thought the pennant as good as cinched. But Bender was through.

Chief Bender.

MARSTON IS DEFEATED BY ROBERT A. GARDNER

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 4. The unyielding grit and steel heart of a great athlete gave Robert A. Gardner, of Chicago and Yale, one of the most brilliant victories in his golf career yesterday afternoon. He defeated Max R. Marston, of Springfield, N. J., 1 up in 37 holes, in one of the semi-finals for the national amateur golf championship. Today in the final match he will play John G. Anderson, the veteran from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., who eliminated Sherrill Sherman, of Utica, 2 up and 1.

Anderson defeated Sherman in a match featured by the dogged persistence of the loser and the steady effectiveness of the victor. Gardner owes his place in the finals to a magnificent display of sheer grit that enabled him to beat Marston after Max's triumph seemed so certain that a good part of the gallery started to run to the clubhouse so as to beat the majority to the cooling beverages. A missed putt of about two feet on the thirty-sixth green lost Marston the match.

LOCAL HORSES ENTERED.

Two local horses, "Kid Kelly," owned by Adam Blair, and "The Baron," owned by Dr. H. C. Winters, have been entered in the Monmouth county annual horse races, which will be held at Red Bank, Labor Day. W. J. Hudson, formerly of this city, is the official starter. "Kid Kelly" is entered in the 2.23 and "The Baron" will run in the 2.23 and the 2.30.

Watchung.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed tomorrow morning in the Mary E. Wilson Memorial Union church. The evening service will be held at 8 o'clock, preceded by the song service at 7:45. Sunday-school will be held in the morning at 9:30.

The fire alarm will be sounded some time during Monday morning by the Watchung Chemical Engine Company for a fire drill. The company is erecting a small building near the Watchung Lake, which will be fired for that purpose. The apparatus is to be put on test to see how long it will take them to reach the fire after making a mile run.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burgess and daughters, who have been spending the past month here, have returned to their home at Edgewater.

Miss Adele Hermann has been appointed teacher of the fifth grade at Scotch Plains, and will begin her duties on Tuesday.

WORLD'S CONVENTION EXHIBITS A FEATURE

Extensive Plans Being Made For State C. E. Gathering In Elizabeth.

One of the features of the State Christian Endeavor convention, which will be held at Elizabeth, October 6-8, will be the exhibits of the various departments of work, including the missionary, the lookout, the social and others. Many of these exhibits were at the world's convention recently held in Chicago. Several have already been packed and will soon be on their way to Elizabeth. They consist of photographs, charts and maps, showing work that has been accomplished, and the methods of accomplishment.

During the convention there will be a reunion of the New Jersey delegates who attended the Chicago convention in July. This gathering is at the suggestion of President John T. Sproull, and will be one of the features of the gathering.

The United Society of Christian Endeavor will be officially represented at the State convention this year by General Secretary William Shaw.

One of the speakers at the Elizabeth convention will be Harold A. Waite, field secretary of the New York Christian Endeavor Union. He will have charge of the open conference on Wednesday, October 6, and will also participate in the relay conference on Thursday. Mr. Waite, who came to New York from Canada, is securing excellent results from his efficient activity.

The "Elizabeth, 1915," committee will hold its first meeting since the vacation on Thursday evening at the home of the chairman, Arthur E. Warner, 37 De Hart place, Elizabeth. It is planned to hold a pre-convention rally later in the month.

P. H. S. SWIMMING POOL IS CLOSED TEMPORARILY

The swimming pool at Plainfield High School closed today after a most successful summer season. However, it has not been closed permanently as it will be thrown open again as soon as the school term begins, which is on September 14. On that date and thereafter more restrictions will be placed on its use than have been in force during the summer owing to the fact that the High School and Grammar School pupils have swimming classes of their own.

During the past summer a schedule has been in force and the pool has been used every afternoon and night, Sunday excepted. Private and public classes have been formed and many of the members have learned how to swim. This and other classes will be resumed as soon as the school season gets well under way. Ralph Patch has charge of the young men and boys, while Miss Ralston attends to the work of instructing the girls and women.

CHURCH WORK PROGRESSING.

The contractors in charge of the work on the new Netherwood Reformed church have the foundation walls up, and will be ready for the steel floor beams next week. Arrangements are being made for a cornerstone laying in the near future.

Our "Treaties"

A treaty is the promise of a Nation.

A Guarantee is the promise of a firm.

One of the glories of our country is that it has never violated a Treaty; and one of the elements of our success is that we have never violated one of our Guarantees.

Our reputation for selling "Things Men Wear" is foremost because we have conducted our store in a way that has meant the "greatest safety" to the public, and the response of confidence the public has imposed in the Rothberg Store proves that it always appreciates fair-dealing.

VAUDEVILLE SEASON TO OPEN MONDAY

All-Star Bill to Be Feature at Proctor's Theatre This Winter.

Mirth, music and melody will prevail at Proctor's Theatre Monday afternoon and evening, at which time the fall and winter season of all-star vaudeville is to be opened this season, and with music and melody that is pleasing to all the refined tastes of theatre-goers. Clean vaudeville is to be the feature of the season, and Broadway acts will appear regularly at popular prices.

In speaking of the musical portion of the Proctor programs, it should be kept in mind that a full orchestra will furnish the incidental music, this organization appearing throughout the season under the personal direction of Karl Miller, for a number of years at Proctor's Fifth Avenue, New York Theatre. This in itself guarantees the high standard of the programs to be presented.

The headliner feature act for Monday is Mr. and Mrs. Frederic Voelker, and associated artists in a unique laughing comedy musical, entitled "Music Hath Charms." The act is played with a cast of six, including Miss Emma Carroll, Miss Lovina Smythe, F. Russell Gilbert Harry Hearne. Mr Voelker will use a Bergonzi violin, dated 1738, and a Tourte bow, formerly owned by Sarasate. Never before has such an act been presented to the theatre-going public at popular prices.

The remainder of the program includes Rogers, Pollack & Rogers, in a novelty variety act; Ray Fern and Irene Shannon in "A Breath of Broadway;" Deo Data and Company, illusionists supreme; "The Last Laugh," a farce comedy of unusual merit, by Park, Lyons and Company, assisted by a selected company, and the clever comedienne, Millicent Doris.

The photo-play features for Monday, both afternoon and evening, will be "Hearts Ablaze," with Miss Julia Gordon in the leading role.

CHILDREN'S CHOIR TO SING AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson returned from his vacation on Wednesday, and fall activities will be resumed tomorrow. At the morning service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed and the evening service will be a special musical service. The well-trained children's choir of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home will be present and sing special selections and the regular quartet will render several selections. The singing of this children's choir has been the special feature of the services at the Home all summer and many favorable comments have been made as to the sweet tone and fine enunciation of these young girls.

This will be the last time that they will sing in Plainfield this season and no doubt those who have enjoyed hearing them at the Home will be present to hear them at this time. Dr. Anderson will preach a short sermon appropriate to the music to be given and this should prove to be a very interesting service. The public is cordially invited to attend.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIFLD

CRESCENT COURT ABOUT COMPLETED

Plainfield's First Real Apartment Will Soon Be Ready For Occupancy.

MODEL CONSTRUCTION

Structure Marks Departure In Buildings Of This Character and Is Said to Be the First of Its Height and Dimension In This Vicinity.

Rapid progress has been made during the summer on the Crescent Court apartment house, 217 East Seventh street, and the owners have every assurance that the building will be finished October 1, on schedule time. The first of the mason work was not started until the last week in April, and now, in a little over four months, the structure is in the hands of the trimmers and painters with most of the plumbing fixtures set and ready to be connected, the radiators distributed to the various rooms, and the general cleaning up and grading outside started.

This building, which marks a departure in apartment house building for Plainfield, is also unique among apartment houses in the country on account of its construction. It is built of hollow tile blocks, and it is said that this is the first building of its height and dimensions to be so constructed. Because of the material used in its construction it has been possible to put it up in a much shorter length of time and for less money than brick or stone would have cost. The exterior walls are beautifully stuccoed and inlaid with art faience inserts.

Instead of giving the contract to erect the apartment house to one man or concern, the Crescent Realty Company, owners of which C. C. Alexander, of this city, is president, adopted the plan of letting each separate contract and putting a man in charge of the work as superintendent. This was done, and the most important contracts were awarded as follows: Mason work, William H. Dennick, of Plainfield; carpenter work, W. D. [illegible] Co., of New York and Roselle; [illegible] and plumbing, William J. [illegible], of New York, and electrical work, Charles L. Ryder, Jr., of Plainfield. In charge of the work has been Victor Seifert, connected with the office of the architect who designed the building, J. W. Westervelt, of New York. To Mr. Seifert's executive ability and continual presence on the job is due the rapid progress made.

The building is the first of its kind to be built in this city—a structure erected on the most up-to-date lines given over wholly to apartments. The building is four stories high and contains twenty-four separate apartments. On the ground floor are four apartments of six rooms and bath each and two suites adapted for dentists or physicians, having separate entrances leading in from the approach to the main doorway. On each of the floors above are four six-room and bath apartments and two three-room and bath apartments. At least two of the apartments have been rented and signed-up for, so there is no doubt but what the building will be finished on time.

The larger apartments have corner parlors, dining rooms, two large sleeping rooms and a maid's room, in addition to the service equipment. The smaller apartments each contain a combination living and dining room, sleeping room and kitchenette. They, too, are completely equipped for housekeeping. Particular attention has been paid to closets. A large wardrobe has been built in each bedroom, some of the wardrobes having as many as four divisions. The main hall is fireproof, being entirely surrounded by hollow tile walls. The stairs also are fireproof, the treads being of tile.

Each separate apartment is isolated from the remainder of the building by sound-proof floors and walls. All rooms are light and airy. Owing to unique plan of the building, each room is an outside room. The bathrooms have tiled walls and floors, sanitary built-in bathtubs, handsome lavatories and medicine closets with plate glass shelves. Towel racks, etc., will be placed by the owners, so that the tile wall will not be marred by tenants attempting to affix these things. Kitchens will be equipped with cabinet gas ranges, sanitary porcelain ice boxes, sinks, laundry tubs, dressers, etc. Dumb waiters will run from the basement to the roof for the accommodation of trades people and to carry washed clothes to the roof, where there will be ample drying facilities. There will be a trunk storage compartment for each tenant in the basement.

Two features about the house will be the roof garden on the front part of the main roof and the half dozen private garages, which will be built in the rear of the building as soon as the mason contractor removes his plant. These garages will be built as one building, but will be separated by partitions running all the way to the roof.

The house which formerly stood on the spot now occupied by the apartment house was moved to the rear end of the lot, turned completely around and made to face on East Sixth street. It was practically rebuilt during the summer, and will be occupied by President Alexander, of the Crescent Realty Company. While the same general plan of the original house was adhered to in the alterations and improvements made, new floors were laid, new plumbing fixtures installed and the house renovated and redecorated throughout.

WALLPAPER FOR HOME DECORATION

In the Opinion of Painters It Will Be In Vogue This Season.

QUESTION AN OPEN ONE

Manufacturers of Paint Still Maintain That Wall Covering Is Unsanitary—Opinions of Experts Are Given.

In the opinion of many painters and decorators, wallpaper for home decoration will be used more widely than ever this fall in spite of the sensational attacks on it which are always being made. The controversy between wallpaper manufacturers and paint makers regarding the value of their respective products is an old one, and will probably never be settled. The wallpaper men scoff the objections to their product made by the paint manufacturers, while the makers of paint maintain that wallpaper is not sanitary.

A wallpaper man said the other day that he couldn't understand why people continued to stir up the old bugaboo about poison in wallpaper or insist that the painted wall today is the most fashionable treatment. The painted wall originated in the operations of the settlement workers he said. These people, dealing with wretchedness, poverty and filth, were quick to perceive the value of a plain paint on the tenement walls. Now where the painted wall is used in the home of refinement it is enriched in moldings and frequently panels with wallpaper or fabrics.

"The tendency of the decorators is not to eliminate patterned paper or fabrics, but to eliminate vulgar patterns," declared a prominent wallpaper man the other day. "The Pompeiians, Greeks and Romans used painted walls, but their walls were decorated with friezes and hung with fabrics, and even in the Italian period the painted wall was usually covered with velvets and tapestries," he continued.

"I recently read an article on the sanitary superiority of paint written by a well-known man in which it was stated that wallpaper is easily abraded; that a bump or a blow of any kind easily ruffles the paper and breaks off light particles which float through the air. The articles went on to say that the abrasions become resting places for dust and disease germs and that the fuzzy surface forms an excellent lodging place for bacteria.

"It seems absurd to assume that, because of the remote possibility that a dent in wallpaper might accumulate disease germs, we should not use it. Why would not a dent in a painted wall leave a rough spot It would also gather disease germs. And again, how much more serious is the danger from the cracks in the woodwork, behind the baseboard, below the bas board, behind the window-cases, in the rugs or the carpets, in the fabrics of the window, in the portieres, the table covers, the books, yes, even in the clothing we wear and our friends wear. Painting the walls would be only the beginning of the crusade for health.

"Paint is a desirable factor in the kitchen, in the bath-room, tenement house or jail, but wallpaper dealers all over the United States tell me that they are doing as much wallpapering as ever they did in the private house.

"The decorators never have or never will discard wallpaper for the reason that in reproducing historic rooms or following period styles, it is necessary to follow the methods of past masters.

"I look upon the plain painted wall as the newest plane of decoration, and unless it is done in the right way, which is a very expensive way, it should be confined to the sort of places that are always under suspicion. It is an insult to the cleanly and healthy home of today to assume that wallpaper is a carrier of filth."

PREVAILING LOW RATE BENEFICIAL

Builders Believe It Will Result In Renewed Interest In Building.

NOTE MANY CONTRACTS

Levering & Garrigues Receive Order For 100 Tons of Iron For a Garage At Albany, N. Y.—Activity In Other Materials.

New York, Sept. 4.—Builders believe the existing low rate of exchange for pound sterling will have a beneficial effect upon the building money situation. They expect it will result in renewed interest in American building construction and real estate investment. It may have the effect of forcing interest rates for building money lower. One operator in Manhattan, who has been holding out against what he considered a prohibitive premium for a $300,000 accommodation, got his money on Wednesday and proceeded to take bids on an office building operation.

Whether there is a connection between the improvement in the building finance situation and the material price movement cannot be determined at this time, but it is significant in the eyes of some distributors that a further advance was reported in structural steel, concrete brick and copper, and there was a decided firming in the quotations made on common brick from both the Hudson and Raritan districts, black slate and Portland cement. Retractions were reported in Cow Bay sand and in three-quarter inch gravel, but all inch and a half gravel held stiff at the 85-cent level that has been ruling all the year. In other words, the condition of the building material market in the metropolitan district at the opening of the autumn building season is much more favorable than at the beginning of any other quarter so far this year.

Prices generally have taken a higher level than that prevailing at the turn of the second quarter. Prices on bars and steel shapes are better. Eastern structural mills are getting a dollar a ton more than the Pittsburgh basis of 1.35c, tidewater prices on structural steel being now 1.519c. Fabricators are getting better prices according to quotations made this week. Plain material is firm at 1.30c to 1.35c, there being little disposition on the part of fabricators to take business at the expense of prices.

Advices in the trade show that all the Pittsburgh furnaces are busy. The last of the basic iron at $15 went out this week. Bessemer is uniform at Calley, $16. Furnace coke has moved up in Pittsburgh. Some North Jersey iron works are reported to be considering plant extensions to take care of new business coming in.

Shafting has sharply advanced again. New discounts show car lots at 64 per cent. as compared with 65 and 66 in the quarter just closed. Levering & Garrigues this week took a contract for 100 tons for a garage in Albany, and Milliken Brothers took the biggest structural steel price of the day in Manhattan, consisting of a 1,900 ton order, which matches that taken by the American Bridge Company, through Snare & Triest, for 2,000 tons for the new Pennsylvania Railroad pier at Greenville. The Central Railroad of New Jersey took bids on three small structural jobs.

Other materials showed similar activity. Common brick, which has been held at low levels, stiffened at $6 for both Hudson and Raritan.

Black slate interests showed by new quotations that shading has ceased in all but one line, genuine Bangor, and even that is expected to stiffen by the end of next week. There was no change in price authorized, but quotations are being held to rigidly.

There was a lockout of plasterers in New York this week, which has hurt the plaster market. The plasterers wanted to introduce the steward system on New York jobs. The bosses warned them that if they attempted to do this they would be locked out. The threat became action on Tuesday, but the bosses said they did not expect that the lockout would be of long duration. The men are said to want an overseer on each job to see that no plasterer does more than a certain prescribed amount of work in a day. The men say that the way the bosses work them many deserving plasterers are kept out of work, and the steward system was approved to give more men employment. The men threaten reprisals.

Portland cement mills are gaining on reserve now as a result of the prevalence of higher quotations in the district. Some mills have closed down rather than over produce until the present movement of low-priced cement abates. Quotations run uniformly at $1.52 although there is reported to be some back orders moving slightly under this figure. The outlook is still good for a better balanced market, both on price and demand as the autumn speculative movement has not developed, although dealers have worked their stocks out pretty well.

BUILDING INSPECTOR ISSUES ONE PERMIT

C. P. Brewin, of Central Avenue, Given Permission to Install Gasoline Tank.

Only one permit was issued by Building Inspector T. O. Doane since last Saturday—to C. P. Brewin, of 105 Central avenue, in the Fourth ward, for the construction of a tank to store gasoline. The estimated cost was placed at $23.

Plans for three structures were filed, however, and the permits for these buildings will be issued by Inspector Doane upon his return. The estimated cost of the buildings referred to in the plans filed is $20,800. A description of them, by wards, follows:

First Ward.

Julian Balby, of Jersey City, will erect a hollow tile dwelling at 124 Columbia avenue, near Leland avenue. It will be two stories high, 23x24 feet in dimensions, for one family, and will cost $2,000. The owner is the architect and contractor.

Second Ward.

The large job [illegible] that of the office of the N. Plainfield Reformed [illegible] have been filed. The construction of this building, which has been described at length in these columns will be of hollow tile and stucco. It will measure 56x78 feet, and the contract price is given as $13,000. B. F. Tallamy & Brother have the general contract. A modern steam heating plant is to be installed in the building.

Fourth Ward.

Alterations to St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall will cost $5,800. They will consist of an extension on the west side of the building to be used as bowling alleys and reception room. The addition will be one story high, 18x102 feet in dimensions. G. E. Fisher drew the plans and Michael D. O'Keefe is the contractor.

WORKMEN'S DELAY DEFERS S. P. PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENING

It has been found that the contractors who are building the addition to the South Plainfield School will not be able to get through with their work by Tuesday, and as a consequence the opening of the schools in Piscataway township will be deferred one week, giving the pupils until Monday, September 13. As it was thought best to have all the schools open on the same day, the Piscataway Township Board of Education decided to make the postponement.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following property transfers were recorded in the county register's office this week:

Peter J. Windfelt et ux to Fanny R. Grape, easterly side Elmer street, 160 feet northwesterly Lenox avenue, Westfield, $1.

Giuseppe Carillo to Vincent Soviero, lot 411, map of Lincoln Park, Rahway, $300.

Edward S. Freeman to Herbert T. Shelton, westerly side Montgomery street, 230 feet southerly Milton avenue, Rahway, $275.

Alfred Berner et ux. to Salvatore Mannino, northwesterly side Park street, 460 feet southeasterly New York avenue, Westfield, $1.

Louis H. Schmidt et ux. to Francis P. Tyrrell et al, southerly side West Third street, 157 feet southeasterly corner Clinton avenue, Plainfield, $1.

George C. Otto to Alfred Spangenberg, southwesterly side of Halsey street, 548 feet southeasterly West Third street, Plainfield, $1,000.

Alfred Spangenberg et ux. to Henry Hansen et ux., same as above, $1.

FEW PROPERTIES TO SELL.

That Dunellen property owners are good taxpayers is shown in the small list of properties which Tax Collector Isaac Stites, of that borough, advertised for sale this fall for the non-payment of taxes. The collector had only two properties left for sale when the hour for conducting the sale came yesterday.

ADDITION TO BE BUILT AT ST. MARY'S T. A. B.

The contract for an addition to St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall, on West Fourth street, has been awarded and work on the improvement will be started at once. Michael D. O'Keefe was the successful bidder. The cost of the work will be about $5,800.

Two bowling alleys and a reception room will thus be added to the building. The extension will be eighteen feet wide and 102 feet long, one story high, and will be located on the west side of the present building. It was planned originally to make the extension two stories in heigahth, but a one story addition was deemed sufficient at this time.

BOROUGH COUNCIL GRANTS FOUR BUILDING PERMITS

Four building permits were applied for at the meeting of the North Plainfield Council, last night, and favorably acted upon.

Mas Michelson, of 36 Chatham street, asked permission to build an addition to his barn in the rear at that address, the extension to be 8x18 feet in size.

L. E. Taylor, of Fairview avenue and Allen street, applied for a permit to erect a garage 8x22 feet in dimensions.

Benjamin Duerr, of Regent street, applied for permission to build a barn on the rear of his property.

Mrs. Martha Dolliver, of 108 Summit avenue, applied for a permit to make alterations to her residence, such as adding a bathroom, etc.

SOME LOCAL FAMILIES WHO WILL MOVE THIS FALL

The following changes in residence will be made by local people this fall.

A. Rmerman will move into the L. R. Ross house on Prospect avenue near Rahway road.

W. W. Stryker has rented the house at 1257 George street.

O. F. R. Bruce, of East Front street, will locate near the Plainfield Public Library, having rented John Foame's house on College place, near West Eighth street.

Albert MacDonald, of Evergreen avenue, has rented the G. W. French house at 1015 Prospect avenue.

A. Russell Bond will occupy the property at 605 Madison avenue, having rented the same.

Frank Boos, of Park avenue, has rented Miss Edith Allen's house at 505 Webster place.

W. Oberdahn has rented the E. I. Steffens house at 202 Netherwood avenue.

DUNELLEN'S NEW SCHOOL.

J. N. Pierson & Son, of Perth Amboy, submitted an approximate bid for a new schoolhouse in Dunellen at the meeting of the Board of Education of that borough this week. The bid was for a building of five schoolrooms and an assembly room to cost $27,000. Plans and specifications accompanied the bid. The board voted to have Mears. Pierson prepare plans and specifications and submit them to the building committee for approval.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"High Jinks" is a perfume that cheers the weary, makes the pessimist an optimist and adds generally to the gaiety of mankind. The musical play named for the magic perfume which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Plainfield Theatre tonight is said to have just such tonic effects on those who witness it. A musical score, said to be rich in lively dance, keeps the entertainment bright and cheerful.

Selwyn & Company, the enterprising theatrical firm that won fame and fortune by giving that world wide sensation, "Within the Law" to the stage, will provide another treat for local lovers of good plays and fine acting at the Plainfield Theatre Labor Day, matinee and night, when they will present their newest success, "Under Cover," Roi Cooper Megrue's exciting modern melodrama of the smart set, the secret service and transatlantic smuggling, which comes here fresh from a record run of one whole year at the Cort Theatre, New York. "Under Cover" also delighted large audiences for more than six months in both Boston and Chicago. "Under Cover" is an exciting and entertaining detective narrative of smuggling suspected grafting unsuspected, ruse against resource and wit against wile, energetically told through many a turn and twist and with recurring suspense and surprise. Its denouement, which is arrived at just before the final curtain, is said to be so surprising in its unexpectedness as to be startling. Emphasis is given the announcement of the coming of "Under Cover" by the fact that the excellent company the Selwyns are sending here is fully in keeping with the high standard attained by this firm in their other popular attractions, such as "Twin Beds," "The Show Shop," "The Lie" and "Rolling Stones."

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

William Faversham will appear for the first time in Plainfield at the U. S. Astor today, in the Metro production of "The Right of Way." Mr. Faversham's clean-cut features make him an ideal "Steel," the chief character in this drama of the Canadian woods. He impersonates the high strung, nervous, keen-brained man with perfect poise and distinction. Many of Sir Gilbert Parker's stories have found their way to the screen, and a majority of them have been excellent in their adapted form. This is no exception to the rule.

The Labor Day attraction at the Astor will bring Mary Pickford to Plainfield again in "Tangled Threads" Cricket," in which "little Mary" is supported by her sister and brother, themselves noted screen stars. This is the first subject in which the Pickfords have appeared together. The film unfolds a delightful story of a past century, and Miss Pickford is seen at the climax of her dramatic form in several scenes. In addition to this feature there will be a splendid supplemental program on Labor Day, including several high class comedies and dramas, all presented with that degree of artistry for which U. S. showmanship is noted.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1915.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is United States Senator James E. Martine.

A VISIT TO A REAL QUEEN.

One bright morning in May last while comfortably seated on the veranda of the beautiful "Monana" Hotel, looking on the glorious blue waters of the Pacific Ocean, and contemplating the distance between me and New Jersey, a slick young man, clad in blue, with brass buttons, (Queen Liliuokalani's messenger) approached me and handing me a note from the Queen, stating "that she would be most pleased to meet the United States Senator for the State, from which the great and good President of our country came." Accordingly, I mentioned an hour and day when I would call.

It was two days off. I needed all the intervening time to screw my democratic spirit up to the point of being ushered into the presence of a real Queen or even an ex-Queen. For I had never before even touched a garment of royalty, much less taken the hand of one of royal blood, in mine.

At the hour of 3 P. M., I was driven to the palace. A stately and dignified building, built of white plaster, two stories in height, with an upper veranda. The site occupies a block in the city, the grounds are filled with tropical plants, the whole giving a most dreamy and restful effect. A wide hall divides the house. The home is rich with furniture and cabinets which are filled with curios and costly gifts made to her and her late husband. I was ushered in the reception room to the right of the hall by an attendant.

Presently a tall, thin and well groomed gentleman, clad in swallow-tail coat, brass buttons, knee buckles, white stockings and patent leather slippers, approached me and announced that he was the Queen's chamberlain, and that the Queen would be ready in a few moments. We talked on general subjects; he was English all through, his accent and manner told this plainly. He half way apologized for the delay by stating that her ladyship was slightly infirm and hence slower than formerly.

At last I stood before her Royal Highness Queen Lili. A modest appearing woman, about sixty years of age, medium height, a wealth of hair, getting quite gray; good features, fine eyes, pleasing mouth, and general grace of manner. She was gowned in a rich black brocade silk. On her right wrist a broad and heavy gold band, at least one and one-half inches wide; encircling her left was a wonderful gold chain as large as a trace chain. Of course many rings and diamonds were in evidence. Her voice, like that of most Hawaiians, was quite musical, and well modulated, with dialect quite broken, yet easily understood. There is plainly a sad trace about her face. The affairs of State, to her, were most turbulent and severe in the later years of her reign and have left their mark.

She spoke most pleasing of "our great President" and said she "was happy to be one of us." She wanted all to understand that she and all good Hawaiians loved the Stars and Stripes, and the great United States, of which her loved Hawaii was a part. She said she prayed God would protect America.

Our talk lasted about a half hour. As I bade her adieu, I noted the tears she tried to hide, as she said "won't you come to our lovely Honolulu again?"

VALUE OF TYPHOID VACCINATION NOTED

General Public Is Awakening to the Preventative Advantages of Inoculation.

An enormous increase in the number of persons seeking anti-typhoid vaccination is reported by the U. S. Public Health Service. Not alone is this increase manifested among the beneficiaries of that organization and government employes, but the general public is also awakening to the value of the inoculation. Reports from physicians throughout the country indicate that many are receiving the preventive treatment and laboratory establishments have had a greatly increased demand for the vaccine. So great is the call among employes of the government that it has been necessary to issue a second edition of the Secretary of the Treasury's circular stating the localities where the treatment may be received. It is estimated that during 1914 over 100,000 persons throughout the country were immunized, and it is believed that in 1915 the number will exceed 200,000. In four counties of North Carolina, where campaigns are now being conducted, it is estimated that 20,000 people will be immunized.

The public is seldom slow to accept an innovation of worth. The reduction of the case rate in the army from 536 per 100,000, before the discovery of anti-typhoid vaccine, to 3, since inoculation was made compulsory, has not passed unnoticed. During four months of 1898 there were over 2,000 cases of typhoid among 10,000 soldier encamped in Florida; in 1911, among 20,000 men similarly encamped, there were but two cases. If such a degree of immunity can be harmlessly conferred upon a body of men living under adverse conditions, and whose age renders them susceptible, the conclusion is that protection can just as easily be afforded ordinary citizens.

Anti-typhoid vaccination is quite as simple as that for smallpox, and even children do not complain. There are no local effects other than a slight reddening at the site of the injection, and sore arms are entirely lacking. In a small percentage of cases a mild systemic reaction, accompanied by headache and a slight rise in temperature, occurs, but if the treatment is given at night the person's rest is undisturbed, and he is entirely unaware of these symptoms. In the majority of instances, however, there is not the slightest inconvenience. The immunity probably last for several years, although its duration is less than that of smallpox, which frequently persists for a lifetime.

It is believed that more widespread recognition of the benefits conferred by anti-typhoid immunization will have an immediate effect upon the morbidity and mortality rates for the disease. As a result of sanitary measures alone the death rate from typhoid has been cut in half during the last fifteen years; what has been done in fifteen years of sanitation can be accomplished in as many weeks with inoculation. It is conceivable, if immuniztion attains the general recognition that smallpox prevention has secured, and there is no reason why such acceptance should not be accorded it, that typhoid will be a rare disease by 1930. This means that even many of the older physicians of today will live to see the time when the infection will no longer be common.

One point must be considered in making such a prognostication. As immunity is conferred the necessity for immunization becomes less apparent to the general public, and the method will to a certain extent be neglected. This is the situation as regards smallpox in the country today, and for this very reason the disease will persist until universal immunization is practiced. Therefore, even with perfect methods, the entire elimination of the disease is not to be looked for.

Thrift

Thrift is something that we call stinginess when we see evidences of it in others.

"What's one man's thrift is another man's tightwaddishness," wouldn't be such a misleading paraphrase.

Some people cannot indulge in thrift in moderation.

They are extravagant with it, and go on thrift jags during which it is unfortunate for a guest who happens to visit the thrifty ones.

Thrift is the only thing some people are lavish with.

When these thrift-gluttons get to thrifting, they make the stranger within their gates join in the thrift-fest, whether the stranger is feeling thrifty or not.

American people as a rule are not thrifty.

As soon as the old man gets a dollar and a quarter a day instead of a dollar, they begin living on a dollar and a half a day.

And so on, keeping always just about twenty or twenty-five per cent. ahead of the old man's pay check.

This keeps the old man on the rack till he swaps said rack for the cooling-board.

If the American people could once learn thrift, along with the actual money they are paid for labor that foreigners get one-fifth as much for and save money, there would be far less talk about the high cost of living, the bread-line, the unemployed, etc.

HEALTH TALKS

Physic And The Liver

A CORRESPONDENT writes that he had a severe cough last winter which the doctor attributed to his liver. Now, long months afterward, the cough is better, thanks to the doctor's treatment, but could we suggest something he can take for his liver? Would we recommend compound licorice powder as a habitual laxative? By what he reads, it seems if the liver is kept in order the whole system will work smoothly and uncomplainingly. Is that not so?

It is not so. We protest against the idea that the liver is concerned in every dose of physic. That notion should have succumbed to a natural death at the time people stopped reading Old Doctor Roots-andherbs' Almanac.

If anybody knows of a laxative or physic that stirs up the liver any more than is necessary to move the bowel, we would appreciate a tip about it, because we wouldn't want to number that medicine among our favorite remedies. We may be entirely mistaken about the functions and purposes of the liver, but we believe it is a good organ to let alone.

As a place of romance, the human liver has it over the heart like a big top. We dare say more bunk is printed about the human liver than ever was exploited by the advance agent of a three-ring circus. As a matter of fact, what we know about the action of drugs on the liver you could put in your eye and pose for a first-class portrait.

Perhaps it doesn't worry the liver any, this popular notion that all sorts of physic single it out as a fair target. At any rate, the long-suffering organ goes on patiently and quietly doing its work just about the same, whatever physics you take or refuse to take. Even our old friend, calomel, exerts no appreciable influence, in medicinal doses.

When a man has a sure cure for something or other he has to pick out a few choice organs to recommend it for. There are the kidneys, the stomach, the liver—why, everybody imagines he has need of something for one or another of these organs. But the "liver regulators" easily head the list of "cures," because nearly every one has just enough romance in his make-up to believe any old story he may be told about the liver.

No, we can't recommend any physic that acts on the liver, for we know of no such agent, excepting water, food, deep breathing and active exercise. If you need a laxative, why that's another story.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Cough and Catarrh

Mrs. R. C. coughs and expectorates a lot of thick, tenacious mucus each morning, has much burning in throat and chest, and writes a beautiful hand with an eighty-two-year old brain centre.

Answer — Perhaps a thorough spraying of the nose each night and morning, with warm alkaline antiseptic solution made according to the National Formulary, would help some. At first, dilute the solution one part with three or four parts of water.

Caffein

Please tell me through your column if Coca-Cola or Brazilla contains injurious, habit-forming drugs.

Answer—The former contains caffein. We know nothing of the latter. Personally, we think caffein, in moderate quantity, as a cup of tea, coffee or other drink once or twice a day, is perfectly harmless for adults, but very bad for children under fifteen. We would prefer and recommend a glass of milk in place of either of the drinks inquired about.

SEE AMERICA FIRST—LINCOLN'S TOMB

BECAUSE Abraham Lincoln lies buried in the cemetery at Springfield, Ill., several thousand people visit that city each year to gaze respectfully at his tomb.

This pilgrimage is an act of great devotion, because Springfield is not readily reached by the population of America. Nine-tenths of the population live more than 500 miles away and the tourist routes pass far to the north. But it will pay the real American far greater dividends than a long and billowy trip to Shakespeare's tomb or Goethe's house or Samuel Johnson's tavern. Lincoln was buried in the town where he grew great and some of his honesty and kindness may be contagious.

The tomb of Lincoln is located in one of the most beautiful cemeteries in the country and the state of Illinois has built a vast and soaring monument over his tomb. It is a granite shaft on a pedestal around which are bronze groups of the army, navy, artillery and cavalry—four institutions upon which Lincoln relied at a time when certain earnest gentlemen were urging the country to settle its troubles by organizing a peace association and crawling under the bed. In the vault beneath this monument are the remains of Lincoln, Mrs. Lincoln, two sons and a grandson.

In a room in the pedestal are many relics of Lincoln. In the Lincoln home in Springfield, which is carefully preserved, are many more. In the State House are still others. We may read in many of Lincoln's letters, which are preserved here, that he was a shy, timid man when he first came to Springfield and that the carriages of the rich which splashed mud on him as they dashed haughtily by made him hesitate to bring his young bride there—for he couldn't afford a carriage and the walking was very poor in muddy, unpaved central Illinois.

Certain earnest gentlemen were urging the country to settle its troubles by organizing a peace association

We should be perpetually thankful that Lincoln did not save up his money and buy a carriage, instead of spending it on law books and a belated education. Sometimes it almost seems as if nothing in the world is so worthless as the things for lack of which the young man grieves and is disconsolate.

The City And Its Sidewalks

Q. The sidewalks in the town in which I live are in a bad condition. Not long ago, a loose board tripped me up, and I fell and was painfully injured. I want to know whether the city would be liable.

A. It is the duty of the city to keep the sidewalks in a reasonably safe condition. If you were observing a proper regard for your own safety at the time, and the fall was caused by the city's negligent failure to repair the walk, the city will be liable.

Sunday Amusements

Q. May a state law, prohibiting a theatre to be open on Sunday, be rightfully enforced?

A. This question has been passed upon in a number of states and the courts have held that, in the interests of public order, a state has the right to enact statutes closing amusement places on Sunday.

Adopting A Child

Q. What steps are necessary in adopting a child?

A. The statutory requirements in your state must be strictly followed. See your lawyer and lay the matter before him.

Abusing A Privilege

Q. A man recently borrowed some of my personal belongings. I let him have them simply for the accommodation. Now that he has returned them, I find that they are in bad shape. Some people say that, in a case like this, where no price is paid by one person to another for the use of such articles, there is no legal responsibility for a misuse of the property. Is this correct?

A. It is not correct. The borrower is bound to observe all the care and diligence that the most careful persons apply to their own affairs. This is his legal duty and he will be responsible for the slightest neglect.

Apprentices In Illinois

Q. Please tell me whether there is a statute in Illinois on the subject of apprentices. A. Yes.

Appointment Of An Agent

Q. Please tell me whether any person has the legal right to appoint an agent to handle business affairs for him.

A. It is a general rule of law that wherever one has a legal right to do a thing himself, he has the legal right to do it through the instrumentality or agency of another. If the principal is under no legal disability, and is not prohibited by the law of his state or municipality from doing so, he may lawfully appoint another person as his agent.

"'Ow Would Ye Fauncy 'Awkins?"

Q. By what legal right or authority does a man, when he marries, give his surname to the woman?

A. The law generally recognizes the husband as the head of the family. Pursuant to this conception of the relation between them, custom decrees that the wife shall assume the husband's surname.

Made Them Do Just as She Said.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Bibbley-Wah Makes the Boys Mind Her.

"ONCE upon a time," began daddy, "there was a small boy about eleven years old whose name was Bobbie. He had a very good friend just his own age by the name of Jim and a very lively, towheaded, runaway sort of a baby sister just three years old.

"I don't know her real name. But she used to cry so much that her teasing uncle nicknamed her Bibbley-Wah. She liked to play with her big brother, and, loving him very much, she used to be a sort of a bore when the boys wanted to go off for a good time without her."

"She used to tag and tag them, didn't she?" the kiddies understood.

"Yes, and one day she hear them planning to go fishing without telling Bobbie's mother. So she asked to go too. And when Bobbie refused her she threatened to run and tell mother just as fast as she could. So while she ran she changed her small mind and decided to go with them.

"Through side streets, through a corner grocer shop, through back alleys they went—strange places for a baby girl all dressed up, with pretty white kid shoes. Finally the boys knew they had gone so far from home it was useless to try to scare Bibbley-Wah into going home by herself.

"'Let's take her along Bobbie,' said Jim. 'It will save time, and she isn't much bother.' You see, Jim loved her too. So they waited for her to catch up, and then took turns carrying her to the lake."

"How far was the lake?" asked Jack.

"About a mile. Once there Jim dashed into the woods to cut fishing poles, and Bobbie dug bait worms—and made Bibbley-Wah help him!"

"Did she mind?" Evelyn wanted to know.

"When she did Bobbie singsonged 'Bibbley-Wah! I want to go to my ma-ma-ma!' and, as she did not like to be mocked, she dug worms.

"Well, the boys hired a boat and rowed way out into the middle if the lake. And all that afternoon Bibbley-Wah made them do just as she said or else she would stick her white kid shoes over into the water.

"The boys knew, you see, if they took her home with soaked shoes Bobbie's mother would know they had been to the lake. So they had to pet her."

"But they loved her enough to please her," Jack offered.

"Yes. And that same afternoon Jim's mother took Bobbie's mother to drive around the lake—and saw the boatload of kiddies way out in the middle of the lake. 'How can mothers be so careless!' they said to each other, little knowing the kiddies were their own."

"We like Bibbley-Wah!" cried the kiddies, kissing daddy good night.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"I tell you, Parsons, Doc is getting off too easy." Dick was ungrammatical in his excitement. "Let's play a joke on him."

"Trot out your joke." Parsons stuffed his hands deep in his pockets as if feeling for suggestions. Both thought in silence for a while.

"I have it!" Dick sat up suddenly and slapped his knee resoundingly. We will turn in a hurry call from the dago quarter, and when he gets down there few can speak English and no one will know who called for a doctor and he will have a long, fruitless hunt."

"Let's have it an injury from fall or something like that; everyone would naturally know about such a thing and their ignorance will finally make him see light," suggested Parsons.

"Good! We can hire a boy to rush into a drug store and tell the proprietor to call Dr. Ellson, then skip out before he can ask particulars." Dick chuckled over the possibilities of his plan. "While he is gone, Nell must call Olive over to our house and keep her there, so that he will come back to an empty house. The clan will be at our house and when he appears we will suggest that it is up to him to feed us. He'll do that, all right."

"It will be a good thing to tell Ole Jacobson, who keeps the restaurant, that Dr. Ellson will probably be taken with a desire to feed six people this evening so he will not keep us waiting too long," put in Parsons.

"Good stunt. Give him time and he puts up a meal that's not half bad," said Dick approvingly.

The details of the scheme had been worked out with care. As soon as the phone call was turned in the two conspirators hurried to Dick's house and Nell called up Olive.

"You and the doctor come over," she said over the wire. "The Parsons are here. * * * Not at home? You come then. He'll know where to find you when he gets back. I'll send Dick to walk over with you." Dick was at that moment waiting with his hand on the doorknob and when Nell nodded her head he shot out of the door.

After an hour of poking around in dirty cabins and being answered with "I dunno" or a shrug of the shoulders, it finally dawned on Dr. Ellson that he was the goat and he chugged his machine and steered for home. Everything was dark there and locked securely. He put up his machine and let himself into the house to see if there was any note for him.

"I know where she is," he reflected when nothing was found, and started for the Mortons.

"Was the man badly hurt?" asked Olive with true wifely concern.

"His injuries were mostly in his eye." The doctor was looking at the two men.

"How terrible!" exclaimed Olive, but the men burst out laughing.

"And his feelings were badly hurt," continued the doctor. Olive looked from one to the other in bewilderment.

"If you see that he has nourishing food he will come out all right," suggested Parsons.

"Yes, I told Jacobson that I thought from present indications that you would be hungry at about nine o'clock," mocked Dick. Light broke over Olive's face.

"The eats are up to you, Doc, and the phone is at your service." Dick slapped him on the back.

"Send out something especially indigestible for these two men," he called over the phone. "I'll get even with them by refusing to give them any medicine." He grinned as he hung up the receiver.

Household Hints..

TO PEEL TOMATOES

Run a fork through the stem end of the tomato. Light the small flame burner to the gas stove. Hold the tomato over the blaze and turn slowly. The skin will soon burst open and it may be peeled easily.

This is much better than pouring hot water over them, as the tomato does not heat through and it is much more quickly done.

FOR PRICKLY HEAT

This is a safe remedy for prickly heat: Get five cents' worth of powdered slippery elm from the drug store. Put it in a powder box with a sifter top, or use a salt shaker that's not in use. Use this as you would any talcum powder. Fine for the babies.

LEMONS IN SUMMER

Make lemons one of your staples, especially during hot weather; do not buy two or three lemons, but get them by the dozen, writes Mrs. Anna B. Scott in the Philadelphia North American.

Lemons are good for many other things besides a cooling drink—for ices, ice cream, cold puddings, for flavoring, to use on lettuce for those who may not use vinegar. A hint for the busy office woman or man during the next few weeks: Try egg lemonade for the noon luncheon with a few wafers or a piece of sponge cake.

To make egg lemonade use three tablespoons lemon juice, three tablespoons sugar or sugar to taste, one fresh raw egg, three-quarters glass of water and one tablespoon finely cracked ice. Put in shaker, or two tumblers which will fit over one another, shake well and strain.

SOUP SUCCESS DEPENDS ON THE FLAVORING

It is the rather elusive flavoring, the flavoring of which we are only half-conscious, rather than the strong taste of tomato or mutton, celery or chicken, which makes or mars a soup.

So the successful maker of soup is obviously the one who understands how to impart these delicate flavorings.

A knuckle of veal always gives added zest to chicken soup.

The onion used in soup should be first minced and cooked for a few moments in hot drippings or butter. If it is to flavor a slight soup, it should not be browned. For a dark soup it can be browned in the butter.

An onion roasted in the oven in a buttered cup or saucer gives a good flavor to soup.

Add herbs fifteen minutes before serving the soup, as their flavor, much of it, is lost if they are boiled for long.

When slices of lemon or orange are to be served with bouillon add them after the soup is put into the cups.

RECIPES

Cream of Wheat With Chopped Figs—Cut each fig into four pieces. Place six or eight of these on a sauce dish, cover with cream of wheat.

Peach Fritters—For five people take two large or three small eggs, beat, add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one and one-half cups of flour, sifted with two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, thin with sweet milk, slice in about six peaches. Drop by spoonfuls on a hot griddle. Dust with powdered sugar. They are delicious.

Lamb (Cups)—When spring lamb is high priced order yearling and have the butcher skin it. Then bake it slowly and its flavor is as delicate as the spring lamb. Use it the second day in this way: Melt two tablespoons butter, add one-quarter cup bread crumbs, two-thirds cup milk, one cup chopped lamb, two beaten eggs, parsley, salt and pepper. Bake in buttered ramekins until set.

Dutch Succotash—Instead of corn and beans this is made of peas and carrots, cooked together and served in a thin sauce made of butter and flour.

Banana Salad—Peel and slice bananas, dip in lemon juice, sprinkle with chopped nuts and serve on lettuce leaves with cream mayonnaise dressing.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE

Conducted by New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage.

Editor of Plainfield Daily Press:

For the first time in the history of Democracy in New Jersey we are experiencing a demand for the ballot for its own sake and because someone else has it. Campaigns have been waged up and down the State by the proponents and opponents of woman suffrage until there is scarcely a voter who has not had the question put squarely before him for his decision.

History proves to us that men have been riotous for the ballot, in fact, have fought for it, but only as a means of redressing some specific grievance or for the protection of one class from another. Protection is not however, the basis of the fight by the proponents of woman suffrage as our American women are better protected than the women of any other land.

It is claimed that equal suffrage declares more truly, real public opinion, but male suffrage accomplishes the same result with more than a fair degree of accuracy. In male suffrage States public opinion is controlled by moderation arising from experience and a well-developed sense of resposibility, while in equal suffrage States the responsibility rests upon all and amounts to hysteria as seen in the frequent elections which occur in Colorado owing to constant change of attitude upon public questions. Women are noted for their frequent change of mind, in many cases for no apparent reason. Why, therefore, should such a great big business as government is, be subjected to the whims of the irresponsible few?

Male suffrage has an indisputable advantage over equal suffrage in that it organizes natural power into control, and at the same time affords adequate means whereby the male citizens of the State, who are responsible by law and by nature to enforce its laws, and maintain its form of government, have the last word in the determination of its policies. Male suffrage assures the stability and efficiency of the State, in that the administrators of its affairs can rely upon the coercive power of its manhood to support them as long as their policies coincide with public opinion as expressed at the polls. It also proves that there is a large force available in the State to put into practice the policy declared by the Government.

In the equal suffrage States there is the reverse of this situation. The men are unable to ascertain what burden they shall assume or by whom it shall be carried. There is no proof that a preponderence of the coercive power of the State can be relied upon to support their policies. The reason is that under equal suffrage success at the polls may be achieved by a union of a minority of the male votes with a majority of the female votes. This, therefore, in the final analysis, leave a situation wheret he real majority—the real defenders of the State and its policies and government—is required by law and by nature to support a form of government which they do not approve and which their greater experience in managing governmental affairs has proven to be inefficient as well as impractical and unsound.

With such conditions existing, the only recourse would seem to be the maintenance of a standing force to coerce obedience to the laws. This cannot be more aptly demonstrated than in the condition of affairs in Colorado.

In that State they have had equal suffrage for twenty-two years. During all this time there has been uncertainty as to whether the majority of the conflicting units upheld the laws for the suppression of riot and rebellion arising from the troubles between capital and labor. At the same time the State government could not determine whether the male citizens could be relied upon to aid in the suppression of these troubles.

In contrast to this, note the comparative ease in quelling the riots attending the strike at Roosevelt. In this State, those who direct the policies of the State know that they will be supported by the vast majority of men. They know that they owe their positions to the confidence placed in them by the voters of the State, who in return will support them in upholding the honor and integrity of the commonwealth.

To cite a more recent example, viz., that of the strike of the Standard Oil works in Bayonne—there was no uncertainty about the maintenance of the authority of the State or its officials.

We have then, a concrete example of the effect woman suffrage has upon the stability and efficiency of a State. In Colorado there is a lack of unity in the administration of affairs so that in time of trouble Federal troops must be called upon. In New Jersey, where there is confidence in the State and the administrators of its affairs, the same situation is handled thoroughly and efficiently without any outside aid. Therefore, inasmuch as government is without question a business, it seems inexpedient to attempt any change in our present form of government which is so radical in its nature, and which produces such direr results.

Opinion, desire, aspiration, persuasion—all legitimate factors in molding public opinion—have been organized in Colorado by means of equal suffrage into something resembling or at least called, government. However, government is made of something else than public opinion That suggest a plan by plans cannot execute themselves.

Force has been admitted into this organization, because men are still permitted to vote. No account is taken of the will of men as class, however, because they have no opportunity to show their desire by the manhood ballot, in directing the policies of the State.

In Colorado, the Governor and the Legislature do not know and for twenty years have been unable to learn whether the men of the State would be with them if they should issue a call to its male citizens to aid in the suppression of a riot. Even if they did respond, those in authority live in constant fear that in the advent of such a case, they may be voted out of office by the women of the State who have united with the I. W. W. and their allies because of having incurred their displeasure. Does such a situation commend itself to the voters of New Jersey?

On all sides we hear that the effort to obtain the ballot for the women of New Jersey is based upon the idea and fact as stated by the Suffragists, that women must have the ballot for self protection, or because of the need of the community for an expression of her views politically. As to the former, all legal disabilities of women have been removed by men, and if some few women say that the work is incomplete, others will say that it has been carried to an excess All must unite in admitting that if any legal disabilities remain, revolutionary methods such as the adoption of woman suffrage, are not needed to extort their removal from men who have already removed most of them.

Suffragists lay stress upon the need of legislation and administration for which women alone are competent. The ambition of women to "mother" the government rises with their eversion to mother anything else. Their whole demand for the ballot seems to be based upon the desire to bring some form of diversion into their daily routine, and they feel that the ballot is the form of diversion that can give them the most pleasure.

To the average man, however, the question immediately presents itself, that the greatest amount of judgment that could be shown by women would be a deeper study of domestic economies. Here they could demonstrate that common sense and expert executive ability which is claimed for them by their vote-desiring sisters However, it is because of their ability to demonstrate these qualities that leads many men and most women to oppose their entrance into politics.

The question then resolves itself into a plain business proposition. If women persistently remain ignorant to the claims of the plainest requirements of domestic economy, and violate all the principles which men observe in managing their business how can it possible be supposed that they will suddenly change their position and become students and practitioners of economic efficiency in handling governmental affairs. How can they be expected to understand and vote intelligently upon public questions when they do not use the best judgment posible in the management of that kingdom where woman is supposed to reign supreme—the Home?

Very truly yours,
BANETT L. CHANDALL.

Ladies' Home Journal Pattern No. 9042 above not only has this delightful feature, but it has a very smart new skirt opening in front, and a deep hip yoke in girdle style. The lower part of the skirt is extended in cascade effect. It cuts in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure, requiring in size 36, 5⅝ yards of 36-inch material, with 1¾ yards of 36-inch chiffon for sleeves, and half yard 24-inch net.

How to Keep Our City Moving

We must keep moving. A city booms only so long as its manufacturers and merchants keep moving. The wheels of every line of endeavor must be kept turning if the city is going to develop, and what is of deeper concern than the wheels of Plainfield kept turning?

Should every one who has the interest of Plainfield close at heart buy goods from our merchants, the benefits all around can easily be seen. Thousands of dollars that would otherwise go out of the city will be kept circulating here and contribute a big share towards making a bigger and busier Plainfield.

A dollar spent at home will keep that dollar at home and all will share in the profits.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR PLAINFIELD'S FIRST FEMININE ATHLETIC MEET

Events of All Kinds, Including a Baseball Game, Will Be Included Among the Attractions at Parker Field.

All is in readiness for the big girls' athletic meet, which will be held at Parker Field Monday afternoon. Never before in the annals of local sportdom has an event of this kind been attempted, and it is expected that this initial try will become an annual endeavor. The most importtant part of the unusually good program will, of course, be the athletic events contested by the feminine athletes of this city and vicinity. After these amusing and exciting features are over one of the greatest pieces of comedy ever staged in Plainfield will be run off. The professional men of this city have agreed to take on nine or even more of the business men, and have expressed a wish to battle to the bitter end. However, the business artists, although they have agreed to fight it out, are not willing to engage in a tussle unless they are positively assured of a fair deal. Consequently, some of the prominent business men have promised to use their influence to have Judge William G. DeMeza on hand to umpire the "bout." No last-minute changes will be made in the line-ups according to official information, and if there are any "pros" or merchants who feel that their baseball ability has been slighted, they will confer a favor on the various managers if they present themselves at the field, ready to take the places of those who have seen service in the trenches.

While the baseball burlesque will doubtless attract a good crowd out to the field, it is not the main feature of the afternoon's program. About thirty-five girls have entered the various events which will be run off, and each and everyone of the thirty-five expects to walk away with the beautiful cup offered by the Recreation Committee to the individual point winner. The cup is now on exhibition at Sam Rothberg's store on West Front street, together with the individual event awards.

The following events will be contested, and the majority of the girls named will compete in each of the competitions: 50-yard back walk; 50-yard dash, running high jump, running broad jump, baseball throwing contest, basketball throwing contest, potato race and obstacle race. The following young women have signified their intention of competing: The Misses Marion Mair, Clara Smith, Mildred McAuliffe, Theresa McCullough, Ellen Doughty, Jennie Bremble, Clementine Bremble, Lillian Spencer, Janet Newell, Margaret Gill, Annie Murphy Marjorie Burtis, Marion Harrington, Maud McAfee, Nellie McAfee, Irma Good, Bertha Keller, May McAfee, Helen Hagen, Julia McCauley, Theresa McDonnell, Catherine McDonnell, May Donnelly, Jennie Higgins, Lillian McGarry, Edith Jahn, Amanda Sweeney, May Doughty and Clara Parson. Many of the young ladies are scholastic stars, and ought to break a few records when the time comes.

George W. Wriston, supervisor at Parker Field, has been secured by Miss Lillian Lamson, directress of the meet, to attend to the running of the events. Mr. Wriston has had plenty of experience in this line, and he has rounded up a fair collection of assistants, but is looking for a few more.

The line-ups of the two teams are as follows:

Business Men—Bailey, p; Garretson, c; Runyon, 1b; M. Hoyt, 2b; Pete Emmons, ss; Smith, 3b; Townley, rf; W. L. Smalley, lf; Conshay, cf; A. Smith, rf.

No special price of admission will be asked, but a silver offering will be taken up in order that the expenses of the affair may be met without delay.

LOCAL ATHLETES IN MICHELIN MEET

Fritts, Runyon, Commune and Garner Entered In Labor Day Events.

Four local athletes have entered the athletic carnival which will be run off at Milltown, Labor Day, under the auspices of the Michelin A. A. John Fritts, Ralph Runyon, Fiore Commune and Joseph Garner are the local men entered, and it is thought that each one should make a creditable showing in at least one of the events in which he is registered.

Ralph Runyon should show up well in the pole vault, although K. S. Caldwell, who beat the local lad last year, has been entered in the Monday event. It is said, however, that he has also entered the Great Neck games, and it is not, therefore, known where he will compete. However, he is the scratch man in the Milltown affair, while Runyon has been allowed only a small mark over him. Runyon is also going to compete in the running high jump, in which A. R. Roddiguez is the scratch man. The local star intends contesing for honors in the running broad, too.

Jack Fritts is scheduled to compete in the 1,000-yard run, in which both of the Grangers, colored cracks, are entered. Randolph Granger, is the scratch man. Fritts will also take a chance in the javelin throw. Gorge Bronder, said to be the greatest javelin thrower in the world, will compete in this event. Fritts has decided to take a shot at the pole vault in an effort to spur Runyon on. However, the real reason for Jack's entrance into such varied events is that he might get plenty of practice for the coming decathlon, which will be run off at Celtic Park, September 18.

Fiore Commune and Joe Garner, both local unattached track men, have entered the five-mile road race, in which Gaston Strobino, the Paterson Italian crack, will also run. Strobino ordinarily would have little trouble in annexing the contest, but he has been out of the game for some

ATTRACTIVE WEEK-END SPORT CARD

Golf, Tennis, Baseball and Athletic Meet Are Scheduled.

This week end's sport card is unusually attractive inasmuch as it includes the Labor Day events. Not in a long time has so pleasing a sport dish been offered to followers of diamond, court and link athletics. Baseball games, of great and small importance, head the sport program. As usual the City League games, both those of today and Monday, will attract the great majority of the fans and fannies, although the first annual girls' athletic meet, in connection with which a most humorous baseball farce will be indulged in by the professional and business men, is sure to bring out a large and enthusiastic crowd.

Golf and tennis comprise the sport program at the Plainfield Country Club and the Westfield Golf Club. The Netherwood and Hudson Terrace Tennis Clubs will indulge in single and double tennis matches. It is likely that the finals in the Netherwood doubles tourney will be contested Labor Day. In addition to the regular program at the Plainfield Country Club an approaching and putting contest will be staged. At the Park Golf Club exciting golf and tennis matches are promised.

Many independent baseball tilts have been carded for the week-end, the most important of these being the Plainfield A. A.-T. A. B. Sunday championship game which will be contested at Avon Oval tomorrow. The Farmers, Levgars, Highlanders, Chelseas, Queen City A. C. and the Plainfield Juniors will all find plenty of work to do. However, all roads will lead to Parker Field, Monday when a rather unusual event will be exhibited to the public.

TABS AND PLAINFIELD A. A. TO PLAY FIVE GAMES

The Plainfield A. A. and the T. A. B. S. will start their five-game series on Avon Oval tomorrow. The initial start was scheduled for last Sunday, but Jupiter Pluvius decided to prevent such an undertaking. Provided he does not repeat his feat tomorrow the two teams will go at it hammer and tongs. Both managers realize the value of annexing the honors right at the start.

Johnny Dixon will hurl for the Jones outfit, while Jack Denny or Dick Lawton will tackle the pitching work for the Abstainers. Lawton will most likely draw the assignment as Jimmy Monahan wants to save his pitchers for the big City League double bill on Monday.

RANDOLPH IN DEMAND.

Cliff Randolph will pitch two games tomorrow and may have to do a relief stunt Monday, according to newspaper accounts of the double header between the Pacers, Franklins and St. Anthonys at Perth Amboy tomorrow. As the Pacers clash with the Lincoln Giants at Ridgewood, Labor Day, many fans are of the opinion that Billy Pfau will use Cliff on that date and Joe Ritter and Springman tomorrow. However, Perth Amboy scribes assert that Cliff has agreed to perform the "Iron Man" stunt.

BELLUCCIO SAID TO BE MISSING

Head of Contracting Firm That Had Trouble in Boro Has Left Elizabeth.

MAY BE IN TRENTON

Neighbors and Friends Say That He Has Been Moving Furniture There by Degrees—Rumor Has it That He Will Start Work There.

Efforts to locate Lorenzo Belluccio, head of the L. Belluccio & Brother contracting firm, of Elizabeth, who failed to live up to the terms of his contract for the new Harrison Avenue School in North Plainfield, have proven futile and friends today admit that they believe his absence is due to financial difficulties. Relatives deny all knowledge of his whereabouts and they say they cannot tell just when he will return. Rumor has it that he is now in Trenton, where it is said that he has a contract to erect ten dwellings. Neighbors living in the vicinity of his home, 320 South Seventh street, Elizabeth, say that Belluccio has been moving his furniture little by little to the capital city in order to leave the impression that he is going to remain in Elizabeth. It is said that he is indebted to banks and business firms to the extent of $15,000.

Belluccio's latest difficulty was encountered in North Plainfield. According to Dr. Justus H. Cooley, president of the Borough Board of Education, Belluccio failed to live up to the terms of his contract, and a New York firm has been employed to complete the work, which is about ninety-five per cent. finished. Through the supervising architects, J. N. Pierson & Son, the School Board served a three days' notice on Belluccio to continue his work, and when that time expired a sub-contractor was employed.

Several of the men who were filling individual contracts under Belluccio notified the Board of Education that they were not being paid for their work and quit. Belluccio was bonded by a New England firm, which has been notified of his action in refusing to recognize the summons to complete the work. From an authoritative source it was learned Saturday that the Belluccio firm lost about $3,500 on the North Plainfield contract. The firm agreed to erect the school building for $21,575 and of this amount it has already been paid $16,000. The balance was to have been paid in a short time.

Belluccio had been doing business in Elizabeth for the past three years, and according to contractors who are in a position to know, when he did make a profit it was just about enough to pay his overhead expenses. It is said that his troubles were due to his eagerness to get public work, no matter how low a figure he had to submit to get it.

MISS EFFIE D. THOMAS BRIDE OF G. C. BURKE

A quiet wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Effie Dean Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. C. Thomas, of West Eighth street, Bayonne, became the bride of George Cass Burke, son of C. C. Burke, of Ravine road, this city, in the Grace church chantry, Broadway and Tenth street, New York city. Dev. Dr. Hward Weir, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the contracting couple.

The bride was unattended, while Stanley Burke, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. There was no reception and the couple left immediately on a wedding trip to the Adirondacks, after which they will live in Bayonne. Mr. Burke is employed by the Standard Oil Company.

FALCONS' DANCE.

The dance given by the Falcons Saturday night was one of the most successful of the kind ever run off by the local organization. The affair was given in T. A. B. Hall, and the proceeds will be forwarded to the Polish Relief Committee for use in stricken Poland. A picnic has been arranged by the same society for next Sunday afternoon, on the large grounds at Rock avenue and West Seventh street. An enjoyable time is promised all who attend.

CYCLIST REPRIMANDED.

Charged with driving his motorcycle at a reckless clip along West Front street in the vicinity of Park avenue Saturday night, John Sherman, of 210 Sherman avenue, was arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city police court this morning and reprimanded. He hit a woman at the conjecture of the two streets but she was not seriously injured and refused to appear against him.

MARTINES AS HOSTS AT HAWAIIAN PICNIC

Senator and Wife Provided Delightful Entertainment Yesterday Afternoon.

United States Senator and Mrs. James E. Martine were the host and hostess yesterday for about thirty of their intimate friends and neighbors on the spacious lawns surrounding their home, "Cedarbrok." The guests were bidden to a "Luau,' which is the Hawaiian word for festival, and upon their arrival they found a big table spread on the lawn in the circle immediately in front of the house. As each one arrived he or she was greeted by the Senator or his wife, in the Hawaiian custom, having a yellow wreath thrown about the neck.

After the guests had an opportunity to greet each other, all took their places at the table, the positions being indicated by cards showing several views of "Cedarbrook," which was erected in 1717. On the back of the cards was a verse about the Hawaiian Islands, which the hosts visited earlier in the year. The luncheon was a dainty one, the guests being seated on rustic benches surrounding the table, which was decorated with golden glow and at each place by a large yellow chrysanthemum. A number of Hawaiian airs were played on a phonograph.

After the meal had been served, the party went to the house, where one of those present entertained with violin solos. Then the women of the party gathered on the porch and lawn to watch the men indulge in an alleged baseball game, until a late hour in the afternoon.

WAGE INCREASE FOLLOWS SHORTER WORKING DAY

An increase in wages has gone into effect at the Hall Printing Press Company, of Duncllen. No general wage scale has been adopted, but the pay of the machinists has been increased on an average of 10 per cent. in each case. The change went into effect this week. The men at this plant have been working on the eight-hour basis for the past six or seven weeks.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR MRS. R. G. SHAW'S RECEPTION

Final arrangements have been made for the reception of Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, of Boston, chairman of the Equal Franchise Committee of that city, and the suffrage speakers whom she is bringing with her by automobile to tour New Jersey for a week, beginning tomorrow. This party is to include Mrs. Francis Peabody Magoun, of Cambridge, president of the Massachusetts Political Equality Union. The schedule provides for a stop in Elizabeth on Friday, where the party will speak at noon under the auspices of the Elizabeth Equal Suffrage League.

ASTOR THEATRE EMPLOYES WILL ENTER A FLOAT

The U. S. Astor Theatre employes have received word from the chairman of the Mardi Gras committee at Coney Island that their request to enter a float in the coming parade has been granted. As a result of the notice the local people have hired a New York decorator to fix up a local bus for the occasion.

In addition to entering a float in the parade the theatre employes have hired three others to convey them to the island to witness the celebration, which will be held this year on Monday evening, September 13. The I. O. O. M. have charge of the Mardi Gras this year, and a king and queen will be chosen from their ranks. Charles Freligh is chairman of the local committee.

BALLOT BOXES REMOVED.

The election ballot boxes of the borough have been sent to the Board of Freeholders at Somerville, to be inspected and put in condition for the special election next month. The ballots will be large ones, and it is likely the openings in the ballot boxes will have to be enlarged so as to receive them.

A TALE OF TWO BORO FISHERMEN

Boat Upsets and What Happened to Them is a Shame to Relate.

A story of how wto North Plainfield men came home from Amboy Sunday morning scantily attired is being told in the borough today, with many a sly snicker at the odd sight they must have made as they slipped into their homes wearing articles of clothing that could only be called such because they covered their nakedness.

The two, with a companion, were crabbing in Raritan Bay Saturday, but finding the crabbing slow, the two decided to take a swim. The third member of the party could not swim.

That part of the program was all right, and after sporting about in the water for a time, the two who could swim re-entered the boat, but in doing so overturned it and precipitated the third member f the party into the water. This man thought he was gone for certain, but his companion managed to save him, and all three were finally safe in the boat again.

But in the excitement following the upset and subsequent rescue one important thing had been overlooked. The clothing belonging to the two men who had gone into the water for a swim was in the boat when it upset, and when they were ready to don it, there wasn't an article of wearing apparel in the craft save that worn by the third member of the party.

Consternation reigned for a time, and a frantic search of the surrounding water was made in the hope that the clothes would be found floating on the surface. But not a trace of them was to be seen, and finally, as darkness settled down, the two faced a predicament.

The men were in a dilemma. The third member of the party had no clothes to spare, so an inspection of varius outbuildings along the shore was made in the gathering darkness. A pair of old overalls and a blouse for one were discovered, while the other man secured a pair of cast-off trousers. Dressed in these articles, the two manged to reach Plainfield Sunday morning and get safely to their homes.

CONTINUES RULE UNTIL NEXT WEEK

Samuel Shipkin Now Said to Be Willing to Turn Over Books to Receiver.

Newark, Sept. 7.—Vice Chancellor Stevens in the Chancery Court here today continued until next Tuesday the rule to show cause why Samuel Shipkin, who is now in charge of the Queen City Market, Plainfield, formerly owned by the Endress Company, should not be considered in contempt for failure to turn over the books of the Endress Company. The rule was obtained by Richard Stockton, permanent receiver.

It is now said that Shipkin is willing to turn over the books in his possession, but that he claims that most of the books are in possession of John K. Roundy, who is said to be in Connecticut. Martin B. Stutsman, his counsel, it is said, has informed the court that Roundy will return if wanted.

Mr. Roundy is also expected this afternoon to answer a rule to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt for his alleged failure to pay his wife alimony, this rule being obtained by Mr. Stockton, of counsel for Mrs. Roundy.

EDWARD M'CANN WINS FREE SCHOLARSHIP

Passed Highest Competitive Examination for Entrance to St. Peter's College.

The scholarship awarded by the Holy Name Society to the boy of St. Mary's parish who passed the highest competitive examination and who had successfully completed grammar school work was opened to competition in Jersey City, Thursday, and the results, which were made known today, state that Edward McCann, of 438 West Third street, is the successful contestant and that he is entitled to four years in St. Peter's "Prep" and four years in St. Peter's College. School opens tomorrow and he is expected to report at that time.

Five boys, Leo Keating, Francis A. Connolly, John Newell, Edward McCann and Robert Clarkson took the examinations, which consisted of arithmetic, English and English composition. The winner, Edward McCann, attained the highest average in each of the three subjects.

EXHIBIT OF FREE HAND DRAWING TO BE A FEATURE

The regular monthly meeting of the local Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild will be held Friday night, at 8 o'clock, in the Friends' Meeting House at Watchung avenue and Third street. There will be an exhibit of free-hand drawings at that time made by a fifteen-year-old boy who has never had a drawing lesson in his life. The lad has lost all the fingers on his right hand, while his left hand is partly bandaged. He holds the pencil between his two hands when drawing. The Guild is helping him to cultivate his talents in order to make him self-supporting.

Rev. Henry Mesier, of St. Stephen's church, will make a short address. A special musical program has been arranged.

POKER PLAYERS AGAIN GET INTO TROUBLE IN EAST END

Arrested for the second time within a month on the charge of gambling in the vicinity of the Johnston avenue bridge over Green brook, Arthur Adams, Frank Asoldo and John Shabock, a trio of East End youths yet in their 'teens, were given severe reprimands by Judge DeMeza in the city police court this morning and warned that a third appearance on this charge will mean jail sentences. According to the court a gang of boys, of which this trio are members, has been annoying residents of Johnston avenue for some time past on Sundays, and Patrolman Neylon happened in on a noisy game of poker yesterday afternoon. The copper collected the jack-pot and cards and ordered the three youths to appear today. Shabock and Asoldo were sent home, while Adams was turned over to his father for a dose of corporal punishment.

WELSH HAD HIS HANDS FULL WITH THIS MODERN HERCULES

Classed by Judge DeMeza as one of the worst offenders with whom the local police have to deal, George Gilbert, colored, was arraigned this morning, charged with being drunk and disorderly and resisting arrest. Standing six feet, four inches in heighth and tipping the scales at something over 200 pounds, Gilbert makes a formidable foe for anyone who happens in his path when he lingers too long at the gilded bar, and Patrolman Martin Welsh happened to be the man who "crossed" him Saturday night.

Although Welsh modestly and generously admitted that Gilbert "wasn't a hard man to handle," Lieut. Maurice Higgins testified that he saw the scuffle between the big negro and the officer and said that Gilbert was bent on putting the copper out of business. After reviewing Gilbert's long police record and giving him a severe reprimand Judge DeMeza sentenced him to pay a fine of $8 with the option of spending forty days at Elizabeth.

POCKET WAS PICKED.

Shortly after she had alighted from a Fourth street trolley car at Manson place, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. John Lewis, of Bordentown, reported to the local police that she had been robbed of her pocketbook containing $4.05. The woman was unable to give any accurate description of the other passengers in the car that would lead to the arrest of the supposed pick-pocket.

That funny fellow Scoop is on the classified page.

PERKINS DECIDES TO ENTER CONTEST

Will Be a Candidate for Councilman-at-Large on Democratic Ticket.

Seymour Perkins will accept the nomination for councilman-at-large. He has capitulated to the entreaties of his friends and consents to allow his name to go before the primaries. Following is a statement which Mr. Perkins made today to a Daily Press reporter relative to the nomination:

"Until last week I had not considered even the possibility this year of becoming a candidate for councilman-at-large, and it was a great surprise to me while out of town that my name was prominently mentioned in this connection.

"I have been approached, however, during the past two days by so many of my friends, including those who are serviceable in promoting the best civic interests of Plainfield, that I am pleased to announce that I am a candidate for councilman-at-large.

"I wish to call attention to the statement that I am in the brokerage business in New York city. As a matter of fact, I am associated with Rhodes & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, who specialize principally in the highest grade of municipal and railroad bonds."

FINED $5 FOR THREATENING COMPLAINANT AFTER COURT

His threats to Morris Abrams, following the morning session in the city police court this morning, cost Joseph Sissalleo, of Dunellen, $5 when he was brought back to police headquarters and arraigned before Judge DeMeza. The offender is a friend of Frank Splick, of New Market, the automobile driver who drove his car into Abrams' show windows on August 29 and did damage estimated to reach $400. Splick was arraigned in court this morning on a charge of reckless driving but was granted a second postponement to September 20.

Immediately following the court session Mr. Abrams left headquarters and proceeded in the direction of his store. He was hailed by Sissalleo who threatened to put a stop to all of Abrams' Polish trade and made movements with his hands that caused the local merchant to feel uneasy. Mr. Abrams retraced his steps to the police station and an officer was sent out after Sissalleo. When the complaint was originally made Mr. Abrams said that he did not wish to appear in the role of a prosecutor, and in fact, said that the driver of the car was not to blame.

GIRL TAKEN IN RAID GAVE LOCAL POLICE WRONG NAME

An investigation that has been conducted by Captain John J. Flynn, of the local police department, since a nineteen year old girl was taken prisoner by the local police in a raid on a disorderly house on Watchung avenue, August 28, this morning resulted in establishing the identity of the girl, who gave her name as Mary Monahan and who is now serving a sixty day sentence in the Elizabeth jail. A letter from her mother, who lives in Milltown, says that her right name is Amelia Anderson.

The parent describes her as a victim of bad male companions and says that she has long been away from the family fireside shifting for herself in unknown parts.

BOROUGH CLERK WILL WAIT UNTIL 10 FOR PETITIONS

In order to permit the filing of any primary petitions that may come in late, Borough Clerk Dolliver will remain in his office over police headquarters, Somerset street, until 10 o'clock tomorrow night. September 8 is the last day on which petitions for office for a singe municipality can be filled. There were no petitions filed today. Mr. Dolliver is away and will not be back until tomorrow morning.

MISSION WORKERS HERE.

Rev. and Mrs. Frederickson, who expect to sail from New York, Saturday for their mission field at Sona Bota, Africa, will be present and speak at the Park Avenue Baptist church tomorrow night. This mission is largely supported by the Park Avenue church, and doubtless many people will wish to hear Rev. and Mrs. Frederickson and greet them before their sailing. Several are planning to bid them bon voyage Saturday in New York.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL OPENS.

St. Mary's Parochial School will re-open at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

MERCHANTS FAVOR BLATZ ORDINANCE

Will Appear at Council Meeting Tonight in a Body to Support New Measure.

With a view to supporting a petition which has been framed since the introduction of the "fly-by-night" ordinance by Councilman Francis J. Blatz at the August session of the Common Council, a delegation of local business men, who would be benefited by the adoption of such a measure, will appear before the Council at the September meeting scheduled for tonight. The ordinance, as drafted, provides for a license fee of $200 a month for promoters of transient enterprises, and is similar in form to the one now in use in Paterson.

For some time past there has been a feeling among local merchants that some restriction should be placed on so-called "invaders" who bring various money-making schemes to the city for indefinite periods, advertising for sale articles that are sold at a much lower figure than Plainfield merchants can afford to sell them and at the same time make a fair profit. Within the past year the project has been attempted by promoters from New York and elsewhere, who bring clothing, jewelry, etc., to the city and advertise them for sale at an unusually low and seemingly reasonable figure that attracts the attention, and, incidentally, the pocketbook, of the bargain hunter, invariably the articles purchased at cut rates fail to measure up to the standard expected, but when the buyer has had time to find this out, he also finds that the promoter has fled to parts unknown.

While it is generally known that there is some objection to the ordinance in its present form by members of the Common Council, it is believed that such alterations will be made at the suggestion of business men that will lead eventually to its passage. The most obvious point in dispute at the present time is the $200 a month license, which several councilmen believe to be too high.

The local merchants believe that, inasmuch as they pay high taxes and contribute to municipal welfare, they are entitled to protection of this kind, and consequently have framed the petition, which will be presented tonight. All interested are invited to be present at the meeting tonight.

FRED A. MARTIN AND ALEX MILNE FILE PETITIONS

Two more petitions for elective offices were filed with Borough Clerk Dolliver yesterday. They were the petitions of Fred A. Martin for collector, and Alexander Milne for county commiteeman from the First district. Both are Republicans.

It is pretty generally believed now that the Democrats will not nominate any one to oppose W. L. Smalley, Republican, for Mayor. As far as can be learned no petition is out, and the limit of time for filing them is about up. The Democrats will likely nominate for members of the county committee, but that is all.

AUTOIST LOST HIS HEAD, CRASHED INTO WAGON

In a collision yesterday afternoon between an automobile and a bakery delivery wagon belonging to Harry Gnatz, of Somerset street, one shaft of the wagon and the harness were broken. No one was injured.

The accident occurred on Rock avenue near Greenbrook road. Gnatz, who was driving his wagon, claims that he was over on the right side of the road as far as he could get, and that the motorist lost his head at the critical moment and steered directly for him. The automobile was driven by a Greek. On the rear seat of the car were two women, and they had a narrow escape from being injured by the wagon shaft.

Thompson Adds Studebaker.

In addition to the Hudson and Dodge cars, Thompson Auto Co. will handle the Studebaker line, which consists of a forty horse-power 7 passenger touring car at $885, and a fifty horse-power six cylinder 7 passenger touring car at $1,050, which is $400 less than last year. The 1916 Studebakers embody a great many improvements over last year's models, and are breaking all sales records.—Adv. ***

THINK HESPERIAN STRUCK A MINE

Consul Frost Says Belief is Growing That She Was Not Torpedoed.

NICHOLAS IS DEPOSED

Czar Notified President Poincaire Today That He is Personally Commanding Russian Army—Anti-German Uprising in Turkey.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Consul Frost today cabled from Queenstown that there was a growing belief that the Hesperian had struck a floating mine, and was not torpedoed as was at first supposed. The dispatch did not give the reasons leading to this belief.

The official decision from the British Admiralty that the Hesperian was not a Government vessel was forwarded to the State Department by Ambassador Page. The Admiralty declared the vessel was sailing as an ordinary passenger liner. It had not been in the Government service since the beginning of the war, and carried no troops beside some wounded Canadian soldiers, who were traveling home on individual tickets as ordinary passengers.

An American, who described himself as European manager of Rice & Hutchins, of Boston, has been arrested at Moscow as a spy. The State Department is endeavoring to establish his identity. The despatch failed to give his name.

Austrian Ambassador Dumba will arrive in the capital at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon for a conference with Secretary Lansing, it was announced at the State Department.

London, Sept. 7.—Nine more passengers and sailors of the liner Hesperian were accounted for today, after they had been given up for dead. Allan Line officials announced this afternoon that they had accounted for all but 17 persons. These were passengers, 13; sailors, 4.

The Harrison liner Dictator, a British vessel of 4,116 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine. Lloyd's report states that the crew was saved. It is believed that the Dictator was being used by the British Government.

Paris, Sept. 7.—Emperor Nicholas has taken over the command of the Russian armies. Whether this will result in the complete elimination of Grand Duke Nicholas is not yet known. Apparently the Czar's action has been kept a close secret in Petrograd, because the first intimation of this action came in a personal despatch from the Russian ruler to President Poincare today.

The following communique was issued by the War Office today:

"Cannonading and fighting with bombs and petards occurred during part of the night around Souchez and Neuville. To the south of Arras in the region of Agny and of Vailly, in the region of Roye as well as on the plateaus of Quennevieres and Nouvron, a violent bombardment of our positions drew an effective reply from our batteries. In Champagne the activity of the two artilleries was very violent. The night was without incident on the rest of the front."

Scorn for the reliance placed by the British Socialists on the International Socialist organization in its efforts to produce peace, is expressed by Gustave Herve, writing in the Guerre Sociale. Herve declares that the international organization is dead, and its corpse is in possession of the German Socialists.

Another large expedition is embarking at Taranto to proceed to the Dardanelles, according to a Rome despatch.

A despatch from Rome says that official announcement has been made that cholera and typhus fever are increasingly prevalent in Austria and Germany. In Austria during the last twenty days of July there are reported 7,427 cases of cholera, with 3,295 deaths.

Berlin, Sept. 7 (by wireless).—Russia's retreating army has apparently been overtaken by the Germans and forced into battle. The General Staff reported today that a great conflict is raging at Wolkowysk, forty-five miles southeast of Grodno. The fighting is at an important railway junction and extends to a point twenty-five miles southwest of Sloni. It is through this region that the centre of the Russian army had to retreat after it had abandoned the Grodno-Brest Litovsk front.

Peace between Germany and any of her adversaries is possible at any moment, with the exception of England, declares George Bernhardi, writing in the Vossische Zeitung, on the reports of peace efforts by officials of the Catholic Church in the United States.

The Admiralty announced today

Quite a commotion was occasioned when Max Cohen's jitney bus, of Plainfield, arrived about 5 o'clock at Dunellen. It was found that one of his fares, Mrs. Harry Scribner, had an epileptic fit. No one seemed to recognize the woman in her disheveled appearance. Dr. Roger Cooley rendered "first aid," when she was taken to her home. Recorder Campbell and James Lewis, of Plainfield, accompanied her to her home. She remained unconscious till 2 o'clock the next morning. Dr. Albert Pittis, of Plainfield, was called in. 'Plains & Fanwood.

The many New York people who spend the summer in cottages and bungalows on the mountain in back of the 'Plains gave their annual picnic and dance at the Stony Hill parish house on Saturday afternoon and evening, which attracted about two hundred people from New York, Jersey City and Newark, as well as all around this section. What proved to be the feature of the day was a baseball game between a team picked from the cottagers and local players and the Basking Ridge nine, the latter winning by a large score after nine innings of comedy. The interior of the parish house was gayly decorated for the dance in the evening, and booths for refreshments, fancy articles and souvenirs were ranged about the hall. The T. A. B. Fife and Drum Corps, of Plainfield, furnished the music for the biggest dance ever held at the Hill. The affair was arranged by New York people entirely, and on September 15 another dance will be held by the people of the Stony Hill parish.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellan Ryan, who died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Sternheim, of South avenue, on Thursday, were held from the home of her sister Saturday morning, and later at Holy Trinity church, Westfield, where a high requiem mass was said. Mrs. Ryan had made her home with her sister for many years, and was well known here and in Westfield, where she was prominently conected with the Holy Trinity church. Interment was made in Calvary cemetery.

In an article in the September Good Housekeeping there appears, under the caption, "Your Daughter's Career," a picture of Miss Louise Nichol, of Springfield avenue. The writer deals with the women in the newspaper field, and speaks of Miss Nichol as being a feature writer for the New York Post. She is a graduate from Smith College in 1914, and besides writing special articles, she contributes verses from time to time.

The local schools opened this morning for the fall term, and the enrollment, especially in School No. 1 shows a substantial increase over last term. It is not yet known definitely when School No. 3, now being built in the Graceland section, will be completed, and children from that section of the township will attend No. 1 as usual until the new building is ready for use.

Maurice Hall and Sidney Lidgate, of the borough, have returned home after spending the past week with friends at New Canaan, Con.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Louden, of Martine avenue, have returned home from Atlantic City, where Mr. Louden was directing the production of a new play that is the product of his own pen. After a "tryout" at the seaside resort, it will be shown in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Halloran have removed from Newark into their new home on the corner of Midway avenue and Russell road.

Rally Day was observed at the Episcopal church Sunday by a special program arranged by Superintendent Neilson. An increased enrollment was noted, and partly on that account several changes in the classes were made.

The tennis tournament that has been in progress on Hatfield's court, on Stout avenue, for several weeks, was practically concluded yesterday, but one more set being necessary to decide the winners. In yesterday's play Everett Marston and Richard Hatfield defeated Robert Gere and Albert Kauff, 6—4, 6—1; Louis Lewis and Willard Marston won from Everett Marston and Richard Hatfield, 6—1, 9—7; Raymond E. Marshal and Clarence Slocum eliminated Luther Banks and James Quigley, 7—5, 7—5, and Chris Louis and Edward Hatfield bested Willard Marston and Louis Lewis, 6—1, 6—0. In the finals Marshal and Slocum played Hatfield and Lewis, each winning one set, 6—1, 4—6. The third set will be played next Saturday afternoon.

Lambertson's All-Stars were beaten by the Chelsea Park nine on Sunday after a ten-inning game by a 6 to 5 count. Four of the locals' regulars were out of the line-up, but an excellent game was put up. Montross tossed the game away in the tenth when he slipped in going after the ball and let in the winning run. A return game will be played in a few weeks.

Miss Florence Quinn left for her home in Indianapolis yesterday after spending the past summer with her sister, Mrs. M. W. Hyer, of North avenue.

Mrs. Francis Christopher, of North avenue, has returned from spending several weeks at Atlantic City.

Harry L. Jerperson, Jr., of Martine avenue, returned yesterday from a month's business trip that took him to all of the cities of the Middle West.

Miss Joice Thompson, of Martine avenue, has returned from spending the summer at Lake Hopatcong.

The married and single men of the borough engaged in their third "set-to" of the season yesterday, and the younger men came out on the big end of an 11 to 7 score. By winning the third game they obtained the series, but not without a stiff argument from the married ball-tossers.

Mrs. M. A. Judd and daughter, Cynthia, returned to their home in New York today after spending the summer in the borough.

The local Italian colony held its annual celebration of St. Nicholas yesterday afternoon and night on what is known as the commons, in the rear of the Stansberry estate, on Springfield avenue. An Italian band played from 1 o'clock until rain put a stop to the festivities early in the evening. An amusement that afforded enjoyment for the Italians and hundreds of bystanders was an arrangement fashioned from two posts, with a cross section at the top, to which was fastened to a large buccket of water. The person shoving a wheelbarrow under the bucket without touching a cord that kept the bucket in position received a dollar, otherwise a ducking, and the latter happened in the majority of occasions. The Italians sang many patriotic songs and did not have games such as provided amusement in former years. The fireworks display was one of the best ever seen around this section, an image in the shape of a huge pinwheel representing the god St. Nicholas, an American flag in all the colors, and many other costly pieces being set off. The rain forced the Italians to set off the display in a pouring rain, the large bombs and skyrockets both shaking and lighting up the country for a mile around. Considering that yesterday was a gala occasion for the Italians, they kept in excellent order, only several small fights between those who had drank too much being started, and no arrests were necessary.

A young colored lad was in the Scotch Plains lockup until Sunday afternoon, after being arraigned before Recorder Jahn Friday night. He was charged with non-support and held under $300 bond to give his wife $3 a week. His father secured his bond on Sunday night and took his son back to the "Big Woods."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

If there has been any question in the minds of local theatregoers as to whether the last word in vaudeville would be an attraction in Plainfield, yesterday's record at the Proctor Theatre is sufficient to satisfy the most critical minded of them that the up-to-minute programs are certainly that for which Plainfield people have been looking for. Three capacity audiences greeted the opening bill yesterday, and the excellent bill received applause throughout the entire performances.

Such an act as was presented by Mr. and Mrs. Koelker shows well the type of acts being secured by Manager Sanderson. The melody given out by the cast of six people in this act would do credit to the highest priced vaudeville theatre in the metropolitan district. Certainly this was a fine bill, and will be continued both tonight and tomorrow.

"The Slavey Student," featuring Viola Dana, is the feature picture for this evening, while "The Isle of Content," a Selig photoplay, is booked for tomorrow, both afternoon and evening.

Attention is drawn to the fact that the evening show starts a 6 o'clock, and that matinee prices prevail during the first fifteen minutes in order to encourage early attendance at the night performances.

It Pays to Secure a Tenant Who Pays.

The uncertain sort of tenant is easy to find. He is always answering the call of the window sign of "To Let." He is easy to please. Even a rather high rental does not frighten him away.

But the Stay-and-Pay tenant is not so easy to secure. He is surer of what he wants. He does not take the first house, or apartment, or store that he finds. He watches and answers "To Let" Ads.

And to secure him for your tenant is a good day's work—a good week's work.

Property that is advertised adequately in the Plainfield Daily Press is rarely rented injudiciously.

SLOCUM HELD THE TABS TO FOUR HITS

Former Semi-pro Hurler Pilots Netherwoods to a Victory.

The Netherwoods, with Lou Slocum hurling splendid ball, experienced little difficulty in handing the T. A. B. S. a 4 to 1 beating in the morning game yesterday. Tommy Mullin and Eddie Stallings, both "leaguers," played for T. A. B. S. and Netherwood respectively, and while each fielded faultlessly neither figured in the scoring.

BAPTIST BINGLES SMOTHER THE HOPES

Front Street Leaguers Administer a 10 to 6 Beating to Chapelites.

The Hopes, with a badly crippled line-up, were easy victims for the Baptists, who swamped them 10 to 6 in the morning session yesterday. "Hoppy" Walls, a third baseman, hurled for the losers and was batted hard, while Patterson was a puzzle at all stages of the game.

HARVEST IN NINTH WAS A LITTLE SHY

Saurer Team Bats Out Four Runs in Last Frame But is Defeated.

Four runs made in a dying spurt in the ninth frame of Saturday's City League clash between the Baptists and Saurers fell two runs short of netting a win for the factoryites, and they were forced to taste a 7 to 5 licking at the hands of the Sunday-school players.

The rival aggregations were even-up in the hitting department, each tearing off ten safeties, but the Clinton avenue clan broke into the error column, with a half dozen miscues that aided materially in sending them down to defeat.

LOCAL HORSES PLACE IN MONMOUTH FAIR RACES

"Review Bells," owned by Leslie Harris and driven by Adam Blair, came in second in the 2.23 at the Monmouth County Races at Red Bank yesterday. "Kid Kelly," one of Mr. Blair's horses, although entered in the event, did not compete owing to the fact that it is entered in the 2.25 at Weequahic Park, Newark, Saturday.

In the 2.25 trot at the Red Bank affair, the "Baron," owned by Dr. H. E. Winters, of this city, also annexed a second prize. The "Baron" has also raced over the Weequahic course, although it will not do so this Saturday.

WITHDRAWS FROM RACE.

John Cooper, of Warrenville, has renounced his candidacy for the Board of Freeholders and is out for township committeeman. He states that he has decided to make this change in the interests of harmony.

FIRST GIRLS' MEET A MONSTER SUCCESS

Keen Competition and Excellent Performances Staged at Parker Field.

Capturing first place in four events, coming in third in two, thus totaling up 22 points for herself, Miss Marion Mair was the undisputed champion of the girls' athletic meet staged on Parker Field yesterday afternoon. By virtue of her victory she was given the handsome silver loving cup awarded by the Plainfield Recreation Committee for the girl who gained the highest number of tallies. Although she had close competition, Miss Mair was a popular winner, opinion being in her favor from the beginning. She is a graduate of the North Plainfield High School, and a valuable member of several other athletic organizations in the city and borough. Beside being captain of the Y. W. C. A. team last season she occupied the berth of guard on the well-known "Plainfield Five" aggregation. Since her graduation in 1912 Miss Mair has been engaged in recreation work in this city. She is an assistant at the Irving School playground. Next week she will leave Plainfield to enter Oberlin College, where she will continue her physical studies.

The complete list of events and winners follows: 50-yard dash, first, Amanda Sweeney; second, Theresa McCullough; third, Miss Marion Mair. 50-yard back dash, first, Miss Mair; second, Miss Zira Brancati; third, Miss Amanda Sweeney. Runing high jump, first, Miss Marion Mair, 3 feet 6 inches; second, Lillian Spencer; third, Miss Clara Parsons. Running broad jump, Miss Marion Mair, 10 feet 11 inches; second, Miss Amanda Sweeney; third, Miss Zira Brancati. Potato race, first, Miss Marion Mair; second, Miss Lillian Spencer; third, Miss Clara Parsons. Baseball throw, first, Miss Theresa McCullough, 150 feet 9 inches; second, Miss Amanda Sweeney; third, Miss Marion Mair.

Taken all in all, the event was a huge success, breaking the ice for all future meets, which promise to be held annually. The entire affair was prepared by Miss Lillian Lamson, supervisor of the recreation work in Plainfield, assisted by George Wriston, of the Parker Field playground.

Spectators all voiced enthusiasm over the innovation in local athletics, having much praise for the able and efficient way in which the event was run, and the excellent sportsmanship of the participants. The latter was especially noteworthy, each entrant competing, and even though the odds were against some, they went in the events with unusual sportsmanship.

Following the meet the baseball game between the professional men and the business men was staged, Miss Theresa McCullough opening the tilt by pitching for the professionals. Silver collection was taken up among the spectators, and the proceeds were even better than was expected.

FRITTS TOOK FIRST IN MICHELIN MEET

Copper Wins 1,000 Yard Run and Runyon is Second in Pole Vault.

Local athlete made creditable showings in the Michelin meet at Milltown yesterday, Jack Fritts, the local Pastime representative, taking the 1,000-yard run from a field of thirty-four. Gorge Buttner, of the Irish-American A. C., was second, with E. Garvey, unattached, third. Fritts' handicap was 45 yards. The scratch man, Randolph Granger, failed to win a prize.

In the pole vault Ralph Runyon, also of the Pastime A. C., landed second place, K. S. Caldwell, the Irish-American scratch man, taking the event with a jump of 11 feet 6 inches. Runyon's handicap was three inches. The javelin-throwing contest had to be postponed until September 19, when the contestants will finish the event at Jersey City.

The five-mile run was won by S. Kirikikis, a Greek-American representative, his time being 22 minutes 15 seconds. Joe Garner, unattached, of this city, finished tthirty-first, and Fiore Commune, also of this city, crossed the tape forty-first. Garner's time was 28 minutes 15 seconds. In this event 167 men were entered, and over a hundred of these competed.

SENATOR MARTINE REPLIES TO ATTACK

Declares That He Has Always Been Fair to Suffragists and "Antis."

United States Senator James E. Martine in replying to an attack made on him today by Mrs. Mina C. VanWinkle, head of the Women's Political Union, Newark, in which she alleges that he has grossly abused postal franking privileges, makes a general denial of the charges and expresses his regrets that Mrs. Van Winkle thinks that he is "not a man of his word."

The Senator declared that he had always been consistent in presenting both the Suffrage and Anti-Suffrage side of the question in Congress, although admitting that he is opposed to Suffrage. He further declared that he had made no promises to anyone on the subject. He said that he had never abused his franking privilege.

Mr. Martine recalled several instances when the question of Suffrage was discussed at Washington, but despite the fact that he does not believe in giving the vote to women, he had always been fair in his treatment of the Suffrage question as the records will show.

THESE MEN TOOK DUNELLEN FOLK FOR THE RUBEN BRAND

Forgetting to cut the telephone wires between Dunellen and this city while planning to divest a Dunellen front porch of its railing resulted in the arrest of four Newark young men by Patrolman Martin Welsh on West Front street, this afternoon. They gave their names as John Murphy, Harry Mattoon, William Woodruff and Carlo Tuidi and when taken into custody they were driving the chasis of a Ford car.

Shortly after 1:30 o'clock Lieut. Higgins, who was doing desk duty at police headquarters, received a 'phone call from Dunellen requesting that the men in the Ford car be apprehended as they had stolen the railing from a front porch at that place. When arrested they were using the porch railing for a seat on the chasis. They will be taken back to Dunellen this afternoon.

HE TOOK TWO DRINKS THAT COST HIM HIS WEEK'S PAY

When Walter Neusdeck, a machinist employed at the Pond factory, woke up at police headquarters yesterday morning, he found that he had been robbed of his pay envelope containing $29.50. According to Neusdeck, the last thing he remembers is hearing a good looking woman say, "Hello, kiddo, have a drink?" Whereupon she thrust a little brown bottle under his nostrils and said, "Drink."

Neusdeck says he took two drinks. The police found him lying in an intoxicated condition in the East End and locked him up. In the city court yesterday morning he said he had left the Pond shop at midnight Saturday with the $29.50 in his possession and met a man and woman on his way home. The police have been unable to locate anything that will lead to the identification of the supposed robbers.

HESITATION COST JONES DEARLY IN CITY COURT

Because he hesitated too long in making a decision as to whether he would pay a woman complainant $4 alleged to be due her, Thomas Jones, colored, of 202 Plainfield avenue, was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 with the option of spending forty days in the county jail by Judge DeMeza in the city court this morning. According to the testimony offered by Captain John Flynn, who made the arrest, Jones has a habit of hiring housekeepers and discharging them without pay at the end of a week or two. He has been arrested on seven previous occasions for the same offense.

The complainant this time came from Philadelphia and when Jones "fired" her without pay she did not have funds sufficient to carry her back home and appealed to Captain Flynn.

"Are you going to pay this woman her $4?" asked the Judge, following the hearing this morning.

"I don't owe her no 4," replied Jones, after several minutes of blundering, through which the court waited patiently.

"$10 or forty days," broke in Judge DeMeza, and Jones immediately agreed to settle with the woman, but it was too late.

NETHERWOODS TAKE HOPE INTO CAMP

Jimmie Montross is no Puzzle to the East End Aggregation.

The Netherwood baseball club assumed the City League lead by taking the Hopes into camp on Soccer Field, Saturday. Jimmy Montross was no puzzle to the East Enders who slammed his offerings to all quarters of the lot. Art Grisley, Clark and Dodd were the batting stars of the day.

CLINTON AVENUES FIND TABS EASY

"Tom" Apgars' Fast Going Bunch Win Benefit Game by 8 to 1 Score.

Despite the fact that Jack Denny fanned fourteen men, the T. A. B. City Leaguers fell down before the Clinton Avenues on Parker Field Saturday, the score of the conflict being 8 to 1. Inability to hit Benny Rosenson and a tendency to "boot" the ball made victory for the Abstainers an unknown quantity.

The game was played for the benefit of Frank Brennan, the T. A. B. S. infielder, who broke a leg sliding to second in a recent match. A large crowd attended.

MISS M'CULLOUGH LININ G THEM UP FOR THAT OCTOBER 19 SUFFRAGE BALLOT

Fair Twirler Scored a Triumph During Her Stay on the Mound Against the Business Men—She Had Them All Guessing—Professionals Tasted a 7 to 5 Defeat—Game Attracted Considerable Attention as a Side Dish to Feminine Meet.

That much talked-of professional and business men's tilt was staged on Parker Field, yesterday afternoon, in conjunction with the girls' athletic meet, the business men annexing a 7 to 5 win. Miss Teresa McCullough, one of the best female hurlers in this section, graced the mound for the "Pros," and although she did not pitch more than one inning she gave a very good account of her ability during that short time. Miss McCullough fanned two men and allowed three hits. Every business man who batted during the initial round slammed the pill as hard as he could, one of the clouts darting directly at the female pitcher. The ball never touched earth, but the fair twirler reached down and "stabbed" it. Now she is nursing a badly swollen thumb. The young woman was too bashful to take her turn at bat and consequently got no chance to make her male companions run for the ball. She made a great "hit" with the fans, players, athletes.

The rest of the game was uneventful save for the fact that "Doc" Stevens hurled a good game. Eddie Conshay and George Townley adorned the hillock for the Force-Schwed combination and had little or no mercy on their opponents. Errors were not as numerous as was expected, the misplays made being ones to which even leaguers are susceptible.

The Rev. Evarts C. Conover had full charge of the umpiring job and his work met with the approval of all concerned. The most amusing feature of the tilt was the able manner in which Marcus Hoyt connected with the terra firma whenever he was given the opportunity. The work of Doctors Anthony, Stevens and Hubbard deserves commendation.

Taken all in all the game was not the farce the fans thought it would be.

By annexing all of this week-end's contests the Netherwood baseball team cinched the City League flag. No matter how hard any of the remaining five teams try the Netherwood lead cannot be knocked down. Excellent twirling on the part of Stewart, Slocum and Clark annexed the gonfalon for the East Enders.

The triple reverse handed to the Abstainers came as a complete surprise to that team's followers, while the Hope mishaps were really unavoidable. The Clinton Avenue and Baptist outfits gave splendid baseball exhibitions, while the Saurer team managed to keep above water.

A terrific battle for second place honors is now on between the T. A. B. S. and the Saurers, with the Clintons dangerously near.

at the links, which was concluded with a dance at the clubhouse last night.

The principal event was an eighteen-hole medal play handicap, in which A. D. Maglefert and J. D. Darr tied for the gross score honors at 91, while M. D. Yamaakawi, a Japanese, and W. R. Morrison were deadlocked for the net prize. There was also a draw in the approaching and putting contest for men between Octavius Knight and A. S. Keller. Knight won in the play-off. In the women's putting contest Mrs. J. K. Drake was the winner.

JOE JACKSON SCORES IN EACH AUTO EVENT

Plainfield Driver Pilots His Correja Special to Victory at Newark.

Joe Jackson, the Plainfield automobile driver, competing in the Olympic Park meet at Newark yesterday afternoon, made decidedly a better impression than he did in his previous try-out on the same track. Driving his Correja Special against some of the best pilots in the universe he scored fifth place in the one-mile time trials, third in the five-mile special invitation for Class E cars, third in the non-stock cars five-mile, third in Class D five-mile, second in three-mile handicap and second in five-mile Australian pursuit race.

Bert Duryea, of Somerville, finished third in the one-mile time trials, driving a Ford special.

Powell in his Special, Theabold in the Mercedes, Jackson in the Correja and Vail in the Mulford lined up for the pursuit race. Vail was on the starting line, while the others were strung out at the quarter posts around the track.

The distance was five miles, and Theabold set out right from the start to win. He put out the Powell car in the first mile, and at two and a half miles had a fifty-foot lead on Vail, and had gained a hundred feet on Jackson's Correja. Vail got back on even terms at the end of the third mile, but Theabold opened up a lead of more than a hundred feet on Vail by the end of the fourth mile. Shortly after completing the fourth mile Vail went out with a puncture.

This left only two cars on the track—Jackson in the Correja and Theabold in the Mercedes. The latter won by more than a hundred yards. Some of the spectators, who were confused and believed it was a handicap race instead of a pursuit race, clamored for the judges to award the decision to Jackson, but the decision stood.

NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME FOR CLIFF RANDOLPH

Plainfield Hurler Shines in Sunday Iron Man Feat.

Cliff Randolph did the iron-man stunt Sunday, pitching two of the greatest games of his career for the Perth Amboy Club of the Atlantic League that was. In the first game he pitched his second no-hit, no-run game of the season, and in the second contest allowed hits in only the first and ninth innings. He beat the Franklins by 1 to 0, and the St. Anthonys by 4 to 3. The scores:

WILLIAMS PUT OUT; M'LAUGHLIN FAVORED

Veteran Will Probably Beat Johnston for National Singles.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 7.—The national lawn tennis championship in singles for 1915 will go to a California player. Two famous "native son" players won the right on the courts of the West Side Club here yesterday afternoon to meet in the final round of the thirty-fifth annual tournament of the national association.

William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, eliminated R. Norris Williams, 2d, of Philadelphia, in a sensational five-set match, by scores of 5—7, 6—4, 5—7, 6—2, 6—2, while Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, who already hold two legs on the all-comers' challenge bowl, put out T. Roosevelt Pell, of New York, 6—2, 6—0, 7—5.

McLoughlin's victory was generally predicted, for the famous Davis cup player has outranked his opponent of today for several years. Johnston's defeat of Williams was unexpected, and proved to be the biggest upset in a national tournament for several seasons. The young Californian, placed sixth in the 1914 ranking, won his victory over the present title-holder by superior play and generalship and without the semblance of a fluke.

CHIEF KIELY WINS FAT MEN'S RACE

Athletics Feature the Annual Outing of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus.

The annual picnic given by the Watchung Council, No. 552, Knights of Columbus, Sunday afternoon at David T. Kenney's grove in Scotch Plains was a gala affair, fully three hundred members and their friends enjoying the outing and fun provided by the committee. Promptly at 1:30 two "rapid transits" conveyed a large crowd from the club rooms on West Front street, while scores of individual automobile parties arrived on the grounds throughout the entire afternoon.

The principal feature of the afternoon's program was a baseball game between the married and single men, the former defeating the latter by a narrow margin. Many disagreed with Umpire H. P. Greenwood, saying his decisions were entirely too one-sided. Despite the many threats he survived the game. Other attractions were races for practically every attendant on the field, handsome prizes being awarded the winners. The list of events and winners was as follows: Fifty-yard dash, girls under fifteen, won by Miss Elizabeth Harper; fifty-yard dash, boys under fifteen, won by Jack Cannon; fireman's race won by Otto Linke and LeRoy Coffee; girls' race, Miss Helen Brynairski; two-legged race, Otto and Gerald Linke; back dash, Dan McCormick and Gerald Linke; shoe race, Elmer Blimm; boys' race, over fifteen, Martin McDonough; babies' race, Tom Strapp and Margaret Freeman. The latter was one of the most pleasing of the events, little tots under five years being registered in the affair.

Probably the most exciting race of the day was the fat man's race, in which were entered Chief of Police Kiely and Lieutenant Maurice Higgins. Before the crack of the pistol the former started out with John A. McNally. Despite the calls and shouts of the crowd the two kept an even pace until very near the tape, when the Chief put an extra spurt on and won the run. In the other, Maurice Higgins was the winner, by a good margin, sprinting far ahead of his competitors.

Following the races a tug-of-war arranged between the married and the single men was staged and provoked screams of laughter, the former again defeating the single men.

Tempting dishes provided by a local caterer furnished refreshments for the guests throughout the afternoon.

NETHERWOODS CINCH CITY LEAGUE PENNANT

East Enders Have Commanding Lead in Interesting Race.

By defeating the Hopes by a score of 14 to 6 in the afternoon bill yesterday, the Netherwoods cinched the City League flag. The Hope team was badly crippled, although it is credited with eleven bingles. The East Enders pounded the pill hard, consistent clouting by the Coughlin brothers, Moran and Venezio making victory for the Chapel team an absolute impossibility. "Hoppy" Walls, a third baseman, twirled part of the game for the "anchor" outfit.

STAR ATHLETE IS DEAD AT RAHWAY

George Schweitzer, One of Local Team's Finest Opponents, Succumbs.

DEATH SHOCKS TOWN

Youth Was Twenty-one Years Old and Was One of County's Best Football, Baseball and Basketball Players.

George Edward Schweitzer, aged twenty-one years, one of the best known High School athletes that has ever competed against Plainfield and North Plainfield High School teams, died suddenly in the Elizabeth General Hospital, Saturday afternoon, and as a result the sorrow in all of Rahway's athletic circles is almost as keen as the sadness in his own home in that town. Schweitzer was removed from his home in Rahway to the Elizabeth hospital, August 22, and underwent an operation for a dangerous abscess on the brain. The operation was successful and the patient rallied well, due to his good physique. The crisis occurred Thursday last and all seemed well until Saturday, when he became delirious. It was deemed necessary to again enter the wound and the patient died during the operation.

Last year, as in previous years, Schweitzer played against Plainfield High School in football, baseball and basketball and was a performer of unusual merit in each sport. He was graduated from Rahway High School last June.

He was prominent in Rahway High School athletics for a number of years, and had been one of the prime factors in carrying the school's colors to victory in many a hard tussle on the football field, the diamond, the track and the basketball court. He was untiring, fearless, and a keen player in every game in which he participated. No struggle was too hard for him, and he never shirked one instant. More than that, he was a clean player, and was at all times a man. Although he has gone, his example and memory will stay with his companions.

It was reported when at first Mr. Schweitzer was taken to the hospital that the abscess might have been caused by a blow received during an altercation that took place in a basketball game at Woodbridge last winter, at which a Plainfield referee officiated, and this report gained more or less publicity.

In order to set this matter correctly before the public, Dr. W. E. Cladek was interviewed last night, and he stated positively that the blow the unfortunate man received on that occasion had not the slightest thing to do with the affection that was the ultimate cause of his death. The abscess from which he suffered was on the left side of his head, and the blow he received was on the right side. Furthermore, Dr. Cladek stated, Mr. Schweitzer had suffered from a lesion in the left ear for several years, and had been treated for it at various times. He had suffered pain in that organ and that region for a long time.

THIRTEEN UNLUCKY FOR "TONE" DENNY

Abstainers Met Their Fate After Long League Argument.

It took the Clinton Avenue team thirteen innings to hang one on the Abstainers yesterday afternoon, the score of the tilt being 4 to 1. Matters were even up until the fatal thirteenth, when the Clintonians busied themselves and landed on Tone Denny for three tallies.

COPPERHEAD SNAKE ATTACKS BORO LAD

Frank Deluccia is Bitten in the Heel by Reptile While Out Walking.

Frank Deluccia, the nine-year-old son of Antonio Deluccia, of 306 Grove street, is being treated at Muhlenberg Hospital for snake bite. While walking in the mountains Sunday afternoon with his father, the boy was bitten by a copperhead snake. The boy was barefooted and the wound was inflicted in the heel.

The boy came upon the snake suddenly and without warning it sunk its fangs in the thick skin of his heel. Deluccia killed the snake at once and hurried with his boy to the nearest drug store, where he was told to summon a physician at once. The physician ordered the boy's removal to the hospital.

The body of the dead snake was found and examined by the physicians. They pronounced it a copperhead. It was about two feet in length. Frank passed a restless night Sunday night, but was better yesterday, and it is thought that all danger of fatal results is passed.

NETHERWOOD FRESH AIR HOME CLOSES FOR SEASON

The services Sunday afternoon marked the closing of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, the children leaving yesterday morning for their homes in New York. Miss Curry, the matron, will be back and forth between New York and Netherwood all the week arranging for the closing of the Home for the winter, and will enter upon her work at the Little Missionary Day Nursery, St. Mark's place, New York, by the middle of the month. Assisting in the closing of the house this week are several mothers who were members of the last company brought from the city, who are staying behind for that purpose.

The speakers at Sunday's services were the Rev. Dr. Charles M. Anderson, of the First Methodist church, and the Rev. E. R. Brown, of the Dunellen Presbyterian church. The quartet choir of the Methodist church sang.

In point of numbers the Home this summer has taken care of more mothers and children than ever before.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Everyone who has read Jean Webster's fascinating story, "Daddy Long-Legs," will welcome the announcement that Henry Miller's production of the story in play form has been booked for an engagement at the Plainfield Theatre on Saturday evening, September 11. This charming comedy, with its remarkable blend of tender pathos, wholesome humor and delightful sentiment, has proved irresistible to theatre-goers even during the recent period of business depression caused by the European war. The comedy ran twenty-five weeks in Chicago, where it created a new house record at Powers' Theatre. It has more recently ended an entire year's engagement at the Gaiety Theatre in New York, where it established itself as the reigning hit of recent years on Broadway. An even more remarkable feat was placed to the credit of Miss Webster's stage story when "Daddy Long-Legs" had a five weeks' run in San Francisco, notwithstanding the fact that no other play in the theatrical history of the State had been offered at the two-dollar scale of prices for a period of time greater than three weeks. The stage story is told in four acts, and the settings provided by Henry Miller are remarkable for their realism and elaborateness.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

"Fanchon the Cricket," with Mary, Lottie and Jack Pickford in the principal parts, which ushered in the fall season at the U. S. Astor Theatre, yesterday, to crowded audiences, will be the chief attraction again today. It is the first time the three members of this famous film family have appeared in a subject together, and their work is of the highest quality. "Fanchon the Cricket" unfolds a story that possesses especial appeal for old as well as young. There is not an uninteresting moment in the film. It affords Mary Pickford opportunity to give full play to her remarkably expressive features. Tomorrow's principal film attraction will be "The House of the Lost Court," by the Edison Company, in which Miss Viola Dana will play the leading part. Thursday, Olga Petrova in "The Vampire," will be the feature film.

Autumn Dress for Women

SUITS, DRESSES AND COATS
Marks the Opening, Tomorrow, Wednesday, of

LA GALERIE WANAMAKER

(The Gallery of Fashion)

Between the French Salons at the Broadway end and the English Shops at the Fourth avenue end, La Galerie Wanamaker holds all the fashion secrets of the new season.

Just a whisper of what they are:

Cheruit, Premet, Worth, Jeanne Lanvin, Drecoll, Bernard

Brannt, Charles Klein, Maurice Mayer and Bullog have designed some perfectly fascinating new models. Evening wraps, tailored suits and dresses for the afternoon and evening are in the collection. The original models are here.

The Paquin Leather Coat has been reproduced in purple leather with black leather finishing and trimming of beaver; ready for the races and the car.

English Clothes

such as a woman usually goes to London for, are here; a larger, more interesting variety in homespuns, tweeds and bright colors than New York has ever seen.

Bannockburn Sports Skirts

Quite new. Made out of blankets, in plaids and wonderful colorings; to be worn with plain colored velvet coats, lined with silks that harmonize with the colors of the skirts.

Informal Out-Door Suits

Of loom-knitted cloth in uncommon mixtures; Norfolk coats, some with fur collars; plain, short skirts, with pockets. These are for travel, sports, or shopping—for any informal outdoor wear.

Dresses—a Delightful Choice

Serge is one of the Autumn features for morning and street wear. Furs are used—but not in all cases. Taffeta and satin are used with effect; and there are pretty little touches of organdie and silk on collars and cuffs. Some dresses are $16.50 to $42.50. Dresses of crepe de chine, satin, charmeuse, chiffon, striped taffetas, crepe Georgette, and velvet, are $16.50 to $115. Some have fur on collar, cuffs, and edge of graduated tunic. How pretty this beaver looks on the jungle brown satin! The Russian blouse and Cossack coat are shown in these dresses.

Evening dresses—$27.50 to $198—are of charmeuse, taffeta, chiffon brilliante, nets and velvets, combined with jet, spangles, iridescence and laces. Black is a leading feature. Glowing colors, such as the illusion of a flame, are very striking.

Few Duplicates in Tailored Suits

Paquin, Lanvin, Premet, Jenny, Bernard—all have been generous in suggestions. There are many, many models, and but few of a kind. Serges, gabardines, whipcords, broadcloths, mixtures, wool velours and velvets are $16.50 to $150. Fur-trimmed suits begin at $25. Swinging coat, tight-fitting tailored model, three-quarter coat and coat that reaches to the hem of the dress, plain tailored and more or less elaborately trimmed—a wonderful variety.

The Coquetry of the New Coats

Eyes just peep out over high fur collar. Skirts swing with a dash. We never heard of so many, so handsome coats in early September; wool velour, velveteens, whipcords, cylinder cloth, zibeline and corduroy; trimmed with beaver, Hudson seal, skunk-dyed raccoon, baronduki-dyed squirrel, Krimmer. $37.50 to $175.

Motor coats are of imported tweeds, plaids, plain wool velours, plaid eponge and mannish mixtures, lavishly trimmed with fur, full swing to skirt, smartly belted; $27.50 to $78.50.

Evening wraps are luxurious; chiffon velvets, soft satins, brocades, trimmed with fashionable furs; sapphire and turquoise blue, orchid, apricot, French gray, black, white; deep borders and large Russian collars of fur, $90 to $275.

SMALL BOARDS UPHELD.

The Gill small board of freeholders act is constitutional, according to the decision just given by Justice Swayze in the Bergen county case. Three times Bergen county has voted for a smaller board, but the people have twice been defeated in their desire for a more responsible, economical and honest administration of their affairs by the machinations of the politicians and road contractors. Here in Union the people have once adopted the act, but it was similarly upset by one of the above-mentioned court decisions.

By the Swayze decision, as the Trenton Times points out, the efforts of the conspirators to prevent the Bergen County Clerk from accepting the petitions of candidates for the smaller board have been nullified, and at the September primary candidates will be nominated for the November election and Bergen county will be rid of the gang that has dominated its affairs for years and wasted hundreds of thousands of dollars of the people's money.

More than one-half of the counties of New Jersey have voted in favor of the smaller board. These eleven or twelve counties contain more than two-thirds of the population of the state. That is convincing evidence that the plan is meritorious, and it is strengthened by the fact that not a single county that has tried the smaller board has voted to go back to the old plan.

In November Mercer county will vote upon, and the Times predicts that it will adopt, the small board referendum, with assurance that the will of the people will not again be set aside, as has been the case in Mercer, Burlington, Morris, Bergen and Union. It has been a long fight to get for the people a reform that is so desirable, and which Middlesex, Hunterdon and Monmouth have had for more than ten years.

IMPROVING DEFENSES.

There is a lot of satisfaction in the news that comes from Washington that the pork barrel is to be sacrificed to guns and battleships, and that President Wilson will make rigid economy, so far as the appropriations for ordinary expenses are concerned, the keynote of his message to the Congress which convenes in December. All this, of course, will be with the idea of providing a fund for the national defense. Handsome post offices in small villages, the digging out of tiny creeks, and other useless expenses are to be done away with, and the plan will include the abandonment of many useless army posts, which were of service when we had to fight Indians, but are useless now.

There are a number of navy yards which are of virtually no value to the country so far as maintaining the efficiency of the fleet is concerned. They are declared to be the same kind of monuments to political pull as the army posts mentioned. Much money could be saved in this direction, it is believed.

With danger of serious trouble with Germany apparently removed, President Wilson, it has been said authoritatively, believes he can proceed with more freedom in the development of his national defence plans, because there can be no suspicion that they are directed against any particular nation. Of course the Hesperian incident may still bring trouble between us and Germany, but the President may be depended upon to handle that satisfactorily.

Up to the present time the various political parties, instead of being threatened with contests in the primaries, have had trouble finding enough men willing to run for office. So far as we have heard there is not to be a primary contest for a county or local office. Certainly when conditions are as they are this year, it cannot be said that the new direct primary method of nominating candidates is an expensive one. Better make the best of it you kiddies!

Former Secretary of State Samuel D. Dickinson is against votes for women. He says that "the political arena is no place for them." Judging from some facts regarding Mr. Dickinson's past, which Mayor Mark M. Fagan, of Jersey City, was compelled to disclose, "Colonel Sam" never found it necessary to have them in his home, either.

So peaceful are the Sundays now that some bars do only their usual business.—Paterson Call.

Can it be that the influence of Billy Sunday was so small in the Passaic county seat that the saloons are not compelled to close one day a week?

Now that Labor Day is over, let's look for a business boom. Great things are expected of September this year in a trade way, and here's hoping that they will materialize.

Was there ever a campaign which so lacked enthusiasm in all parties as has been the case thus far this year?

It won't be such a long while before we'll have to get the old furnace ready.

FOUR CASES DISPOSED OF IN BOROUGH COURT

There were four police cases in the borough to be disposed of yesterday, all of them plain drunks. In three cases sentence was suspended, while in the fourth a fine of fifteen dollars was imposed.

Sheridan Jones, 42 years old, of the borough, was found on Somerset street unable to take care of himself Saturday night. Marshal Pope locked him up. Sentence was suspended in his case.

Sentence was also suspended upon John Shannon, 42 years old, of 445 West Third street, Plainfield, whom Roundsman Keller picked up on Somerset street drunk, as well as upon Carl Vestmark, of 39 Craig place, who was arrested by the same officer in about the same spot.

The fine was imposed upon Frank Carroll, 31 years old, of Manning avenue. A call came to the police Saturday night asking that an officer be sent to a Somerset street address to care for a drunken man. When Chief Marshal Weiss, answering the call in person, reached the address given he found Carroll stretched out on the floor of the house in a drunken sleep. Mrs. Sutton, who resides at the address, said that Carroll had walked into her house and dropped down upon the floor and that she was unable to make him get up and go away.

$3,000 FOR POOR FUND.

The borough poor fund provided for in the budget adopted recently stipulates the sum of $3,000 for Overseer Becker's use, instead of the $2,000 named in the tentative budget fixed at the beginning of the year. That the original amount would not have been enough is shown clearly by the demands which have been made upon the fund. Already Mr. Becker has used $2,350 of the $3,000 provided, and has only $650 left to see him through the remaining months of the year.

The best position now open to one of your ability and experience will be secured by a want advertiser.

Scarce twenty years have claimed

Extravagance!

Brown bought a car for $600, completely equipped, and Jones held up his hands in holy horror at such a holocaust of perfectly good money.

So Jones bought a $450 car, put on a $75 starter, a $5 tire-carrier, a new-fangled radiator and hood for $20, oversized the tires for $12, put on an $8 bumper, spent $15 on crown fenders, and had a tire-pump built in for $25.

Pay $600 for a car? Huh! He should say not!

Beyond Our Depth

If a trolley-car conductor was ill and a fellow-employee asked the attending physician how the sick man was: and if the doctor replied that the patient was still "holding out," would the inquirer be justified, in loyalty to his friend's honor, in knocking down the doctor for the insinuation?—Motorman.

This is too deep for us. Whatye-mean, holding out? Isn't knocking down the same thing?

Question Of How Much Instead Of Whether

"Did you drop in at the church Sunday morning?"
"Sure."
"How much?"

Words Of Wisdom

When a vice crusade is on, in a town where there is collusion between the police and the underworld, when a woman brings with her to police court the exact amount of her fine, there is good ground for suspicion. In other words, when she brings her fine in her stocking, it is well not to take much stock in her fining.

A Dress Rehearsal

Say, sister, before you decide to marry some booze-hoister with the expectation of reforming him, you would do well to practise putting on thin clothes, an old shawl, leaky shoes, etc., borrowing a neighbor's little child and standing around outside a saloon door for a few hours each night, waiting for the place to close up.

These Kittens Must Be Climbers

A for sale ad. in the Kalamazoo Gazette offers two Persian kittens and a thirty-two-foot ladder, all in one breath.

Yes, If You Dare

When one has paid an exorbitant charge for the upkeep of his car, and the garage man offers to receipt the bill, would it be right to tell the garage man, bitterly, that the bill is already "autograft"?—J. S., St. Louis.

The Verbal Discard

Hopeful entrant in the ought-to-be-canned contest: "Dewdrop Inn" as the name of a summer cottage or camp.

A Biological Transposition

Just Alike Except For The Difference

Now Richard's spouse believes in Hub, and when things don't go right with him, she knows she can, in every case, depend on dear old Dick to 'phone.

But Tommy's wife—ah ha, ah ha! there's quite another "casus" grim! She knows that, should his habits err, she must depend on dictaphone.

The Young Lady Across The Way

We observed to the young lady across the way that her father's utterance appeared somewhat enigmatical and she said he did seem to have a little cold.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Carriers Of Pneumonia

AS WE have observed about once a month in this vertex of vulgarity, most civilized, indoor dwellers keep a stock of pneumococci or "cold" germs on hand, or rather in mouth at all times. But as we have also invariably howevered, only about one in every five of these stocks is marketable in the shape of gratuitous "cold," sore throat or pneumonia. The other eighty per cent. of germ distributors seem to have non-virulent pneumococci—pneumonia germs that won't or can't start anything for some reason or other.

Who are the dangerous twenty per cent.? Whom must one avoid in order to escape "catching cold"?

Well, obviously it is safe to keep a good six feet away from anybody who has a fresh sneeze, an old cough or a red rag on his neck. At a minimum distance of six feet you are comparatively safe from the open-face sneeze, the explosive utterance and the seventy-five centimeter cough; you are out of range.

But in these days of skilled warfare it is possible to conceal the most destructive batteries from observation. Supposing the enemy carries no red flag, supposing he looks quite innocent—he coughs not, neither does he sneeze—then how can you tell whether he is dangerous to associate with?

Drs. Doches and Avery come to the rescue in a recent number of the Journal of Experimental Medicine, which is a genuine than-whicher. Their studies show that there are two sources of danger in the spread of pneumococci. One lies in the occurrence of disease-producing "cold" germs among individuals associated with cases of pneumonia; the other in the fact that patients recovering from pneumonia harbor the responsible organism in the mouth for a considerable length of time.

These are probably the prolific carriers of "colds." If your friend has a friend down with pneumonia or sore throat or a bad "cold" and spends all his spare time holding her hand or rubbing her temples, look out for him. If your friend has just recovered from such an illness himself and you can't cross the street when you see him coming, then be brief in your salutation anyway. Brevity is a most commendable virtue. This world would be a lot better off if it could be spread as easily as the all too common "cold."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

How To Quit The Pipe

Can you suggest anything to help a man stop smoking? I smoke a pipe and it seems impossible to break away.

Answer—Mouthwash and gargle night and morning with one-fourth of one per cent. solution of silver nitrate. Non-meat diet. Eat plenty of fresh fruit, lots of candy, and chew gum like a stenographer.

Gastritis—What Is It?

Will you kindly explain the nature of acute gastritis and state whether there is any cure for it?

Answer—Gastro, stomach; itis, inflammation. Acute gastritis is caused by corrosive poisons and in exceedingly rare instances by severe infection. It is usually fatal—but all that belches is not gastritis.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

THE University of Illinois is a striking illustration of what happens when an American state wakes up and begins to get interested in education. Illinois had done so well with men like Lincoln who were educated by hand that it didn't think it worth while to spend any money on higher education until the seventies. The University at that time was an industrial school, the first college in the country to give shop training. It pursued a feeble and neglected existence until the nineties and at every legislative session some honest farmer delegate rose up in his cowhide boots to move that the University be discontinued and the campus be devoted to the fattening of pigs.

Twenty-five years ago, however, the farmers suddenly discovered that their fields could be educated through the school of agriculture and from this minute the University of Illinois began to grow. At that time it had only a few hundred students and Illinois college teams abused its football players with impunity. Now it has 5,500 students and has beaten all football teams as far east as they could be found out of hiding.

The University of Illinois is located in Champaign and Urbana on a vast campus made out of superfine corn land. This campus rises in places to an eminence of five feet. It has more flowers on it than any campus east of California. It has many vast buildings, some of which are fortunately hidden by its magnificent trees. It has the largest drill hall in the world and enough cadets to officer an army if necessary. It has a cattle-judging barn more handsome than some palaces, the ninth largest college library in the country, a lot of fraternity houses which make the city hotel look small and unimposing, one of the greatest engineering schools in the world and a presidential candidate in the shape of James R. Mann, an alumnus.

To move that the University be discontinued and the campus be devoted to the fattening of pigs

Illinois also has George Huff. He does not have a Doctor's degree, but he is one of the most successful members of the faculty, having turned out as graduates from his baseball team about fifty big league players. Illinois has held the baseball championship of the collegiate universe for many years.

The state of Illinois gives its university $2,500,000 to spend each year and has more farmers with college degrees than any other state in consequence.

Views Of The Press

Finishing A Story

WHEN we were boys in the country and read everything we could lay our hands on from Butler's "Analogy" to the statistical reports from the Department of Agriculture, the desire used to be strong upon us to finish a piece of fiction a little differently from the way the author had finished it, to add something, to make the ending a little more nearly true to nature as we saw nature. But there was another feeling that operated as a check upon that one—a feeling of reverence for men who could write, a sense that it would be desecration to lay profane hands upon their product. The former feeling abides. The latter has gone, since we have come to know men who write for what they are, mostly clay with a little gold cropping out here and there. And so, for the first time, we are going to gratify the desire that has made its abiding place with us through the years.

George Bingham of Paducah, Ky., known principally for his "Hogwallow" locals, has written a little story entitled "The Second Drink." A lawsuit is on trial, involving a fine farm and considerable money. A newspaper reporter, going to the courtroom, finds the plaintiff in the case sitting on the courthouse steps, smoking desperately. An invalid, if he loses the suit he must go to work as a manual laborer at a dollar a day. The jury is about to come in with a verdict. Impatient to hear, the man is afraid to hear. The reporter goes up. The verdict is read. The reporter goes down, and says to the man who waits, "The jury has reported, and you——" But the man stops him. Good or bad, he can't bear to hear it suddenly. "We'll go to the saloon," he says, "and take a drink. I'll pay for it with my last two bits. Then, if I have won the case, you order a second round."

They drank slowly, the litigant's eyes on the reporter. When the glasses were empty, the reporter moved toward the door. The man followed him. On the sidewalk, the reporter placed his hand on the man's and said, "Old man, I can't take another drink because I might get on a spree, and then I'd lose my job—but you won the case." That is the way the story ends. That is the logical ending. But, out of the old desire, we supply this one:

The reporter lied like a gentleman. He could have taken two drinks. Any reporter can. And this was an average reporter. He was 25 cents poorer than the litigant would have been had the case gone against him. The reporter didn't order the second round of drinks because he didn't have the price. But he was a drink ahead on the deal.

If George Bingham doubts the accuracy of this addition to his story, we refer him to Irvin S. Cobb, Guy Rawlston or John Mack Melone. Or, if he has not time to come to Nashville or to go to New York to consult one of these, he may consult anybody in Paducah who has known reporters.—Nashville Tennessean.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT

People's Legal Friend

BY B. R. BRANSON

This Is A Cellar: Not A Drain

Q. We of the east end of town (Bismarck, N. D.) want to know whether we can sue the city for damages caused by unnecessary grading. Heretofore channels along the streets have taken away a good deal of the surface water. The so-called improvements have raised the street higher than the sidewalk and backed the water into the yard and cellar, doing a great deal of damage and actually sapping away the foundations of our house. Have we any remedy?

A. While the city has the right to improve the streets, it must do so in a careful manner and not in such a way as to injure abutting property owners. Where a city performs work of this character in a negligent manner, so that injury proximately results therefrom, there will be a liability. The facts as given by you seem to indicate that the city has been negligent. If such is the case, and if the negligence caused the injury, the city will be liable.

A Check Not Necessarily A Receipt

Q. A check is a receipt for money paid, but is it a receipt of payment for a particular purpose, as "for labor to date"?

A. A check, in so far as it acts as a receipt, stands on the same footing with all other receipts for the payment of money. It is not conclusive evidence that the debt is discharged, but, like other receipts, is open to explanation. It affords what is known as prima facie evidence—that is, it puts the burden upon the other party of proving that the debt has not been paid in full.

See A Lawyer

Q. May a man make a deed to his property without employing an attorney?

A. Yes, if he is familiar with the requisite formalities. It would be highly desirable, however, to have your lawyer attend to the matter for you.

A Bill Of Sale

Q. Please tell me whether a bill of sale may be assigned? A. Yes.

A Surety's Liability

Q. Could a surety whose principal failed in business or absconded lose the possession of his property without his wife's consent? Does the statute of exemptions cover only that part of the property over which the wife has control?

A. If the principal fails or absconds, an action may be brought against the surety. If judgment is recovered, however, so much of his property as comes within the statute of exemptions in your state will be exempt from execution.

Pepper Talks

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

By Always Thinking

It is said that somebody once asked Newton how he had made his marvelous discoveries in the physical realm, and his reply was: "By Always Thinking about them." Back of all habit is Thought. And, too, Thought may be made anybody's greatest and most useful habit.

By Always Thinking you shut out the useless and purposeless affairs that, blood-sucker-like, seek to take from you without giving anything helpful in return.

By Always Thinking, the unkind and cutting words that so often escape your lips never are uttered. And By Always Thinking, the Kind and Cheerful Thoughts you have already accumulated grow richer in value while their power for hatching and Happiness goes on and on.

By Always Thinking, the mistake that you make to-day will not be the mistake you make to-morrow. And By Always Thinking you will most materially reduce the total number of mistakes you make.

By Always Thinking you need have little concern as to your Life Station. Your Progress—no matter where you are—will be steady and permanent, while the satisfaction of efficient service reflected back to you personally, as well as in the face of the whole world, will make you one of the world's real players.

How Easily Done

I vowed that I would not forget,
The day she went away,
I swore undying faith, and yet
That faith has gone astray.

A thousand swift attractions came
To turn my feeble mind,
And now this morning, red with shame,
My broken vows I find.

Beside this wet and cheerless spot
I stand a saddened man,
Last night the ice-box I forgot,
And, oh, it overran!

And then I went up to her room,
And had a sudden shock,
When I discovered in my gloom
I had not wound the clock.
—Paterson Press.

When she comes back she'll vent her ire,
Of that I have no doubt;
For when last night the house took fire
I forgot to put it out.

The milkman is intelligent,
He takes the well known bun;
For always when he brings his milk
He leaves it in the sun.
—Chicago Tribune.

The iceman is a clever cuss,
For when he comes each day.
To leave the ice, he takes a fork
And chips it all away.

They Built a Huge Wooden Horse.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — The Wooden Horse That Helped Troy to Fall.

"THIS is the story of a famous horse," said daddy, taking the kiddies on his knees.

"A wooden one," daddy went on. "But he was so important to one nation that he seems real."

"What was his name?" the kiddies wanted to know.

"The Trojan Horse. Now the city of Troy was so strong that an army of Greeks had tried to capture it for ten years and always failed. The Trojans believed their safety lay in a huge statue of the goddess Minerva, fallen from heaven, which stood in their city.

"While this statue stood they believed their city could never be captured. But one night two Greeks disguised themselves, stole into Troy and carried off Minerva to camp.

"Nothing happened, but the Trojans wept and made as much fuss as if something had. When the Greeks saw Minerva made no difference they made new plans."

"To fight?" the kiddies asked.

"Not exactly," said daddy. "They built a huge wooden horse, hollow inside, and left it outside the city gate, a present, to make up for the Minerva they stole. Then the Greeks broke camp and sailed away on their ships, just as if they had given up capturing Troy. The crafty Greeks! Before they sailed they filled the hollow horse with soldiers.

"When the Trojans saw the ships sailing away they thought they were free, opened the city gates and trooped out—to meet the wooden horse. Ten long years they had been shut up in Troy. No wonder they were glad!

"Even when the priest warned them to be careful they thought the horse a present and admired it. Finally they voted to drag it inside the city.

"Now the Greeks had left one man behind, who sneaked into Troy, shouting he had been forgotten; that the Greeks did not want the wooden horse touched. This made the Trojans want it the more. When night came they made a great festival, dragged the horse inside the gates, danced around it and went to bed, sure the war was over."

"Did the Greek soldier sleep?" asked the kiddies.

"Not a wink! Soon as Troy was quiet he crept up to the wooden horse and ordered the soldiers inside to jump out and force the city gates open. The whole Greek army then rushed in, for the crafty ships had really sailed only out of sight till nightfall and had returned. So the Greeks captured Troy."

"We liked that story," said the kiddies. And they kissed daddy good night and skipped off to bed.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Nell worked her way between packing boxes, wads of excelsior and broken pieces of box covers that littered the porch and tapped on the door; then went in.

"Hoo-hoo," she called, and the answer proceeded from the cool, roomy bedroom that opened off the dining room. When she entered the darkened room she saw Olive on the bed.

"Are you sick, dear?" she asked, drawing a low rocker to the side of the bed and standing the baby on the floor by her side.

"No, indeed," was the cheerful response. "I'm just resting. I suppose you think nothing short of sickness would make me lie down leaving that porch looking as it does, but I had reached the limit of my strength and I am determined to know when to stop."

"No, Olive, let me help you unpack your wedding presents and get them placed. I can just as well as not," she insisted as Olive smilingly shook her head.

"'There's a whole day tomorrow that ain't touched yet,' and you are just the one who needs the lesson, for you never know when to stop; that's why you are nervous, Nell, dear."

"How can you rest with the porch full of excelsior and half your valuable presents all open to the weather. I would have to get things in some sort of shape before I stopped." Nell had a virtuous expression on her face.

"When Gaylord comes he can drag the cases to one side and I can stuff the excelsior out of sight and sweep the porch when I am rested. I'm fully determined that things shall not spoil my health or happiness." Olive reached out her hand to steady the baby who was working his way up and down supported by the bed.

"He'll be walking everywhere alone soon," she added.

"Things spoil your health." Nell had been thinking of Olive's words. "I don't understand."

"You take better care of things than you do of your health. When I visited you last June you stayed up half the night to finish a dress for Hal. There was no pressing necessity. He had dresses enough, and even if he had not, it would have been far better for you to get your rest and save your strength." Olive looked serious.

"The dress had been around so long it had got on my nerves, and I felt better to sit up and finish it," explained Nell.

"You are one of the women who think anything you take out of yourself is so much clean gain, but you can never escape the reckoning. You are sapping your vitality every time you do it, and that means nervousness and loss of control. It affects Dick and is ruinous to Hal. A mother's first and most sacred duty is to take care of her health and keep her nerves in first class order." Olive reached for Nell's hand. "I've wanted to preach to you for a long time."

"That's all very well in theory, but when it comes to running a house and caring for a baby it's not easy to practice." Nell's tone was somewhat defiant. "A man likes to have his home neat and his meals on time and a baby must be cared for willy-nilly."

"True, but if you were considering health first the stopping place would be far other than it is. For instance, it never would have occurred to you as possible to stop unpacking till you were through and rest, as you said, would have been out of the question till all the mess was cleared away; then you would have been not tired but exhausted, and in nine cases out of ten there would have been no time left for rest. By night you would have been a nervous wreck, the atmosphere full of nervous tension would have affected the baby; the sleep of both would have been affected and you would have been unrefreshed in the morning."

"Oh, dear," sighed Nell, "and I prided myself on keeping things up in good shape."

"That's just it. I pride myself on keeping my nerves in shape; which is most important?"

Temperance

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by THE W. C. T. U.

The United Kingdom (England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland).

A compulsory educational law upon the statute book, "Alcohol and the Human Body" (Sir Victor Horsley and Mary Sturge) in the hands of the teachers.

At the great international Congress held in London in 1913, with its 8,000 members from all over the world, Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to the king, in outlining the questions concerning alcohol and its relation to the race, declared it to be a destructive poison.

The present European war is strongly endorsing abstinence from intoxicating liquor. Lord Kitchener has strictly forbidden the drinking of intoxicating liquors by the British officers and soldiers.

Germany.

Requires temperance instruction in schools. Through traveling expositions teaching the masses the evil effects of alcohol; three of these move constantly through German cities. Kaiser Wilhelm, in his preparations for war, said to the students of the army and navy schools, "You must keep out of the German beer garden. The times demand iron-hearted men, and no man can be a man of iron nerves whose brain has been poisoned by alcohol."

Russia.

The first Russian Anti-Alcohol Congress was held in 1910. One hundred and thirty-eight lectures were given. Most complete statistics against the use of alcohol had been compiled. The charts were declared masterpieces. Count Tolstoi had for years been doing constructive work with his pen, and Michael Demotrovitch Tchelisheff was at work introducing temperance measures in the Russian Parliament.

When the Russian Czar was told by his ministers, "If we give up the sale of vodka, we are lost," he uttered these memorable words: "If the nation can be rich only by the poverty of my people, then I should prefer that the nation should be poor." The Czar's first ukase closed all the saloons and public drinking places throughout his dominion while the war continued. The second declared that all clubs should cease the serving of vodka. The third declared prohibition throughout his empire. Thus the traffic in vodka, containing 40 per cent. of alcohol, and which was a government monopoly, ceased in Russia.

What Do We Want Congress to Do?

We want Congress to submit a resolution to the States providing for national prohibition.

We want Congress to remember that this is the constitutional way for amending the constitution.

We want Congress to remember that this is the way in which the seventeen other amendments to the Constitution have been adopted.

We want Congress to remember that this is simply a demand of the people for a return to the people of one of the functions of State government.

We want Congress to remember that the only way the people can pass upon proposed amendments to the Federal Constitution is through the machinery of State government.

We want Congress to remember that even if, in its judgment, the country is not ready for Prohibition, the people are not ready to be denied the right to amend the constitution.

We want Congress to remember that a refusal to pass this resolution at the next session injects the liquor question into the next Presidential campaign much to our regret.

The last report of the inebriate asylum at Knoxville, Ia., shows that since Des Moines outlawed the saloons, the contributions of Polk county to that institution have fallen off tremendously. "From an economic standpoint alone this demonstrates that the saloon is a burden rather than an asset to the taxpayer," says the Des Moines Capital. "It is costing Polk county $1,000 less a quarter to pay its share for keeping up the Knoxville institution than before the county went dry. Not long ago The Capital published figures showing that under the dry regime, court costs have decreased and crime has fallen off to a remarkable extent. Working conditions in Des Moines were never better than today, and money that formerly went to the saloon now goes to the family. It has taken this country a long time to learn that the saloon is an economic waste."

PROSECUTION DROPPED.

Charged with stealing a blanket from the carriage of George Barry, of Howard street; August 21, Frank Vitelli and Jimmie Vitelli, of 11 Greenbrook road; Frank Martin, of Somerset street, and Tony Cosin, of 19 Harmony street, were arrested Saturday by Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough, and arraigned before Justice Thomas H. Snape. Petit larceny was the formal charge. As there was a disposition on the part of all parties to adjust the difficulties amicably, a settlement for the missing blanket was made and prosecution was dropped.

"Getting along" with half-competent help, in home, office, store or factory, is a poor plan—a poor business policy.

The quest for the Competent Worker is important enough to justify a real campaign of classified advertising in the Plainfield Daily Press—although it does not often require a very long campaign.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS FIRE ENGINE BID

International Motor Company's Proposal of $3,842 the Lowest of Eight.

2ND MACK PURCHASE

One Piece of Equipment Made by This Concern Now Stored at Headquarters—Will be Delivered Sixty Days After Contract is Signed.

An investigation by the councilmanic fire and buildings committee into the merits of the eight proposals to furnish the city with a new automobile combination hose and chemical engine has resulted in the contract being awarded to the International Motor Company, a concern which has a plant in this city. The bid was $4,092 with an allowance of $250 for the old hose wagon, making a net offer of $3,842. This was one of two proposals made by the International Motor Company, the other being for $3,189 with an allowance of $700 for the hose wagon.

When the bids were opened at the July meeting of the Common Council eight proposals were read and representatives of a majority of the concerns were present. Attached to the International Motor Company's proposals was a letter calling the attention of the Council to the fact that the offer was made by a concern having a local factory and employing hundreds of Plainfield mechanics.

The new engine will be delivered sixty days after the contract is signed. This is the second piece of apparatus manufactured by this company that is doing service in the local department at the present time, the big Mack truck in the headquarters house having been purchased from the International Motor Company three years ago. This equipment has given entire satisfaction, according to Chief T. O. Doane.

WOULD REGULATE STREET GATHERINGS

Mayor Calkins Presents Newly Drawn Ordinance Designed to Curb Nuisance.

With a view to regulating street meetings, parades and other public demonstrations that are conducted from time to time along the city's thoroughfares, Mayor Leighton Calkins offered a solution to the problem that has long been troubling the police department, at last night's meeting of the Common Council in the form of a newly drawn ordinance appended to special message No. 6.

It is the general belief that the ordinance has been drafted primarily to take care of conditions that arose recently when the Pillar of Fire revivalists held gatherings of an objectionable character at the juncture of Park avenue and West Second street. The new ordinance, which was passed on two readings, takes care of and regulates all street meetings, parades, processions, etc., and makes it discretionary with the mayor as to whether or not an individual or organization will be allowed to conduct meetings or demonstrations on the public streets.

In the future it will be necessary for those planning to hold affairs of this nature to first obtain a written permit from the mayor on which will be printed the place and time of the event. A violation of the ordinance will make the offender liable to a $20 fine or imprisonment for seven days, or both.

Mayor Calkins, in his message, said in part: "Our streets and public places are primarily for the convenience and accommodation of each member of the public in the pursuit of his lawful affairs; and the assembling of unusual crowds not only tends to restrain such right, but tends also to interfere with traffic and may at any time lead to more or less disturbance and public disorder. In the interest of peace and good order, and the more effectively to regulate traffic, a permit should be required for any unusual use of our streets and other public places. It is entirely possible, for example, that a number of different street meetings and processions might happen to be out on the same night. We need an ordinance requiring permits so that the city authorities may determine, in their discretion, how many and what meetings and parades should be held, and where, and arrange in advance for adequate police supervision, with authority to order any such affair discontinued if found unreasonably to interfere with the public convenience, or the maintenance of good order."

CATHOLIC SCHOOL RE-OPENED TODAY

Interesting Exercises Mark the Resumption of Studies at Local Institution.

ENROLLMENT OVER 570

Sister Blanche, of St. Michael's School, Newark, Succeeds Sister Mary Pius as Mother Superior—Kindergarten Has 34 Enrolled.

St. Mary's parochial school opened this morning with a record attendance, over 570 children enrolling. The formal opening was marked by religious exercises held in St. Mary's church at 8 o'clock, Rev. B. M. Bogan giving a short talk to the children, emphasizing the need as George Washington said, "of religion as a basis of American education." Father Bogan also reminded the children that during the coming year they should do their best and make a good fight if success was to be their goal. He also urged the boys to keep up their splendid standard of behavior and to always give good example to their younger companions.

In the teaching staff there has been one change, Sister Blanche, who has taught in St. Michael's School, Newark, for twenty-five years, taking charge of the whole school and teaching the Eighth grade. Twenty-four pupils have registered in the commercial department which is considered one of the best equipped in the city, sixteen new typewriters of the latest makes having been provided for the students. The latest bookkeeping and stenographic systems are employed in teaching the children and unusually competent instructors are provided. The school is free to Catholic children in this vicinity, a nominal charge being made to insure the books against destruction.

The kindergarten department of the school open today also, 34 youngsters being enrolled. For the majority of these sessions will be held only in the morning while for the older ones school will be open all day, beginning at 9 in the morning, with a respite at 11:30 o'clock resuming studies again at 1 o'clock and stopping for the day at 3:30 o'clock.

About eighteen graduates of St. Mary's Grammar School will enter P. H. S. next Tuesday. For these children no entrance examinations are necessary, the high calibre of the parochial school work being fully recognized at the Ninth street institution. Only the other day a graduate of St. Mary's won a scholarship to St. Peter's College, in Jersey City, and graduates of the commercial department are holding responsible positions in the business world.

PATROLMAN DUNLAP AFTER AUTO LAW VIOLATORS

Joseph Karbon was arrested by Patrolman Dunlap last night for driving his motorcycle at a twenty-five mile clip on Front street. He admitted his guilt to Judge DeMeza this morning, and was given a suspended $20 fine, with a warning that a second offense would mean that he must pay.

Dunlap also arrested Phillip Belikove, of Perth Amboy, for not having dimmers on his lights. As it was his first offense the Judge let him go with a warning.

DR. L. H. REDELINGS WEDS MISS GERTRUDE ABBOTT

Quiet home nuptials marked the marriage of Miss Gertrude Prince Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott, of 413 West Front street, at noon today, to Dr. L. H. Redelings, of Marinette, Wisconsin. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents and was performed by Rev. Dr. Charles Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony. There were no attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Redelings left this afternoon for the West. They will make their home in Rochester, Minn., where Dr. Redelings holds a prominent position on the staff of the Mayo Brother's Hospital. The bride is well known here and has been active in the First Presbyterian church.

SECRETARY LYNN OUTLINES WORK

Program of Three Years' Activities Approved by Boys' Work Committee.

EXTENSION FEATURES

Special Attention to Be Given to High School Boys as Well as Those Who Are Employed—"College Night" Affairs Planned.

The boys' work committee of the Y. M. C. A. met last night with the new boys' secretary, Frederick S. Lynn, and outlined a program which will carry the work along for three years. While every department of boys' work will be looked after, special attention is going to be devoted to the High School boys and the employed boys hereafter, with particular stress laid upon the working boys.

This year a preparatory work among both the classes of boys enumerated will be begun, to be carried out next year with the addition of extension features, such as work for the boys in the shops and factories. The third year this same work will be enlarged and in addition there will be community work among the boys' clubs.

Mr. Lynn has had considerable experience in boys' work and brings to his new field an accurate knowledge of boy life and boy temptations and aspirations. He wishes to work more among the boys in the two High Schools this year, and clubs will therefore be organized both in this city and the borough. "Key" boys will be selected among the student body of each school, and through these boys the students will be reached as in no other way. Weekly suppers will be held and Bible study

NEW BORO SCHOOL NEARLY COMPLETED

Expected That a Part of It Will Be Ready for Occupancy on Monday.

While it is certain that the new Harrison Avenue School will not be finished in time for the opening of the North Plainfield public schools Monday, and that the Somerset School improvements will still be under way, the latter building will be used for regular classes and it is possible that the Harrison Avenue School will also be thrown open to the children.

Workmen are pushing ahead as fast as possible on both jobs. The building and grounds committee of the Board Education has been assured by the contractors that the interior work at the Somerset School will be completed by Monday so that the children can assemble there, and there is an even chance, said Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst this morning, that the Harrison Avenue School will be so far along by Monday that it can be used. It may be necessary to organize classes in half sessions there, but Principal Aungst would rather do that than to run the Somerset School on the half-session basis, he said.

The first teachers' meeting of the school year will be held in the library of the Somerset School, Monday afternoon.

GRACE GEORGE COMING HERE IN "THE NEW YORK IDEA"

Grace George and her New York Playhouse company will appear at the Plainfield Theatre next Tuesday evening in "The New York Idea," by Langdon Mitchell. Guthrie McClintic, Richard Clarke, Mary Nash, Norah Lamison, Eugenia Woodward, Jsephine Lovett and Anita Wood. The complete production assembled for the subsequent run of the comedy at the Playhouse, New York, will be made use of in this city.

NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL FOR EAST END URGED

Civic Ass'n Requests Board of Education to Take Prompt Action.

At the first meeting of the year of the East End Civic Association held last night, a resolution was adopted urging upon the Board of Education the need of a public school for that section of the city and requesting the Board to make suitable provision to care for the children of that section this year. The question of a school for that part of the city gave rise to a general discussion.

The nuisance caused by the converging of two streams of water at Leland and North avenues, making North avenue impassable in times of heavy rain, was brought up and a resolution was addressed to the Board of Freeholders asking the installation of a satisfactory storm sewer.

Attention was called to the fact that in response to a request for lights on Sumner avenue the Council had placed two lights in the block between Front and Second streets, where there at present no residents, and had refused to install them between Second and George streets, where they are needed. A request for a correction of this matter was addressed to the Council.

The attendance last night was good and several new members were elected. The next meeting of the association will be the annual one for the election of officers.

Honor the Memory of Nelson Runyon, Who Passed Away Recently.

Resolutions of condolence on the death of Nelson Runyon, a charter member, were adopted by the Plainfield Bar Association at its meeting in the District Court this morning, and ordered spread on the minutes of the District Court. MANY SUPPORT NEW ORDINANCE Proposed Regulations for "Fly-by-Nights" One Step Nearer Passage.

ONE DISSENTING VOTE

Councilman Hylan the Only One to Object to Passage on Second Reading—Merchants Speak in Favor of Measure—No One Opposes It.

Largely due to the interest displayed by the Business Men's Association, which was represented by a delegation of speakers at last night's session of the Common Council, Councilman Francis J. Blatz's ordinance restricting itinerant merchants, introduced at the July meeting, was adopted on second reading and will be advertised for final disposition at the October Council meeting. If the proposition is going to be passed it is desired to put it into effect before the holiday season, thereby giving local merchants the benefit of it at a time when it is most needed.

Councilman Thomas Hylan was the only one to offer an objection to passing the ordinance on second reading. Councilman Hamilton, who had previously lined up with him, having taken a sudden shift to the affirmative, despite the fact that he expressed himself as being decidedly against the measure previous to last night's hearing. Councilman Hylan explained that he believed that the business men were the only ones who had been given an opportunity to express their views, despite the fact that the hearing last night was given sufficient publicity to attract the attention of the average citizen and newspaper reader. In view of this condition he

MEMBERSHIP CONTEST BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

Business Men's Association Completed Plans for Active Work Last Night.

Plans for an aggressive two weeks' membership campaign were completed at the meeting of the Plainfield Business Men's Association, held last night in Coward's Hall. Harry B. Salter, secretary of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce, who will take active charge of the campaign, was present and arranged to begin work next week. He will be assisted by a local committee of which Samuel Rothberg is the chairman, the other members being C. E. Hulick, John D. Johnston, M. C. Van Arsdale, George J. Finger, Leo Slonim and A. E. Force.

The meeting last night was one of the largest and most successful that has ever been held, and there was much enthusiasm manifested. Under the plan proposed, members will pay dues in accordance with the amount of business they do, and it is thus hoped to derive an income of about $3,500 a year, which will be used to pay a secretary, make contributions to charities, interest new industries to come here, and to build up the organization.

Report was received from the committee which will choose an emblem for the Association, that several people have entered the competition, and decision will be reached early next week. Morris Abrams stated that he was progressing in his work of trying to secure a new industry for the city. President Herman Schwed told the members of the successful plan for doing this latter work which is being used in Easton, Pa.

The entire meeting adjourned to the Council chamber for a hearing on the proposed ordinance for the regulation of fly-by-night merchants, an account of which appears in another column.

LOCAL CAMPERS AID IN RESCUE

Plainfielders at Camp Rams Horn, Lake Hopatcong, Save Four Patersonians.

WOMEN NEAR DEATH

Miss Ethel Humphrey and Mrs. V. W. Nash, Jr., Assist in Resusitation Work—Accident Caused by Leaky Rowboat.

Assistance lent by several Plainfielders and others stopping at Camp Ram's Horn, Lake Hopatcong, brought about a thrilling rescue at the resort Labor Day afternoon, and saved four persons from almost certain drowning. The members of the party in peril, who were thrown into deep water by the overturning of a leaky boat were, Mrs. Philip Quinn, Miss Madeline Hartley, Jack Youngman and Matthew Kerwin, all of Paterson. The mishap occurred directly opposite Camp Ram's Horn, on Halsey Island, which is conducted by Thomas M. Muir, of this city, and in full view of twenty persons who were seated at dinner.

The cries for help brought a ready response from the diners and a number of their jumped into one of Mr. Muir's motorboats, among them being Clark Martin, V. W. Nash, Jr., Rodin Hamilton, of Plainfield, and Stryker Hoagland, formerly of the borough, but now of Dover, also Ben and Jeff Haskins, of Dover. Despite the quick time in which the motorboat drew near the helpless quartet both women were unconscious and the men in an exhausted condition when lifted to safety. It required considerable deftness to get the insensible forms into the boat without capsizing it or running down any one of the half dozen canoes and rowing craft which put out to the rescue.

Youngman was also in a helpless condition as he was struck on the head by the row-boat as it was turned over and over by the frantic women in their struggle to hold fast.

The quartet was removed to Camp Ram's Horn, where first aid was applied to Mrs. Quinn and Miss Hartley, by Miss Ethel Humphrey, a graduate nurse, and Mrs. V. W. Nash, Jr., both of Plainfield, and also stopping on Halsey Island. Mrs. Quinn regained consciousness after an hour's work, while Miss Hartley responded to treatment in about ten minutes. Both women suffered badly from shock and Mrs. Quinn is still confined to her bed under a physician's care. All four persons were guests of Mrs. Quinn's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Young, at Camp Rest, located in upper Castle Rock Park.

The four persons had been enjoying a row on the lake and failed to notice that the boat was leaking badly. When their plight was first discovered, Youngman attempted to bale the water out but it gained rapidly. The boat sank almost to the gunwales as a run for shore was commenced and a safety point might have been reached but for one of the party trying to change seats, causing the water logged craft to capsize. Miss Hewitt, who is only sixteen years old, was the only one able to swim. She attempted to aid Mrs. Quinn and was herself dragged down, although she fought desperately to release herself. The rescuing party arrived just as both sank from sight for the last time and it was necessary for Martin and Hamilton to go overboard to get them up.

TEN DEAD IN AIR RAID

Three Zeppelins in Attack on English East Coast—Aerial Warfare in France—Deposed Grand Duke is Sent to the Caucasus.

Berlin, Sept. 8 (by wireless).—Today's report of the General Staff announces the capture of Wolkowysk, the railway centre where a battle was reported yesterday, and also stated that the Russians have been defeated at Izabelin, southeast of Wolkowysk.

London, Sept. 2.—The death toll in the air raid over the eastern counties of England last night was ten, according to an announcement issued by the War Office at 3 p. m. today. Three Zeppelins took part in the raid. In addition to the dead three are reported missing, while forty-three persons were wounded.

It was asserted today that the Zeppelin raid of last night, which was over the east counties of England, had been as great a failure from a military viewpoint as previous attacks.

The Ellerman liner Douro, 1,603 tons, has been sunk by a submarine. It is announced that her crew was landed today.

Liverpool, Sept. 8.—The Russian steamer Rhea, 1,145 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine. The crew was rescued.

Paris, Sept. 8.—Today's French war statement says:

"The night was marked by some artillery engagements in Belgium, north of Ypres. In Artois, around Arras, in the region of Roye, and on the plateaus between the Oise and the Aisne, at many points in Champagne between Rheims and the Argonne there was a conflict with bombs and rifle fire, interrupted at times by artillery, but without infanty engagement.

'In the Argonne there was violent bombardment in the sector of La Harazee. Rather an active cannonade occurred in the northern section of the Woevre region.

"Five German aviators today threw bombs on the plateau of Malzeville, without causing the slightest damage, and on Nancy, where it was reported that there were several victims. In co-operation with British naval flyers we bombarded aviation hangars at Ostend. One of our squadron threw sixty shells on the aviation field of St. Medard and the Vieuze Railway station."

The French steamship Guatemala has been sunk by a German submarine, fifty miles off Belle Isle, on the west coast of France. The crew was saved.

Petrograd, Sept. 8.—Emperor Nicholas has transferred Grand Duke Nicholas to the command of the army in the Caucasus.

The Emperor took this action on assuming command of the military and naval forces of Russia.

In transferring the Grand Duke he appointed him viceroy of the Caucasus and commander-in-chief of the army on the southern front.

The transference was made in connection with a general reorganization of such importance it has stirred the nation deeply.

The Grand Duke replaces the famous viceroy of the Caucassus, Count von Vorontzoff-Dashkoff. Emperor Nicholas addressed to the Count a communication acknowledging the value of his labors, and stating he "yields to his request to be permitted to devote his energies to work for which his state of health is more equal." The Emperor, therefore, relieves him of the post of viceroy and attaches him to his personal staff.

In assuming command of the military and the naval forces the Emperor issued this proclamation:

"Today I have taken supreme command of all my forces of the sea and of the land armies operating in the theatre of war.

"With firm faith in the clemency of God and with unshaken assurance of final victory, we shall fulfill our sacred duty to defend our country to the last. We shall not dishonor the Russian land."

An army order issued by Grand Duke Nicholas, who has been commander-in-chief of the Russian forces, conveys the inference Emperor Nicholas, in armed forces, had supplanted him.

The order is addressed to "The valiant army and fleet." The announcement, as forwarded from Pe-

ELIZABETH MAYOR A LITTLE "LEARY" OF HOLY JUMPERS

Whether or not the Pillar of Fire, a religious sect that gained considerable notoriety recently in this city, will be permitted to conduct a street revival in Elizabeth, depends upon the answer Mayor Victor Mravlag, of that place, gets from this city, in response to a communication he has forwarded to the local city officials asking for information concerning the cult. A representative of the sect appeared in Elizabeth yesterday and asked for permission to speak on street corners. Mayor Mravlag, however, had heard considerable about the trouble alleged to have been caused by the Holy Jumpers, as they are commonly known, in this city, and he informed the representative of the cult that he would communicate with Plainfield officials before granting a permit.

The Holy Jumper who visited the Elizabeth Mayor reminded that official that this is a free country and that everyone is entitled to free speech. Mayor Mravlag admitted that the Pillar of Fire members are entitled to free speech, but added it was up to him to tell them just where they could have it. They had several meetings in Elizabeth last Saturday night, but they did not linger any great length of time in one place.

NOTT ENGINE TESTS ARE AGAIN DELAYED

Two Councilman Object to Additional Time Grant to Minneapolis Concern.

As the result of a suggestion made by Chairman A. D. Edgar, of the councilmanic fire and buildings committee, at last night's session of the Common Council, the Nott Fire Engine Company, of Minpeapolis, was granted another extension of time in order that it might properly fulfill the terms of a contract awarded about a year ago for a piece of apparatus for the Netherwood firehouse. The request of the Nott Company to have the date for the first time extended one month from September 7 and a similar delay for the second trial provoked a heated argument between Councilman Hamilton and Councilmen Cose and Edgar, the last two being members of the fire and buildings committee.

Mr. Edgar explained that inasmuch as the reasons for the delay were plainly cited in the Nott Company's letter the fire and buildings committee thought it advisable to grant the request and asked the Council to ratify the action.

Mr. Hamilton took exception to any additional delays in the delivery of this piece of apparatus, taking occasion to remark that so many accidents had befallen the engine that it was practically in second-hand condition at the present time. He deplored the "dilly-dalying" the fire and buildings committee has had with the Minneapolis concern and said that in view of the fact that the automobile industry was constantly undergoing changes he believed that the engine when delivered would not be up-to-date.

Mr. Cose took exception to Mr. Hamilton's inference that the city was not getting its money's worth and declared that the fire and buildings committee members were just as anxious to secure full value as were any other members of the Council. When the question was put to a vote Councilmen Cox and Hamilton voted against granting the extension of time.

WHOOPING COUGH STILL PREVALENT

Nine Cases Were Reported to Health Board the Past Month.

Inspection of the reports concerning the sanitary condition of the city, presented at the monthly meeting of the Board of Health, in the local office, last night, proved highly satisfactory, nineteen cases of communicable diseases in all were reported during the month. These were classed as follows: Tuberculosis, 5; scarlet fever, 1; diphtheria, 1; malaria, 3; whooping cough, 9.

In addition to the above, two cases of typhoid fever have come to the city from out of town and one case of small pox. During the month 22 rooms were disinfected in nine houses; the ambulance was also disinfected twice; the police headquarters twice and one undertaker's wagon. The latter three precautions were deemed necessary at the time of the small pox scare, which originated with the death of Joe Petrowitch, in Muhlenberg Hospital on August 4, following his removal to that institution from Oak Tree the day before.

Forty-two cultures were examined during the month as follows: Tuberculosis, 10; diphtheria, 15; typhoid fever, 10; malaria, 5. Of the 10 tuberculosis cultures 5 were negative and 5 positive; 13 diphtheria cultures were negative, one questionable and one positive; 9 typhoids were negative and one positive; all malarias were negative.

The health officer, together with an inspector of the State Board of Health made inspections of the food exposure situations during the month and reported comparatively few violations. Inspections were also made of huckster wagons. The total number of inspections made during the month were 977, these were classed as follows: Milk supply, 74; food supply, 117; nuisances, 213; communicable disease, 56; disinfections, 15; general, 434; plumbing, 68.

The registrar's report showed 122 returns in all as follows; births, 67; marriages, 17; still births, 2; deaths, 36.

On the outgoing trip no exciting experiences were recorded, speechmaking and fishing taking up the time, but when the return trip was begun, trouble started. One of the electricians, without any intention of looking for "trouble," fell overboard and it was with difficulty that he was fished out.

The committee in charge consisted of Frank Pope, D. L. Dodge and Allie Wagner and they received the hearty thanks of all for the able manner in which they carried out the event.

Among those who made the trip were George Flatley, John King, Jack Sly, Robert Alpough, A. Richardson, Ralph Eats, Russ Hand, F. Rowe, J. Ord and Bill Harding.

Plainfield's share of the joint sewer expenses for July amounted to $13,487.10, according to a report presented at the September meeting of the Common Council last night, and the total expenditure was $19,833.97. C. L. Fulmer, of 704 South avenue, and the Motor Shop at 108 East Front street were granted permits by the Council to install gasoline storage and pumping tanks along the curb line. L. S. Ayers, superintendent of the Saurer plant of the International Motor Company, made application for a permit to install an 8,000 gallon gasoline tank in the addition now being erected at the factory. B. Frankel was granted a renewal of his junk license and a New York loan office made application for a pawn broker's license to operate in Plainfield. The latter will be investigated by the Council.

Upon the recommendation of Mayor Calkins the Council appointed Edward Mosher a regular in the fire department. Mosher has served his probationary term of six months, being stationed at headquarters on East Second street. Overseer of the Poor Garret T. Dunham reported expenses for July amounting to $746.81; Building Inspector T. O. Doane reported fourteen permits during the month; Clerk Horace Adams, of the District Court, presented a report showing receipts amounting to $183.26, expenditures of $47.66 and a balance of $135.60.

Councilman Juan Babcock introduced a resolution authorizing the city treasurer to borrow $40,000 for the fire fund and $1,500 on the poor fund.

Relatives of the popular man gathered from near and far to greet him. A table was set under a spreading tree in the orchard and a bounteous supply of food given each attendant. Games and sports were features of the afternoon.

WHAT PLAINFIELD WANTS TO KNOW.

The Answer is Found in the Statement of a Plainfield Resident.

From week to week, from year to year, there have been appearing in these columns statements made by neighbors, which we have all read with great interest, and many of us with great profit. But what we want to know is, do they stand the greatest test of all—the test of time? Here is conclusive evidence on this point from a Plainfield woman:

Mrs. E. Dorflinger, 400 Clinton avenue, Plainfield, says: "The first symptom of kidney trouble was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's drug store, I began using them. Before long I improved and I continued until cured."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Dorflinger said: "I hold just as high an opinion of them now as when I gave my former endorsement recommending them. The cure they made has been permanent."

RECEPTION GIVEN TO MISS EDNA COLE

Sunday School Superintendents' Ass'n Give Hearty Welcome to Worker.

Sunday-school workers of Plainfield and vicinity turned out in force last night to greet Miss Edna E. Cole, of Baneville, Ohio, who has been engaged as State worker in the elementary grades of the Sunday-schools of New Jersey. Miss Cole succeeds Miss Hamley, of Newark, and will make her headquarters in that city. She was elected to the position August 15.

The reception took place in the Seventh-Day Baptist church and was under the auspices of the Plainfield Sunday-school Superintendents' Association. Miss Cole was the guest of honor, and was given a cordial welcome to this city. State Sunday-school workers were present as well as a good representation of local workers, and with brief speeches, music and refreshments the evening was spent.

George E. Hall, president of the local Sunday-school Superintendents' Association, presided and enthused everyone there. One by one the people were presented to Miss Cole to be charmed by her personality and pleased by her address. The Sunday-school room of the church, where the reception was held, was attractively decorated with flags, and on a blackboard, in colored chalk, were these words: "The field, New Jersey; the worker, Miss Cole," and between these two expressions this sentence. "We hope to efficiently and loyally complement our Miss Cole's efforts," so arranged that the first letters of the more prominent words in the sentence spelled the one word, "Welcome."

The State officers present last night and taking part were S. W. Downer, of Downer, president of the New Jersey Sunday-school Association; Edward W. Cooper, of East Orange, former president; Isaac B. Burgess, of Newark, general secretary, and Edward W. Dunham, of Trenton, State treasurer. Mr. Hall presented Miss Cole, who made a response to the addresses of welcome.

The committee from the local association having charge of the reception last night were George E. Hall, Arthur M. Harris, W. C. Hubbard, J. W. Gavett, W. D. Murray, Dr. James R. Joy, Harry R. Bouton and F. E. Smith. Mrs. W. C. Hubbard and Mrs. Henry M. Maxson, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, had charge of the refreshments, and Enoch Burroughs, Miss Rena Pullen and Miss Reta Pullen, members of the Sunday-school Orchestra of the Third Presbyterian church, Trenton, presented a pleasing program of musical numbers throughout the evening. The Misses Pullen are twins. The former played the cornet, the latter the violin. Mr. Burroughs was the accompanist. There were about seventy-five in attendance at the reception.

LAST WARNING TO JITNEY MEN IS GIVEN BY JUDGE

Judge DeMeza gave what he declared was his final warning to jitney bus drivers this morning, when he suspended a sentence of $10 or thirty days in jail on Clarence Berry, a driver for Jacob Moldezky. Berry passed a trolley car which was unloading passengers on Front street, last night, and Patrolman Dunlap happened to be nearby and saw him do it. The Judge said that if anyone was hurt, none of the jitney owners were liable for any sum commensurate with a possible loss, and he intends to make them obey the law to the letter. He also told Berry that he would revoke the car and driver's license both if he was brought before him again. Berry was driving a car a few days ago that tried to climb a telegraph pole on West Front street.

NO DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES FOR COUNCIL IN TWO WARDS

Up to this noon no petitions for Democratic councilmanic candidates in the First, Second or Third wards had been filed with City Clerk J. T. MacMurray. It is expected that Councilman Theodore Martin will seek re-election as a Democrat in the First ward, but there will probably be no candidates in the Second or Third from that party.

Petitions filed since yesterday afternoon were those of Seymour Perkins, for councilman-at-large and Charles Senger for Fourth ward councilman, Democrats, and Charles S. Sminck, First ward, Thomas F. Hylan, Third ward, and Charles C. Graves, Fourth ward, Republicans. Lewis M. Booth, the Republican candidate in the Second ward, filed his petition last week.

MID-WEEK SERVICE.

An interesting meeting is anticipated at the Park Avenue Baptist church tonight at which time Rev. Dr Birney S. Hudson, the pastor, will present his experiences of his vacation and greet all members and their friends. Mr. and Mrs. Frederickson, who sail of Sona Bota, Africa, on Saturday, will also speak of the work of the missions in that country and principally of the one to which they are going to which is largely supported by the local Park Avenue Baptist church. Both are interesting speakers.

JOSEPH WALDRON TO WED.

Miss Anna Marie Rogers, of 506 West Eighth street, will be married to Joseph Waldron, of 318 Liberty street, at St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock this afternoon Rev. B. M. Bogan performing the ceremony. Michael Waldron, a brother of the groom, will be the best man while Miss Nora Conway will be bridesmaid. Miss Mary Smith, organist at St. Mary's church, will play the wedding march.

NEVER AGAIN.

Frank Galbraith, sixteen years old, of Scotch Plains rode his wheel on the sidewalk yesterday, and when Patrolman Fritts told him to get off, he was "sassy." As a result he was told to tell his troubles to Judge DeMeza this morning and the court gave him a lecture before letting him go on suspended sentence.

RUBBISH FIRE.

A fire in a pile of excelsior and other rubbish on East Third street opposite the Plainfield Steam Laundry on premises occupied by James Welch called the fire department out last evening. The alarm was telephoned in. The blaze was extinguished before the fire had done any damage.

LOCAL ATHLETES WIN.

Competing in the Perth Amboy Y. M. C. A. athletic meet, Noble Ricketts and Oscar Phillipson, of this city, both annexed third prizes, Ricketts capturing his in the 440, and Phillipson registering in the three-mile run.

KING'S DAUGHTERS PRESENT PRIZES

The milk station conducted in connection with the King's Daughters Day Nursery, on West Front street, has had an excellent summer, 111 babies being brought by their mothers to the milk station and baby clinic this summer. Eighty-six of these have come regularly and 32 have competed for the prizes offered by the Visiting Nurse Association for the baby that gained the most and came most regularly. The total attendance in 40 days that the station was open amounted to 511.

The nurses have made 204 visits to the home where the mothers needed special instruction in carrying out the doctor's directions. Seven very sick babies were transferred to the hospital for care. Only five of the babies died during the hot summer months. Sixty-two babies gained weight steadily all summer.

This morning 32 babies came to the station while the prizes were distributed. Ruth Johnson and Walter Ulmer won first prizes, $5 in gold for each. Maggie Cerido and Joseph Storck won the second prize, $2.50 in gold for each one. Leonard Galloway and Rockie Fotea won the third prize, $1.

The following had honorable mention as they gained all summer and came often to be weighed and examined: Jessie Corea, May Riccardi, Catherine Pendalina, Frank Pendalina, Jennie Meek, Alfred Rowe, Jakie DeFalco, Charles Clay, Jack Felocoo and Bertha Scruggs.

The King's Daughters have loaned their home for this purpose three times a week and have furnished milk and ice to 38 babies all summer. The Charity Organization Society, various King's Daughters Circles and individuals have furnished more milk. Dr. Sidney Titsworth and Dr. Howard Pratt have given their services and the nurses of the association have worked hard to keep all the babies well and to give them a good start in life. The members of the City Union of King's Daughters who have carried on this good work may well feel repaid for their efforts and generosity when they think of all the little lives saved from sickness and possible death.

TWO LOCAL JURORS.

Victor L. Houston and Hamlet Lee Luckey, of this city, yesterday were selected as members of the jury which will try Thomas A. Caldwell, of Veuxhall, on the charge of murdering Fred Scott on May 23 last. The case was opened yesterday in the Union county court, Prosecutor A. A. Stein representing the State, and Samuel Schleimer the defendant. Caldwell was a well-to-do negro resident of Veuxhall and his alleged victim was also colored.

Albert Williams, of Detroit, wandered into town yesterday looking for a job. He did not find one, and as he had not eaten since morning started going from house to house looking for a meal. POPULAR MECHANICS

Steering Gear Lost Motion.

In most cars when the steering gear becomes worn and loose it can be adjusted as follows: Jack up the car front so that the wheels can be turned easily until you feel looseness in the steering gear. Now loosen the three clamping bolts, one of which is at the ring end of the drop arm, the second on the part of the housing which incloses the eccentric bushing carrying the sector and the third just below the slotted nut on the steering post. Having reached the position in which you can feel the looseness, the slotted nut should be tightened—that is to say, turned down—until the play disappears. Then the wheels should be turned as far as possible to one side and the eccentric bushing turned. This brings the sector into closer engagement with the worm. Now the clamping bolts are tightened again. When the effect of this adjustment becomes lost and the small gear or, rather, sector wears out the drop arm is removed after the clamping bolt has been taken out, and the steering wheel is given a turn and a half, thereby bringing a different portion of the sector in engagement with the worm. Then the drop arm is replaced, taking care that everything is tightened up properly.—Automobile Dealer and Repairer.

Removing Carbon With Oxygen.

In using oxygen to remove carbon deposits from the cylinders of gas engines there are certain important things that should be remembered. Before using the oxygen the crank shaft should be revolved until the piston is at its extreme inner position or the head end, dead center position. The reason for doing this is that the intense heat of burning the carbon tends to roughen the cylinder walls. The flame should not be allowed to strike the threads of the spark plug opening as it will damage them. The water cooling system should be full during the operation.

Bench Soldering Iron Heater.

The handy man at home can provide himself with a soldering iron holder and heater that will serve the purpose of an expensive one at the outlay of a little time and the cost of a two inch piece of pipe ten inches long and a pipe tee. The pipe is threaded on both ends and cut to make two pieces, seven and three inches long respectively. The unthreaded end of the long piece is split or sawed to make it quartering. The pieces are turned out to form feet and holes are drilled in them. This pipe is screwed to the bench over a bunsen burner. The tee is turned on the top of the pipe, and the other short piece is screwed into one end of the tee. The short piece is then filed to the shape shown to receive the soldering iron.—Popular Mechanics.

Copper In Ketchikan.

The copper deposits of the Ketchikan district, southeastern Alaska, were known to the Russians before the acquisition of the territory by the United States, and there was a crude attempt to develop them as early as 1880. It was not until 1901, however, that systematic mining was begun and not until 1905 that a large annual output was made. Up to the close of 1913 the copper mines of the Ketchikan district had produced about 22,640,000 pounds of copper, valued at $3,760,000, and $500,000 worth of gold and silver.

To Blacken Brass.

Brass having surfaces that require a dead black can be treated as follows with good results: Heat the brass over a fire that is clear, such as charcoal, and do not allow the sparks to come in contact with it, or else red spots will appear. When the metal becomes slightly red dip it in nitric acid, then heat again, but not to a red heat. Give the surface a good rubbing with a bristle brush and clean with a cloth slightly greasy. A fairly permanent dead black will be the result.

A Stone Bruise.

When the tire has hit a stone with considerable force, especially if the tire is not fully inflated, the inner surface of the tire will show injury to the fabric when the rubber on the tread has no mark of the injury. Such an injury should be repaired by putting a fabric patch over the injured place and then inserting an inner protector all around the casing.

Vibrator Screws.

If the screws that hold the small brass brackets to the vibrator box become worn so that they do not hold do not use longer screws. Longer screws may injure the windings of the coil and spoil the vibrator. Better put a metal band clear around the box and attach to dash with small bolts.

Installing Shafting.

When putting up a line or jackshaft be sure to make a liberal allowance for expansion and contraction.

STREET IMPROVEMENT ACCEPTED BY COUNCIL

Commissioner Gavett Passes on Paving Work on the Boulevard.

Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett at last night's meeting of the City Council, reported that the Weldon Contracting Company had satisfactorily completed its work on West Third street, between Plainfield avenue and Liberty street, and at the suggestion of Chairman Francis J. Blatz, of the councilmanic street committee, the work was accepted. In accordance with the terms of the contract the Weldon concern will keep the thoroughfare in repair for a period of one year at its own expense. The West Third street improvement on what is commonly termed the "Boulevard," has been declared by experts on street affairs to be the best piece of road paving in the city and its principal features include some of the most modern improvements in street laying.

In anticipation of the macadamizing to be done along West Fourth street, this side of Richmond street, Chairman Blatz, of the street committee, suggested that the Central Railroad authorities be requested to construct a suitable retaining wall along their railroad bank on this thoroughfare to replace the present one which is sadly in need of repairs. This suggestion met with the approval of the Council and a resolution was passed authorizing the action to be taken immediately.

A resolution was passed authorizing the street commissioner to serve notice on those persons who have neglected to make repairs to sidewalks or lay new ones and continued neglect will result in the city doing the improvement work and assessing the owners for the expense. This takes in the construction work on East Second street and Edgewood avenue and repairs in other parts of the city.

An ordinance was adopted on two readings which is designed to establish grades on parts of East Fourth street, Filmore avenue, Richmond street, Hunter avenue, Astor place, Watchung avenue and Lyman place. A public hearing on these proposed street improvements will be held Monday evening, October 4, in the Council chambers. Another resolution was passed on two readings providing for the macadamizing of East Fourth street, Sherman avenue and Filmore avenue. To cover the cost of street work the Council authorized the purchase of five $1,000 gold bonds dated November 1, 1915.

"THE MERRY WIDOW" AND "LION HEART" TO COMPETE

Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Donohue, of "Donny Brook Farm," have sent two of their hunters, "Lion Heart" and "The Merry Widow," to compete in the horse show given in connection with the New York State Fair at Syracuse, from September 14 to 19. The two horses are well known throughout the State, having won numerous prizes in other shows. Mr. and Mrs. O'Donohue will motor to Syracuse on Saturday.

"KIDNAPPER" PROVED TO BE MOTHER OF BICKNELL CHILD

Reports that a kidnapping expedition was in progress on Lake street, yesterday, resulted in Patrolmen Welsh and Neylon being sent there post haste by Lieutenant Higgins. They found that Mrs. Charles Bicknell, who was separated from her husband following a court case a few days ago, had taken one of the four children remaining at her husband's home. The police traced them and found the child at Dr. Pratt's office. Bicknell tried to get his wife to go back and live with him, and she refused, although the child was given up.

TWO MORE TRAFFIC POSTS UPSET BY WAGON DRIVERS

Ernest and Peter Reinman, who live on a farm "over the mountain," drove into a traffic post at Park avenue and Second street, last Saturday night. Patrolmen Welsh and Kriney arrested them, and they were represented by Councilman Francis J. Blatz when they appeared before Judge DeMeza in court this morning. Both men admitted they had been drinking during the day. They agreed to pay for the damage done, and were let go.

Charles Jefferson drove a wagon load of hay through town last night for Albert Rajotte and upset a post at Park avenue and Fifth street. He will tell Judge DeMeza all about it tomorrow morning.

FAIL TO ENDORSE WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Hebrew Associations Decline to Put Themselves on Record at Convention.

Many Plainfielders attended the fourth annual convention of the Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Associations of New Jersey, which met at Atlantic City yesterday. After more than an hour of debate, the body declined to put itself on record upon the subject of woman suffrage.

Harry S. Feller, of New Brunswick, the retiring president, said in his farewell address that if the rising generation of Hebrews does its full duty in acting as a link between the forces representing orthodox and reformed Judaism, no final break will occur.

Newark was selected for next year's convention, after Camden had made a bid and withdrew.

These officers were elected: President, Max J. Levy, Bayonne; first deputy, Benjamin Goldenberg, Perth Amboy; second deputy, John L. Weinberger, Camden; third deputy, Miss Molly Kanengeiser, Newark; recording secretary, Abraham S. Field, Passaic; financial secretary, Miss Jennie Levin, Trenton; treasurer, Harry Cassman, Atlantic City; sergeant-at-arms, Benjamin Levy, Elizabeth.

Further arrangements for the "Country Store" to be given by the Women's League of St. Joseph's church, were completed at the monthly meeting held in the new hall last night. Mrs. J. E. Bailey, president of the organization, presided. The date of the entertainment was set for Thursday night, September 23, and the committees appointed were as follows:

Program, Mrs. B. A. Paroubek, chairman; Mrs. Thomas Derrick, Mrs. George Aller, Mrs. Walter Hamilton; refreshment, Mrs. K. Sutton, chairman; Mrs. Alfred Seidel, Mrs. James Harper, Miss Kitty Conshay, Mrs. Harry Mattis, Mrs. Thomas Derrick and Miss May Murphy; prize, Miss M. Mullin, chairman; Mrs. A. E. Kenney, Mrs. Pettengill, Misses Marion Blimm, Anna Regan, Anna Cooper and Frances Conroy.

Plans to continue the basketball team and dancing class were discussed and the two classes will resume their work this winter. The Misses Rose Cooper and Elsie Moulton were appointed a committee of two to compose a basketball squad to represent the organization this fall again while Miss May Barry will have charge of the dancing class.

COUNTY C. E. UNION PLAN CONFERENCES

Plans for the fall and winter were completed at the first executive committee meeting of the Union County Christian Endeavor Union held at the home of the president, J. The State Endeavor convention will be held in Elizabeth in October. The following executive meetings were announced:

Tuesday, September 21, at home of Miss Lavian Lum, Elizabeth; Tuesday, December 27, at home of Miss Edna Schmidt, Elizabeth; Tuesday, March 14, at Plainfield, place to be announced later. These supper conferences have also been announced:

Tuesday, October 26, Christian citizenship, Second Presbyterian church, Rahway; Tuesday, November 15, Junior rally, Springfield; Tuesday, January 25, fresh air, First Presbyterian church, Plainfield; Tuesday, February 15, missionary rally, Greystone Presbyterian church, Elizabeth; Tuesday, April 18, press and information rally, Roselle Baptist church, Roselle. MRS. VAN NEST INJURED.

Mrs. L. C. Van Nest, fifty-six years old, of 215 East Fifth street, sustained a severely injured left leg Sunday night, the result of a misstep on the cellar steps of her home. An X-ray was taken yesterday to ascertain whether the limb was broken in one or two places.

SECRETARY OUTLINES WORK

classes will be organized, the kind of Bible study classes that deal with problems of a High School boy's every day experience.

Through the year an occasional "college night" will be arranged, when the president or some member of the faculty of a college will be invited to speak to the boys and present the claims of his institution of learning so as to aid the boys in deciding upon a college. Later in the year Mr. Lynn hopes to have an afternoon and evening set apart for a "find yourself" conference, when the boys will be met by the secretaries of the association and members of the boys' work committee and helped with advice on any problems that may be troubling their boy minds. It is hoped to interest the boys in missionary work in some foreign country, encouraging them to pay the expenses of a boys' secretary or something of that nature.

As to the working boys, it is planned to organize them all into an employed boys' brotherhood. This brotherhood will meet once a week at the same time the High School boys do so as to encourage sociability among members of the two groups. Suppers together will be a feature of these gatherings.

For the employed boys, an interesting system of Bible study will be introduced. The course to be selected has for its topic, "Christian Teaching on Social and Economic Questions," and the course has been prepared by the international secretary for working boys. Perhaps educational clubs will be organized. At any rate, an educational campaign will be inaugurated.

For both groups of boys, the committee and the boys' secretary are planning a series of Sunday afternoon meetings this winter for all boys over 12 years of age. The best speakers obtainable will be secured, and these meetings will undoubtedly prove very popular. The date for the opening meeting has not been decided upon yet, but the speaker for the initial one has. He is Ivan P. Flood, for many years city secretary for boys' work in Newark, now State secretary for yung people's work for the Baptist denomination, and considered one of the leading boys' work authorities in the country.

Mr. Lynn announces that the boys' department at the association building will undergo some repairs and alterations in the near future. New games will be added and additional room provided. This department of the boys' work will be carried on just as effectively as heretofore. The boys will be divided into small clubs and will have their gymnasium classes, their hikes, etc.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

"The House of the Lost Court," with Viola Dana in the leading role, will be the attraction today at the U. S. Astor Theatre. The picture has proven a success wherever shown. Miss Dana is one of the charming young stars of the film world. The success of the picture is due largely to her splendid acting and to the manner in which the story is constructed. Tomorrow's chief attraction at the Astor will be "The Vampire," a Metro production of powerful dramatic interest, with Olga Petrova in the leading role. Miss Petrova will be recalled by local theatregoers as the star in "Panthea," a drama shown in New York last season.

A Galley o' Fun!

THE INDISPENSIBLE.

I can see how the woman got on, in a way,
In the Garden of Eden, and after the exit:
There was plenty of fig leaves, and others au fait,
And the birds set the fashion and she could annex it,
And the pines furnished needles by bushels and bins,
But how did she work without safety-pins?

When she started to dress for a show or a dance,
And the needles broke loose, and her man in a hurry!
Or awhirl in the waltz, and a rip—and a glance!
With a whirlwind of Oh's! and of fluster and scurry!
And the ladies all whispered, and the men smothered grins,
And what did she do, without safe-pins?

And when Abel, and Cain, and young Sethie broke in
With a chorus of yells and a day and-night riot,
It must have been something approaching a sin
To see the poor kids without comfort or quiet.
And how did she fix 'em, in singles or twins?
Oh! what did she do without safe-pins?

HER MISTAKE.

"And she didn't think she would like golf at all?"

"No. She had a strange idea that plaids would not become her."

MALE CONVERSATION.

(As set forth by Mamie Sadie Grace in Magazine Stories.)

"Say, you old ass!"

"Now, look here, you blithering idiot!" (Helping himself to one of my cigars.)

"Now you know very well, you old butt-head——"

"Anybody but a blockhead like you——"

"Why, you infernal idiot!"

"You conceited puppy!"

"Why, you mutton-headed jackass!"

"Now you know that's a whopper!"

"I say, that was devilish shabby!"

"O, you silly jackanapes!"

The word "silly" is never omitted from masculine conversation in magazine stories. Nor is the word "whopper." There must be, also, personal violence and abuse of property rights.

Loud, from the long-distance telephone, the deep-voiced, persistent dealer
Calls in accents decisive after the monthly installment.

THE STATESMAN.

That parts the clouds, nor from the tempest shrinks,
He stands, self-praised, self-centered, and alone,
And seems at times to think we think he thinks.

OBSERVANCE OF JEWISH NEW YEAR BEGINS TONIGHT

With the appearance of the first stars tonight the year 5676 according to Hebrew chronology will be ushered in. This event will be heralded the world over by the blowing of the Shofar, or ram's horn, in every synagogue and temple, proclaiming the advent of Rosh Hashonah. Rabbi Martin, of Temple Sholem, will take as his subject tonight the following topic, "New Year's Reflections," and tomorrow morning "The Jew as An Universalist."

Although Rosh Hashonah begins tonight, the holiday also will be observed on Thursday and Friday, and will come to a close on sundown. On September 18 Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, will take place. This is the most strictly observed of all the Jewish holidays and much preparation is now being made for the coming festival.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Those who were present at the Proctor Theatre during the past three days have been impressed with the high-class vaudeville which has been presented at that house following the fall opening. Another bill goes into effect tomorrow afternoon with six acts as noted below.

Mirth and melody, and a type of music that will satisfy the most critical lover of this type of entertainment, will predominate. "The New Impressario," a musical act with an all-star cast of fifteen artists, is announced as the headline feature. See this act, and you see the best act of its kind to be found anywhere in the vaudeville world.

Another high-class novelty is the Woods Musical Trio, in a skit entitled "The Girl Behind the Drum." This is one of those laugh provokers which will drive away the worst fit of blues you have ever experienced.

The new bill is completed with the following acts: The Eton boy clown, and the lady gymnast known to the theatrical world as The Ziras; a comedy singing and talking duo with James Daely and Bertha Kraemer, and the old local favorites, Lowell and Esther Drew in a singing, talking and dancing skit, "Meet Me at the Fountain," and the well-known singing Grace LeMar, who needs no introduction to Plainfield theatre goers.

As to the photoplay portion of the programs at the Proctor house, little need be said aside that the pictures are up to the high standard as set last winter by Manager Sanderson. The feature pictures for the remainder of the week include the following: Today, "The Isle of Content," a Selig production; tomorrow, "Eugene Aram," in which Marc McDermott is featured; Friday, "Bold Emmett, Ireland's Martyr," a Lubin production with Sidney Olcott and Valentine Grant; Saturday, "The Girl of the Gypsy Camp," with Bessie Learn in the leading part.

SUPPORT NEW ORDINANCE

said that he could not conscientiously vote in favor of advancing the ordinance one step further toward adoption.

In its present form the measure provides for a license fee of $200 a month for the itinerant merchant. The high figure is designed to do away with the "fly-by-nights" who bring schemes to the city for several days and weeks and then flee to parts unknown, leaving behind them some dissatisfied patrons who have no redress.

John J. Varley and John A. Gaffney, representing the Business Men's Association, formed the committee that originally brought the question to the attention of the councilmanic public affairs committee and it has been largely through their efforts that the ordinance has been advanced to its present stage of passage.

Isaac Schwed, president of the association, appeared as a speaker in favor of the proposition at the meeting. He reviewed the success with which a similar measure has met in Passaic and continuing said, "The city doesn't want the merchant who doesn't pay taxes and those who bring these schemes to Plainfield have invariably made it their practise to come in December and leave before tax time in May."

President Clay asked Mr. Schwed if it were not true that some of the promoters who come here, primarily for the purpose of staging "fly-by-nights," sometimes settle down and make good citizens.

"Very infrequently," replied Mr. Schwed; "I know of but one case where an itinerant merchant settled down and I have been here for thirty years."

"But isn't he today one of your best citizens and foremost merchants?" queried Mr. Clay.

Hesitating slightly, Mr. Schwed replied, "He's dead, now."

Mr. Varley declared that the itinerant class of merchant is not a taxpayer, does not employ help and does not contribute to the hospitals and the city's poor. He said: "We can buck all good competition but we can't begin to compete with these frauds and schemers sometimes called itinerants. We welcome legitimate competition of any kind and we want new business enterprises to come to our city for the purpose of settling down permanently. Other cities have met success after providing similar protection for their taxpaying merchants and why can't Plainfield do it. Give us protection and we'll give you better stores and better service. We ask nothing that it not right, just and honorable."

A. E. Force and Hyman Adelberg spoke along similar lines and Leo Slonim gave an example of how a young girl had paid $15 for a $2.50 watch at a "fly-by-night" shop here last Christmas.

Samuel Rothberg said in part: "We welcome good honest competition and the more merchants a city has the more prosperous that municipality will be. The illegitimate merchant gets away with a lot of money that should go to the permanent business man who pays his just share of the city's taxes. These itinerants fake the public. As for myself, I am not afraid to buck any kind of competition for I am here to stay as are most of our other merchants who contribute to the expenses of running the city government. The sad part of it all is that we have some few men in Plainfield who think so much of the almighty dollar that they will rent their stores to itinerant frauds. These Plainfielders are just as guilty as the merchants who do a crooked business."

How to Keep Our City Moving

We must keep moving. A city booms only so long as its manufacturers and merchants keep moving. The wheels of every line of endeavor must be kept turning if the city is going to develop, and what is of deeper concern than the wheels of Plainfield kept turning?

Should every one who has the interest of Plainfield close at heart buy goods from our merchants, the benefits all around can easily be seen. Thousands of dollars that would otherwise go out of the city will be kept circulating here and contribute a big share towards making a bigger and busier Plainfield.

A dollar spent at home will keep that dollar at home and all will share in the profits.

VAN DEVENTER BROTHERS BOW TO THE FINALISTS

Harold Throckmorton and Lindsay Dunham had the task of their young lives defeating the VanDeventer brothers, Phil and Ludlow, of this city, at El Mora Monday. The Princeton wonder and his agile partner sailed through a long string of opponents, but halted when the VanDeventer clip came in. However, the local lads had to bow to their opponents, the scores being 6-3, 1-6, 8-6 and 6-4.

The VanDeventer brothers defeated Heenan and Morgan 6-2, 6-2, and later set back Livingston and B. H. Throckmorton, 6-1 and 6-4. The locals also defeated G. Throckmorton and Ernst, 6-8, 8-4 and 6-2. In the last set the Dunham-H. Throckmorton duo again attacked the Plainfield racquet wielders and defeated them, 6-3, 1-6, 8-6 and 6-4.

AQUAPLANING NEW SPORT.

Riding Plank Drawn by Motorboat In New Game.

Those who have a hankering for hazardous games can find all the thrill they want in a new game called "aquaplaning." This form of recreation was invented this season, and it has become popular in towns near the water.

In aquaplaning you stand on a plank tied to the stern of a motorboat. With great momentum the plank literally hurtles over the crests of the waves, and it requires skill and courage for the rider to maintain his equilibrium.

Notwithstanding that the game is new there are some aquaplaners who can ride the plank standing on their hands. The rider must be a good swimmer, for the chances of being left are numerous and frequent.

Aquaplaners say it is a mistake to try to brace the feet by turning the toes outward. The force of the water catches the feet in this position and the rider is thrown into the water. It is better to stand in a firm position with the toes pointed straight ahead, balancing with the hands and the upper part of the body.

CALLS ROWING BEST SPORT.

James Pilkington, Noted Oarsman, Lauds the Water Game.

James Pilkington, one of America's oldest oarsmen, was asked recently why he thought rowing was the greatest and best sport.

"Rowing develops every muscle in the body and gives them an elasticity they can get in no other sport," said Mr. Pilkington. "It is the healthiest sport. The air on the water is better and purer than that on land, for it is free from dust, and with every stroke come lungs full of pure fresh air that make for longer life.

"It brings about plenty of perspiration and rapid circulation and thereby benefits the flesh and blood, as well as the bones and muscles of the body."

WAGNER'S FREAK RECORD.

Passed 200 Mark In Hits Only Twice In Nineteen Years on Diamond.

One of the strangest features of Honus Wagner's batting career is that only twice, over a nineteen year stretch, has he poled out more than 200 hits per season. In 1900 and again in 1908 he got 201 safeties.

Fandom assumed that because Wagner batted .300 or better over a seventeen year period and amassed a grand clubbing average of .331 for all of these seventeen years that he had often made more than 200 hits per season, but the records show to the contrary.

BATTING AVERAGES FOR NETHERWOODS

Manager Coughlan's Players Have Been Hitting the Ball at Hard Clip.

Now that the Netherwood baseball team has cinched the City League flag that team's official scorer has compiled the batting averages for each of the fifteen members of the successful combination. According to his figures one would take it that the heavy hitting of eleven of the players was entirely responsible for the final win registered by the East Enders. However, the great hurling of the four pitchers had more to do with the accomplishment than any other factor. The hurling stable, consisting of Lou Slocum, Otto Frederickson, Bill Clark and Russ Stewart had a profitable season. The fielding work of the team was almost faultless, errors being few and far between.

It is very likely that the Netherwood team, which has completed this year's schedule, will play independent games from now on. However, the Farmers, who registered a seventeen-inning 6 to 5 win over the Plainfield A. A., Monday, have, through their manager, A. C. Campbell, challenged the league champions to a series of games. Their challenge has been filed and it is thought that the Coughlan boys will be glad to get a wallop at the independents.

The batting averages, as compiled by Walter Hankerson, the official Netherwood scorer, follow:

	Games	AB.	Runs	Hits	Ave
Smith	15	62	10	17	.271
M. Terry	15	62	9	18	.290

"NIBS" HAND HAD TRYOUT WITH MACK'S ATHLETES

Frank "Nibs" Hand, the Scotch Plains ball player, who has been pastiming with the Worcester club of the New England League, is expected home today, as the Worcester schedule has been finished. "Nibs" has been clouting the pill at a terrific rate and has been fielding splendidly. The latest official averages state that he has been slamming the ball at a .301 clip and has been fielding .965. He has been for some time the first string catcher, having supplanted an inefficient "vet."

During the past season Mack requested "Nibs" to be on hand when the Athletic played in Boston. "Nibs" carried out Mack's request and worked out in practice. He made a very favorable impression on Connie and it is likely that Hand will go South with the team.

DRINK AND DEMANDS OF WAR.

There is but slight basis for the expectation of American prohibitionists that the demands of the great war will result in the permanent triumph of their cause in England. Russia prohibited vodka as a war measure only and, in like manner, a powerful element in Great Britain urged a temporary disuse of alcohol, not on moral grounds or for the sake of the nation's health, but merely as a patriotic duty amid the dangers of war.

The main object in view is greater efficiency and more hours of work among war-factory operatives. Among the working people of England there is much drunkenness on Saturday night and Sunday with consequent loss of efficiency on Monday and even failure to report for work. It is stated that for this reason many great industries in English cities during years past have made no pretense of working on Monday at all. The wheels of the factories must be kept turning on full time and the operatives must have clear heads and ready hands in order that ships may be rapidly built to take the place of those that are lost or crippled, and in order to supply the soldier's equipment, including vast supplies of ammunition.

Although the need of universal efficiency is imperative, strong protest against restricting the use of alcohol even temporarily is not lacking. This protest comes not merely from the property interests affected and those who forsee a great shrinkage of the national revenues at an unfortunate time, but from many who object to what they describe as a violation of the sacredness of personal liberty. It is regarded as doubtful whether Chancellor Lloyd-George's protest against the evil results of drink among employes in the war supply factories would have had any effect had he not been promptly supported by both General Kitchener and King George, and even the sympathizers with the proposition are divided between those who favor total prohibition and those who favor stringent control of the liquor traffic during the war.

There can be no question that immoderate indulgence in alcoholic beverages impairs efficiency, nor can there be any question that the same immoderate indulgence often leads to crime. But it is not at all the moral side of the question that engages attention in England, where the manifest reduction of the hours of much-needed labor and general loss of efficiency caused by the abuse of alcohol is now widely regarded as a national peril.

Trenton is beginning to realize that competition pays, from the consumers point of view. It was only a short time ago that there were two telephone systems in the capital city, and as a result rates were lower there than at places where there is no competition. The independent company went into the hands of a receiver, and when it was sold by court order the Bell system, "the Trust," bought in the property. Now within a few days after the sale is confirmed it is announced that rates will be increased anywhere from twenty to thirty-three and a third per cent. The City Commission has announced that the matter will be appealed to the Public Utility Commission. It has been pointed out that for many years while there was competition, the Bell Company was so well satisfied with business that it erected a handsome and expensive building, and that nothing has occurred recently to excuse the increases, except, as the Times puts it "the bankruptcy of the Interstate Company, which gives the Bell a monoply of the New Jersey field." It is the same story everywhere. In the west where there is competition, the rates are much lower than in the east, but as soon as the Bell gobbles up a competitor, the rates go up. The Telephone Company is exacting rates that are inexcusably high ,and it will continue to do so until there is an investigation of the whole matter, either by a legislative committee or by the Public Utility Commission.

The eradication of filth is in part the duty of every citizen, and each should see that his own surroundings are in a satisfactory condition. He should guard against carelessness in the maintenance and preparation of food and withhold his patronage from those who disregard the rules of cleanliness, remembering that the foods which are most subject to contamination are milk and its products, oysters and vegetables. The role of flies in the dissemination of the infection is now generally recognized, as a recent United States Public Health Bulletin points out. The elimination of such fly-breeding places as garbage, manure and filth is most essential, but the proper screening of houses and the adoption of destructive measures are also of great prophylactic value. If, in spite of these precautions, the disease develops, it then becomes the duty of every citizen to implicitly follow the instructions given by the authorities in order that the safety of others may not be imperiled, bearing in mind the fact that every case of typhoid fever is due to someone's ignorance or carelessness. No higher duty of citizenship than this can be conceived.

When a newspaper reporter went to interview Thomas De Kay, Republican candidate for State Senator in Sussex county, he found the candidate busily engaged in ploughing his garden and he kept right at the job while submitting to questioning. This modern Cincinnatus should make a good representative of Sussex in the Legislature. The man who believes in doing the job himself and in sticking to it until it is done has some of the qualities that make a good legislator. Sussex Republicans have the odds against them, but if De Kay ploughs deep enough a crop of votes may spring up to land him in the State House. —Camden Post Telegram.

That being the case, a few people should wander out toward Cedarbrook and watch United States Senator James E. Martine on the job. He works hard enough at manual labor to entitle him to any office in the gift of the people, if that is the principal consideration.

An Ocean county newspaper has unearthed a scandal in the road building work in that county. That is nothing new. A former Board of Freeholders was convicted of misfeasance in office, and yet the people re-elected some of them time and time again. The present director of the Board, in the former investigation, was shown to have charged and collected from the county for thirty-three days work in one month.

Men and nature are such symbols of each other all the while,
Watching one and watching t'other makes a fellow want to smile.
You have read, of course, the papers, telling of the awful floods
When the people left their houses clad in mighty scanty duds.
All of this because some mill-dam in a valley far away
Busted loose and sent her waters rushing onward to the bay.

And I've noticed in some people of explosive ways and miens
That they act a lot like rivers, when somebody spills the beans.
I have heard their lingual floodgates fetching loose to beat the band
When existing circumstances seemed too much for them to stand.
They've impersonated freshets in my presence, without doubt,
For a flood of language followed when the damn went out!

A concert of the powers is a musical entertainment in which martial music is not allowed, and in which contra-bands never play a part. By looking at a list of the Kelleys, Burkes and Sheas now engaged in the big continental shindy, however, one will note that the Harp is one of the leading instruments when the powers are not in concert.

Health Talks

Beds and Backs

HALF of woman's ills may be summed up in one word—backache. The almanacs, the nostrum maker's literature, the various fake "doctor books" published in the interest of big quack medicine firms, and the circular that comes wrapped around the seventy-nine cent bottle of faintly medicated booze highly recommended for woman's ills, all dwell upon the seriousness of this symptom in word and in picture. Yet we dare say the situation of the trouble in a good many cases at any rate is in the bed she sleeps on.

The joint between the sacrum at the base of the spine and the hip bones on either side is easily strained by lying in a bed which sags under the weight of the body. In women much more than in men the ligaments and muscles which support these joints tire under strain and relax, permitting slight slipping or mobility in these joints. The result is backache, which is distinguished by the fact that it is modified by changes of posture—unlike the back pains which sometimes accompany internal derangements in women.

The woven wire springs so commonly found on beds almost invariably stretch after a time and sag under the weight of the body. And then some of the cheaper mattresses people buy under a mistaken notion of economy are nothing but hillocks and valleys after a few weeks' use.

To any woman, or any man either, who is troubled with backache or lame back without good and sufficient cause, we would suggest a careful examination of the bed for signs of inanition and collapse. If the springs or mattress seems to be run down or in need of a good tonic send it to the Salvation Army and indulge in a new one. There is no mistake in investing money in good bed-springs and good mattresses even if you have no lame back. You will get more pleasure from hitting the hay if your bed is alluring.

So often, so very often, a doctor has to order a couple of slats slipped under a sagging bedspring in order to relieve the tired, aching back of the patient under his care. It is surprising how people will lie in a veritable crater and wonder what in thunder makes their back ache so much.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Short And Sweet

Queries, like prayers, are most effective, in our opinion, when made short and sweet. At any rate we scan but scantily those duodecimo volumes which some readers inflict upon us. Another shortcoming of ours is the fact that we generally neglect to read the other side when a correspondent writes on both sides of the paper. And of course we can pay no attention to the anonymous query, even though it is signed "Sincerely yours, A Constant Reader"—as though sincerity and anonymity could ever be compatible!

Adenoids In Babies

Is it ever necessary for a baby sixteen months old to have an operation for adenoids? demands a worried father. My doctor says our two children have them and they should be operated on at once. They are sixteen months and four years old respectively.

Answer—Your doctor is probably right. It is often necessary to operate on babies a few months old for adenoids, and it is a lot safer than to let the trouble go untreated. If neglected, the child's face, chest and general development will suffer permanently.

If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. PONDEROUS PERSONAGES—LUCREZIA BORGIA

LUCREZIA BORGIA was a lady who lived in Italy four hundred years ago and whose reputation is now being dry-cleaned after having been alluded to with scorn and horror for several centuries.

Lucrezia was the daughter of old man Borgia, who was a big noise in Italy and was a Cardinal at a time when the clergy dispensed so much morality to the people that it didn't have any left for itself. At that time a daughter was so valuable an asset that the assessors considered listing them as personal property and the man who had three or four handsome daughters could very easily make a luxurious living as a father-in-law.

When Lucrezia was eleven years of age her father married her to a Spaniard who had plenty of money and a good political pull. However, no sooner had he done this than he discovered to his indignation that he could have gotten a better offer from an Italian lord. In those days people did not stand on petty formalities. Borgia promptly annulled the marriage and married his daughter all over again at a handsome premium.

Borgia, however, was climbing so fast that his daughter was doubling in value every year. This made the young lord very passé as a husband and presently the marriage was annulled. This time Borgia got a Duke for a son-in-law and was very well satisfied, for he needed Dukes in his political business, he being pope at a time when the tenure of office was very precarious and eventful.

However a split in the party soon took place and the Duke got on the wrong side. For this he was soon murdered by his brother-in-law and then Lucrezia's father, with a glad cry, advertised her for marriage once more and began looking over the market.

By this time prospective sons-in-law were a little shy owing to the consistent bad luck of the former incumbents, but the son of the Duke of Florence took a chance, and at twenty-two Lucrezia became a blushing young bride for the fourth time.

She was merely an obedient daughter

Lucrezia has been greatly criticised in history for her industry in collecting husbands and the circumstances under which at least one of them expired. But it is now admitted that she was merely an obedient daughter and would have married the whole Almanach de Gotha to please her father. She lived many years quite happily with her last husband and she is entitled to at least as much respect as the modern women who marry long series of husbands with no consent but that of the divorce judge.

New Uses For Wireless Electricity

A VARIETY of small practical uses for wireless electricity has been developed by Professor B. K. Shepard, of Tufts College, who employs it to ring house bells, to blow horns, fire cannon, and to steer a small boat or automobile. He is now working on a wireless submarine destroyer.

While these developments of wireless are going on, Nicola Tesla, the inventor of the wireless telegraph system, prints an interview picturing the early practicability of employing wireless electricity in warfare. The time is so near when fighting automatically or by machinery alone can be anticipated, Mr. Tesla declares, that the United States Government should not delay to make suitable preparations to defend its coasts by wireless methods. His ingenious mind has conceived a plan of national defence by which wireless submarines having a wide range and battleships as well, unmanned and therefore involving no danger to the lives of the defending people, can be directed by wireless to a point of attack and their arms discharged also by wireless in the control of experts on shore. Telescopes to aid in this sort of defensive warfare have been devised, so that the inventor looks forward with confidence to the time when invasions can be repelled with almost no peril to the defensive forces.

Such a triumph of machinery over war may not be so chimerical as appears at first thought. Striking as the suggestion of Mr. Tesla is, it is no more amazing than some of the wonders with which the modern world is already familiar. If repelling an invading fleet with unmanned warships seems incredible to us, so would the present effectiveness of electricity with and without wires, in the telephone and telegraph, the electric street-car system, or of gasoline in the sixty-miles-an-hour automobile, and so would the "movies" and many other triumphs of machinery appear to our great grandparents.—Topeka Capital.

A Receipt—Is It Final?

Q. Is the following true: In making an indorsement for receipt of part payment, the date and amount are all that is necessary, and under no circumstances should the holder write his name, as that would cancel the whole amount?

A. The mere fact that one attaches his signature, together with the date and amount, to a receipt for part payment of a debt or claim, will do no harm. It cannot show more than it purports to show. Further, a receipt, either for the whole or only a part of the indebtedness, is merely prima facie evidence and is always open to explanatory or contradictory proof. It is merely a question of fact as to whether the debt, either in whole or in part, has been paid, but a person who attacks a receipt has the burden of proving that it is not correct.

Married Women's Property Rights

Q. Do married women have the same property rights in all the states? A. No.

Consideration In A Contract

Q. In making a contract, is a check regarded as "consideration"?

A. It would afford the evidence of the consideration.

The War Revenue Law

Q. (1) Under the present war revenue law, what is the penalty for failure to attach revenue stamps on the required documents? (2) In the case of a note, who would be liable—the payée or the maker?

A. (1) The war revenue law prescribes a fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, in the discretion of the court. (2) It is the duty of the maker of the note to cancel the stamp by writing his initials and the date across the face of the stamp. The payée may, however, act as the agent of the maker for this particular purpose and cancel the stamp with the maker's initials, besides writing the date. Where the stamps amount to ten cents or more, three parallel lines must be used in cancellation, besides writing the initials and date.

Incorporated

Q. May a concern use the title, "Inc.," following the name if not incorporated?

A. The use of any word or phrase of this character, if untrue, would be a misrepresentation. The statutes of the various states sometimes deal with this question, either expressly or by implication.

"Signed" But Not Proved

Q. Would the presence of the word "signed," when used in connection with a person's name in printed matter, be conclusive evidence that that person had actually signed the article which his name followed? A. No.

Upon A Gambling Loan

Q. Where money is loaned for the purpose of being used in a gambling transaction, may it be recovered in a suit brought by the lender?

A. No. If it was loaned for that particular and specific purpose, it cannot be recovered. It has been held, however, that where a loan is negotiated for the purpose of paying off past indebtedness, resulting from gambling transactions, the borrower will be liable in an action brought by the lender.

The Life Line

BY LAURA KIRKMAN

The Girl With a Stock Laugh

She isn't smart enough to vary it a little, now and then. She gives herself away by letting it come with the same volume whether she's laughing at a good joke, or merely at someone's quotation of an old saw. Plainly, she's snatching any excuse to laugh. She thinks it's captivating. Someone has spoiled her by telling her so. "It just does me good to hear you laugh," has spoiled many a young girl's natural spontaneity; after that, she tries to do everyone good. She likes the rôle of Little Sunshine. And the minute she begins to act, she spoils herself. She's too young to act cleverly enough to delude us; even professional actresses have been known to fail at the game. "She's so natural," is the nicest thing that can be said of a young girl. The girl with a stock laugh has banished her chief charm, and offered us in its place a laugh that we all recognize as artificial.

She's only plated ware.

Idyl

I curse the styles of women fair,
Which hide their features to the nose;
They're burdened far too much with hair
When they display themselves in those Summer furs.

In contrast to this lavish hair
We have the youth who tries to grip
Us with a visage sadly bare
When he disports upon his lip Summer fuzz.

So why not let aspring men,
Who o'er their scanty tendrils gloat,
Remove both fuzzy evils, then,
By taking from milady's throat Some of hers?

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

Bibbley-Wah And the Boys Get a Pet Crow.

She Let Him Out Into the Garden.

"TELL us another Bibbley-Wah story, daddy," begged the kiddies.

"Once upon a time Bibbley-Wah, the little three-year-old girl, went to pick blackberries with Bobbie and Jim. But the bushes were so high they could not reach many berries. So when they got their pails full Jim said he thought it would be fun to hunt crows' nests."

"They are so high!" cried Jack, measuring with his hand.

"Yes," agreed daddy. "And crows mostly build in the very tiptop of old hemlocks, which have no limbs left to climb by.

"So Bobbie and Jim had a very hard time climbing for crows' nests, but after many scratches and much discouragement, Jim finally reached one"—

"What was in it?" cried the kiddies.

"Two young crows, almost ready to fly," said daddy. "So the boys did not feel very cruel to take one. Jim said they would soon fly away from their mother, anyhow, and she wouldn't be too lonesome if they left her one."

"What did Bibbley-Wah do while the boys climbed?" asked Jack.

"She just sat on the cool grass under the old hemlock and, I'm afraid, ate a great many of the blackberries that her mother needed to make a pie for supper.

"When the children got home Bibbley-Wah's uncle said that the young crow would certainly fly away if his wing feathers were not clipped. So he got the shears and clipped the crow's wings and named him Hamlet.

"Well, the boys had a fine time making a coop for their pet. They got an old barrel and drove some sticks down in the ground in front of it, so Hamlet could get air and look out without getting away from them. Then they plucked fresh lettuce leaves and got some mosquitoes for his supper".—

"When Evelyn was little she always called skeetoes 'spageets,'" Jack remembered.

"Sometimes when they were watching him the boys would let Hamlet out of his coop to roam around on the grass and hunt bugs for himself.

"Then one day, when Bobbie and Jim had gone on an errand for her mother, Bibbley-Wah went out in the backyard to amuse herself. She saw Hamlet pecking at his front door and felt so sorry for him that she pulled up a stick and let him right out into the garden—where he almost destroyed a bed of young lettuce.

"Then her uncle said 'twas time to let Hamlet go. So the boys took him back to the old hemlock and set him free," daddy finished, as he kissed the children good night.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. WM. LEONARD.

"Hello, Nell; I have not seen you for days," said Olive, bursting into the sunny living room like an invigorating breeze.

"What is the matter, dear?" she asked as Nell met her with a wan smile.

"Oh, nothing," said Nell with a martyred air. "Have some candy!" She passed a box of chocolates.

"Aren't you going to eat any?" asked Olive, taking one from the dainty box. "You used to be very fond of chocolates."

Nell did not reply, but Olive saw a tear drop on the little dress she was making.

"Tell me what hurts, dear." Olive dropped on a stool at her feet and caught both her hands. Nell drew one hand away to hunt for her handkerchief.

"Oh, I'm so unhappy; life seems very dark to me," she sobbed.

"Life dark! Come, now, that's a great way to talk, with your pretty home, darling baby and loving husband. 'Fess up. You've been losing sleep or overworking. It all amounts to the same thing. Air your griefs; you'll find they are very light and will float away."

"Dick was so unkind yesterday. He said such cruel things before he left the house. I cried nearly all day. I just can't stand it. I do my best and——"

"Tell me, had you been kept awake the night before?" queried Olive in a businesslike manner.

"Yes; Hal is cutting his stomach teeth, and we had very little sleep."

"I thought so. Both of you were worn out and something went wrong. Dick went to pieces. He's a bundle of nerves, anyway. Wasn't that it?"

"Yes," answered Nell in a chastened tone.

"He was sorry for it the minute he lost his head, wasn't he?"

"I don't know," said Nell faintly. "He didn't say anything."

"Men rarely do that, daddy says. Didn't he do something?"

"He brought me this box of candy." Nell passed it again.

"And you didn't even show your appreciation by eating a piece. I'm ashamed of you, Nell."

"As if all the candy in the world could wipe out the memory of the unkind things he said," burst forth Nell, wiping her smarting eyes.

"Well, Nell, count your mercies. Here you sit nursing your wounds and pitying yourself. I'll warrant you have thought of nothing else but those unkind words for two days."

"Naturally; how could I forget them?" Nell said sullenly.

"Why not think of how jolly and kind he has been a hundred times, nearly always, in fact? You pick out the few thorns and occupy your time sticking them into yourself just for the pleasure of seeing the blood. Self-pity weakens all one's forces and helps no one. I am ashamed of you, Nell. Daddy took me for a long walk just before I was married and said some wonderful things to me. Dear daddy!"

"Tell me what he said, please," for Olive had relapsed into silence.

"He said, 'Marriage is not happiness itself, my girl, unless other things are as they should be. It is an opportunity for happiness, and you must understand that all opportunities bring great responsibilities, great possibilities of failure. Often it doubles one's cares, divides one's privileges. If you are marrying just to be happy, you will achieve great misery; if you marry that you may enrich your life and your husband's, that you may be of service to a good man and enable him to accomplish what he could not do alone, you will be happy.'"

"How contemptible my attitude seems after that," said Nell softly.

"Be thankful Dick cares enough about his burst of temper to want to 'make up,' and remember these words are only stinging gnats that buzz about; they do not touch his solid worth." Olive rose and kissed her friend.

"Thank you, dear," whispered Nell.

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

When baby is first starting to stand on his feet turn his high chair on the side and let him stand between the rungs; he will amuse himself that way a long time and it will save him many bumps.

Soak tapioca in water to make glue for the kiddies. It is non-poisonous, will not stain and does the same work as bought glue.

When frying out meat rinds for soap grease much disagreeable smoke can be kept out of the room by putting them in a large pan in the oven. By purchasing one box of lye for 10c. You can make at least seventy-five cents worth of soap by using this grease that might otherwise be thrown away.

FOR HOME SOAPMAKERS.

One-Hour Soap Recipe—Very easy to make and washes excellently: Take seventeen quarts rain water, two cans lye, eight pounds grease, one-half pound borax, one pound rosin. Stir all together and let cook one hour.

THE TABLE

Candied Ham—Select large, good piece of ham, cover with cold water in frying pan. Allow this to boil a few minutes; if ham is unusually salty repeat the process. Pour off water and fry very slowly about five minutes. Sprinkle with sugar (granulated or brown) and brown. If ham hasn't enough fat on add sufficient butter in pan. This makes a very good Sunday morning breakfast.

Frizzled Beef—Pick one-fourth pound dried beef in small bits and brown in butter; add one and one-half cups milk. Mix brown in butter; add one and one-half cups milk. Mix some flour with cold water and add to above, stirring constantly until boiling point is reached. Season with pepper and salt. Pour over toast.

Cabbage and Cheese (neat substitute)—Parboil cabbage in salt water. When soft, place in baking dish—first a layer of cabbage, then layer of grated cheese, etc., until baking dish is full, having a layer of grated cheese on top. Place several lumps of butter on top. Place in hot oven until cheese is melted and becomes brown on top.

Stuffed Green Peppers With Tomatoes—Clean from seeds and wash peppers. Be careful just to split on top. Stuff with following: Pork ground fine, amount of rice needed, two eggs, onions ground fine, pepper, salt, tablespoon of lard. Wash tomatoes, boil, skim seeds out and place to boil; into this add stuffed peppers. Cook well together and pour sour cream over them. Serve warm.

To Store Fruits and Vegetables for Winter.

Potatoes should be kept in a cool, dry, dark place, and sprouts rubbed off in the spring.

Carrots, parsnips and turnips keep plump and fresh if placed in earth or sand-filled boxes on the cellar floor.

Sweet potatoes will keep until January if rubbed clean and dry and packed in chaff without touching one another.

Pumpkins and squash should be kept on a shelf and wiped dry from time to time.

Cabbage placed in barrels, with roots up, keeps fresh and crisp.

Celery should be packed, heads up, in boxes, and several covered with dry earth. Should not be washed or trimmed.

Firm, well-grown tomatoes should be picked before beginning to turn and placed on straw-covered racks until they ripen. These will last until January if picked just before frost.

Apples should be wiped dry and placed on shelf with as little crowding as possible. The best specimens may be wrapped in tissue paper as a further precaution.

Oranges and lemons must be wrapped in soft paper and stored on shelves.

Pears will also keep by this method, or may be packed in sawdust.

Cranberries should be picked over and all soft ones removed, then placed in crock and covered with water, with plate on top weighted to keep berries under water. The water must be changed each month.

ONE-PIECE DRESSES FASHIONABLE.

NOS. 8814-9068.

Picturesque indeed are the new high-waisted dresses. A large majority of them are cut in one piece, giving an appearance of grace and elegance. An excellent dress is Ladies' Home Journal Pattern Nos. 8814-9068. The scalloped skirt and peplum are in exceedingly good taste and are very popular. These are usually developed in taffeta and are worn over a net guimpe, such as No. 8814, which cuts in sizes 32 to 50 inches bust measure and requires in size 36, 2¼ yards 36-inch net. The pattern for the dress cuts in sizes 32 to 42 inches bust measure, requiring in size 36, 5¼ yards 36-inch taffeta with ¼ yard 27-inch net for collar.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

What a pity that the Anti-Suffrage contributor to last Saturday's Press could not have attended the Conference of Governors held in Boston the week before! It is a dreadful fate to stay in Elizabeth and be so distraught over the predicament of those western equal suffrage States. We hope it may cheer Mr. Chandall to read what some of their governors said on the subject. Of the twenty-nine governors present at the reception in the flag room of the Old Bay State Capitol eight are serving an electorate which makes no discrimination because of sex. Several of the other governors in attendance had by their signatures to resolutions made possible the 1915 campaigns in their respective States.

"Woman suffrage is a distinct asset to the State of Washington," said Gov. Ernest Lister. "No one, except perhaps someone disgruntled, on account of its having interfered with some pet scheme, has ever suggested that Washington was not better for it."

"I can see as much sense in questioning the right of women to the ballot as in asking if the Lord's Prayer is a good thing," said Alva Adams, who was twice chief executive of Colorado, and Governor George M. Carlson and former Governor Elias M. Ammons were quick to cite instances in which the women of Colorado had proved "a political safety valve," rendering calmer judgment than the men.

"Neglect their homes? Of course not," said former Governor Carey, of Wyoming, the first State to enfranchise its women. "Why should they? It helps them take care of the home."

Calling attention to the record of Mrs. Frances Munds in the Arizona Senate, Governor Hunt reiterated his statement issued soon after his election in 1914, that none of the evils predicted by opponents of suffrage have appeared. "This is even more sure now than it was then," was his comment.

"Look at the way they voted in Chicago," said Governor Dunne, of Illinois. "Anyone who considers what the women of Chicago have done in the last two years knows that they do vote when they can."

Arthur Capper, governor of Kansas and editor of the Topeka Capitol, declared that while Kansas was late in extending to women the equality begun in 1861, when they were given the right to vote in school elections, that they were quick to recognize the wisdom of their having put full suffrage in the constitution in 1912. "Do they vote? Of course they do. As large a percentage of the women qualified vote as men."

In a communication to Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse, Governor Capper wrote lately:

"Kansas gave her women school suffrage and liked it. Afterward she gave them municipal suffrage and liked it better. Afterward she gave them full suffrage and likes it best."

"Suffrage in Kansas has broadened women's views of social life. It has centered her thoughts on home and its needs, and has given a new and beneficial influence in the life of the State. It has in no way detracted from her womanliness or her character, but has strengthened both. Kansas will never go back to the rule of all the people by a part of them."

Cannot our neighbor in Elizabeth pluck up courage from such testimonials given by the chief executives of States wherein men and women both vote? And must he be once more reminded of that vote of satisfaction and confidence passed by the California Legislature, putting itself on record as more than gratified with the results of equal suffrage? It is just possible that even New Jersey women might not prove any less desirable, full-fledged citizens than their western sisters have.

Federal Commission for Equal Rights.

The United States Commission on Industrial Relations, appointed by President Wilson to probe the causes of social and industrial unrest, advises the immediate enfranchisement of women in its report.

The report was drawn up by Basil M. Manly, director of Research and Investigation for the commission, and was accepted in full and signed by Chairman Frank B. Welsh and Commissioners John Lennon, Jane O'Connell and Justin E. Garretson. The commissioners who dissented from this report objected to total different phases of it than those dealing with equal suffrage.

The following recommendations are made by the report:

"1. The recognition both by public opinion and in such legislation as may be enacted, of the principle that women should receive the same compensation as men for the same service.

"2. Until this principle is recognized and women are accorded equal political rights, the extension of State protection of women, through legislation regulating working conditions, hours of service, and minimum wages, is highly desirable.

"3. The increased organization of working women for self-protection and the improvement of their industrial conditions.

"4. The inclusion of all women working for wages, whether in industry, trade, domestic service, or agriculture, under future legislation regulating their wages, hours, or working conditions.

"5. The extension of the principle of State protection of children and the rapid increase of facilities for their education as outlined elsewhere.

"6. The enactment by Congress of legislation embodying the principles contained in the so-called Palmer-Owen bill, which was before Congress at the last session."

DANGERS LURK IN COMMON WASHRAG

Health Authorities Say It is Worse Than the Common Towel.

The U. S. Public Health Service and the various State and local Boards of Health have taken adequate measures for the abolition of that distributer of disease germs, the common towel. Now comes the news that the common washrag is even a greater menace to health. The hotels and public hostelries have recognized this for some time, and have supplied their guests with sterilized wash cloths in individual sealed packets. The damp "sour" smelling washrag still exists, however, in many private bath-rooms.

Imperfectly washed out after use, frequently not wrung out at all, it is often hung over a rack or a radiator near an open window, there to collect dust and dirt. Frequently the same washrag is used by the entire family, thus affording an easy means of transferrence of mouth secretions from person to person. In many households each individual has his own wash cloth and his individual towel, but these hang so close to one another that there is ready interchange of bacteria.

Each individual should have his own wash cloth. It should be thoroughly washed out with clean hot water after use. It should be then wrung as nearly dry as possible, and if possible hung in the sun to dry. It should not come in contact with other wash cloths. In the investigations the U. S. Public Health Service is conducting in regard to the prevalence of trachoma it has been found that common towels probably acted as a medium of distribution of the germ of disease.

JEWISH NEW YEAR TOMORROW.

Rosh Hashanah, or the Jewish New Year, will be observed by Hebrews throughout the world tomorrow, September 9. It will mark the beginning of the 5,676th year since the creation of the earth. This is one of the most important days on the Hebrew calendar. Ten days later, September 19, comes Yom Kippur, the Jewish day of atonement.

CANNING COMPOUNDS DANGEROUS TO HEALTH

Housewives Warned That Preserving Powders Are Harmful and Useless.

Washington, Sept. 8—Information has come to the department that the canning season has brought the usual demand on the part of housewives for salicylic acid and boric acid. These preparations are sometimes sold in the form of powder under various trade names and are recommended by the promoters for use in preserving canned goods in home canning. In the directions for use the housewife is told to fill the jar with the fruit or vegetables, cover with water, and add a teaspoonful of the preserving powder. While it is true that these compounds may retard the decay of the fruit or vegetable, it is pointed out by the experts of the department that their use may be attained by serious disturbances of health. Salicylic acid is well known as a poisonous substance, and one of the evils which may accompany its use is derangement of the digestion. It is therefore plain that its extensive use in food may lead to disturbance of digestion and health.

The Federal Food and Drugs Act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives in foods that enter interstate commerce. The food law of nearly every State in the union forbids the sale within the State of foods that have been preserved with harmful substances. Neither the Federal or State food laws apply to foods that are canned in the home and consumed there. It would seem, however, that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she provides for her family, substances that she could not use in foods for sale without violating the law, because these substances are injurious to health.

Fruits and vegetables can be kept indefinitely if they are sterilized by heat and properly sealed, and there is no excuse, in the opinion of the experts of the department, for running any risk by using preserving powders, which may be injurious to health. The use of such powders in addition to the possible injury to health encourages uncleanly or careless work in canning. Reliance is placed in the efficacy of the preserving compound instead of upon cleanliness and heat.

The department has issued bulletins that give specific directions for the preserving and canning of fruits and vegetables without the use of preserving powders or canning compounds. These bulletins may be obtained without cost from the Department of Agriculture. Application should be made for Farmers' Bulletin, No. 203, on Canned Fruit, Preserves and Jellies, and No. 521, on Canning Tomatoes at Home and in Club Work. Also Forms N. R. 22, N. R. 23, N. R. 24, N. R. 34 and N. R. 37 of the Office of Extension Work, North and West, State Relations Service.

DAVE MARION APPEARING AT COLUMBIA THEATRE

The Columbia Theatre season, which is now in its third week, has thus far proven more emphatically than ever before that perfectly presented high-class burlesque is exceedingly popular with all classes of theatre-goers. For this week an unusual attraction is offered. It is Dave Marion, who stands at the head and front among burlesque players and whose prominence is not second to that of any man on the American stage. Mr. Marion will bring his great company of sixty talented people and present an elaborate production of a new two-act extravaganza called "Around the World." Besides the highly enjoyable character of the performance itself, the scenery, costumes and other adjuncts of the production are said to rival in extent and beauty anything of a similar kind that has been witnessed in New York. Mr. Marion will be seen in his familiar and exceedingly amusing characterization of "Snuffy, the Cabman," and he will have the assistance of a literally all-star cast which includes such widely known names as Harry Jolson, Barney Fagan, Agnes Buhler, Irene Young, Henrietta Byron and Al. H. Weston, and the elaborate ballets will be led by Emilie Bartoletti, a widely known European premiere danseuse.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Daddy Long-Legs," the one big dramatic success of this and last season, will be presented here for the first time next Saturday evening at the Plainfield Theatre by Henry Miller's special company. The play, which was written by Jean Webster, a niece of the late Mark Twain, is a dramatization of the famous Daddy Long-Legs letters which were published as a serial story by one of the big magazines three years ago and which subsequently came out in book form and proved a fabulously successful "best seller." The comedy sets forth a fascinating love story in which tender sentiment is delightfully blended with bubbling, whimsical humor. Its central characters are a very quaint little Cinderella and a decidedly up-to-date Prince Charming and the love story in which they figure becomes a veritable idyl of buoyant youth.

SMOKE FIGHTERS' CONVENTION.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 8.—The movement to abate the smoke nuisance in the cities of the United States has grown to a big campaign, according to the interest manifested today at the opening of the tenth annual convention of the International Association for the Prevention of Smoke. Many cities are represented in the gathering. Experts on smoke elimination are present from all parts of the country. On the program are proper stoking, locomotive and steamboat firing, boiler construction, selection of fuel and other angles having to do with the creation of smoke. Louis C. Towner, of Grand Rapids, is presiding over the meetings, which will continue tomorrow and Friday.

HEALTH ASSOCIATION MEETS.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The American Public Health Association opened an important meeting here today. One of the principal addresses is that of Dr. Oscar M. Leiser, medical inspector of the New York Department of Health, who will speak on alleged patent medicine frauds, and will illustrate his talk with lantern slides. Over this address there has been an interesting combat, a Rochester doctor on the entertainment committee having made the request that the patent medicine business of this city be not attacked.

SPORTS OF THE ROUND-TABLE---

SCHWEITZER'S DEATH A GREAT SHOCK.

News coming from Rahway of the death of George Schweitzer, one of Union county's best known and cleverest athletes, came as a decided shock to his many intimate acquaintances in this city. During his four year course in the Rahway High School, which he brought to a conclusion only last June, Schweitzer, was instrumental in the annexation of football, baseball and basketball and track titles for his alma mater and stood for cleancut sportsmanship first, last and all the time. Possessed of a strong physique, a genial temperament and unusual ability in all branches of sports Schweitzer was one of the most popular schoolboys in the county and wherever his team travelled he was sure to receive a warm welcome. Particularly was this true of the Plainfield High School athletic meeting places and the news of his sudden demise sent gloom into the heart of every local athlete who has ever opposed the Rahwayan.

HAIL THE NEW CHAMPIONS.

Announcement that the Netherwood leguers have the city pennant cut and dried relieves local fandom from a strain that has been felt since Plainfield's new ball organization sent its schedule under way several months ago. The first champs did not win the crown under easy conditions and it's one safe bet that every organization on the circuit knows that it has been in a fight. The success of this year's trial should prove sweet enough to make the league a permanent one for time to come. Give us some more of the same stuff next summer.

EXIT BASEBALL; ENTER FOOTBALL.

That the football bug is flying pretty close to earth these days is admitted on all sides. The open season for doctors and hospitals is again in sight and it won't be long before ears, eyes and limbs begin to disappear. We haven't heard a whisper from the Holy Cross management, but this silence means the same as it has meant in other years—viz., a football team. Plainfield High School will probably send its warriors out to Parker Field in the course of the next fornight and we expect the annual ban on the gridiron game in North Plainfield to be announced at any time. Baseball is on the homestretch and the sprint to the world's series tape has already begun.

One thing that the Hope Chapel City Leaguers have to be thankful for: They won't have to pay Jack Martin and Cliff Randolph several thousand dollars to help them win the league pennant. It's already ordered for the East End.

When a fifteen-year-old girl athlete hurls a horsehide sphere through the air for a 150-foot trip it's high time someone substituted baseballs for rolling pins in these "can't find the key-hole" and "won't get home 'till morning" yarns.

Didn't happen to notice any of those much-talked-of Brunswick feminine athletes going back to Middlesex county with prizes from Parker Field, Labor Day. Wonder why they ignored the challenge to send their "State champions" to Plainfield. We've got a slight hunch that they'd be too far from the protecting wing of their publicity managers.

Just to get a little revenge on one Alf Grenda it appears to us as though the management of the Newark Velodrome was going to have enough races to allow Frank Kramer to cinch his fifteenth time. If they have enough events the old "vet" is bound to come to the surface and it will only be giving Grenda his just deserts for his "dirty" riding in the early summer.

A. A. U. BASKETBALL RULES ARE CHANGED

Amateur Teams Will Be Allowed to Dribble and Shoot in the Future.

Local basketball referees, registered by the Amateur Athletic Union, have been notified of a decided change in the amateur rule code which will go into effect this fall. The old ban against dribbling, followed by a shot at the basket, has been eliminated and hereafter players will be allowed to dribble and shoot at will without penalty.

Summarized, the rule code is almost a duplicate of the Collegiate set and should tend to make the game snappier and speedier than ever. Heretofore there has been such a noticeable difference between the college and amateur game that frequent conflicts have resulted which have produced disagreeable competition and it is believed that the new set of regulations will do away with these "rats."

PEACOCK A CANDIDATE FOR COLGATE FOOTBALL ELEVEN

William Peacock, captain of the Plainfield High School football team last year and the year previous, will leave next week for Colgate University, where he will go into training with the university football squad. One of his companions at the training table will be Monroe Good, Plainfield High School 1913, who is a junior at Colgate and a football letter man.

Peacock has been spending the summer at a camp on Mooseehead Lake, Maine, conducted by Instructors Beers and Woodman, of the Plainfield High School faculty, who are both graduates of Colgate.

FIRST MEETING OF "PEGS."

The first meeting of the "Pegs," the newly organized girls' athletic club, will be held in the Plainfield High School gymnasium tonight. Plans for the winter work of the organization will be discussed and several matters presented to the members. Miss Clara Smith, president, will preside.

HARD WALLOPING ENDED IN VICTORY

Farmers Hit Ball Hard and Won in the Seventeenth Frame by 6 to 5.

The Plainfield A. A. and the Farmers battled for seventeen innings Monday, the latter winning by the close score of 6 to 5. Both teams clouted the pill consistently and fielded in great style. The ability of the opposing pitchers to tighten up in the pinches made an early victory by either of the teams impossible.

Anderson, the Farmers' first sacker, played in Hal Chase style, while Morley clouted the ball hard. Harry Moulton, the ex-Public Service star, is accused of knocking the cover off the ball and otherwise damaging Kach lries' "rep." His best achievement for the day was a home run drive over the left-field fence.

The game began at 10:45 in the morning and hostilities were not declared off until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. As a result of the unusual length of the initial argument, the second section of the scheduled double-decker had to be postponed.

SCHOOLEY'S PROTEGES MADE CLEAN SWEEP THIS YEAR

The Tuscarora Canoe Club, of which Bill Schooley, formerly of this city, is captain, wound up a very successful season at the Passaic regatta Monday. The "Tusks" experienced little difficulty in annexing the point prize at these events.

The "Tusks" have won the Atlantic Coast, New Jersey State, Newark City and Lake Hopatcong club championships.

CITY LEAGUE SEASON NOT YET AT AN END

The City League schedule has still some time to run, postponements necessitating an extension of the playing season. Next Saturday the Saurers meet the T. A. B. S. on Avon Oval while the Clintons hook up with the Baptists on West End Field.

On September 18, the Abstainers will meet the Baptists and the Clintons will clash with the Hopes at Soccer Field. The following Saturday the T. A. B. S. and the Baptists will again clash while the season will be brought to a close when the Saurers and Baptists battle on October 2.

CURRY LEAGUES GO BACK TO GOTHAM FOR WINTER

The Curry A. C. has finished its season, most of the players having returned to their homes in New York city and Brooklyn. The team was one of the six outfits that battled in the Parker Field Junior League and was very successful in its competition.

The Curry boys are city lads who spend the summer under the watchful eye of Mother Sarah Curry at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp. Each year the boys enter the Parker Field leagues and are usually successful in their battles. The line-up of this year's team was unusually strong and consisted of the following: Passementi, p; Beddoe, c, Wissert, 2b; Grancher, 1b; Doughty, rf; H. Baker, 3b; Sylvester, ss; H. Beddoe, lf, and Neuben, cf. Of these fellows Sylvester, H. Beddoe and Passementi were the fastest and were also able clouters.

ATTRACTIVE RACE CARD FOR ALLENTOWN FAIR

The Allentown Fair has landed a special attraction which will be held on Wednesday, September 22. In case of rain on that date this event will be held on Friday, September 24.

The contest is a match race for a purse of $5,000 between two of the world's fastest horses. They are Directum I (1.58 class), driven by Thomas W. Murphy, and Peter Stevens (2.02), driven by G. Ray Snedeker, formerly driver of Directum I.

If the opponents they took a fall out of on Parker Field, Monday afternoon, dub themselves "Professionals," the Business Men ball-players must be at least semi-professionals.

SPORT BRIEFS

Joe Rodriguez, the crack first baseman of the Havana Reds, of the Cuban National League, has signed a 1916 contract with the New York Giants.

Harry Altmann, the N. Y. A. C. sprinter, who competed in the Caladonian professional games last Monday, has resigned from the Amateur Athletic Union.

Yale, Princeton and Pennsylvania were the winners in the first of the team matches for the intercollegiate golf championship yesterday, over the links of the Greenwich Country Club.

The opening of the training season for the Harvard football squad has been delayed for a week.

Catcher Schang, of the Philadelphia Americans, was badly spiked in yesterday's game with Washington and may be out of the game for some time.

The Boxing Commission, which was slated to hold its meeting yesterday, did not go into session, owing to the lack of business on its schedule. There will be no decision rendered in the McFarland-Gibbons bout at Brighton Beach on Saturday night.

WENT TO PLAY LEVGARS, BUT GOT STUNG BY BEES

The Farmers were treated to a surprise when they battled with the Levgars yesterday, getting the lower end of a 3 to 1 score. Seven of the Levgars were Bound Brook "Bees" and inasmuch as the locals had no intention of taking on the Bees, they had shaped their lineup accordingly. At that the semi-pros failed to find Kachelries until the eighth frame, getting their trio of registrations in that and the ninth cantos.

Carroll, a Bee, hurled for the Levgars and was a complete enigma to the Farmers, who found his delivery for only five hits. Kachelries was hit a little hard, although up until the eighth inning only four bingles had been registered off his slants.

ROD AND REEL

Small mouth bass are biting well in the nearby streams, some good catches having been reported from the Passaic section, from Millington down to New Providence.

Anglers have also been successful in the Raritan, near Bound Brook; in the South Branch, at Neshanic, and all along the North Branch.

The Headgates, about three miles above Raritan, are favored by bass fishermen who land bass weighing from two to four pounds.

Among the Plainfield anglers who have landed bass weighing above two pounds are Edward Yates, of the borough; Patrick Kellegher, Leslie Bond, William Juliard, Elvin VanName, Al DeNise C. L. Bond C. Carey, Charles Maltby, Wilbur Smalley, John Doughty and William Clymer.

Wilbur Smalley has a bass of three pounds to his credit; Al DeNise, one of three pounds one ounce; John Doughty, three pounds nine ounces, and William Clymer, a small mouth bass of three pounds ten ounces.

In this vicinity, according to those who know, the best fishing is yet to be had and should last away into the middle of October. In fact the season promises to be one of the best in years.

Mudhens and English snipe are plentiful in the Hackensack meadows and experienced hunters are taking every advantage of the fact.

"ORPHAN BRIGADE" IN REUNION

Harrodsburg, Ky., Sept. 8—The famous Orphan Brigade of the Confederate Army met in convention here today. The meeting marked the 54th year and the 32nd reunion of the veterans of the brigade. Major General William B. Haldeman, editor of the Louisville Times, presided at today's reunion. Among the distinguished guests of the brigade is Mrs. Ben Hardin Helm, widow of that noted brigadier who died at the head of the Orphans at Chickamauga. There are but few surviving members of the famous brigade, and several of these were unable to come because of infirmities.

SHOOTS AT WIFE THEN KILLS SELF

Joseph Lacosta, Respected Citizen of Watchung, Attempts Homicide.

IN DISTRACTED STATE

Italian Had Long Brooded Over Wife's Ill-health—Small Children Witness Tragedy When Mother is Shot at by Their Father.

Self-inflicted shotgun wounds caused the death of Joseph Lacosta, a respected Italian resident of Watchung, at Muhlenberg Hospital shortly before 11 o'clock this morning, after he had made a bungle out of premeditated plans to kill his wife and then do away with himself in their home on Warrenville road. His first shot from a double-barrel weapon was directed at his fleeing wife and grazed her shoulder, tearing away about three inches of flesh. She is resting at her brother's home in Codington avenue, North Plainfield, suffering principally from shock. One of the most pitiful results of the shooting is the plight of eight small children, ranging in age from seven months to twelve years, all having been eyewitnesses of the tragedy. Unable to comprehend their parent's rash act the youngsters were found huddled together in one corner of the house, frightened and unable to give an intelligent account of what they had seen, and were removed to the uncle's home in the borough with the mother.

Piece-meal accounts of the Italian's attempt at homicide and self-destruction indicate that he was in a distracted frame of mind when he committed the deed, his condition having become greatly aggravated during the past twenty-four hours by family troubles. His wife, who has long been in ill-health, required constant medical attention, and neighbors and friends say that Lacosta worried himself into a state of melancholia that excited considerable alarm recently. He frequently confided his troubles to relatives and declared on more than one occasion that he did not know what was to became of himself and his family.

That he long contemplated suicide is the general belief and his wife's remonstrance when he attempted to drink poison about 9 o'clock this morning is believed to have been the cause for his determination to end her life at the same time. Angered by her pleading Lacosta grabbed a shotgun which the wife well knew was loaded and as she fled out the back door he blazed away at her. The discharge struck her shoulder and pieces of gunshot grazed her face. Frantically crying for help Mrs. Lacosta ran to the street where she met Max Underhill and Edward Ammond, neighbors. Mr. Underhill was first attracted by the woman's blood-covered shoulder and without waiting for further examination hustled her in his automobile to the office of Dr. P. J Zeglio on Somerset street. He then notified Chief of Police Edward Canning, of Watchung, who, accompanied by Recorder William de LaR. Anderson, went to the Lacosta home for the purpose of arresting the husband on the strength of the statement made by the wife accusing him of attempted murder.

Anderson and Canning entered the Lacosta home cautiously, believing that the frenzied man might yet be holding fort there. Instead, however, they were greeted by a gruesome sight on the kitchen floor where the man lay, in a pool of blood, as still as death. Raising the limp form slightly above the floor the men saw at a glance that Lacosta had turned the shotgun on himself with deadly effect.

Despite the fact that the entire lower portion of the face, from the eyes down, was blown away, the body was still warm. A hurry call was sent in for the Muhlenberg Hospital ambulance and Lacosta was received at that institution about 10 o'clock. He died less than forty-five minutes later without regaining consciousness.

Recorder Anderson and Police Chief Canning immediately began a probe of the circumstances surrounding the fatality, but owing to the condition of the mother and children little information of material value could be gathered up to noon-time. Efforts will be made to get a statement from the mother as soon as her health warrants such action and the Watchung authorities will look after the home in the meantime.

A resident of that locality for the past twenty years, Lacosta was one of the best known and most highly respected dwellers of Watchung. He conducted a small truck farm and was about fifty years of age. Like most immigrants of his nationality he was thrifty and during his younger years in America saved enough money to buy the place where he lived. Continued misfortune, however, soon began to eat up the little

MISS EDITH T. KUTZ BRIDE OF J. A. RYAN

Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton Officiates at a Quiet Home Ceremony.

Miss Edith Turney Kutz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kutz, of Valley road, Watchung, and Joseph A. Ryan, of Newark, were married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, "The Elms." Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, of Watchung, who is pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist church, New York city, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of Georgette crepe and carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a rope of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom. The ceremony and reception which followed were attended only by the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan left yesterday on a wedding trip to Bermuda and upon their return will reside at 18 North Broad street, Newark, the bridegroom being engaged in business in that city.

MISS MAUD SMALLEY A SEPTEMBER BRIDE

Becomes the Wife of Rev. Jesse Kenderdine, of South St. Paul, Minn.

Miss Maud Estelle Smalley, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. David D. Smalley, of Martinsville, and Rev. Jesse Kenderdine, of South St. Paul, Minn., were married last night at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, who is now a retired Methodist minister.

Miss Smalley was gowned in a pretty gown of white crepe de chine, wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Harriet Smalley, who wore a dress of white silk and carried an arm full of pink roses. Stanley S. Kenderdine, brother of the groom, was best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Edith Mager, of Plainfield. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, David B. Smalley. The home was attractively decorated for the event, green and white being the prevailing colors.

Following the ceremony, eighty-five guests, mostly from out of town, enjoyed a reception tendered the couple. Ushers for the affair were David B. Smalley and Rev. Russell L. Smalley.

During the evening the couple managed to elude their serenaders, who turned out in large numbers. They took an auto to Bound Brook and boarded a train for Buffalo and Toronto, where they will spend their honeymoon, prior to leaving for the West where they will make their home. Mr. Kendendine is pastor of the Methodist church at South St. Paul, Minn. The couple will make their home in that city, after spending some time at the Minneapolis Methodist convention.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL GIVE "BROWN OF HARVARD"

The Dramatic Club, which meets every Friday at the Washington School, is planning to present "Brown of Harvard" and an effort is being made to recruit enough of the young men of Plainfield who would enjoy taking part in a production of this kind. There are plenty of attractive parts yet to be assigned and new members will be welcomed tomorrow evening.

The play will probably be staged at the High School Auditorium and nothing will be spared in making each scene as nearly like the original New York production as possible. This is an excellent opportunity for the young men to spend many enjoyable evenings at rehearsals and help toward making their effort an artistic success in the end.

NOMINATED FOR SECRETARY.

George Bridges, of Plainfield, has been nominated for secretary of the Grand Lodge of the State of the Order of Sons of St. George. At the meeting held in Orange, on Saturday last, it was reported that $4,000 had been contributed toward the fund of $100,000 raised by the order for the relief of widows and orphans of the European war. The lodge will hold its convention next year in New Brunswick.

Seymour Perkins, a Democrat, has three opponents in the councilman-at-large race, Elias H. Bird, Councilman Juan A. Babcock and Councilman John H. Cose, the last three named being Republicans. Mr. Perkins, however, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination at the primaries.

All three of the present Union county Assemblymen, William N. Runyon, of this city; Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, and Charles L. Morgan, of Cranford, will seek reelection and will have opposition from two quarters, the Democrats and Progressives having candidates in the field.

Following are the petitions filed: Mayor, William L. Smalley; Council, Clifford W. McGee and James Alexander Wilson; collector, James K. Arnold, Frederick A. Martin, Frank Rowley, William J. Trembath and John V. E. Vanderhoef; justice of the peace, Fred W. Hand, and county committee, Alexander Milne, John Alexander Wilson, Henry DeMott, Edward P. Smith and Howard T. Woolston for the five districts in the order named. All the above mentioned are Republicans.

For county committeemen the Democratic nominees are: H. Fred Krausse, for the Second district; Andrew E. Kenney, Fourth, and William H. Day, Fifth. There are no Progressive nor Prohibition nominees.

RULE DENIED BY CHANCERY COURT

Vice-Chancellor Stevens Refuses to Grant Richard Stockton's Application.

NOT PROPERLY SERVED

Meeting Between Attorney and John K. Roundey in New York Trolley Car Not Sufficient, Rules Court.

Newark, Sept. 9—In the Court of Chancery here this morning, Vice-Chancellor Stevens denied Richard Stockton's application for a rule to force John K. Roundey, formerly president of the Endress Company, of Plainfield, to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt for his alleged failure to pay his wife alimony. Mr. Stockton, counsel for Mrs. Florence E. Roundey, whose efforts to prosecute her husband for alleged marital indiscretions, have brought her wide notoriety, claims that Mr. Roundey has not paid his wife the $15 a week alimony prescribed by the court for the past 10 weeks and on this ground instituted the contempt proceedings.

In denying the rule Vice Chancellor Stevens declared that an order of this kind required a personal service of the rule to be made on the defendant, John K. Roundy, and in view of the fact that this feature had not been complied with to the court's satisfaction the matter was deferred.

Stockton deplored the delay and reviewed the repeated obstacles he has encountered in the State's legal machinery during his thirty-five appearances in court on behalf of Mrs. Roundey. According to Mr. Stockton his defense on each occasion has been sucessfully blocked by the opposing side and he assumed a greatly agrieved attitude in court. Mrs. Roundey is at present at liberty under bonds of $1,500 as the result of her indictment by the Union County Grand Jury on three charges of alleged perjury in her alienation suit against Mrs. Elmer W. Poinier, of this city, which she lost last spring.

Mr. Stockton, replying to the court's statement that Mr. Roundey had not been properly served with papers, said that he had personally met the former Plainfielder on a New York city trolley car last Wednesday and informed the latter that he would have to appear in the Newark court today. According to the lawyer, Mr. Roundey suggested that he take a trip to a warmer climate. Mr. Stockton, who was recently appointed a receiver for the Endress Company, of Plainfield, declared in court today that when Mr. Roundey left Plainfield two months ago he took with him $4,000 and that he had not paid a single one of his debts for a period of thirty days prior to his departure.

Another grievance which Mr. Stockton had to offer was directed against Martin Stutsman, a Plainfield lawyer, who represents Mr. Roundey's interests. When the Roundey divorce proceedings came up for disposition in Newark last spring Mr. Stutsman obtained a postponement on the strength of his statement to the effect that he had affidavits to support a charge that Mrs. Roundey had visited a Bowery hotel and spent the night there with a John DuPont, the corespondent in the divorce case. Mr. Stutsman claimed to have material for other sensational revelations, substantiated in voluminous sworn statements. Mr. Stockton claimed that Mr. Stutsman should have filed these affidavits where they could be referred to by both sides. Mr. Stutsman in explanation said that he merely referred to these affidavits and did not intend to offer them as testimony. Vice-Chancellor Stevens, however, ruled that they were admissable and ordered the Plainfield attorney to produce them.

Interesting material is expected to be brought out next Wednesday when the creditrs of the Endress Company appear before Mr. Stockton in Newark. It is generally believed that new testimony of a sensational calibre will be produced.

EDWARD M'CANN ACCEPTS ST. PETER'S SCHOLARSHIP

Edward McCann, the successful contestant in the scholarship competition held at St. Peter's High School under the auspices of the Holy Name Society, of St. Mary's parish, this city, will enter that institution Monday. It will be necessary for him to go through four years of college preparatory work before he can enter the institution itself. When he reports Monday he will be assigned to a freshman class in the "prep" school.

TO HOLD ICE CREAM FESTIVAL.

The Women's Relief Corps ice cream festival will be held in Reform Hall tomorrow night, instead of Fairview and Watchung avenues. The change was deemed advisable because of the uncertainty of the weather.

J. HOWARD WRIGHT LEFT A MILLION

Bulk of Fortune is Generously Divided Among Members of Family.

MANY OTHER LEGACIES

Deceased Was the Father of Mrs. J. B. Dumont and J. Dunbar Wright—Donor of Operating Pavilion at Muhlenberg Hospital.

Mrs. J. B. Dumont, of this city, shares in the distribution of the estate of her father, the late J. Howard Wright, of New York, who died November 19, 1914, to the extent of $229,644. The total estate left had a value of $1,049,133.22.

Mr. Wright was a purchasing agent for the Standard Oil Company and was one of the founders of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. He was well-known here, having visited his daughter often, and Plainfielders will always remember him because an instance of his bounty stands as a memorial to him at Muhlenberg Hospital. The operating pavilion was erected by him and presented to the institution in memory of two grandsons who died some time ago.

J. Dunbar Wright, a son, who is also well-known here, received an interest of $30,000 in a property in East Fifty-first street, New York; a lot with improvements in the Adirondacks League Club valued at $4,700; personalty, $3,440, and $229,644, being one-fourth of the residuary estate. Annie W. DeLanoy, George G. Cooledge, Howard K. Cooledge and Edmee A. Hussey, grandchildren, each received the income from $76,548 for life. The rest went to great-grandchildren, with the exception of minor bequests to charities. The New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the Workingmen's Protective Association, the Young Friends' Aid Association and the Child's Hospital each received $1,500. Other bequests include the following:

Dunbar Wright Adams and Dorothy Adams, great-grandchildren, both of Dayton, Wymp., each a life estate in a trust fund of $38,274.06. At the death of each life beneficiary the trust fund is to terminate and the principal distributed equally among his or her issue. The report shows that the following is due the estate from William DeLanoy, of Plainfield: A bond of $25,000, dated December 1, 1910, payable on January 1, 1916, with five per cent. interest, which is secured by mortgage on property at Millburn, Short Hills, Essex county, N. J., with accrued interest of $583.88.

CHARMING AFFAIR AT COUNTRY CLUB

Engagement of Miss Eleanor Ryckman Brown to Edwin Muller, Jr., Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard McWilliams, of Prospect and Hillside avenues, today announced the engagement of Miss Eleanor Ryckman Brown to Edwin Muller, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Muller, of Lexington, Ky., at a charming luncheon given at the Plainfield Country Club. Covers were laid for about forty guests, the majority being of the younger society set.

Miss Brown is the daughter of Mrs. McWilliams and the late Paul Taylor Brown, of Philadelphia, and she has been prominent both in Plainfield and New York society. Mr. Muller was graduated from Princeton in the Class of 1914 and is at present living in New York. His father is pastor of a Presbyterian church at Lexington.

The decorations for today's function were unusually attractive, pink gladiolas being used chiefly in the arrangement of the tables. Guests of Mrs. McWilliams and her daughters, Miss Brown and Miss Marjorie Brown included Mrs. Edwin Muller, of Lexington; Mrs. Charles Walbridge and daughter, Miss Frances Walbridge, of Springfield, Mass.; Mrs. Arthur Truslow, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Robert Walbridge, of Redding Ridge, Conn. No date has been set for the wedding of the young couple.

TRUST CO. HAS BONDS.

The $35,000 worth of North Plainfield sewer bonds recently purchased by them, have been turned over to the Plainfield Trust Company. Settlement was made for the bonds, after which the borough's attorneys approved of the issue. This consummated this particular bond transaction.

L. BELLUCCIA & BRO. IN MORE TROUBLE

School Contractors, It is Said, Owe Lumber Company Big Bill.

Financial troubles are piling up for L. Belluccio & Brother, of Elizabeth, who were recently supplanted as general contractors for the Harrison Avenue School, North Plainfield.

In a communication received by the Elizabeth Board of Fire Commissioners, Tuesday night, from the F. L. and A. Heidritter Lumber Company, it was stated that $1,658.96 was still due the lumber company from the contracting firm for materials used in the construction of the new building for Engine Company No. 5, of that city.

The letter stated that payment of this bill was demanded a short time ago, and was refused, which was the reason given by the lumber company for requesting the Board to withhold the sum from the balance still due the contractors for work on the new firehouse. The communication from the lumber company was referred to Elizabeth's city attorney.

L. L. RENNINGER WEDS MISS LEITHEUSSER

Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson Officiates at the Home of the Bride's Parents.

Miss Helen Louise Leitheusser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Leitheusser, of 712 West Second street, became the bride of Lester L. Renninger, of 84 Fairview avenue, at a pretty home wedding performed by Rev. Charles M. Anderson, pastor of the First M. E. church, last evening.

Miss Leitheusser wore a charming creation of Oriental lace, trimmed with white satin and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helena Leitheusser, and the best man was Howard Debele. The ceremony took place under a pretty bower of cut flowers, palms and ferns. As the party entered the parlor, Miss Ketura Apgar, of Lebanon, played the wedding march.

Following the ceremony a reception was held, fifty guests attending. The couple left for a short wedding trip, after which they will be at home to their friends at 712 East Second street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Renninger are prominently identified with the functions of the younger set in this city. They are members of Trinity Reformed church, taking part in the various activities of that church. The bride was graduated from the Plainfield High School in the class of 1913. The groom holds a position with a contracting and building concern in Westfield.

AIR RAIDS MARK GERMAN MOVES

London and Paris Attacked—May Have Reached Heart of Former City.

HOT FIGHT IN ARGONNE

Germans Succeed in Taking Part of French Trench—Austrians Evacuate Roverto, Near Tren, After Fierce Italian Attack.

London, Sept. 9.—Two seperate air raids on "eastern counties" of England occurred during last night, it is officially announced.

The raid officially reported today is the third in a little more than twenty-four hours. Zeppelins raided eastern counties Tuesday night. The press bureau last night announced an air invasion earlier in the evening, but gave no news as to casualties. The air raid announced early today is the third.

The casualties from last night's raid were late today said to be the largest of all the German aerial attacks on London. Twenty persons were killed, and eighty-six injured. Damage to property was inconsiderable.

A despatch from Berlin states that Gen. Friedrich A. J. Von Bernhardi has been assigned to a field command at his own request by Emperor William.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The Daily News today received a cablegram from its London correspondent reading:

"Daily News staff and officers safe."

This was followed a short time later by a second despatch to the same paper which simply state "All well." These messages would seem to indicate that last night's air raid on London by Zeppelins was felt in the heart of London as the Daily News' offices there are in Trafalgar Square.

Paris, Sept. 9.—German aeroplanes flew over the suburbs of Paris early today, dropping a large number of bombs. The extent of the damage is not yet known.

The French war statement today says:

"In Artois there occurred last night a conflict with grenades and rifle firing from trench to trench in the sectors of Neuville and Roclincourt. Rather a sharp cannonade took place south of Arras and in region of Roye.

"In the Argonne, in region of Fontaine Aux Charmes, very violent combats took place during the entire night. The Germans renewed their attack with great fury. Our line, with the exception of part of a trench to east of Layon De Binarville, was everywhere maintained. We took some prisoners and captured a rapid fire gun.

"In Lorraine, in the forest of Parroy, some advance post engagements were reported, in which we had the advantage. In the Vosges fighting with grenades occurred on heights east of Metzeral.

"Fifty shells were thrown yesterday by our aviators on the station. Our dirigibles bombarded the station and the mills at Challerange, between 8 and 9 o'clock last night."

Amsterdam, Sept. 9.—The Austrians have evacuated the town of Rovereto, on the left bank of the Adige River, thirteen miles southwest of Trent. The fierce Italian onslaught forced the Austrians to fall back and assume new positions behind the town.

The Hague, Sept. 9.—The Government of the Netherlands has received from Berlin an apology for the destruction by a bomb of the Dutch fishing boat Hibernia, on the North Sea, last March. A promise of indemnity is made.

HEALTH OFFICER CHANDLER AT ROCHESTER CONVENTION

Health Officer N. J. Randolph Chandler, of the Plainfield department, is attending the annual convention of the American Public Health Association being held in Rochester, and was one of those at yesterday afternoon's meeting when Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield compared havoc of industry and disease with that of war. He urged Americans to view with sober minds the conflict abroad and to look a little under the surface at conditions in their own country.

The delegates to the convention were told last night by Edward A. Moree, secretary of the New York State Charities Aid Society, that printers' ink is saving more lives than any other agency employed by modern health workers.

LOCAL SCHOOL ON NEWARK SCHEDULE

Plainfielders Expected to Get Busy on the Gridiron During Next Fortnight.

According to the football schedules just issued by the four Newark High Schools only one of these, the South Side High, will battle with P. H. S. on the gridiron this season. The other three institutions of learning, East Side, Barringer and Central, have open dates and may yet arrange games with the locals. Plainfield always plays Central High on the diamond and perhaps may yet arrange to meet them on the gridiron. The South Side eleven will entertain the locals at City Field, Newark, on Saturday, November 6.

The local training season has not yet begun although individual practice has been going on for some time. When school opens Tuesday it is thought that Coach Ralph Patch will issue first call for candidates and it is expected that a very strong array will heed the call. Of last year's team only a few regulars remain, but around these a well fortified outfit can surely be built. Among those who have signified their intention of contending for places on the eleven are Don Grossett, Bill Daniels, Dick Peacock, Thayer Smith, "Sid" Butler, Joe Mutnick, Bernard "Bust" Miller, Sam Davidson, Eddie Dugan, Jim Herman, Clint Berrien, Adam Delaanan, "Axel" Brandt, "Walt" Marienbidek, James Noonan and a host of "Freshies." Of these six were regulars last year and three were "subs."

It will be necessary for Coatch Patch to infuse a great deal of vim and dash into the new lads if he wishes to put a successful team on the field this season.

The basketball prospects of the Ninth street institution are very bright and the team should have little trouble in disposing of the majority of its rival clubs. Both the Canadian and the local ranks have been rent by this year's graduation, but there is still some very formidable material left. Of the P. H. S team Wheelan is the only one who will be at school this year, although two very fast subs, Carlton Dunham and Sheldon Coudra, are going out for the team. Then, too, Sidney Butler, a Nonpareil courtman, and Art Kyle, a T. A. B. performer, are both being urged to go out for the team and both are almost sure to land regular berths. For the positions on the team there are but few contenders at present but as soon as school opens Coach Patch intends rounding his men up.

NEW FOOTBALL SQUAD FOR LOCAL TALENT

Twenty Colored Warriors to Organize to Play in Plainfield.

It is reported on good authority that there will be a colored football team in this city this coming season. The eleven will be managed by "Doc" Harvey, a resident of the West End, and the members of the squad will consist of players who have been active in Royal Giant baseball circles. The team will be known as the Oriole A. C.

Paul Coleman, who has been active in colored athletic circles, has a half interest in the club, although it is said that Dr. Harvey is directly responsible for its organization. It is the aim of the Oriole management to challenge the Holy Cross eleven, if one is organized, to a series of games.

Many colored athletes of the city have signified their intention of trying for berths on the team. Among those who are likely to answer the call are: Jim Green and Bill Daniels, of the P. H. S. eleven; Bruce Williams, "Tune" Kline, Andrew Maiden, Freddy Kline, "Hockey" Saunders, Paul Coleman, Eddie Forde, George Carter, "Nat" Clay, Sidney Butler, Mills Barnes, Bill Barnes, Peter Simmons, Bert Hall, "Alias" Valentine, Bill Burton and a host of other gridiron stars.

According to Paul Coleman, he and Dr. Harvey intend placing a fast baseball team on the field next season. The proposed outfit will be made up of local talent with a few outsiders thrown in when occasion demands.

$10,000 FOR NEWARK MEET.

The last obstacle that stood in the way of holding the national Amateur Athletic Union track and field championships in Newark next year, in conjunction with the celebration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of that city, has been overcome, it was announced yesterday, when an appropriation of $10,000 to cover the cost of the meet was indorsed by the heads of the committee in charge of the event. A conference was held yesterday in Newark, at which it was decided that the A. A. U. plan for holding the championships in that city be adopted. The meet will be held at Weequahic Park during the last part of August, and will extend over a period of two weeks. One of the features will be a fifteen-mile Marathon run.

ROAD HORSE ASSOCIATION PLANS FOR RACE SCHEDULE

It required just twenty-eight minutes and fifty-five seconds Tuesday night for the members of the board of directors of the Road Horse Association of New Jersey to hear reports, order bills paid and elect seven new members at the regular monthly meeting at the home of the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club, Newark. The meeting was one of the shortest ever held by the directors.

Among the new members elected was Herbert A. Buss, of Nazareth, Pa. He has a matinee horse which he intends to race in the meets held over the Waverly track. In all probability his charge will start in the matinee Saturday. H. L. Stone of Athenia, owner of Bonnie Chimes, was also elected a member, and he intends to start his mare in one of the classes Saturday.

The State association will be represented by Nettie Patch, Sprinting Blaize and Miss Syracuse in the amateur meet to be held next week at Syracuse in connection with the Grand Circuit meet there. The local horses will be shipped from New York Sunday afternoon.

Adam Blair, of this city, owner and driver of "Kid Kelly," a fast 2.25 class pacer, has long been a member of this association. He will enter his horse in the races held by the club this Saturday.

TENNIS POSTPONED.

The ladies' tennis play for the Plainfield Country Club championship, originally scheduled for this coming Monday, has been postponed until September 27.

GOSPEL SERVICES.

The regular Gospel services of the Christian and Missionary Alliance are held in the German Reformed church, Duer street and Craig place, every Friday afternoon at 3:30 and evening at 7:30. Sunday afternoon the service begins at 4 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended the public to attend these meetings.

HALF TIME CLASSES.

Owing to unavoidable delays the Harrison Avenue School in North Plainfield, will not be ready for occupation Monday, but the half time classes in the Somerset and Watchung buildings will be resumed on time and parents are informed that the A and D divisions will have the same hours as they did last year.

PRICE OF GASOLINE IS BOOSTED AGAIN

Commodity Today is Quoted at 17 Cents at the Local Garages.

Gasoline has taken another jump in price. Today it is selling at the garages in Plainfield for seventeen cents a gallon, a cent more than it was last week. The expected rise of a cent a gallon wholesale is what has boosted the retail price.

The commodity is cheaper here than in New York, however, for the general price asked at metropolitan garages yesterday was twenty cents a gallon. In some instances, where the garage proprietors had a supply of gasoline on hand, the rise had not become effective yesterday, but it will be twenty a gallon all over New York in a few days.

Scarcity of the commodity on account of the failure of some of the oil wells, the immense shipments to Europe and the impossibility of getting very much from Mexico is given as the reason for the rise in price. Gasoline may go still higher, and then again it may not. Any one outside the inner circle who can foretell with any degree of certainty when the volatile fluid will go up or down in price is a wise one. It is possible that before very long gasoline may drop to the figure it sold for not very long ago—nine cents a gallon wholesale.

Y. W. C. A. NOTE.

The fall season of the Housekeeping Centre at 210 East Front street, will resume its winter schedule on Monday, September 20. Any parents who wish to enter their girls in the department are requested to register their names not later than Thursday, September 16. Miss Beatrice Gardner, the instructor in charge, is at the centre each day to receive applicants. The centre consists of a model flat where a course in practical housekeeping and cooking is given to girls between the ages of nine and fifteen years. The evening classes consist of supper clubs. Business girls are eligible for enrollment.

KUIL TUCKER'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Kuil Tucker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tucker, of 218 West Third street, whose death occurred Tuesday, was held from the home of the parents, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. A. Mangione officiated at the service. The interment took place in Hillside cemetery.

MISS ALICE ROSS WEDS F. B. COLVER

Many Guests Witness Ceremony in Englewood Presbyterian Church.

Miss Alice Mary Ross, eldest daughter of Mrs. Louis Runyon Ross, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Englewood, was married to Frederic Beecher Colver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic L. Colver, of Tenafly, in the Presbyterian church of Englewood, last night. Mr. Colver, Sr., formerly was Mayor of Tenafly.

Rev. Robert Davis, the pastor, officiated. Mr. Harold G. Fink played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as the bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, John Lewis Ross, and was given away by her mother.

The bridesmaids, five of whom were Wellesley classmates of the bride, were Misses Helen R. Martin, Brattleboro, Vt.; Josephine Bryant, Hartford; Charlotte Henze, Detroit; Helen M. Brant, Brooklyn; Ruth E. Curtis, Ossining, and Louise S. French, New York. They wore peach colored satin with white lace and tulle, and carried pink roses.

The best man was Mr. Richard H. de Mott, of Tenafly. Three of the ushers, Princeton classmates of the bridegroom, were Messrs. George Scott Stewart, Jr., Philadelphia; Woodruff W. Halsey, Elizabeth, and Theodore W. Janeway, New York. The others were Messrs. Stephen Girard Kent, Summit; Edward W. Sage, New York, and Warren H. Swift, Tenafly.

A reception at the home of the bride's mother, in Engle street, was attended by a small company consisting only of relatives and college friends, principally representing Wellesley, from which the bride was graduated in 1913, and Princeton, where Mr. Colver was graduated in 1910, and Columbia, from the law school of which he was graduated in 1913.

Mr. and Mrs. Colver started immediately on their wedding trip to be absent during September, after which they will live in Tenafly.

pile he had saved for a rainy day and this is known to have been his chief worry.

Yesterday Lacosta called on Dr. Zeglio, the family physician, and brought the doctor a basket of peaches which he had grown on his own trees. Dr. Zeglio, noticing that he was disheartened, advised him to cheer up and make the best of things.

MOUNT ST. MARY COLLEGE RE-OPENS

Regular Work in the Academic Course Will Begin Monday.

Registration of students in the academic department of Mt. St. Mary College took place yesterday, while examination and classification of students will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday. On Monday, September 13, the regular work in the academic course begins. The teaching staff remains the same as last year with the exception of the French and German classes, which will be in charge of Mademoiselle Aline de Villele and Fraulien Carolyn Stroumeir, respectively.

College entrance examinations will be held at the institution on Monday and will continue until Friday, September 17, inclusive. Thus far the enrollment exceeds that of any previous year in the history of the college.

The formal opening of the college will take place on Monday, September 20, at which time the initial exercises will be held and at which Rev Father P. J. Hart, pastor of St. Joseph's church, in the borough, will speak. The complete program for the day will be announced later.

The Saturday courses for teachers desiring higher certificates or college credits are growing in popularity, the enrollment in that department being especially gratifying. Two new courses are offered in this, namely, a course in kindergarten work and one in secondary methods for High School teaching.

COMMISSION MAKES APPEAL TO TEACHERS

Trenton, Sept. 9.—Continuing his efforts to get the best possible work in the public schools during the year which has just opened, State Commissioner of Education Calvin N. Kendall today issued a novel appeal to the teachers throughout the State. It is called "A Teacher's Meditation," and is in the form of a personal pledge of the teacher to aim for the highest standard not only in teaching, but also in keeping the schoolroom and grounds attractive; securing the co-operation of the parents of the pupils; training the pupils in habits of self-control; teaching them patriotism and to honor the American flag, etc.

DEAD NEW YORK FIREMEN WAS FORMER PLAINFIELDER

Word has been received in this city of the death in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, on Tuesday, of Lieutenant Charles A. MacCready, of Hook and Ladder Company No. 16, of East Sixty-seventh street. He was a cousin to James A. O'Keeffe, of the Plainfield Fire Department, and resided in this city at one time. He leaves a widow.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock from the late residence, 501 East Eighty-seventh street, and at 9:30 o'clock from the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola, Park avenue and Eighty-fourth street. Members of the Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association, of New York, will attend.

SECOND ANNUAL REUNION OF FIFTEENTH REGIMENT

The second annual reunion of the survivors of the Fifteenth Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, will be held at Somerville Thursday, September 16. A reception will be held Wednesday evening at the home of W. H. Cawley, treasurer of the regimental association, and J. S. Frelinghuysen, former Senator from Somerset, will deliver a speech at the dinner on Thursday.

The regiment took part in thirty-six battles, some of them the hardest fought of the war. At the battle of Spotsylvania the regiment sustained a loss of 62.9 per cent., while that of the Light Brigade in its famous charge at Balaklava was only 36.9.

The regiment was composed of ten companies, three from Sussex county, two each from Warren, Morris and Hunterdon and one from Somerset. Samuel Fowler commanded the regiment when it was mustered in. He was succeeded by Edward L. Campbell, who commanded the regiment in thirty battles. The regiment took part in the battle of Fredericksburg on December 13, 1862, when it got its baptism of fire.

The total of the regiment when it was mustered in was 947 officers and men. In the service 924 were added to the regiment and 416 survivors were mustered out. The regimental association has a membership of 149. Morris S. Hahn, of Newark, is president; S. W. Gordon, of Newark, secretary, and W. H. Cawley, of Somerville, treasurer.

FOOTMAN CONFESSES IN NICHOLS' MURDER

Wealthy New York Widow Murdered by Employe's Accomplices.

New York, Sept. 9—Olney Talls, footman in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols, after an all-night grilling by Inspector Faurot, today confessed that he and a band of youthful gangsters planned the robbery of the widow, and named the men who choked Mrs. Nichols to death. This announcement was made by the inspector at 10 o'clock this morning and it was said the police were in possession of sufficient information to enable them to round up the band.

Shortly before 9 o'clock this morning detectives rounded up five men in Harlem, said to be associates of one of the servants, and took them to the Third Detective branch, where they were interrogated by Inspector Faurot.

Although the woman, who was worth millions and lived in the most exclusive section of the city, was found dead and stretched across her bed, with a table cloth knotted tight around her neck, the police said they did not think she had been fatally strangled, but had died of fright.

The murderers in their flight took three diamond rings worth $10,000 which they had pulled from their victim's fingers.

PERMIT TO KILL STARLINGS—BUT

Mayor Clark Won't Take Any Chances on Hitting Birdies at $20 Each.

MONTCLAIR AT IT, TOO

But the Nimrods of That Place Think They Tell the Difference Between Condemned Birds and Those Protected.

Mayor Clark, of the borough, has at last received formal assurance that he may take measures to exterminate the troublesome starlings that have been making a pest of themselvs all summer in the vicinity of his home on Jackson avenue. But he is not inclined to take advantage of the permission granted. Why Because there is a proviso attached which takes all the spice out of the opportunity to seek revenge on the nuisances. This proviso makes the Mayor liable to a fine of twenty dollars for every bird other than a starling that he or his assisting gunners might accidentally or otherwise kill, and the Mayor sees no end of fine money to be paid if he opens up the way to indiscriminate killing, for robins and blackbirds also roost in the trees infested by the starlings.

Besides the probability that he would became amenable to a fine of $20 for each and every bird other than a starling he killed or permitted to be killed in this foray, Mayor Clark will be unlikely to take advantage of the permission issued on other accounts. A great deal of red tape would have to be unrolled before the permission would become effective. According to a letter received from the secretary of the State Fish and Game Commission, it would first be necessary for the Borough Council to pass an ordinance complaining that birds constitute a nuisance and authorizing their extermination by shooting. Then some one would have to be appointed to shoot them, and a State game warden would have to be on hand at the time to see that the privilege granted in the particular case was not overstepped. Altogether there would be so much to do before the first shot could be fired that Mayor Clark thinks today that he would rather stand the nuisance.

In Montclair, where another flock of starlings are making of themselves just as great a pest, the Mayor has been informed that permits to shoot the birds have been issued.

Apropos of these cases, the efforts of the Shade Tree Commission of Montclair to rid the same locality the birds are now investing now of the pest is recalled. An employe of the Commission shot the birds, and the slaughter resulted in the death of many robins which also nested in the trees. The Fish and Game Commission caused the arrest of the man who did the shooting, and he was fined $100 by a justice of the peace, but the higher court remitted the fine.

The bird lovers of Montclair are planning to give a bird masque on October 9 to stimulate interest in bird conservation, and it is regarded by some as unfortunate that steps should be taken to slaughter the starlings at this time.

The starlings are not alone in calling down denunciation for their presence in the borough. It is reported that the gray squirrels are becoming plentiful and so bold that gardens are suffering greatly this summer from their inroads. Sweet corn is a particularly desirable food, and toll is invariably taken by the squirrels from every patch of sweet corn in the borough. The animals are particularly active in the vicinity of Rockview, Mercer and Grandview avenues.

CONGRESSMAN PARKER, IN GOOD HEALTH, PLANS TRIP

Newark, Sept. 9.—Creating a pleasant surprise among his many friends who happened to be in the Federal court building in Newark this morning, Congressman R. Wayne Parker, who recently suffered a nervous breakdown, appeared in person and made application for passports to England. He was accompanied by Mrs. Parker, and his daughter, Miss Elizabeth Parker. A chauffeur was also in attendance.

He returned today from a sanitarium near Providence, R. I., where he has been recuperating since his discharge from the Morris Plains insane asylum. Accompanied by his family the Congressman will set sail for England where he will pay an extended visit to relatives. This morning he appeared to be in remarkably good health and greeted all of his friends warmly and enthusiastically.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF FAST DRIVING

Mrs. Josephine S. Endicott Defendant Before Commissioner Dill in Trenton.

Trenton, Sept. 9.—After hearing the complaint against Mrs. Josephine S. Endicott, of New Market, for breaking the automobile speed laws in Plainfield, State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Dill has reserved decision in order to make a personal investigation of the accident involved. The complaint was made by Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely, of Plainfield, and was the result of a collision of Mrs. Endicott's car with that of the Chief. No one was seriously injured.

Chief Kiely and Mrs. Endicott both appeared before Commissioner Dill yesterday afternoon at the hearing. The testimony showed that the collision occurred on a Sunday morning as the Chief was driving home from church, and Mrs. Endicott was driving to Sunday-school. It was rainy and the streets were wet and slippery. As the testimony was conflicting, Commissioner Dill said he would make a personal examination of the site of the accident before rendering a decision.

TO CONFER WITH PARENTS.

Lindsay Best, principal at P. H. S., will be at his office every morning this week and also on Friday evening between the hours of 8 and 10 to confer with pupils or their parents.

A service of unusual interest and one that will be remembered for a long time was the mid-week prayer meeting at the First Baptist church, last night. The attendance and general interest points to a remarkable year in its history.

It Pays to Secure a Tenant Who Pays.

The uncertain sort of tenant is easy to find. He is always answering the call of the window sign of "To Let." He is easy to please. Even a rather high rental does not frighten him away.

But the Stay-and-Pay tenant is not so easy to secure. He is surer of what he wants. He does not take the first house, or apartment, or store that he finds. He watches and answers "To Let" Ads.

And to secure him for your tenant is a good day's work—a good week's work.

Property that is advertised adequately in the Plainfield Daily Press is rarely rented injudiciously.

If your property is really "worthwhile," make that clear in your classified advertising—and you'll sell it.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Lovers of good music will have their fill between this evening and Saturday at Proctor's Theatre, when one of the best musical programs ever presented to theatre-goers will be staged. Sparks from grand opera are among the numbers for these three days in an act entitled "The New Impressario," with a great cast of fifteen stars. This is a treat that should not be missed by any one.

But this is one of the numbers of an all star bill. Another is the high class novelty, the Woods Musical Trio, in a skit entitled, "The Girl Behind the Drum," presenting side-splitting comedy. Certainly an excellent act of high calibre.

The bill is evenly balanced with the following acts: The Ziras, the Eton boy clown and the lady gymnast; James Dealy and Bertha Kreamer in a comedy singing and talking skit; the old time local favorites, Lowell and Esther Drew, in a singing, dancing and talking skit, entitled, "The Girl at the Fountain," and Grace LeMar, an excellent singing comedienne.

Top notch photo-plays are being booked for this house, while current events in pictures are being featured daily. These pictures are always the best, and are by the recognized producers of as good photo-plays as may be secured from the motion picture markets.

The fact that matinee prices prevail from 6 to 6:15 each day at the opening of the evening performance should be borne in mind by the patrons of the Proctor house.

Plainfield, N. J., September 9, 1915.

Over in Paterson the authorities do not stand on ceremony as much as has been the case in Plainfield with the Pillar of Fire crowd. When Elizabeth Gurley Flynn and some of her I. W. W. pals started a meeting in the Silk City, the police promptly stopped them and saw to it that they got on a train for New York. Before going they were told that no out of town speakers representing their organization would be permitted to address public meetings in Paterson in the future.

Perhaps this was an infringement of free speech as guaranteed by the constitution, but it must be borne in mind that the guarantee is accompanied by the condition that the speaker must be "responsible for abuse of that right." While the Holy Jumpers may not be so objectionable as the I. W. W., they have shown that they delight in making public utterances to stir up church and fraternal hatred. That is akin to inciting riot, and the local authorities would have been perfectly justified in running them out of town. Plainfield is a peaceable community, and the people here would back up the authorities in getting rid of any type of objectionable person from other places, whether they pose as revivalists or as plain anarchists.

In view of the attitude adopted in Paterson, it will be of interest to learn what is done in Elizabeth about permitting the Holy Jumpers to hold street meetings there. Mayor Mravlag has told them that he intends to look into their record in this city before granting them the right to perform on the street corners at the county seat, and it is to be hoped that he will let them make a test case, so that we can be guided in the future as to the proper treatment of the sect.

Council was right in voting to give the Nott Fire Engine Company another month to make good of the machine for Netherwood because the fire and building committee so requested, but isn't it time to stop fooling with this firm? The engine was months late in being delivered. When it arrived here it did not come up to specifications, and since it came it has broken down so many times that the company has not even considered it fit for delivery at a reduced price. It was good business on the part of the Council to get the manufacturers to agree to deliver it for $1,500 less than contract price, because it could not pump the specified 700 gallons, but it will not be good business to accept it at any price nearly a year after its delivery, if new parts are constantly needed. As Councilman Hamilton said on Tuesday night, there have been so many changes in automobiles since this machine was contracted for that it is almost out of date, and the city does not want a "lemon." If the Nott Company cannot make good, and satisfy the fire and buildings committee within the next thirty days that the machine is first class and according to specifications in every way, except as to pumping capacity, they should not be given another day's extension of time.

Councilman Hylan evidently has an entirely wrong idea about what the business men of the city hope to accomplish by the adoption of the ordinance regulating fly-by-night merchants. The Plainfield Business men have no desire to interfere with legitimate competition, in fact they welcome those who come here and open stores which handle good merchandise, and who help pay the taxes. What they want to get rid of is the faker, who hires a vacant store for a month or two, puts in a lot of junk that he may have purchased at an auction room or fire sale elsewhere, stays until he has victimized every person he can reach (for these people never have purchasers come back a second time) and then skips to another town. Plenty of examples of this kind of "business men" have been found in the city in the past, and it is time a stop was put to them. The city, the buying public, the legitimate merchant and the taxpayer are all done an injustice by everyone of these fellows, and the Common Council cannot go wrong by making the ordinance binding at the earliest possible momen".

The need for a better method of getting goods to the ultimate consumer from the rural districts was never more strikingly illustrated than by the statement made by a New York official that he "hoped to be able to establish a city market where peaches could be purchased at $1.50 a bushel." When we consider that the finest peaches offered in this city are bringing $1.20, and that excellent fruit can be procured as low as sixty cents, it can readily be understood why the cost of living is much cheaper in a small city like Plainfield.

Plainfield as a community seems to have everything that is desirable except a definite plan for providing parks and other breeding spaces for the generations that are to come. Land available for this purpose is being rapidly gobbled up by the speculators, and some day our people will awake to the fact that there is mighty little left that can be used for park purposes, without expensive condemnation.

All of the petitions to place names on the primary ballots for the county and city have been filed, and not a single contest has developed for the Plainfield voters. As a result it is probable that on September 27 the vote will be the lightest that has been known since the direct primary law went into effect. There probably has never been more of an "off year" than is the case now.

Here's hoping the Business Men's Association becomes the most powerful organization in the city. The membership campaign being started gives promise of welding together the men who make Plainfield a commercial success, in a closer bond than ever before.

Who, we ask could object to September morns such as we are now having?—New Brunswick Home News.

Perhaps no one, but we'd hate to be September Morn with the mosquitoes as thick as they are now.

Somehow or other these days make the small boy think a lot more of "the old swimmin' hole" than of the lessons that will descend upon him next week.

When it comes to suffrage the liquor men "ain't got no friends." The way both sides fight shy of claiming their support is almost ridiculous.

Off Again, On Again

STRICKLAND W. GILLILAN

The Cat!

She gave a party and did not invite Young Mrs. Brown. She said: "I'll show that cat
I've not forgotten her historic slight
Of me when she received for Mrs. Pratt."

She had the house all decorated up,
With canvas stretched above the walk, and all—
Now maybe she just wouldn't fill the cup
Of cattish Mrs. Brown with bitt'rest gall!

The great night came, and so did (not) the guests!
The village folks seemed otherwise employed.
Instead of coming in their evening bests,
They stayed away—the hostess was annoyed.

Next day she found that hateful woman Brown
Had spread the thrilling tidings that she might Have two new discs shipped in from Biggertown.
She did! And played them both, that very night!

The Near-Bright Guy

There are certain people we meet who have had a narrow escape from being bright particular stars.

They once had a talent, and immediately wrapped it in a napkin and interred it with proper ceremonies. The graveyard where that napkin-swaddled talent was buried has never been disturbed by ghouls. The napkin is still there, under its little here lies, and always will be.

The Creator gave the fellow a start in life, filled his tank with gasoline, and gave him a shove. He could have gone far, if he had opened the throttle, cut out the muffler and steered properly. Instead of that, he promptly applied the brakes, declared that destination was satisfactory, and pulled in by the side of the road to hail people as they went by, going somewhere.

People in buggies, on horseback, with prairie-schooners and on foot, passed him. Folks who had been given less than half as much ability outstripped him. After awhile he began to note this, and then he began blaming the Creator for not giving him a square deal and a half a chance and good luck and—O what's the use? You know a lot of those near-brights.

And nearly every one of them uses an alcohol mixture in his radiator. To meet one of them is a pain, and to be one of them is a tragedy ten times worse than any form of death imaginable. Gosh, yes!

No Surprise

"I rule the roost
At home," he said.
"I do not bow
My kingly head
For any skirt—
No, not at all."

The hotel clerk
Said: "Brown, a call."
Brown stopped his brag,
Stepped to the 'phone,
Said, "Coming, dear,"
In meekest tone.

The crowd all knew
Just what that meant,
Brown grabbed his hat
And homeward went.

Health Talks

Marks Of Degeneration

DEGENERATION, in the medical sense, means a distinct deviation from the normal or usual. It is shown by faulty or unbalanced development of the body, and by nervous and mental peculiarities. Neurotic individuals, those with hereditary tendencies to insanity, alcoholism, drug habits, and the like, are most likely to exhibit the stigmata or marks of degeneration. However, anatomical stigmata are very often seen in absolutely healthy stock; most of us can boast some little freakish trait if we will. Indeed, the medical conception of insanity permits no fast drawn line between sane and insane; there are very vague gradations, eccentricities, peculiarities, monomanias, between the frankly sane and the theoretically normal. That is why medical expert witnesses and criminal—very criminal—lawyers have such difficulty in reaching conclusions in court. The legal conception of insanity is an arbitrary one; the medical conception recognizes the resistance to classification offered by human nature.

Asymmetry of the skull, very small head, very large head, peculiar shapes of the skull, excessive prognathism and very large jaws are included in the list of marks of degeneration. So are projecting teeth, very irregular teeth, double teeth; very thick lips or very thin lips; narrow palpebral fissure (the width of opening of the eyelids), and shaky, jerky eyes; projecting ears, too large and too small ears, ears too high on the head or too low on the neck, floppy ears, ugly ears, ears without lobes or with lobes adherent to the cheeks.

Supernumerary fingers or toes, webbed fingers or toes, excessively long arms, excessively long legs—like the swell fellers in the fashion plates—and, last but not least, gossips will please take notice, an excessive amount of tongue.

Physiological stigmata include tremors, tics, shaky, jerky eyes, defects of speech, exaggerated emotional characteristics.

Mental stigmata are egotism, eccentricities, emotionalism.

If any one can conscientiously go over the list and declare himself or herself free from every recognized stigma we will present his or her name to the next legislature for a suitable memorial resolution. But any reader who finds a great collection of these stigmata about his person would do well to make quite sure he is competent and responsible. Just another way of expressing our favorite slogan: See your doctor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

His Features Are Plastic

Several years ago, deplores M. R., I had some paraffin injected in my face to fill out hollow cheeks. Now it has all gone to lumps. Is there any help short of surgical operation?

Answer—We fear not. But you ought to go back and exhibit your face to the operator who injected the paraffin.

Footstrain—Tired Business Woman

What shall a perfectly healthy, normal business woman do to stop the tired, aching misery in her feet? She is much on her feet, and from the prints on the bathroom floor she imagines the arches are partly broken down.

Answer—She must wear shoes with straight inside sole lines—that is, shoes whose toes do not diverge. The soles must be as broad as the naked foot under the weight of the body. The heels should not be more than one and a half inch high, and broad as the naked heel is. Perhaps she should have her feet strapped with adhesive plaster by the physician. Then she could find relief and still not put the muscles and ligaments out of business.

TY COBB

TY COBB is Henry Ford's assistant in the job of keeping Detroit in the head-lines. However he does not make automobiles. He merely wins one now and then. He is a soloist by profession—the highest price swat soloist in the world. There is no sweeter music to a Detroit citizen than a harsh note from Ty Cobb's bat in the seventh inning with three men on bases and the other side a run or two ahead. Caruso couldn't fill Detroit's ball park once in a life-time, but Cobb has been doing it for ten years.

Cobb is a very young man, not yet old enough to become a senator. He was born in Georgia and spent his youth batting bumble bees with a broomstick. Later, he practised hitting horseflies with a curtain rod and gradually became so proficient that he could pick up a slim-waisted walking stick and bank two bases out of a rifle ball most any time. He then joined the Detroit baseball team and began to upset statistics on batting averages.

Cobb has been almost as disastrous to pitchers as that other great baseball character, Charley Horse. He not only bats spit balls, slow balls and serpentine twists with great ease and fluency, but he is distinguished for his restlessness on bases. A flea is phlegmatic beside this eminent young example of southern languor. His most permanent address is half way between first and second bases making faces at the pitcher. He can run faster than a darky chased by a graveyard and has a way of lying down when approaching second and feeling for the base with his versatile and prehensile feet which is very corrosive on the nerves of the opposing catcher and baseman. Cobb steals twice as many bases as any other man in the business. This is because, like every other Georgian, he is passionately fond of home and begins suffering from nostalgia whenever he gets on first base.

He practised hitting horse-flies with a curtain rod

Cobb is a quick-tempered young man and breaks into the police reports now and then by messing up a spectator who has called him names. This is considered to be a great fault. However the baseball-going public needs more Cobbs on the diamond. The spectator who throws his good breeding away with his cigar stub when he enters the bleachers needs more strenuous education than can be given him by a million editorials on good sportsmanship.

The Hackman, A Modern Type

MANY people returning from a summer outing can tell some story about their misadventures at the hands of the tribe of hackmen encountered during their travels. The cost of getting baggage carted is getting to be a very sizable item, and the hackman has a devious strategy by which to augment it.

In towns like ours, the men who pursue this calling are as dependable and faithful as mechanics and trades-people. They can earn a living only by doing faithful work for a fair price, and must make and keep friends by honest treatment.

But in the larger cities and popular summer resorts, a tribe of vultures haunt the railroad stations. Their call of "Keb, keb, keb, keb," assaults arriving tourists, on whom they pounce with hungry eyes. Their unshorn and weather-beaten faces suggest that they need all the money they can get. Often their appearance suggests that their families will not get all of their revenue, however.

Here is a typical experience related by one traveler. The tourist and his party came in with five trunks and a suit case. A hackman told him the price for carrying the baggage without passengers about 300 yards would be $1.50. The traveler said it was too much, whereupon the hackman offered of his own accord to carry it for $1.25.

When the hackman turned up, he had but five pieces, and claimed the other trunk could not be found. He refused to accept less than $1.25. Then the traveler returned to the station, found the missing trunk in plain sight, where the hackman had no doubt left it, and which then had to be carted to the destination at the cost of added expense and inconvenience. The hackman had got the job for what seemed a good price, and then was unwilling to fulfil the contract he had himself proposed, and no doubt chuckled at the annoyance he had visited upon the traveler.—The Quincy Daily Journal.

Best New Books

BY CATHERINE COOK

"K.," by Mary Roberts Rinehart. Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston. $1.35 net.

In this invigorating story, the adventures of life have for their setting the scenes in and about a surgeon's hospital. Here youth and love make close harmonies with life and death.

The interest centres about a man of mystery, "K.," who drops into the closed life of a small city. There is but little plot in the narrative, but it is rich in incidents true to life. The characters are all persons we have met—and hated—or loved—or pitied.

Mrs. Rinehart has the faculty of bringing into her stories the subsoil of human passion without going into revolting details. When poor Tillie defies the world for love of Schwitter, instead of seeing her as a depraved creature, one sees only her tragic eyes as she lies mutely watching the babe at her breast, and a sigh of relief welcomes a telegram bringing news of the death of Schwitter's insane wife.

This may be melodrama for the reader, but it is heaven for Tillie. We shamelessly rejoice with her for the baby's sake. Though but a humble chapter in the main story, for compelling pathos and a big lesson for moralists, nothing better has ever been written.

One finishes the book with solid satisfaction, as "'K.' stood in the hall of the little house with the letter in his hand. Just beyond on the doorstep was Sidney, waiting for him. His arms were still warm from the touch of her. Beyond lay the Street, and beyond that lay the world and a man's work to do. Work and faith to do it, a good woman's hand in the dark, a Providence that made things right in the end."

The Rose Garden Husband, by Margaret Widdemer. J. B. Lippincott Company, Philadelphia. $1.00 net.

Love in a garden is a hardy perennial. Its blooms are health and joy in living.

This pretty fairy sweetheart story tells how wishes can be made to come true. The love and marriage day dreams of a young girl float far away into a dusky room where Allan Harrington, a hopeless invalid, lay inert and white, "looking like a wonderful carved statue on a tomb."

The incidents that draw these two young people together to spend their lives in a delightful rose garden where life and health return to the lover-husband, are a little fanciful, but altogether charming, as true love stories should be. It is a book for sweethearts, young and old.

How it Feels to be the Husband of a Suffragette, by Him. George H. Doran Company, New York. 50 cents.

The author says with some feeling, "It takes a good deal better man than I've met yet to face the mirth of a mob without some of it getting under his hide."

Husbands will read this book with trembling, but the trembling will come from a good laugh. Wives will smile too and say that a bit of truth lurks in this satire on the man who has the courage of his convictions and marches with suffragette parades down Fifth Avenue "tagging after the girls entirely surrounded by empty asphalt with two or three hundred thousand people earnestly cracking their larynxes calling us 'sis,' or 'henpeck.'"

The illustrations by May Wilson Preston complete this delightful sketch of the attitude of the average American husband on the question of Woman Suffrage.

The Harbor, by Ernest Poole. The Macmillan Company, New York. $1.40 net.

Wall Street and New York Harbor and all that comes between woven into human fabric is the background of one of the best novels of the year. It is not just a story, it is a revelation of the human cauldron that underlies modern life.

In the first chapters, The Harbor and all that it stands for is introduced by a bit of child psychology. It points out evil like a leak in the social sewer and children of the rich are as exposed to its infection as are those of the poorer districts.

It is a book to read and to ponder. Socialism and labor strikes are not the only signs of an impending change in world policies. Exposure of children to vicious surroundings, the drying up of women's hearts by economic pressure—these are the real issues made clear in this splendid story of home and civic life in a great metropolis.

One lays the book down with a smothering sense that life has become a sort of mania. Big ships—big harbors—big money—and Oh! such rushing and sweating and drivings and all for what—Power and the great game of overcoming. And to what end?

Your Size

There is nothing that makes one appear so small and helpless as to lie on the sand at the edge of the Ocean and hear its roar. To that Ocean we all appear but a little bigger than the billions of grains of sand that its waters wash and kiss.

It is well that we frequently get away from ourselves and the contemplation of our little bits of selfish interests long enough to realize the enormity of Life and the appeal that it makes directly to each of us. The Sea Shore, the great Forest, the Country, the Crowd go far toward bringing a man back to his human self. For humanly speaking, no man is bigger or more important than any other man except as he does. That is the test of Size—Your Size.

Much of the world mistakes greatness. It isn't Power—it's Worth. Most people look right over Worth. But Power wanes. Worth does not. That is why the real great grow greater after they are gone. And that is why many who seem to be overlooked while they live loom up grand and wonderful after they have died and their actual Worth—their Size—has been measured.

Your Size—right now, or later, can only be determined by what you do. It matters little whether your work is performed in public or private. It's the Work that counts. How big are you? Think it over alone. You are the one most concerned.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Patty Fed Mr. Hop Toad His Dessert.

He Preferred to Take Them From a Stick.

"WHO knows a burdock leaf?" asked daddy.

"I—I!" cried both kiddies.

"Well, Mr. Tree Toad used one for his umbrella every time he went to walk around and around his home maple. He was a rather vain fellow, so each morning he chose a fresh one.

"Now Mr. Tree Toad had two very good friends. One was his first cousin, Mr. Hop Toad, and the other was a jolly little girl whose daddy owned the maple tree and under whose doorstep Mr. Tree Toad used to hide."

"What was the little girl's name?" asked Evelyn.

"Patty. They became acquainted one day when Patty was hunting for burdock burrs to make into baskets. And I'm sorry to say that sometimes when she was very naughty she liked to leave these burrs around on chairs."

"They stick to things, don't they?" said Jack knowingly.

"Evelyn, if you had a pet tree toad would you know what to feed him?"

"Bugs!" both kiddies exclaimed.

"He could find plenty of young bugs and flies himself. When he hops he is apt to be jumping on some young, tender thing to eat—except when he hops to get somewhere, of course. That's why Mr. Tree Toad is so fat."

"Do you mean his dessert?" cried Jack.

"Exactly," said daddy. "What did Patty give her pet toad for dessert?"

Both children had to give it up.

"Pansies," said daddy. "Mr. Tree Toad was very, very fond of big purple and yellow pansies. He could eat quite a wonderful lot of their velvety petals."

"Would he eat them right out of Patty's hand?" asked Jack.

"No. He had been stepped on by humans so many times that he was rather afraid of them. And, although he trusted and liked Patty, he preferred to take them from the end of a long stick that had a cleft in the end of it. Patty used to put a pansy in this cleft, squat down opposite Mr. Tree Toad and offer him his delicious meal."

"How did he eat?" asked Evelyn.

"Rather quick and fast. He would run out his very pink tongue and nip out a round piece of purple petal as neatly as scissors could do it."

"Didn't Patty feed his cousin, Mr. Hop Toad, too?" asked Jack.

"No. For, I'm sorry to say, they were a bit afraid of each other. Once when Patty was barefooted she nearly stepped on Mr. Hop Toad, which frightened him even more than it did her. And, you know, real friendship always rests in people trusting each other. Will you both remember that?"

"Yes," promised the kiddies, yawning with sleep.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"What do you think of this?" Nell handed Dick a letter. "It's from the Scotts; they are on their way from the fair, and are coming here, and they have the most delightful plan. Read it." She watched the smile spread over his features as he turned the pages.

"That will be some lark," he exclaimed, handing back the letter. "I wonder if each fellow is to furnish his own tent; let's see what it says."

Nell referred to the letter and read, "We have ordered our man to lay six platforms for tents, three for our guests, the Mortons, Parsons, Ellions, and one for the Scotts; then a dining tent and one for the maids. You see it will be perfectly safe for the children. The Frazees may join us later, but they have their own camping outfit. Father and Mother Scott are going on east."

"I take it each will get his own tent; we can rent them for a couple of weeks. I understand the Scotts are building a new barn. I suppose they will borrow the lumber from that for the occasion. How will the doctor manage about his practice? You see, he has had one vacation this summer."

"It's up to him," laughed Dick. "Olive will come anyway."

"It's only three miles from our house and the river is fine for bathing," read Dick, referring to the letter again. "Fred will have to be at the office every day and can take the men back and forth."

"That's something like," exclaimed Dick.

"The finest thing is the dining and cooking tent and the two servants. It will be a genuine rest for all of us. Camping usually means a lot of work for someone. I must see Olive and Jo this evening and make arrangements." Nell was full of enthusiasm.

"I'll put the youngster to bed; you go as soon as supper is out of the way," suggested Dick.

"I'll call up Olive and tell her to come over to Jo's, that there is an important meeting of the entertainment committee," said Nell when the table was cleared and the dishes stacked for the little girl to wash in the morning.

"These cool September days are the best for camping," said Dick enthusiastically, as he took the baby on his knee to undress him.

The friends had a very exciting time at the meeting. Lists of proper apparel and provisions were made that all might be ready for the load the following Saturday.

"I do hope Gaylord can arrange to stay in camp," said Olive soberly.

"He can run out there every night in his machine and come in to business every morning with the other men. He will only lose night calls and people are pretty healthy this pleasant weather." Practical Jo always had a solution for every difficulty.

As Nell went down the silent street to her home she noticed a tiny thread of a moon in the sky. "I'd forgotten it was moonlight; how perfect!" she exclaimed.

When she neared the house the loud, angry screaming of her baby made her hurry her pace almost to a run.

"Dick never can get along with Hal without getting him to yelling," she thought. "He's so abrupt and—and brutal. I can manage him and have a little peace. I suppose he has some disciplining stunt on that will wear the whole family out and keep us up half the night. I dread to get him started on anything like that." She ran swiftly up the steps.

Household Hints..

CANNING AND PRESERVING

Heat sugar in oven before making jelly; will jell quicker.

If the kettle in which syrup for canning is being boiled is greased with butter two inches down from top, it will not boil over.

When you are about to put away your jellies, jams and preserves, place a bowl of lime in the closet where they are stored. It will prevent mold from gathering on the fruit. Or, if you have a damp cupboard, a small box filled with lime will also absorb the moisture.

Large Cucumbers Sliced—Four tablespoons mustard, one teaspoon turmeric, one and one-half cups sugar, one cup flour. Mix to a paste with cold water, add to three pints boiling vinegar. Add two dozen large cucumbers that have been sliced thick and stood in salt water over night. Boil two minutes and can.

By adding a little whipped cream to one-half pint of these and potatoes that have been cut up, you can have a delicious potato salad with little work, as you need no other salad dressing.

Green Tomato Mincemeat—Chop fine four quarts green tomatoes, drain off all juice, cover with cold water, let come to a boil and scald thirty minutes, then drain well. Repeat till parboiled three times. Add two pounds brown sugar, one pound seeded raisins, half pound chopped citron, one large half cup finely chopped suet, one tablespoon salt and half cup cider vinegar. Stir well together and cook till thick. When cold add one teaspoon each ground cinnamon and cloves and one tablespoon grated nutmeg. Stir thoroughly and keep in a stone jar.

THE TABLE

Gefueltes Fish (Jewish style)—Take two pounds trout or "yellow pike," cut in two-inch slices, remove skin from one side of the slices. Chop one onion, add salt, pepper, and mix with one egg and fine cracker crumbs to a paste, lay the paste in the fish, put back the skin, boil the fish with water to cover, salt, pepper, sliced onion, one carrot, one sprig of parsley cut fine, "speck" of cloves and allspice. Let boil two hours, then add one tablespoon rich cream. Serve cold.

Noodles for Gefueltes Fish: Make stiff noodle dough, roll out very thin and cut into ribbons one-half inch wide, let dry a little, boil in salted water, drain in a colander. Fry some sliced onions in butter until soft, add noodles, stir and serve hot.

Poor Man's Dumpling—One egg, one-half cup milk or water, one-half cup sugar, one teaspoon baking powder, and flour to make batter same as pancake batter. Place spoonful of dough, then berries or apple (any kind of fruit), then another small spoonful of dough, then fruit, then last a spoonful of dough. This makes four large cups of dumplings and they are excellent. Set in boiling water and cook slowly thirty minutes. The cups will be full. Fine for the poor man.

Baked Beans Cooked on Top of Stove—Two pounds soup beans, one pound bacon cut in small pieces, large onion or two small, one pint bottle catsup, sugar and salt to taste but don't put in until beans are cooked soft. Put beans, bacon, onion and catsup in four quarts of water, put on stove and let cook. Will bake just as brown as in oven. Don't cover with lid.

Cucumber Fritters—Use one large cucumber sliced and soaked ten minutes in salt water, two cups sweet milk, one-half teaspoon salt, flour enough to make a stiff batter, one egg. After stirring well, add two heaping teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon sugar. Thoroughly mix, then add cucumbers. Fry in hot fat until a rich brown. Be sure batter is quite stiff and that each slice of cucumber is covered.

Poor Man's Cake—Take three eggs and two cups of sugar and beat till well dissolved. Add six teaspoons (heaping) baking powder, two tablespoons melted butter, one and one-half glasses milk and enough flour to make a thick dough. Add more milk occasionally, stirring constantly, until it has become a thin dough. Pour into greased pan and bake in moderate oven about forty minutes. This recipe makes a good-sized cake. It may be made in two other forms: (1) Pour half the mixture in a greased pan and sprinkle with cinnamon. Add the other half. This, in looks, is similar to the marble cake. (2) Bake in layers with any desired fruit between. Any of these three is nice with either white or chocolate frosting.

FARMERS WARNED ABOUT CLOVER SEED

Crimson Variety is Reported by Government to Be of Poor Quality.

Washington, Sept. 9—Heavy importations of crimson clover seed of low germination have caused the United States Department of Agriculture to warn farmers to ascertain the germination of the crimson clover seed they are using. Otherwise many crop failures are sure to result from using dead seed. Since July 15, 1915, 26 lots of crimson clover seed have been imported. In three of these lots, containing enough seed to sow over 2,850 acres, there was no seed that could be expected to grow under field conditions. In five other lots, aggregating enough to sow 8,600 acres, the seed only germinated from 45 to 50 per cent. The importation of these lots, together with 1,000,000 pounds of seed of low germination imported during May and June, makes it more important than ever that farmers should know the germination of the crimson clover seed they are seeding. The Department of Agriculture has no power to prevent the admission of such seed and it is therefore warning farmers to be on their guard in planting.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Many requests over the telephone for seats to the performance of "Daddy Long Legs" at the Plainfield Theatre next Saturday evening, show that theatre-goers in this city are interested in the appearance of Jean Webster's fascinating comedy. In view of the fact that "Daddy Long Legs" has been for nearly two years the biggest dramatic hit on the American stage, it would not be surprising to observe a rush for seats. It indicates that the play is as eagerly awaited here as it was in New York, Chicago and San Francisco last year, where in each city it broke house records for big business.

HERE AND THERE

A VOTE THOUGH NO VOICE.

A rather amusing little incident occurred at the headquarters of the Plainfield Equal Suffrage League a few days ago.

A man entered and silently offered a card to the Suffragist in charge. On the card were printed two alphabets for the deaf and dumb, with the notice that the applicant was so afflicted. As the Suffragist opened her purse she observed the apparent enthusiasm with which the man gazed at the inspiring posters which line the walls. Realizing that here might be a hopeful convert, she seizer pencil and pad. "Do you—?" she started to write.

Her visitor darted forward with a low bow of apology; he took the pencil and wrote: "I do believe in woman's suffrage and her right to vote." He then turned slowly around and made sweeping bows to the literature and posters. He has no voice to devote to the cause, but those bows are more eloquent than many speeches, his vote is as good as any orator's and he has five children who are not deaf and dumb.

JACK MARTIN WILL REPORT TO PHILLIES

Plainfielder May Don National Uniform Before Season Ends.

Jack Martin will report to the Phillies soon according to word received here. It was announced some time ago that Jack had been recalled by Manager Pat Moran, of the Philadelphia National League team, and that the local boy was to join the major team October 1. He will remain in St. Paul until September 19, when the American Association season closes and then he may return to this city, joining the Phillies before the specified time. What Moran intends to do with the local boy is not known. According to the official list just published Martin cannot play in the World-Series in the event that the "Sleepy Town" team does annex the National League flag. Just now the St. Paul team has an excellent chance to cop the Association flag although at present the Blue team is a game and a half behind the Minneapolis team. It is thought that a rip-roaring inter-city series between the Saints and the "Minnies" will be necessary before the pennant winner can be decided. Much rivalry exists between the fans of the two cities, which, geographically, are almost on top of each other.

Martin has not fully recovered from a broken rib, which injury he sustained in a game a few weeks ago and just recently had to be removed from the game owing to the great pain he was subjected to by the injury, which has not, even now, fully healed. A letter from him states that his wife and child, who have been with him since the opening of the season, will return to this city shortly.

PLATT AND BEN ADAMS IN NEW FIELD OF SPORT

It has often been told of how Platt and Ben Adams, the Olympic athletes, who formerly played baseball with the Y. M. C. A. team in this city, began their rivalry in a back-yard game of leap-frog in Bellville, and continued it even to the jumping pits at the Olympic games in Stockholm three years ago, but a new chapter is now to be unfolded.

Platt has been unable of late to give as much time to strenuous field athletics as formerly, being engaged in business in Newark, while Ben is laying off to an even greater extent owing to the lack of training facilities up in Providence, where he now resides.

But the pair of them have been playing golf just as a means of keeping in condition, it develops. Platt has matriculated out of the duffer class at Forest Hill, while Ben has been teeing up on the course in Providence.

Ben came to Newark over Labor Day, and his first question was, "Say, Platt, where's the golf links?" Probably he thought he would get even for the many defeats he has suffered at the hands, or, rather, the legs of his older brother in the jumping pit.

"Oh! Up at Forest Hill they play a bit," was the apparently uninterested reply of Platt.

"Let's go," said Ben.

And up they went. Report has it that Platt followed the precedent in the Adams family and repeated the success of the old jumping days, but this cannot be verified, as Ben has gone back to Providence, and he kept score.

CLIFF RANDOLPH TO TRY IT AGAIN

Plainfield Hurler Slated for Double Pitching Engagement.

Not content with completing one "iron man" stunt Cliff Randolph has agreed to undertake another one next Sunday, meeting the two teams he so successfully downed last week. In the opener he will try to divest the St. Anthony ballists of their ability to clout the cover off the ball while in the second he will take a shot at the Franklins whom he held to no hits and no runs last Sunday. According to Perth Amboy newspaper accounts, Randolph stands a good chance of twirling another no-hit encounter. Should the Pacers win either of the two scheduled games their title to the City League championship would be clear.

Tommy Mullin, a local Franklin, gathered two hits off Cliff last Sunday in the second melee. Tommy played both for the Franklins, in the first argument, and the Saints in the second battle. Of course he was unable to break up that no-hit no-run victory, but he made a great attempt to upset Cliff in the nightcap argument but his efforts availed nothing.

ROD AND REEL

Clarence L. Thorn, Charles H. Hall and Percy McVoy motored to Great Hills, Friday, from which point they sailed with Captain Abe Hapenny in the Nimrod for the fishing grounds off Atlantic Highlands. When the party returned to Plainfield they had forty-one very large weakfish to show for their day's fishing.

Few fishermen know that some people pay $3 a day for a guide at the Highlands to take them striped bass fishing, but such is the case. One guide down there is engaged every day this month to fish, and he doesn't row more than 500 feet from his home to the bridge, where the fishing is done and where striped bass are caught.

Fishermen wishing to try out the good sport to be had at Sandy Hook can find rowboats and power boats at Bahr's boathouse, Highlands. Leave the train at Water Witch and walk south along Bay avenue five minutes, then turn to the left. Another good place is Sheldon's, close to the railroad station at the Highlands. Boats can also be had there at reasonable prices.

Kingfish and some very large weaks have been caught in Mud Channel, near Barnegat, during the past few days.

The Susquehanna River striped bass grounds are beginning to attract their share of anglers now.

FRED CLARKE TO QUIT.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 9—Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates since 1900, announced yesterday he had resigned, effective at the close of the present season.

"I am tired of baseball," he said, "and am going to live on my farm in Kansas."

Clarke denied there had been any row with the Pittsburgh management. His successor has not been announced.

JOHNSTON AGAIN IN THE VICTOR'S ROLE

Youthful Star and Partner Defeats "Comet Mac" and Tom Bundy.

Stepping into the fast rallies in a way that turned the tide of the National Championship Doubles Match in his favor, William M. Johnston again used his famous forehanders yesterday so that with his partner, Clarence J. Griffin, he defeated Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy. The battle was waged through the limit to five sets to be scored at 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3, at the West Side Tennis Club, while the crowd in the big stands thrilled and applauded the flashing encounters as lobbing and smashing followed in rapid succession.

The victory of the Pacific coast champions, Johnston and Griffin, was according to expectation, for it was not believed that Bundy could take his place in such a struggle with any success without the benefit of preliminary preparation. Yet it was Bundy who was at his old trick of inspiring his famous partner and he spurred McLoughlin on to the greatest endeavor of his career. There were occasions in the hotly fought engagements at the net where all of the old compelling brilliancy of McLoughlin blazed forth. Leaping high in air he pulled down lobs to turn the ball back across the net with devastating pace.

CAVANAGH SPRINGS BIG SURPRISE IN BIKE RACES

The bicycle racing enthusiasts of Newark, had the surprise of their lives last night when Frank Cavanagh, a local boy, gave Champion Frank Kramer and Alf Goullet a trouncing in the five-mile national championship. The race was believed to be between Kramer and Goullet, the Australian, who have been fighting a see-saw battle for three months in the title series.

Cavanagh "jumped" these riders a lap and a half from the finish and could not be overtaken. Goullet finished second and Kramer third. As a result of this race Kramer and Goullet are now "fifty-fifty" in the championship standing, with 45 points each.

AMATEUR BALL JINGLES

Eddie Stallings, now a resident of the borough, played with the pennant winners Monday and fielded well, although his hitting did not amount to much. It is indeed some time since Eddie enjoyed a bit of the national pastime. The blonde gingersmith suffered an injury to his leg a year or so ago and has been out of the game since.

"Babe" Gleason surprised his admirers by hurling a splendid seventeen-inning game Monday, holding the Farmers to eleven bingles Kachelries, while at all times master of the situation, was not always effective.

Frank "Nibs" Hand is home again after completing a successful baseball season. According to reports Frank is the class of the New England circuit and is wanted by both the "Feds" and organized baseball. There is consolation in the fact that Frank can be depended upon to take the right course.

Jim Emery is another local diamond light who is home for the winter. While Jim never was a Ty Cobb with the willow he certainly knows how to handle the ball, but the fact that he performed with the Feds when they first broke into the West has ruined his chances of ever getting back with the O. B. boys.

Speaking of baseball and its decline reminds one of the onrush of the football season when the doctors and dentists, and sometimes the undertakers, are rushed to death. "Doc" Harvey, of Plainfield avenue, has announced that he will put a crack football team on the gridiron this season. Here's hoping he does.

For a little man, "Hoppy" Walls accomplished quite a feat Labor Day. Although he declares that he is not a pitcher he hurled the morning game for the Hopes and lost and in the afternoon went to the relief of Hefti. He took up "Heft's" burden too late, however. Then, too, the diminutive Chapel boy reached the Netherwood hurlers for four safeties.

Jack Denny deserves all the credit one can give him. Had he been given any kind of support, both in fielding and hitting, he would have won both his Saturday and Labor Day starts. As it was he put all he had onto the ball and showed his opponents that they would have to go some to connect. But the Abstainers re-

ANNUAL MEETING OF TRACT SOCIETY

Officers and Directors Elected at Gathering of Representatives in New York.

The annual meeting of the members of the American Sabbath Tract Society for the election of officers and directors was held yesterday afternoon at the office of Herbert G. Whipple, 220 Broadway, New York.

Because the society was incorporated in New York State, it has always been necessary to hold the annual meeting in that State, but this is the only meeting that was regularly held outside of Plainfield. The law governing this matter has been changed, however, so this year's annual session was the last which will have to be held away from Plainfield. According to the law referred to, religious corporations supported by churches all over the land can hold their annual meetings anywhere, and the American Sabbath Tract Society will take advantage of this law.

The meeting yesterday was called to order at 4 o'clock and resulted in the re-election of all the old officers as follows: President, Corliss F. Randolph, of Newark; recording secretary, A. L. Titsworth, Plainfield, corresponding secretary, the Rev. Edwin Shaw, Plainfield, and treasurer, F. J. Hubbard, Plainfield.

ALEXANDER MACK A DEATH VICTIM

One of Somerville's Most Prominent Citizens Succumbs in His Office.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

Recently Filed Petition on G. O. P. Ticket—Well Know Elk—Actively Interested in Municipal Affairs During Lifetime.

Gloom, occasioned by the sudden death of Alexander Wolfgang Mack, one of its best known and most respected citizens, overspreads the town of Somerville today. Known and held in the highest esteem in professional, business, political and sporting circles of Somerset county, Mr. Mack's demise, after an illness of a few minutes in his office at the Somerville Woolen Mills this morning, came as a blow to his hundreds of intimate acquaintances.

An illness, diagnosed by physicians as acute indigestion, came upon him soon after he assumed his duties as director of the Somerville concern today, and he passed away while "first aid" remedies were being administered by his fellow officers and employes of the company. He was forty-five years old and for the greater part of his life had been actively interested in promoting all that concerned the welfare of the municipality in which he lived. He is survived by a wife and three children, the family not as yet having announced their plans for the funeral.

During the fore-part of the week Mr. Mack filed his petition for the Republican nomination at the fall primaries for the mayoralty of Somerville, an office which he sought the first year the borough was organized. He was considered a particularly likely candidate for the honor and was completing his plans for an active campaign.

Another work which death interrupted was his activity in making preparations for a representation of Somerville Elks at the second annual reunion and parade to be held in Atlantic City next Tuesday. He was an enthusiastic member of Somerville Lodge, No. 1086, B. P. O. E. and was looking forward to the coming event with considerable interest.

Mr. Mack was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Mack and was related to the Einstein family, one member of the family having been a candidate for New York city's first mayor and an owner of the New York Press. He was a former captain of Company M, New Jersey National Guard, and was a major on the staff of former Governor J. Franklin Fort. He was president of the Board of Commissioners under the old Somerville Town Government and had fostered many civic improvements.

One of Mr. Mack's foremost hobbies was sports and at the time of his death he was a member of the Somerville Country Club and the Somerville Athletic Association. He was particularly interested in baseball and had managed and promoted many fast Somerset county teams during his younger years. He was also a member of the Bachelors' Club of Somerville.

CHILDREN FROM CITY HOME ARE GIVEN DAY'S OUTING

R. B. Van Arsdale, of this city, took the children at the Children's Home for a day's outing last Friday. The party left the Home in Mr. Van Arsdale's auto truck, and Wayside Park, Dunellen, was the destination. The day was spent in playing games, an inviting lunch being served, and the children returned in a happy mood late in the afternoon.

The board of managers of the Home wish to remind those who may have any surplus fruit or vegetables that they will be welcomed at the Westervelt avenue building. All necessary facilities for canning and preserving are available, and contributions may be left at any time. If any persons wish to provide a day's outing for the young people, such as that given by Mr. Van Arsdale, arrangements can be made by 'phoning to the matron.

R. L. MEERMANS RETURNS.

Robert L. Meermans, physical director at the Y. M. C. A., has returned from a month's vacation. Two weeks were spent visiting relatives in Cleveland, while the remaining time was passed at a camp on Lake Erie. Mrs. Meermans and children accompanied him. In a few days a season program will be arranged for the physical department.

Borough Clerk Charles M. Dolliver and family, of De Lacy avenue, left yesterday for a two weeks' vacation at Asbury Park.

ARREST MAY PROVE AN IMPORTANT ONE

William Morris, Alias Charles Wiliams, Arrested by the Newark Police.

Timely co-operation between the police department of this city and Newark last night led to the capture of William Morris, aged twenty-six years, of 1250 George street, this city, who is alleged to have stolen a bicycle belonging to Paul Meeker, of 214 Grant avenue, from in front of the Plainfield postoffice Wednesday noon. Morris, who is well known locally, was taken into custody by Sergeants Hummel and Bonnet, of the Newark department, while trying to dispose of a wheel, supposed to have been stolen. When apprehended he claimed to be Charles Williams, of New Bedford, Mass., but later, under a grilling by Acting Captain Kuhn, he admitted that his right name was Morris.

This morning Captain John J. Flynn, of the local department, went to Newark and brought the prisoner back to this city and he will be arraigned before Judge DeMeza in the city court tomorrow morning. It is thought that Morris possibly had something to do with the wholesale bicycle stealing that has been going on here for some time past and the capture is considered an important one.

When told of the arrest over the 'phone last night, Captain Flynn associated the description of the Williams man with that of Morris and it was at his suggestion that the Newark police accused Williams of being Morris and forced the latter to admit the identity.

Morris, since youth, has been a victim of wunderlust and not more than a year ago was shot in the hip by a policeman while riding a blind baggage in Omaha. As the result he has sustained a permanent lameness. He told Acting Captain Kuhn of having travelled extensively through Kansas City and other western points. Since being brought back to Plainfield after being injured, however, it was thought that he had reformed and his arrest in Newark came as a great surprise to those who are acquainted with him.

REV. AND MRS. McKELVEY GIVEN "WELCOME HOME"

A delightful "welcome home" was tendered Rev. and Mrs. J. O. McKelvey, last night, in the parlors of the Warren chapel, by the Christian Endeavor Society of the church. Mrs. Aline Giddis pleased the gathering with a recitation, while Miss Dorothy Seader played several solos on the cornet, accompanied by her sister, Miss Louise Seader. A general singing of old songs was also enjoyed.

Following the musical portion of the program, refreshments were served the guests. The tables were most prettily decorated for the event, cut flowers being used in great numbers.

George Hoagland addressed the minister and his wife with a speech of welcome, and at the same time presented Mrs. McKelvey with a beautiful bouquet of flowers. A speech of appreciation was given by both Mr. and Mrs. McKelvey. Informal remarks were also spoken by the following: J. W. Gavett, superintendent of the Sunday-school; Albert Van Winkle, vice-president; L. J. Stites, treasurer; Miss Aline Giddies, secretary; Theodore J. Martin, former president; Miss A. H. Kirby and D. C. Harrower.

EDUCATION BOARD WILL AWAIT FURTHER ADVICE

A special meeting of the Borough Board of Education was held Wednesday night to discuss the situation in which the Board finds itself as the result of the hold-up in the work on the new Harrison Avenue School building due to the contractors, L. Belluccio & Brothers, failing to proceed with the work.

The Board is seeking legal advice on the situation and is also awaiting word from the New England Casualty Company, which bonded the contractors. Another special meeting will be held very soon at the call of the president.

SOLDIERS DO NOT HANKER FOR WAR

So Says Charles H. Frost in Allaying Wrong Impression of Plattsburg.

LAUDS CAMP TRAINING

Experiment in Military Instruction for Business Men Even a Greater Success Than Was Anticipated—Some Personal Anecdotes.

Enthusiastic in his endorsement of the experimental camp for military training at Plattsburg, Charles H. Frost, of this city, has just returned after spending three hard, but profitable weeks, with 1,400 of the country's best known business and professional men. In placing his stamp of approval on the new departure of governmental preparation for warfare Mr. Frost declared that the plans of those who fostered the project had been worked out to perfection and that the good effects of the training are already making themselves felt, settling unrest and putting to rout erroneous impressions of "preparedness in times of peace."

"The army does not hanker for war," said Mr. Frost. "Every man is given a graphic insight into what strife on the battlefield means and the soldier is the last one in the world to yearn for actual slaughter. Contrary impressions of the object of the camp have been sent broadcast and there are those narrow-minded individuals who would believe that the men in Plattsburg are the ones who

BOROUGH SCHOOLS TO RE-OPEN MONDAY

Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst Announces Schedule for Fall and Winter.

The public schools of North Plainfield borough will open Monday morning, September 13. The alterations in the Somerset building will be practically completed and the building will be ready for all classes. The Harrison avenue building will not be ready until ten days later. Provisions for the pupils belonging to the Harrison avenue building have been made in the Somerset building on half time. Their hours will be from 8:30 to 12:30, with an intermission. The Somerset School children in Grades 1A, 1B, 2A, 2B, 3 and 4 will recite in the afternoon from 12:30 to 4:30, with an intermission. The authorities claim that this plan is better for the short time it will be used than to go back to last year's plan of part-time classes in the Watchung and Somerset buildings.

The boundary lines of the Harrison building are as follows: Beginning at the borough line on Somerset street, all children residing on the west side as far as Lund'n avenue, then westward all children on Linden avenue to Sycamore, south on Sycamore to Mercer, west on Mercer to Rockview, and west on Rockview to West End avenue, constitute the eastern and southern boundaries of the Harrison zone.

The east side of Somerset street to Fairview avenue is the west boundary line for the Watchung building. Fairview avenue is the southern line.

The Harrison School children will enter the Somerset building at the north entrances next to Park place.

Somerset Grades 1A, 1B, 2A, 2B, 3 and 4 will enter at the same doors.

Departmental grades and High School pupils will enter at the main door on Somerset street until further notice is given.

There will be no Harrison Avenue School kindergarten until the building is completed. Parents will send their kindergarten children to Watchung and Somerset School buildings observing the boundary lines in effect before the new school building was erected.

"Fundamentals" is the theme of the conference which opened this afternoon with a luncheon, at which C. H. Nuttle, chairman of the Employed Officers' Association, presided. An address, "The Employed Officer—Tests of Efficiency," was delivered by L. Wilbur Messer, of Chicago. At the business session which followed, brief statements from the chairman of each of the three commissions for study were heard. H. E. Parker, former general secretary at Plainfield, was one of these speakers.

One hour group conferences will end tomorrow morning's session. These conferences will treat of the following subjects:

In the afternoon Mr. Messer will deliver an address upon "Certain Fundamentals." The State committee will meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when the report of the efficiency commission will be made. AGREED TO PAY DAMAGES FOR WRECKED BICYCLE

Louis Tunstall, an employe of the Hand Storage and Express Company, had his bicycle run over and bent yesterday on Somerset street. The wheel was left standing along the curb while he was inside a building. He says he came out just in time to see Frank Keel, of 969 Arlington avenue, driving his wagon over it.

To Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough police department, Keel declared that two women knocked the bicycle over just as his horse was opposite it, and that he could not stop in time to prevent running over it. He deposited $5 with Chief Weiss as security for having the wheel repaired.

MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTOR ARRESTED A SPEEDER HERE

During a visit to this city yesterday afternoon, Motor Vehicle Inspector Harry Shedd, of Roselle, accompanied by Patrolman Martin Welsh, of the local department, arrested Edward Lawson, a chauffeur who gave his address as Allenhurst, on a charge of driving his machine at a thirty-mile an hour clip along East Fifth street.

Lawson was brought to police headquarters and released by Lieut. Maurice Higgins after he had furnished $25 to insure his appearance before City Judge William G. DeMeza tomorrow morning.

MANY WILL SEEK HIGHER EDUCATION

Plainfield Boys and Girls to Enter College Within Next Few Weeks.

EXAMINATIONS PASSED

Students Comprise a Number of P. H. S. and N. P. H. S. Graduates Who Have Won Scholarships and Athletic Honors.

Within the next week or two Plainfield will witness the exodus of many of its young people, boys and girls, who will enter the freshmen classes of various institutions of learning throughout the country. Of that number a goodly percentage will be young men and women, pupils of the two local High Schools, who were graduated last June.

One who has won for herself legions of friends not only in this city but in other towns throughout the State is Miss Marion Mair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Mair, of Belmont avenue. Miss Mair left Plainfield this morning for Oberlin, Ohio, where she will take up a combined four-year college and physical course. She was graduated from the North Plainfield High School with the class of 1913. Her versitality is unquestioned among local sport followers, her modesty and sportsmanship marking her an instant favorite. She is probably better known to the local public by her work on the basketball court, where she has gained considerable prominence in the position of Entertained at Y. W. C. A. Prior to Departure Today for Oberlin College.

A farewell party was given last night in the parlors of the Y. W. C. A. in honor of Miss Marion Mair, who left this morning for Oberlin College, Ohio. Charades, games and singing were features of the evening. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

Miss Harriett Mattison, on behalf of the girls, presented Miss Mair with a handsome ivory toilet set, at the same time assuring her of the lasting affection of each giver. Miss Mair made an appropriate speech of acceptance and appreciation. She was also presented with a huge bouquet of flowers, and the book, "One Girl's Influence," dedicated to the late Louise Andrews.

A large delegation of friends accompanied the young woman to New York this morning, where she took the train for Syracuse. She will visit Miss Elizabeth Wetherell at the latter place prior to going on to Oberlin.

Plainfielders Expect to Make a Great Showing at Atlantic City Tuesday.

Plans are nearing completion for what promises to be the largest and most elaborate representation of Plainfield Elks at a fraternal gathering at the second annual reunion and parade of the New Jersey State Elks' Association to be held in Atlantic City next Tuesday. The committee in charge of the local end recently made provision for a train of six cars to stop at stations between Somerville and Cranford Tuesday morning, but present conditions indicate that it will probably be necessary to increase the number of cars prior to the time set for leaving.

Plainfield will be particularly well represented, and large delegations are expected to join the local Elks at Somerville, Bound Brook, Westfield and Cranford. One of the notable features will be the attendance of women friends of the order, many wives, relatives and sweethearts of Plainfield members having signified their intention of accompanying the men on the one-day trip.

That the local delegates are going to Atlantic City with a determination to capture their share of the prizes offered for a representation and originality in the street demonstration is exemplified in the tentative plans. The life-sized elk that adorns the lobby-way of the Watchung avenue clubhouse will be taken to Atlantic City in the special train. At the resort it will be mounted on a large truck, on which members of the women's committee in charge of the recent euchre in the Elks' clubhouse will ride dressed in white gowns. The women conducted the card party for the purpose of raising funds to defray the expenses of purchasing a banner for the local lodge in the parade, and the men have granted the privilege with a view to repaying them for their work on that occasion.

All of the local Elks will wear Palm Beach suits, and with other outward marks of loyalty to the order, they will no doubt present a natty and attractive appearance in the parade. A silver trophy is being offered this year for the largest representation of women from any one lodge, and this honor is one that is being sought by the Plainfielders.

The special train will stop at Plainfield at 7:57, and will be in charge of the reunion committee. Both Bound Brook and Somerville have assured the management of large representations.

The local "Bills" have secured the famous Allentown Band to accompany them.

ASK ELKS TO CO-OPERATE IN PLANNING FOR FETE

With a view to making the bazaar, to be held in the Elks' clubhouse from October 18 to 23, inclusive, one of the biggest and most successful events of its kind ever conducted under the auspices of the Plainfield lodge, the general committee, composed of elective officers and the house committee, has invited any member who so desires to register his name with Secretary V. W. Nash, Jr., for enlistment on the various subcommittees. Wives, mothers, daughters and sweethearts of members are earnestly requested to co-operate in every way possible and work will be found for each one in promoting the monster October social event.

Walter S. Marder, chairman of the general committee, has been working with a large corps of assistants for some time past to arrange the various details and the program is now rounding into the proper form for the occasion. Several meetings have already been held and much hard work will be entailed in putting the finishing touches on the preliminary arrangements. In view of the character the affair has assumed as many as wish to can aid in making it a precedent setter.

DAN DUGAN LIBERATED.

One of the 115 convicts paroled by the Court of Pardons as the result of a conference held at the Governor's Cottage at Sea Girt recently, is Daniel A. Dugan, Jr., son of Judge Daniel A. Dugan, of Orange. Young Dugan, who is well known in this city before he went to State Prison, was given his release today after serving three years of a term of from five to ten years imposed for manslaughter. He killed a boy while recklessly driving his automobile, after which he fled but was later caught.

WILBUR A CANDIDATE.

Owing to an oversight the name of Samuel P. T. Wilbur was omitted from the list of candidates who have filed petitions for the primaries with City Clerk James T. MacMurray. Mr. Wilbur's name appears on the Republican ticket for nomination to the Board of Freeholders.

EXPECT DUMBA TO BE RECALLED SOON

Belief at Washington That Austrian Government Will Heed Request.

VON BERNSTORFF NEXT

German Ambassador May Be Sent Back, Too—Air Raid on Riga Fails—French Front Scene of Desperate Battles.

Washington, Sept. 10.—That Austria will recall Dr. Dumba as its Ambassador to this country, following the request which was made yesterday by Secretary of State Lansing, is the belief of officials in this city. This belief is strengthened by a press despatch received by way of Amsterdam, which states that immediately upon the receipt of the United States' request at Vienna, Baron Burian consulted with Emperor Francis Joseph, following which it became known unofficially that the recall would go forth. The impression here is that no successor will be named, but that one of the present attaches of the office will become acting Ambassador.

Relations between the two countries became strained with the sending of the suggestion that Mr. Dumba was no longer desired as the Austrian representative, because of his admitted efforts to bring about labor troubles in munitions factories. In the event of the failure to recall the Ambassador, it is predicted that this government will summarily hand him his passports. This was clearly indicated today by the State Department. The next phase of the matter to be taken up will be the connection of Captain Von Papen, military attache of the German embassy, with the matter.

Prompt action is expected from Vienna. The request for Dumba's retirement is already in the Austrian Foreign Office's hands. An answer within forty-eight hours, because of the probability that Austria will respond quickly to prevent a more grievious rupture, was looked for.

Today the State Department had passports prepared for Dr. Dumba, to be forwarded to him as soon as his Government's plan is known. He will not visit the State Department again, and is not expected to revisit Washington.

The news of the Administration's request regarding Dumba created a furore in diplomatic circles when it was announced last night. The possibility was suggested that a similar issue would be raised with Berlin on account of the use by one of the officials of the Kaiser's embassy of the services of the American correspondent, J. F. J. Archibald, as a messenger for official documents for that country as well as Austria.

If Austria should support Dr. Dumba by insisting that it was not only his right but his duty to warn Austrian subjects against continuing work in American war supply plants, a crisis will be reached. In such a case diplomatic negotiations thrashing out the old dispute with Austria over the "dual citizenship" question, or summary severance of relations between the two countries, would result.

Petrograd, Sept. 10.—The German aero squadron, consisting of six Zeppelins and several aeroplanes, attacked Riga, Wednesday night, the Admiralty announced today, but was driven off before it inflicted any serious damage. One of the Zeppelins is believed to have been badly damaged, as it was able to fly only slowly when the squadron withdrew. Two aeroplanes dropped bombs upon Vilna, Wednesday afternoon, wounding several civilians.

Paris, Sept. 10.—The French war statement of today says:

"Last night saw an artillery battle around Arras, before Roye and on the Champagne front. In the Argonne, in the sector of La Harazee, there were combats with grenades and bombs, as well as rifle firing from trench to trench without interruption. Our batteries were effective.

"In the Vosges the enemy yesterday attacked our positions from Lingekopf to Barrenkopf, using asphyxiating shells. At Schratzmaennele one of the trenches of our first line had to be evacuated, following the throwing of burning liquid. One of our counter attacks enabled us to regain the greater part of the lost ground and to maintain our positions ten yards from that portion of the trench, which had not been recaptured. On the rest of this front our positions were fully maintained.

"Late yesterday the Germans attacked our trenches on the summit of Hartmannsweilerqopf, gaining a foothold. During the night we regained the lost trenches. Our aviators bombarded the mines and batteries in the forest of Nonnebruck, and the station of Lutterbach. Thirty shells were thrown on the railway station at

Here are the medium and large hats in sailor effects, they are rivalled in beauty only by the oblong turbans and tricorni. The styles are simple and this simplicity is accentuated by the meagreness of trimmings. The new hats are exceedingly smart and becoming—even more so than in previous seasons.

We are showing them in untrimmed, ready-to-wear and trimmed hats. Our low prices are a notable feature for we are known throughout Plainfield for the wonderful values in fashionable millinery.

Mrs. Thomas Taylor Cotnam, a "southern woman of the real south," as she calls herself, is now working heart and soul for the cause of woman suffrage in New York.

Born in Virginia and for many years a resident of Texas, this ardent suffragist has lived for more than twenty years in Little Rock, Ark. All her life she has been prominently identified with club work and the woman movement. For three years she was president of the Aesthetic club, the oldest and largest woman's club in Little Rock, and she is a charter member of the Political Equality league of Little Rock, organized in 1911. She is now president of the league.

MRS. THOMAS TAYLOR COTNAM.

She is the only woman who has ever spoken before the Arkansas legislature, and it is said to be due to her eloquence and her persuasive speech before the house Feb. 3, the night the woman suffrage amendment was before it for consideration, that many members changed their minds. In consequence the bill passed—51 to 18.

According to the Arkansas constitution, only three amendments may be submitted to popular vote at one time, and as there are three others ahead of the woman suffrage bill, the women will be obliged to wait until 1917 to get their measure before the people. While matters are thus pending in their own state Mrs. Cotnam, Mrs. Alice Sankey Ellington, president of the Arkansas State Political Equality league, and Miss Gertrude Watkins of the Political Equality league of Little Rock are assisting the eastern campaign.

K. G. E. PLAN FOR ANNUAL SESSION

Sixty-five Subordinate Castles Will Assemble at Trenton, September 20.

Knights of the Golden Eagle from the sixty-five subordinate castles of New Jersey will assemble at Trenton on Monday, September 20, for the thirty-second annual session of the Grand Castle of New Jersey. The session will be held in K. G. E. Hall, Ribsam building, beginning at 10 a. m. Grand Chief John D. F. Morgan, of Camden, will preside, with Grand Master of Records A. L. Clark, of Trenton, in charge of the clerical end of the proceedings.

The session is likely to prove the most interesting for several years. Plans looking to a more rapid growth of the order in this State will be presented, the subject having been under consideration for some time.

The annual election of officers will be held. Several desirable posts become vacant at this time.

Grand High Priest, Horatio Clayton, of Spring Lake, and Grand Keeper of Exchequer Samuel S. Wyckoff, of Trenton, having completed five years of service in those positions, become eligible to the Past Grand Chief's degree and membership in the Supreme Castle. From the present outlook the contests for these offices will be as lively as was the case five years ago.

For the post of grand high priest, David Sutphin, of Trenton; Arthur G. White, of Farmingdale, and John L. Dewis, of Asbury Park, have already announced themselves as candidates, while the aspirants for the grand keeper of exchequer's post to date are P. H. Bennett, of Plainfield, and Ernest Trueman, of Trenton.

The present grand vice-chief, Fred P. Cook, of Point Pleasant, will be elevated to the past of grand chief without opposition, and the same procedure will be followed in raising Grand Sir Herald Percy W. Owen, of Bridgeton, to the office of grand vice-chief. For the position of grand sir herald, which is the first of the "line" offices, Past Chief William H. Bergantz, of Washington Castle, No. 3, of Camden, has announced himself a candidate, with the upper part of the State to hear from.

The Finances.

The annual report of the grand master of records shows a total membership in the State on June 30 last of 7,384, and his financial statement of the subordinate castles is as follows: Total receipts, $81,251.91; total relief expenditures, $29,855.14; paid out for sundry purposes, $40,014.80; paid out for investments, $12,288.79; on hand June 30, 1915, $23,090.06; invested, $110,682.16; total fund of castles reporting, $133,772.22.

Since the organization of the order in this State it has disbursed for sickness and death, including benefits paid by the funeral benefit fund, over $788,000, covering a period of twenty-nine years.

The Grand Temple of the Ladies of the Golden Eagle, of New Jersey, will convene at the same time in another hall of the Ribsam building. A special feature connected with the session will be a temple of instruction that evening, in charge of Laurel Temple, No. 3, of Trenton. The installation work will be taken care of by Palmyra Temple, No. 11, of Palmyra.

The Supreme Castle of the order will convene in October, 1916, at Atlantic City. A reunion of the members of that body is being arranged, however, to be held at Atlantic City on October 9 of the present year.

ICE CREAM FESTIVAL.

The Women's Relief Corps ice cream festival will be held in Reform Hall tonight, instead of Fairview and Watchung avenues. The change was deemed advisable because of the uncertainty of the weather.

SHORTAGE OF MATERIALS STOPS STREET IMPROVEMENT

Work of graveling the upper end of Watchung avenue has ceased temporarily because Borough Street Commissioner Uhrhahn has run out of gravel, and the sewer trenches, from which his supply came are not giving forth that kind of material just at present.

The sewer contractor is working in a part of the borough where there is no gravel thrown out of the trenches, but when he gets back on Grove street or starts work on upper Somerset street, where the earth strata is composed of a different material there will be gravel again and the work on Watchung avenue will be resumed. The sewer contractor is waiting for cool weather before attacking upper Somerset street, where the digging will be hard, and it will be necessary to complete the job as soon as possible so as not to obstruct traffic very long.

The borough street commissioner is also having some of his men cut the high grass bordering the roads in an attempt to eliminate the mosquito pest.

DO NOT HANKER FOR WAR

are trying to force the country into war. The actual sentiment, however, forms a vivid contrast to this rumored aim for not a single one of the 4,000 men enrolled in the training camp are advocates of the 'Peace at any cost' slogan.

"Then again, there are some who have taken it upon themselves to declare that the Plattsburg experiment is a slap at the National Guard. Contrarily, however, every man at Plattsburg is urgently entreated to join the National Guard of his State upon his return, in the event that he is not already a member. As a matter of fact the 1,400 men in the camp had among them a large number of individuals already enrolled in the National Guard and these men were remarkably active in all that went on. They came there to get instruction along specific lines and no one will prove more sincere in lauding the camp than these persons. My tent mate, the principal of a school in Kingston, N. Y., was a National Guard member and he proved himself the best man behind a machinery gun in the encampment. Out of fifty shots he held a record of forty-nine bulls-eyes and was also proficient in all other lines.

"The opportunity to gain this form of instruction at a place like Plattsburg is one of a life-time. It is one that every young man should take advantage of and it is one that every employer can well afford to allow his employe time off to participate in. The experiment has not cost the United States government a single cent. The equipment is loaned to the soldier and the $7 bond he provides in addition to the tuition fee to insure the safe delivery of the outfit back to the government, is returned immediately after he has fulfilled his portion of the contract.

"Some idea of just what work is entailed in making a soldier out of the raw recruit has been gained by the citizens who attended the camp. A good soldier cannot be made in less than two years, but these business and professional men at Plattsburg all of whom are a little above the average United States army recruit in intelligence, are received as officers and the instruction they are put through makes them well qualified to take up a gun and enlist in this country's service whenever called upon. Each man supplies the government with his home address and his telephone number and is prepared at any time to answer a call to arms.

"The rudimentary points of warfare and the modern principles of skirmishing are taught in a thorough manner by personal experiences, lectures, examples and squad tutoring. The fact that the enlisted men do not shirk at hard work, that they are bubbling over with enthusiasm concerning their work, and that they heartily encourage the establishment of an annual camp, indicates that the project has passed its experimental stages and is well on the road to permanency."

During Mr. Frost's three weeks' stay at Plattsburg he took part in a battle every day but two, having been assigned to ambulance duty on one occasion and being in the reserve squad on the second, his company having earned this latter privilege by virtue of the hard work it performed on the preceding afternoon. He was a member of the army that left Plattsburg on a nine-day hiking trip on August 27. Every day they were away the men took part in at least one battle. Some idea of the strenuousness of these attacks may be gained from the fact that one engagement started at 7 o'clock in the morning and when the men concluded their skirmishing for nourishment it was 2:30 that afternoon. After fighting their battles the men were so exhausted that numerous cases of fainting and like ills had to be treated. Mr. Frost was so exhausted after one fight that he sank to the ground in a faint upon arriving at the camp. The men were forced to scale high fences, work their way through veritable jungles, wade through streets, climb hills, lower themselves into gorges, and in one battle Mr. Frost remembers vividly his one-mile crawl over a marshy ground on his stomach. In some places the underbrush was so thick that one could not see an arm's length in front of him.

On the hikes the campers carried their own medical corps, watering wagons, heavy artillery and like equipment, always a part of the marching order of an army on the battlefield. During the first part of the stay at Plattsburg many of the tenderfeet became well nigh discouraged, but constant pressure under hardened instructors soon overcame this feature and by the time they were ready to break camp all of the men were "as fit as a fiddle."

Arising at 4:30 every morning the men partook of the usual army rations cooked in Uncle Sam's military kitchens. The food was the kind that has made the United States army culinary department famous, being fresh, wholesome and nourishing. After breakfast and prior to the noon-hour the men were put through a stiff course of army manoeuvres, including open formation work, the latter feature being one point that was particularly prominent in the instruction work. Contrary to the general belief, the United States army plan of warfare does not consist of close formation work on the battlefield. The soldier is taught to abandon the time-honored parade tactics. He hears no command, for none is given. Instead he is guided by a whistle or hand motion from a superior officer. The squad is divided up so that in some instances not more than four men can be located within an area of twenty-five feet. All of the soldiers are in the command of corporals and they all have their little work to do.

"The primary feature of the drilling and manoeuvring," said Mr. Frost, "is to teach the soldier the psychological principle of saving his command's lives. His idea of fighting is not founded on the principle of slaughter, but he is drilled to save his fellow countrymen from the ravages of the enemy. One soldier assists another and this unit work accomplishes far more than the slam-bang conflict in the long run."

At Plattsburg the men are divided into squads of eight, seven of whom divide the luggage up between them on hikes and in moving from place to place. The eighth man carries nothing but the ram-rods, but it is his place to act as a relief and to assist the other seven men in carrying equipment whenever called upon. One interesting feature of instruction work which Mr. Frost regrets missing is a night battle. One was planned but two hours before the time set for it to start it was found that the men were in such an exhausted condition as the result of the hard work of the day before, that it was abandoned.

In the afternoon the men were given their choice of participating in cavalry drills or attending the various schools of classified instruction. One of the most popular divisions was the engineering branch. In this men were taught to build up and tear down bridges on a scientific plan and to map out projects that would prove of material value in trapping the enemy or eluding pursuers. So proficient did the engineering corps become that it finally succeeded in erecting a fifty-foot bridge in less than three hours.

Exhaustive work on the ranges was also a part of the daily routine. Each morning the campers were given between forty and fifty rounds of ammunition. "When a man fires fifty rounds of ammunition," added Mr. Frost in the tone of one who had been a sufferer from sore shoulders, "he is doing a pretty strenuous day's work, so you see the officers were liberal with their ammunition. We had practice on the range from 300 to 1,200 yards and each shot we took was carefully aimed. All of the men came away far better sharpshooters than they were when they enlisted." Springfield rifles are used and the entire equipment is of the latest and most approved type.

Mr. Frost was one of those at Plattsburg who squatted in the circle about Colonel Theodore Roosevelt when the latter made his speech on "Preparedness" two weeks ago. The Plainfielder was within ten feet of the former President and has a clear recollection of the utterances of "T. R." which were given such wide publicity and such a critical survey the next day. Numerous other forceful speakers appeared at the afternoon and evening meetings, this part of the routine being profitable as an educator.

TURNER STILL STARRING.

Cleveland Veteran Continues to Put Up Grand Game.

Of all the veterans in baseball these days there is not a single one who is more capable than Terry Turner, who is playing a remarkable game at third base for Cleveland these days. Turner is just as good a ball player today as he was years ago when he was rated as the most brilliant shortstop in the American league.

The veteran has lost none of his ability after years of service. He still is a brilliant fielder, a dangerous hitter and a wide awake ball player.

There is no position on the infield, barring perhaps first base, that Turner cannot fill in a most satisfactory manner. Turner has been with the Cleveland club for fourteen seasons, and he still is one of the stars of the game, though handicapped for many years by being on a losing aggregation.

GOLFERS LONG TIME MEETING

Vardon and Ray Friends Today—Took Years to Bring Them Together.

Harry Vardon and Eddie Ray, England's star golfers, were born on the island of Jersey seven years apart, Vardon in 1870 and Ray in 1877; played golf from the time they were mere kids, but did not meet until both had become professionals.

As boys they used homemade and homely sticks, but they served their purpose. Ray's first club was fashioned by his father. Vardon cut his from a stick out of the hedge, which made a natural driver.

Ray worked as a caddy for a number of years, his first position as a professional being at St. Mile. He then played at Guernsey, at Jersey, at Winchester and finally at Sandwich, where he won his first championship in 1899. This was his first appearance in an open championship. His partner at Sandwich was Vardon, who had previously won the open championship in 1896 and 1897.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Larry Doyle, Captain of the Giants.

Lawrence Doyle, captain of the New York Giants, is one of the heavy sluggers of the National league. Early in the season Larry did not do so well with the bat, but in the last month very few fair ones have evaded his eagle eye. With the exception of Merkle, Larry is the only one of Mc Graw's players who is handling the club with any great success. Larry was born in Caseville, Ill., twenty-nine years ago and joined the Giants in the midseason of 1907. He came from the Three Eye league. At the start his work was poor, but McGraw stuck to him on account of his batting, and the next year he came to the front with a rush. Since then Doyle has been one of the foremost batters of the big league. He played third base in the Three Eye league, but since joining the Giants has held down second base.

San Francisco Wants Boxing.

The business men of San Francisco—that is, a great many of them—have finally come to a realization of the fact that the boxing game was a great thing for that city in a business way, bringing thousands of country people and also other visitors into the city during the winter months. A prominent merchant of that city was at Milwaukee recently and stated plainly that an effort would be made again by the business men to revive the sport, but on a different plan than heretofore. "There is a feeling among the merchants," said the Frisco business man, "to try to bring the boxing game back, but under up to date methods. We do not want the ten round no decision game, but contests of, say fifteen rounds, with a referee's decision and under the auspices of a strong commission, the same as is in vogue in Wisconsin and New York."

Yale's Football Plans.

Aleck Wilson, captain of the Yale eleven, has announced plans for the gridiron campaign of 1915. A squad of 125 players will report on Yale field Sept. 20 and will get ten days of aggressive football before the formal season opens. Yale's coaching staff as finally selected by Wilson will be headed by Frank Hinkey. Billy Bull will direct the back field work. Nate Wheeler and Percy Cornish, coaches last year, will again be on the resident staff, as will Red Brann, end last year. Ted Driscoll and Pat Osborn will be on the resident squad as lieutenants. Heffelfinger will be at New Haven for a week or two, and Johnny Kilpatrick, Jack Field, Guy Hutchinson and Ned Glass will make a couple of visits a week to the field. Nelson Talbott, captain last year, will be with the squad all the fall as line coach.

Greatest Golf Shots.

Some one has opened a discussion as to the best shots played by the American big three of golf—Travers, Ouimet and Evans, says Grantland Rice.

They might be ranged as follows: Travers, driving iron and putting; Ouimet, brassie through the green and putting; Evans, mashie shot up to the hole.

Travers is the best man with the driving iron in the world. Ouimet is far and away the best amateur at handling a brassie for a long shot to the green. Evans is exceptionally good with both wood and iron, but the one shot where he rises above all other American amateurs is in the use of his mashie.

Mack Hopeful For Next Season.

While the managers of the Red Sox, the Tigers and the White Sox are hustling and scheming in the hope of taking part in this year's world's series, Connie Mack is doing a little quiet work on his own account. He says that if he can get just two more players whom he can turn into first class pitchers 1916 will find the Athletics again in the race for the American league bunting.

Tris Speaker's Rival.

Tris Speaker has a rival in going back and catching a fly ball. He is Happy Felsch, White Sox outfielder. Speaker has more experience and is a trifle faster than the White Sox rookie.

Because it has had some use, and is, therefore, "second-hand," may not greatly impair its usefulness to you. So watch the "For Sale" ads.

GETTING READY FOR McFARLAND-GIBBONS BATTLE ON SEPT. 11

Converting Brighton Beach Motordrome into arena for McFarland-Gibbons battle; Packey McFarland at his training camp.

The participants, the arena and the sporting public will soon be all in readiness for the big battle which is to be pulled off between Packey McFarland and Mike Gibbons at the Brighton Beach Motordrome on Sept. 11. The $32,000 purse is the largest sum of money for which fighters of the McFarland-Gibbons class have ever contended. And the interest of fight fans is quite equal to the size of the purse. William G. Marshall, the promoter of the bout, is not worrying about the financial results of the venture. It is estimated that over 50,000 fans will travel down to Brighton Beach to witness the ten-round scrap.

Among sport fans there is much speculation as to whether McFarland will attempt to win by a knockout. He usually wins his fight by outpointing his man. There's a chance in this battle, however, that if Mike Gibbons hurts McFarland he'll start Packey swinging the K. O.

3:30 p. m.—Doubles: Maurice E. McLoughlin and Thomas C. Bundy vs. Karl H. Behr and Theodore Roosevelt Pell.

Special trains will leave Pennsylvania Terminal: 11:50 a. m.; 12:30, 12:47, 1:10, 1:24, 1:54, 2:06, 2:25, 2:45 and 3:00 p. m. On Saturday afternoon the Southampton express will stop at Forest Hills station at 4:58 p. m. for east bound passengers. The Far Rockaway train will stop at 4:57 p. m.

Lawn tennis champions and those of the top rank who narrowly missed taking the national titles observed a truce yesterday, although they visited the courts at Forest Hill, L. I., and all spent a portion of the afternoon looking over their weapons in preparation for the Pacific Coast and Eastern States team matches which will begin this afternoon on the West Side Club courts. Williams, as the captain of the Eastern States forces, is to have another opportunity to check William M. Johnston, the recent winner of the All Comers' crown.

Officials of the West Side Tennis Club were kept more or less busy telling inquirers that the Pacific Coast-Eastern series of matches of four singles and two doubles is not connected in any way with the All-Comers' event. No seats are to be reserved for the special intersectional matches, which will be in the nature of an anticlimax to the season. As the draw for the contests stands, the outcome may seriously affect the ranking of the men engaged, for they are the most famous in the country.

According to the views advanced by followers of the game yesterday at Forest Hills, on the showing that the men have made in the All-Comers' at Southampton, at Newport, and at Seabright, the position of No. 1 is accorded to Johnston, with Williams at No. 2 and McLoughlin dropped down to No. 3 or 4, as some favored placing Behr ahead of the Californian.

All arrangements have been made for the staging of the metropolitan junior championship tournament on the West Side Tennis Club clay courts, beginning Monday. The entry list promises to be considerably over 100, as the age limit is set at 18 years.

RENEW BASEBALL KICK LODGED FIFTY YEARS AGO

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 10.—Protests against an umpire's decision made fifty years ago were made here at the reunion and general good time of the Florence Eagle baseball nine, which performed a half century ago.

The reunion was held at the home of former Mayor John B. O'Donnell, on Round Hill. During the evening's entertainment the majority of the speakers talked about the umpire's decision, which robbed their club of a silver ball.

FITZ NOT PRESENT AT SALE OF FARM

Former World's Champion Pugilist Loses His Dunellen Property.

Dunellen, Sept. 10.—The farm of Robert Fitzsimmons, the former champion pugilist of the world, at Dunellen, was sold under foreclosure proceedings yesterday by Sheriff Edward F. Houghton. The sale was on an execution held by Cornelius See, a Chicago lawyer, who took part in the divorce proceedings instituted by Julia Gifford, the third wife of Fitzsimmons.

There are several other executions against the Fitzsimmons farm of fifty acres, including one held by Joseph Hendricks, of Atlantic City; another by Tomo Flonimax Fitzsimmons, his fourth wife, and Charles T. Cowenhoven, a New Brunswick lawyer. The decree and costs amounted to $400. The farm was sold to Joseph Hendricks for $100. He will have to pay all the executions.

Fitzsimmons was not present at the sale. The pugilist had from time to time succeeded in having the sale postponed since August 18 last, the date of the first sale. He had expected to get possession of the $80,000 worth of jewelry which had been owned by a former wife, and which Fitzsimmons declared was in possession of his last wife.

LOCAL HORSES TO RACE IN ASSOCIATION EVENTS

The matinee meeting of the New Jersey Road Horse Association, to which two Plainfielders, Adam Blair and Dr. H. E. Winters, belong, scheduled for this Saturday, bids fair to be a record breaker for the season. A field of thirty-eight horses is expected to start in the various events on the program.

Included in the entries in the 2.25 class is "Kid Kelly," Adam Blair's new steed, while in the 2.20 trot and pace to carts, mile heats, three in five, the "Baron," owned by Dr. H. E. Winters, of this city, is a favorite. Competing against the local horses are some of the best in the State, including Bincetta, in the 2.25, and Nettie Patch, in the 2.20.

ROD AND REEL

At the Black Warrior wreck, big catches of blackfish have been made. The Rickmers wreck, just off shore near Jones' Inlet, is still one of the good places for blackfish. The small boats are getting quantities of big blackfish and sea bass, as well as large sea porgies. The sea bass are getting scarcer every day, however.

Some nice messes of croakers are being picked up on the Long Branch Pier right along. One local angler was down with a friend on Monday and brought in seventeen croakers, as well as two kingfish.

That funny fellow scoop is on the classified page.

RACE FOR SECOND PLACE TO BE KEEN

Saurers, Tabs and Clintons Hot on Trail of the Honor.

Despite the fact that the Netherwoods have already cinched the City League flag and cannot be either passed or tied interest in the race has not waned one bit. In fact, enthusiasm is unusually high for this time of the year and the battle for second place will be a hot one between the Tabs, Saurers and Clinton Avenues.

While the Tabs just now are in a bad slump, Jimmy Monahan believes that a little shaking up will set them back on their feet. The all round loose fielding and weak hitting of the club has taken all the merit away from the brilliant pitching the hurlers have been doing.

WRONG BALLS USED; MARTIN PROTESTS

Saurer Manager Promises to Provide Entertainment at Tonight's Meeting.

There will be a City League meeting in the Daily Press office tonight. The session was originally scheduled for Monday, but owing to the fact that Labor Day fell on that date it was postponed. It is expected that a large crowd will be present at this gathering inasmuch as considerable discussion is looked for.

One fact that is sure to make things lively this evening is the announcement that Britt Martin, manager of the Saurers, has decided to protest the game between the Saurers and Baptists played Monday afternoon. According to the league constitution only Spaulding baseballs may be used in the league competitions. It is claimed by Martin that Spaulding balls were not used Monday. A make known as the D. & M. were presented by the Baptists and it is said that the game was played without argument. Frank Stires, who purchases the balls for the Baptists, declares that he was unable to get Spaulding balls and secured the other make instead. He also claims that the D. & M. balls are made by the Spaulding people.

The game was played and the Baptists won 7 to 5. Now the shopmen are going to dispute the victory.

According to a report Warry McLaughlin will be on hand to fling against the Tabs on Avon Oval tomorrow.

BILL SWANSON LEADS TRI-COUNTY BATTERS

Joe Harter Signs With New Team—Clinton is the Mound Star.

Bill Swanson, the former Somerville Central New Jersey Leaguer, leads the Hackettstown, Tri-County League team in batting, with a .278 average.

Jimmy Clinton, another former Somerville man, and once star flinger of the Plainfield Pets, closely trails Bill, with an average of .273.

The Hackettstown team is the one managed by Dave Driscoll and is composed of former Plainfield Pets. Jimmy Clinton is hurling splendid ball for the "Hacks." Joe Harter, another former Pet, and star of the Bushwicks, has signed with the Branchville Independents.

RUNYON, A P. H. S. SOPH, WANTS TO ENTER COLLEGE

Ralph Runyon, one of the State's best pole vaulters, will enter Penn State this month if his present plans materialize. The local lad is at present a student at P. H. S. and has been one of the best athletes in that institution for some time. His ability to branch out into almost any kind of athletic sports has marked him as a profitable investment for any college or other educational institution. It is known that several colleges have held out offers to him solely, perhaps, because of the honors he carries with him. One of the titles he bears is that of junior metropolitan vaulting champion and he has defeated many men of the senior class.

Should Runyon decide to enter Penn State it would be necessary for him to cast off the yoke of the Pastime A. C. and assume that of his college. Then, too, his athletic endeavors would be mainly confined to collegiate circles.

GIBBONS PICKED TO WHIP M'FARLAND

Packey McFarland and Mike Gibbons, undoubtedly the two cleverest ring men of the present generation, will box ten no-decision rounds tomorrow night at the Brighton Beach Motordrome, Coney Island, and the whole boxing world is awaiting the result.

They have been at odds' ends over the weight proposition the past three years, or ever since they were first approached upon the idea of meeting. Gibbons lately graduated from the welterweight class into the middleweight, although he can still make the welterweight poundage.

McFarland has posed as a lightweight for several years, but there has ever been a suspicion that he cannot make the 133 pounds required of legitimate leightweights. However, they are matched to box at 147 pounds ringside and at the unprecedented purse of $32,500.

Opinion is divided as to the winner. McFarland is generally considered the more skillful boxer, but Gibbons the harder hitter. They might box ten fast rounds and give the crowd a treat of high-class boxing skill, and then again if they resort to careful and deliberate boxing which would result in a slow and uninteresting exhibition, very few would be disappointed. Both are regarded as marvels and it is to be expected that neither will take any unnecessary risks, especially when no championship is at stake. They will simply box ten rounds and take down the biggest purse ever offered for a ten-round bout.

Compared physically Gibbons has the advantage in height and reach. He is two inches taller than McFarland and his reach is three inches longer. He is smaller, however, about the body, particularly the chest and waist. Their measurements:

Gibbons—Height, 5 feet 9 inches; weight, 147; reach, 72 inches; forearm, 10 inches; biceps, 12½ inches; chest (normal), 36¾ inches; chest (expanded), 38¼ inches; ankle, 7 inches; calf, 13⅝ inches; thigh, 19 inches; wrist, 6½ inches; waist, 29½ inches.

McFarland—Height, 5 feet 7 inches; weight, 147; reach, 69 inches; forearm, 9¾ inches; biceps, 13 inches; chest (normal), 39 inches; chest (expanded), 42 inches; ankle, 8 inches; calf, 13½ inches; thigh, 19½ inches; wrist, 7¼ inches; waist, 33 inches.

Ringside weight stipulated in articles of agreement.

It is not generally known, and the average fan would doubtless dispute it, but the record books will prove that Packey McFarland has knocked out more men than Mike Gibbons. He has knocked out more men than any boxer except Joe Gans. In actual numbers, Gans put more men to sleep than did McFarland, but figuring it on a percentage basis, Packey's record is better than Gans and far superior to Gibbons'. This declaration may astonish many fans, but the record books will verify the figures.

Gans fought approximately 154 fights. In fifty-four of these he dropped his opponent for the full ten seconds count, which gave him a "batting average" of .324.

McFarland has fought 118 fights to date. He has scored sixty-seven knockouts. The percentage is .568.

Gibbons has engaged in a total of seventy-eight battles and has knocked out twenty-five men. His average is .320. It should be noted, however, that McFarland has four more years in the boxing game, although in years, Gibbons is the older by four months.

SPAULDING, VETERAN BASEBALL MAN, DEAD

One of the Nation's Greatest Promoters of the Pastime Died Last Night.

Arthur Goodwill Spaulding, the veteran sporting goods man, died at San Diego, Cal., last night, after a lingering illness. While of late most prominent in the sporting goods realm, he attained the greater part of his fame as a baseball player. At seventeen he broke into amateur ball circles and rose rapidly. He gained national fame as a pitcher and was first signed by the Boston Nationals. This was in 1871 and until 1875 he was the Hub captain and mainstay in the box. Late in 1875 he received an offer to manage the Chicago club and accepted. He remained as manager of the team until 1891, but his sporting goods business which he, with a brother and a brother-in-law, had established in 1876, demanded more attention and he gradually lost active interest in the game.

Mr. Spaulding's last real baseball venture was his management of the Chicago and All-American world touring outfits, which made the trip around the globe in 1888 and 1889.

Although his death occurred in San Diego, Mr. Spalding has been for some time a resident of Point Loma, Cal. He was 65 years of age. The death of this prominent baseball man has quite a local connection. The pennant awards which will be made to the Netherwood City League champions in the near future will be presented by the Spaulding concern.

BLUE AND RED MEET AT MARTIN'S MOUNTAIN.

FRONT VIEW OF TELEPHONE HEADQUARTERS, SHOWING CAMP SWITCHBOARD AND TELEPHONE LINE CONSTRUCTED BY SIGNAL BATTALION, REACHING ALL PARTS OF THE ENCAMPMENT.

"The Battle of Martin's Mountain!" sounds warlike enough to suggest a page ripped from a history of the Civil War—makes you think of the acrid fumes of burning powder, the concussion of bursting shells, the hoarse shouts of men locked in the throes of a mighty conflict, the zip—zip—zip of bullets flying overhead—makes you think of Bull Run and all the other little arguments that Old Glory has passed through—makes you think of—

What's that you said? "There were no bullets at Martin's Mountain?" True enough, but neither were there telephones at Bull Run, and you'll have to admit that that little fact affords sufficient excuse for mentioning both battles in the same breath, and, incidentally, for our story.

Thus does W. E. Johnson in The Telephone Review, New York, introduce a graphic description of maneuvers at the summer encampment of the New York National Guard at Fishkill Plains. Of the camp itself he says:

A great khaki-hued city sprang up mushroom-like over night. It had its systems of water supply, of sanitation, of policing, and of telephonic communication, the latter built, maintained, and operated by the First Battalion, Signal Corps, National Guard, New York.

Radiating from telephone headquarters in the center of the camp were telephone lines that stretched out in every direction, connecting up every unit of the camp force, facilitating its management, and making it possible to attend to the multitude of camp duties with a minimum expenditure of time and effort.

Public telephones were installed, too, enabling the citizen soldiers to communicate with their homes and offices, and thus making possible the attendance at the camp of many who could not neglect their affairs.

Just as the sun was peeping over the mountains and rolling the morning mists up the slopes, the radio station up in the hills at Blue Army Headquarters picked a message out of the ether:

"Red Force—all arms—reached Beacon last night."

The great feature for each detachment of troops during its stay in camp was a mimic battle between divisions known as the "Red" and "Blue" armies, and this was a sign that the battle would soon be on.

An orderly jumped to grasp the written interpretation of the dots and dashes that the wireless antennae had pulled from the air, and shouted the few short words into a field telephone.

The shrill notes of a bugle split the morning air and awakened myriad echoes in the surrounding hills, brought men tumbling from their tents, rubbing the sleep from their eyes and buckling on their equipment in anticipation of a hurried departure.

There was a lively scene at Headquarters. Officers were galloping up and holding impatient mounts in check while they leaned from the saddle to catch hurried commands. Orderlies were arriving with messages and hastening away with others. Close by a soldier lay prone on the ground, shouting orders into a telephone transmitter. Others were pounding out messages in telegraphic code on the combination telephone and telegraph instrument that the signal man carries. On an adjacent hilltop a soldier was silhouetted against the morning sky, a signal flag in either hand wig-wagging to some unseen unit of the Blue fighting force off in the distance. From a field off to the right, an aeroplane took to the air like some great, lumbering bird, and was off into the south to search out the enemy's line of advance, to estimate his numbers, and to send this all-important detail back by wireless to the field station where the telephone would probably relay the message to headquarters.

The Signal Corps, with its system of communication, was at work issuing the orders that would mold this great mass of men of all arms of the service into one well oiled and smoothly working fighting machine.

At Martin's Mountain.

The driver who had brought us to the summit of Martin's Mountain, the great pile of rock that was, if the Blue Army had its way, to mark the high tide of the Red invasion, pointed below to the south.

"There they are now, the advance guard of the Blue Army." There was just a mere pall of dust hanging over the road in the distance at first, and then minute specks that we knew to be the vanguard of the Blue forces appeared making for the base of the mountain on which we stood.

In a minute squad upon squad, company upon company, unfolded itself before our eyes. They arrived at the foot of the mountain, and little units began to detach themselves from the main body and travel westward, as outposts, in the direction from which the enemy was expected to advance. A wagon also detached itself and made for the west. Behind it rode a man on horseback with what appeared to be a lance in his hand. "That's the Signal Corps reel cart laying telephone and telegraph wire," I was informed. "They're going to connect the outposts with Headquarters; that'll be up here on top of the mountain. Look down there now and you'll see another reel cart coming up laying wire on the way. That man riding behind with the pike lays the wire at the side of the road, and conceals it in the bushes as much as possible as he rides."

We rode down the mountain and found a man lying in the road. We thought he had fallen from the effects of the heat until we chanced to hear him call out, "Hello, C, do you get me all right?" He was testing the telephone line that even then the Signal Corps was in process of laying.

Leaving the proposed line of trenches at the foot of the hill behind, we followed across country in the path of a reel cart that had gone on west to connect up the outposts. They had ridden hard, and when we came up the officer in command said to us:

"We're up pretty close to the Red outposts now, and we can expect to get in touch with them at any moment."

He stopped suddenly to adjust his field glasses and train them on the hills that formed the western wall of the valley.

"There they are now—one of their outposts up in the hills." He offered the glasses for our use, but for a full minute we could see nothing. Then there was a succession of flashes of varying lengths from the hillside.

"The heliograph," the officer remarked. "They probably saw us come in here and they're sending word back to their headquarters that they're in touch with our outposts. We'll have to do the same thing."

He walked to a horse that was standing nearby, detached what appeared to be a small brown medicine case from the saddle, opened it, unwound a long black cord with a heavy sharp-toothed metal clamp at the end, and after a few swift adjustments had a head receiver clamped to his ear and was shouting into the transmitter of a field telephone:

"Red army outposts on first range of hills west of turnpike. Position of Blue outposts probably known."

There was something that bordered on the uncanny and the mysterious about talking over this slender-looking thread of black wire that stretched along the ground and disappeared in the bushes behind, and we were instilled with even greater respect than ever for the little instrument that made it possible for the commander of the Blue fighting machine to know just where his enemy was within thirty-odd seconds after one little unit of his great army obtained the information.

Leaving the section of Signal Corps men behind, we walked back to the mountain. To right and to left as far as the eye could reach ran two long lines of trenches filled with men quietly resting on their arms. Up on the hill a battery of artillery lay masked by the trees and bushes. Further up the hill a field radio station reared its antennae into the air. To the left, and walled about by protecting hillsides, was the field hospital and field ambulance corps. Closer to the firing line, but under the wall of the mountain, the ammunition train lay ready to supply food for the guns.

And between all these points, all these arms of the service and headquarters, there ran a network of telephone lines. The plans for the reception of the invaders were complete.

Suddenly a Signal Corps man down at the right held the telephone receiver closer to his ear and listened intently; he scribbled hurriedly on a piece of paper. Another soldier grasped the message and bending low under the screen of bushes, to prevent observation by the enemy, rushed off in the direction of headquarters. The enemy was coming.

A moment later a detachment from the cavalry outpost could be seen coming across the plain, in company with the Signal Corps reel cart, which was rewinding the telephone wire that had brought the news of the enemy's approach.

Off in the distance a number of dots appeared for a moment and disappeared in the woods on the other side. Then, suddenly, from a hundred different points along the line came the general advance. Enemy troops were pouring out of the woods on to the plain below.

But while hundreds of eyes watched the advance, not a head showed above a trench top, not a sound revealed the watchers.

Nothing indicated that a whole division of the Blue Field Army lay watching and waiting. Yet all the time that the enemy was advancing across the open country to the west, certain slender black threads of wire running here and there about the slope and up through the trees above, were alive with the messages from the front to the master mind beyond the brow of the hill. Soon those same black threads of wire would bring back from Headquarters the word that the defending troops were waiting for, "Fire!"

On came the attackers, firing at every pause. Men in the trenches looked back to their officers appealingly, as if begging for the word that would enable them to train their guns on the horde in full view below.

Suddenly, "Fire!" came the command.

Almost as one shot the volley rang out from one end of the line to the other and turned the peace and quiet of the hillside into one great inferno.

Just back of the line, in the topmost branches of a great pine, an officer was seated, telephone receiver clamped to his ear. In his hands he held a pair of field glasses. He shouted something into the transmitter that was unintelligible to us above the din of rifle fire. Back over the hill the battery of field guns elevated their gray muzzles to the range indicated by the officer in the tree. There was a moment's pause, and then—bang!—the ground shook under the discharge.

The artillery was raking the left of the advancing line with its fire, yet not one of the guns peeped over the brow of the hill, not one of the gun crew had seen the enemy or what he was firing at; that part was left to the officer in the tree-top and his telephone.

The other telephone lines that formed the defensive position's system of communication were busy too. Hurried messages were being shouted into transmitters at various points along the line. Some were directed to the ambulance corps. Other messages went up and over the hill to keep the officer in charge of the supply trains in touch with the demand for ammunition in the trenches below; others carried orders to different parts of the line, directing and controlling the fire of the men behind the guns.

Under the heavy fire from the trenches bodies of the attacking troops could now be seen in retreat in several places along the line, but the main body continued to advance. The fire was so great that it seemed like the heavy and repeated crashes of artillery, and then, just when the way seemed clear for the last desperate dash up the slope—"Bang!" All along the front great quantities of earth and stone were lifted high into the air and when the pall of heavy white smoke lifted the attackers could be seen in retreat down the hill.

The defenders had exploded their ground mines.

• • • • • • •

The battle of Martin's Mountain was over.

Five thousand troops, grimy, tired, and sore, were on their way back to camp. The hillside was deserted except for the several detachments of Signal Corps men who were engaged at various points on the field in rewinding the telephone line that had been put to such good use during the day.

First on the field in the morning, last off the field at night, the telephone had truly performed for these men of war on the same plane of efficiency that it performs for men of business every day in the year.

SUDDENLY THE "BLUES" EXPLODED THEIR MINES AND THE EARTH UPHEAVED.

MAYOR CALKINS HAS SUPPLIED THE DATA

Elizabeth Mayor Will Probably Act According to Policy Suggested.

In response to a communication received from Mayor Mravlag, of Elizabeth, Mayor Leighton Calkins, of this city, has returned a lengthy letter citing the conditions under which the Pillar of Fire cult appeared in this city and the results of their so-called religious revival meetings. Despite the refusal of the Elizabeth Mayor to grant the Holy Jumpers, as they are commonly known, a permit to conduct street meetings in that city, members of the cult appeared there Wednesday night and conducted a service. Mayor Mravlag, in a statement yesterday, said that he had communicated with Plainfield officials relative to the matter, but had received no reply. Just what delayed the answer submitted by Mayor Calkins on Tuesday is not known, and in order not be placed in the wrong light, the local official has again communicated with Mayor Mravlag.

Saturday night Lieutenant Maurice Higgins, of the local police department, was given instructions to move the revivalists from their stand on the westerly side of Park avenue, on Second street to the easterly side. This was done as an experiment, a number of merchants and local citizens having complained that the Jumpers blocked traffic at their former stand. The revivalists obeyed the order under protest, and for some unknown reason they failed to appear for their usual Sunday night meeting.

The Elizabeth Mayor stated yesterday that the first intimation of trouble would result in the arrest of the Pillars in that city. His words indicated that he did not propose to trifle with the cult and was not going to be subjected to any such annoyance as was caused in Plainfield.

ITALIAN RESERVISTS LEAVE TO JOIN ARMY

Fifteen Italians employed by John Mobus, of the borough, on a grading job on the estate of William Campbell, of Watchung, left him this morning as reservists to join the Italian army and go to war. In requesting their release the Italians showed Mr. Mobus letters from the Italian consul in New York ordering them, as Italian subjects, to return to their home country to fight.

FUNERAL OF JOS. LACOSTA TO BE HELD TOMORROW

The funeral of Jos. Lacosta, of Watchung road, Watchung, who died occurred in the hospital, yesterday morning following his removal to that institution in the result of a blood clot in the brain, in an effort to Elizabeth will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the home of his brother-in-law, Joseph Iannucci, of Sidney avenue, the borough. Interment will take place in St. Mary's cemetery.

Following the death of the man the body was removed to the mortuary parlors of J. J. & C. A. Higgins of West Fourth street, where Dr. W. H. Long, of Somerville, viewed the remains and granted a burial permit. Although suffering from shock, Mrs. Lacosta is resting comfortbaly today. She received wounds in her left shoulder, which were dressed by Dr. P. J. Zeglio, of Somerset street.

JUST A GENTLE REMINDER THAT JOHN DOE IS ALIVE

Despite the fact that his cult could not furnish even an inkling of information concerning the identity of the parties they wished to have apprehended, Arthur Wilson, representing the Pillar of Fire, called on Judge DeMeza at police headquarters this morning and asked whether or not his John Doe warrants had been served by the police. When the city magistrate referred him to Acting Chief John J. Flynn it was found that the latter had gone to Newark to bring back a prisoner, and the fact that the ones he would have arrested were not locked up at headquarters appeared to peeve the Holy Jumper considerably.

Inasmuch as no description of the ones wanted by the religious organization was supplied to the police it has been impossible to locate the guilty parties, and unless something more definite is given out it is likely that the matter will be allowed to rest where it now stands.

MISS SANDERSON ILL.

Because of illness in her family, Miss Ruth Sanderson, of Waltham, Mass., will be unable to begin her duties as physical director at the local Y. W. C. A. this fall. Plans at present are indefinite as far as a new director is concerned. Miss Sanderson was chosen early last spring by the board of directors of the association to fill the vacancy caused by the resigned of Miss Elizabeth Wetherell, who secured a position with the University of Syracuse.

HACK ZONE HEARING NOT SEPTEMBER 21

Councilman Hylan Explains Reason for Not Wanting it at That Time.

Because the Common Council failed to take up the petition of some West End citizens at its September meeting Tuesday night, relative to the extension of the western boundary of the hacking zone, certain individuals have become greatly perturbed and have enlisted the sympathy of the East and West End Civic Associations. Just what action the East End body might take in a matter concerning the opposite section of the town is a matter of conjecture, but the West End organization has already sent out notices calling for a public hearing to be held by the Public Affairs Committee of the Common Council on the evening of September 21.

Chairman Thomas Hylan, of the Councilmanic Public Affairs Committee, in a statement this morning, however, says that such a hearing on this date is out of the question as the Council will hold a hearing on the Joint Sewer proposition on that date. He suggests September 16 as a likely date and assures the citizens interested the support of his committee.

NARROWLY ESCAPES BEING CRUSHED BY B. & O. FLYER

A young woman, who gave her name as Mary Walde, of 61 West Sixtieth street, Brooklyn, N. Y., narrowly escaped death beneath the wheels of a B. and O. flyer, at the North Avenue station at 2:30 this afternoon. The young woman, accompanied by an elderly man, arrived too late to board the express, which was slowly pulling out of the station.

The man seemed to be in a great hurry, and urged the young woman to board the moving train. In an effort to do so she fell head foremost under the trucks of a Pullman, but the woman was dragged out of harm's way by her companion. Her hat remained on the track, just a fraction of an inch from the wheels of the Pullman.

LOCAL PLAYERS WILL APPEAR IN THE FINALS

Two local racquet wielders, "Phil" and "Lud" Van Deventer, have earned the right to appear in the Ilderan tournament finals, competing against Lindsay Dunham and Harold Throckmorton. In the Ilderan event last night they defeated Kirkland and Stockton, 7—0, 6—4, 8—6 and 6—4. By virtue of their last night's victory the locals have to settle the finals with Throckmorton, who was recently eliminated in the national tournament, and Lindsay Dunham another schoolboy star.

Ludlow Van Deventer, the older of the two brothers, will compete in the coming Westfield tourney, and is booked to buck up against George M. Church, the intercollegiate wonder who has among his collection of scalps that of R. Norris Williams, 2d, is a college mate of Van Deventer's at Princeton. Both play on the college tennis team.

Matinee—Adults, 10c; children, 5c; Evening—15c and 25c.

Inasmuch as the Astor is the only theatre in Plainfield showing Broadway Feature attractions every day, we believe a few remarks about our program will not go amiss.

We believe there are a great many persons living in Plainfield and the vicinity that do not realize that the U. S. Astor is presenting daily a program of photoplays the same as shown in Broadway's biggest and best theatres including the Strand and the Broadway Theatre, New York, together with many other well known playhouses.

There have never been presented in Plainfield at any time a class of pictures that we are showing daily.

The Paramount pictures are without question considered and are the best feature attractions on the market.

We show all of these pictures.

In addition the select productions from the Vitagraph, Lubin, Selig and Essanay Companies. In addition to this all of the releases of the Metro Corporation.

These three great companies are the oldest and best in the producing game.

We are showing these pictures at a very low price of admission, compared with what is asked in other large cities.

When you see Paramount Pictures for 10c and 15c it is about one half of what is charged for the same pictures in New York.

When we offer a Vitagraph production on Monday and Tuesday of each week at 15c and 25c in the evening, you are seeing a picture that is shown in the Vitagraph Theatre, New York, at 25c to $1.00.

We mention the above facts for the reason that there are still a great many people in Plainfield who do not know that such pictures are being presented.

If you have not as yet become a patron of the U. S. Astor, pay us a visit, we are sure our program will please all.

PRESIDENT WILL LAY CORNER STONE

Feature of G. A. R. Encampment to Be Held in Washington Next Month.

Washington, D. C., September 10—President Wilson has accepted the invitation of the Grand Army of the Republic to lay the corner-stone of the new amphitheatre in Arlington National Cemetery, across the Potomac River from Washington, during encampment week. The ceremony will take place on Thursday, September 30, the day following the grand review of the veterans. The members of the encampment, by which is meant the business organization of the Grand Army, will attend the corner-stone laying in a body and assist the President in the exercises.

One of the features in connection with the Grand Army Encampment, in which the Woman's Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R., as well as their allied organizations, will have the leading part, will be the planting of two trees, one on each side of the boulevard leading to the Lincoln Memorial in Potomac Park. In the planting of the trees the first spadeful of earth will be turned by David J. Palmer, the commander-in-chief of the Grand Army, while Mrs. Sarah E. Fulton, the president of the Woman's Relief Corps, will perform a similar service in the planting of the second tree.

In view of the fact that many of the veterans who will desire to participate in the grand review are crippled and infirm, it has been decided to allow those who are physically unable to walk to occupy automobiles and other vehicles in the line of March.

Of the twenty-nine survivors of the Union Light Brigade, of Ohio, which acted as President Lincoln's mounted escort from December, 1863, until his assassination, ten have signified their intention of attending the forthcoming reunion, and an effort is being made to bring here as many more as are able to come. The only surviving commissioned officer of the brigade is G. C. Ashburn, now president of the Board of School Commissioners, of Cleveland, O., who expects to be here.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The Grand Opera sparks flew up into the air last evening at Proctor's Theatre, and "The New Impressario," a most novel act, was more than well received by the audiences that gathered to hear this exceptional music. Not since the Proctor house was opened as a vaudeville theatre several seasons ago, has such a unique act been produced here. A strong cast of fifteen people present this act.

The Woods Musical Trio, instrumentalists, were also well received, their selections being exceptionally well rendered. Grace LeMar, who has appeared at the local house upon several previous occasions, came in for her portion of the applause, her "strap-hangers'" song taking the house by storm.

Photo-plays are still prominent on the programs of the Proctor Theatre. For today, "Bold Emmett, Ireland's Martyr," a Lubin masterpiece featuring Sidney Olcott and Valentine Grant, is to be shown, and will be supplemented with an episode of "The Romance of Elaine." Tomorrow, "The Girl of the Gypsy Camp" is on the schedule, while the Pathe News, which is a daily feature, will also be shown. The program for next week will be announced tomorrow.

ENGLANDS PROBLEM.

England today is facing a crisis that will have much to do with the final outcome of the European struggle. A recent declaration that men would be conscripted into the army and navy was immediately followed by a public meeting of the British trades unions in which the working men defied the government. They will not be forced into military service, they say. The situation is threatening.

An English workingman must either be disloyal to his country or disloyal to the organization that has given him steady work at good wages for years. Many have already deserted the trades unions and are at the front but those that are left are numerous enough to worry parliament and the crown.

It is difficult for one of another country to understand the mental attitude of these British subjects who refuse to volunteer for military service when they know that their country is fighting for existence and needs every man who is able to carry a gun, but there must be something radically wrong with the government when such a potent factor in its citizenship as the working men refuse to listen to its call for aid.

Their welfare depends first upon the prosperity and freedom of their country and then upon their individual freedom as citizens. If England falls they fall with her, but if the Teutonic dream of conquest is shattered internal difficulties may be amicably settled by a grateful government.

Whatever may be the outcome the struggle is second in interest in this country only to the war of the nations.

THE CZAR AS LEADER.

The most important announcement that has come out of Russia since the beginning of the German drive on Warsaw is that of the retirement of Grand Duke Nicholas to a subordinate position and the personal appearance of Czar Nicholas in command of the armies of Russia.

Grand Duke Nicholas has been the idol of soldiers and peasants alike since the outbreak of the war. He is universally feared and hated by the autocrats and universally loved by the great masses of Russian people. He has long been the real ruler of Russia.

If this move upon the part of the Czar was made with the consent of Grand Duke Nicholas it means that the military genius has acknowledged the defeat of the Russian armies, unless they are encouraged to superhuman deeds by the presence of "The Little Father" in the field. It means that Russia has nothing left to fall back upon but the traditional reverence that is supposed to exist for the heriditary ruler of the nation.

There is a remote possibility that the Grand Duke has been relieved because of recent German successes. The weak and jealous Czar may have permitted enemies of Grand Duke Nicholas to bring about his humiliation. Should this be true the Russian army is making its last stand and the Czar will be fortunate if all his future enemies are aliens.

LEGAL OBSTACLES REMOVED.

Through an opinion handed down by the attorney general's department of the State all technical clouds have been removed from the vote on the equal suffrage amendment on October 19th and the issue is now squarely before the voters of the State.

The objection that the registration of that date would make a vote on the suffrage question invalid has been declared groundless and those who are opposing the demands of women that they have a voice in the affairs of New Jersey may prepare to fight it out before the ballots are cast.

No man can offer an excuse for failure to vote on this important issue by the statement that "the result wouldn't count, anyway." If he wants to class his mother, sisters, wife and daughters with the insane, the idiots and the criminal of the State he can simply mark his ballot "No." If he believes women are as capable of controlling conditions in which they must work and live as men, he will mark his ballot "Yes."

Henry Ford is going to put all of the discharged criminals of Michigan to work. As a reward for this noble act we'll bet it isn't a week until some alleged humorist suggests that they are the only kind of men who can make Ford cars with a clear conscience.

After having collected a fund of really believable explanations for wet hair, Young America must now turn his ingenuity to forged excuses and altered report cards.

Of course Texas is equal to the task, but why not "sic" Georgia onto Mexico and then civilization could give its undivided attention to the world's series.

The U boat that torpedoed the Arabic has been reported destroyed again. The English are evidentally determined to sink as many of it as it did of them.

German who swore he saw guns on the Lusitania gets one year and a half in Atlanta Federal prison. He will see stranger things than that in Georgia.

The Czar has taken personal charge of the Russian armies. He probably figures they are headed for the safest place in the country.

Our Unjust Laws

He came and took two hours of my time,
Worth good, legitimate, cold cash to me—
He did not ask me for a jit, or dime,
But yet he seemed to think my time was free.
I wished to have him jailed for what he took,
And sought a lawyer's office for advice.
That lawyer didn't even hunt a book,
But said I'd merely lost that two hours' price.

That night I took a jimmy and broke in
To that man's store, and lifted what I thought
Was the equivalent of what had been Stolen from me—I still believe I ought
To have resorted to this only scheme
For getting hep. But I was promptly nailed
By cops who had observed my flashlight's gleam,
And here I am, disgraced for life and jailed!

What justice is there in such bally laws
That champion thus the time-thief's crooked cause?

The Stale Story Lad

He hears a story about eleven years after it has become stale.

That wouldn't be so bad, if he didn't insist on telling it to you.

Also, and still worse, he insists that it happened to him.

He begins to tell you about it, and in the first sentence, which he punctuates with uncontrollable anticipatory laughter, you recognize the hoary yarn.

The horrid thought comes over you that at the end of it he will expect you to be surprised and burst out in involuntary cacchination.

You are anxious to have the ordeal over, and you get ready to laugh wildly.

He gets mixed on the story and goes back and repeats slowly, trying to remember the point.

Then he throws in a three-page parenthetical phrase explaining why he forgot the point.

By the time he gets to the awful end, you couldn't laugh heartily if your life depended upon it.

And then he thinks you failed to laugh because you didn't see the point, so he explains it to you.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Iodine The Ideal Antiseptic

PEROXIDE, bichloride of mercury, carbolic acid, boric acid, listerine, and various other popular antiseptic agents have their drawbacks. Either they are poisonous in themselves, or they are too weakly antiseptic in practical use, or they actually irritate or injure the tender young tissue cells and so delay healing.

Iodine has come to be the standard disinfectant for the skin and fresh wounds. While iodine does not absolutely sterilize the uninjured skin—that is, it does not destroy all the bacteria present on or in the skin—still it most nearly accomplishes that purpose. In practice it is found to be the most desirable disinfectant for the skin.

The tincture of iodine, official in the United States Pharmacopoeia, is rather too strong; it should be reduced with alcohol, one part tincture to two parts alcohol. The British Pharmacopoeial tincture is weaker and suitable for use without diluting.

Before operation the standard preparation of the skin is now summed up in the mere swabbing on of iodine, the skin being not washed for twelve hours before the iodine is applied. Water causes skin cells to swell and obstruct small spaces between glands of the skin where germs may lurk beyond the penetration of the iodine.

Every family medicine cupboard should have a glass-stoppered amber bottle of tincture of iodine, diluted with alcohol as above suggested. It should be resorted to as a dependable antiseptic for every wound, no matter how trifling or deep the wound may be. Just be sure that the iodine reaches every nook and corner of the wound. Then do nothing more but protect the wound from any further contamination. If a mere cut or scratch, paint it with flexible collodion; if a larger wound, apply sterilized gauze, or freshly baked muslin or linen, without touching your fingers to the cloth that is to come in contact with the wound. Avoid salves, cotton and court plaster on fresh wounds; these things encourage infection.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ear Drums, Factory Style

Are ear drums injurious in any way? I mean the kind sold for those who have perforated drums from inflammation. Do they help deafness?

Answer — Dangerous experiment. Better leave it to a competent ear specialist who has examined you. If a light plug of cotton in the ear canal improves hearing, an artificial drum might do so; otherwise not.

Miss W. R. explodes thusly: I've had a beautiful case of acne for two years, and I am just sick of having the old gossips squawk—"Oh! what is the matter with your face?!!!" Please send me all the help you can in the inclosed self-addressed envelope.

Answer—One consolation for an elderly maiden is the fact that she has outgrown her pimples. We are coming to the rescue by return mail.

Anaemia

Is a person very anaemic when the blood test is eighty? Would that condition cause weak spells? Is anaemia a cause or effect? Would catarrh of the bowels cause it?

Answer—In health the hemoglobin percentage is from ninety to one hundred. Eighty per cent. hemoglobin is only a moderate anaemia. (2) Not of itself alone. (3) Usually anaemia is an effect. Find the cause and don't rely upon mere blood tonics. (4) Catarrh of the bowels is vague; digestive trouble might cause anaemia.

THE PINE TREE

NEXT to the horse the pine tree has been the most faithful friend of man.

Other friends are fickle. The oats curl up and die in the early June sun. The corn flourishes mightily and wilts under the September frost like a geranium on a cold night. The wheat receives the chinch bug joyfully to its bosom and lets man struggle through the winter on credit. But the pine tree stands at attention through the centuries, waiting for man to come along with a two-ended saw and make it into houses, telegraph poles, fumed oak furniture and ten thousand other conveniences of civilization.

This nation has housed 100,000,000 people in the last century, but it couldn't have done it without the pine tree. When the Pilgrims landed they were met by Indians, mosquitos, chilblains and pine trees and only the latter did them any good. The pioneer built his home of pine logs and when the husky young western city desired to become a metropolis in ten years it built a railroad to the nearest pine forest and let the carpenters do the rest.

However the pine tree is now overdoing the friendly business. It is spoiling us like the fond parent. We are a pine nation, whereas we should be a brick and stone nation. We build our hotels of pine and discover after the defective flue has gotten in its deadly work with pain that the occupants were not covered by insurance. We build our schools of pine and hunt for our children over two counties after the summer cyclone has passed. We build whole cities of pine and ten years afterward they look like the paintless ruins of an architect's disordered dream.

The pine tree has served its day. Like the horse, it is becoming an extravagance. We use pine now, because we are lazy and in a hurry. But America is already completed and it doesn't need to be in a hurry any longer. The government should protect the pine tree with a leak-proof, air-tight injunction and use it for scenery while we get busy with the brick yards and stone quarries and concrete mills and build our nation over so that a lighted match will not cause a shudder to run convulsively through a hundred insurance companies.

The Government should protect the pine tree and use it for scenery

Mount Lassen

MOUNT LASSEN, the only real, dyed-in-the-wool, active volcano in the United States, recently celebrated its one-hundredth eruption. For a long period, this California mountain was distinguished for its quiet and exemplary behavior. About a year ago it sprang upon a startled world a long and rapid succession of violent eruptions. It is still decidedly energetic, and nobody is willing to predict how long its activity is going to last.

Not quite so hot as some other volcanoes is Mount Lassen. It has not yet thrown out molten rocks, though the rocks in its vicinity are exceedingly warm. But our only volcano had a sensational feature all its own. Prior to May, 1914, part of it was covered by a glacier, varying in length from 7,500 to 10,000 feet. That glacier is no more. The intense heat melted it and sent an unbelievable quantity of mud, rocks and water down the slopes and into the valley. The velocity of the flood was sufficiently great to roll rocks ten feet in diameter, according to a writer in Engineering News. The great steam holes found in the mountain indicate that the eruptions are caused by water, but just where this water comes from, no one knows.

Americans have not followed the popular Italian idea of building villages at the bases of volcanoes, so Mount Lassen's eccentricities, while not exactly pleasant, have not had very serious consequences. The fiery mountain has been a most interesting subject of study to geologists. The questions, Why and what is a volcano? have not yet been answered with precision, though many learned and plausible theories have been advanced. American scientific investigators are persevering and resourceful, and perhaps the presence of a regular volcano so close at hand will enable them to make important discoveries.—Rochester Democrat.

People's Legal Friend

BY R. R. BRANSON

Real Estate Conveyances

Q. Where could I get a book treating thoroughly the subject of "Real Estate Conveyances"?

A. Unless one is a lawyer, or is well grounded in legal principles, he cannot be expected to understand all the intricacies of real estate law and conveyancing. There are a number of standard text-books on the subject of "Real Property" and on the subject of "Conveyancing," but most of these works are for practitioners and presuppose a general and fundamental legal knowledge. A book that would attempt to teach a layman all there is to be known on these subjects would be apt to be misleading and might supply him with a great deal of misinformation. If you think you can master a practitioner's work on these subjects, ask your lawyer to loan you an authoritative work.

The Amateur Sherlock Holmes

Q. Suppose a person had copied the serial numbers from bank currency for reference. Later, this bill was stolen. Would the knowledge of the number of the bill be a positive identification of it?

A. The question would be merely a matter of proof.

A Bank Stamp Not An Indorsement

Q. Why are bank stamps on United States money orders not regarded as indorsements?

A. All such matters come within the jurisdiction of the United States government and are properly the subject of regulation in the postal service.

District Attorney's Fees

Q. The district attorney in our county receives a salary. Why is he permitted to charge for legal advice given our township officials? Explanation greatly appreciated.

A. Consult your statutes and see what are the rights and duties of a district attorney and to what fees he is entitled.

The Pen. For Forgery

Q. Would it be forgery to change the name of the indorsée in a special indorsement? What is the penalty for forgery?

A. Where an instrument contains a restrictive indorsement—that is, specifically designating the indorsée—such indorsée has the right to receive the money thereon, or he may in turn indorse. If another person alters the name of such specific indorsée, with intent to defraud, and receives payment on the instrument, he will be guilty of forgery. Forgery is a penitentiary offense.

Use Of Names In A Contract

Q. Isn't it necessary, when a contract is made in writing, to put in the names of the parties? Will the contract have any effect, if the names are omitted?

A. Although the names of the parties should have been inserted, still the agreement may be good as a verbal contract. If it is of such a nature, in view of all the circumstances, as to constitute a good contract, and if it is an agreement which the law does not require to be in writing, it may be enforced as a verbal contract.

Proving A Will

Q. Why is a will spoken of as "being admitted to probate" or "not being admitted to probate"? Why is it necessary to probate a will?

A. The probate of a will is the proof made before a court of competent jurisdiction that the instrument in question is the last will and testament of the person who is alleged to have executed it. Such proof must be adduced, and the will must be "admitted to probate," before it will become effective as a legal disposition of property.

The Life Line

BY LAURA KIRKMAN

The Rich Man Who Wears Old Clothes

"See the man in that automobile?" our friend points out to us. "Well, that's young Gregg, the railroad king's son." We stare. "Nonsense!" we exclaim, "not that tramp!" But it is. "He always goes around like that, here, in the summer time," our friend tells us. "You see, he's so rich, he can afford to; everybody knows he doesn't have to." Doesn't have to! Then we keep ourselves starched and clean, not because we respect ourselves, but because we're trying to buy others' respect! In fascination we watch young Gregg. We see him stop his machine and jump down before a group of pretty girls. "How can those daintily dressed girls bear to stand talking to a man whose coat is streaked with machine oil and whose trousers haven't seen an iron for weeks?" we marvel. But though they may overlook his disreputable appearance, they don't respect him. Behind his back, they laugh at him. He can't gain the respect of the self-respecting.

He's lying in the gutter.

Current Poetry

A Popular Song "Hit"

Mr. Roosevelt, it appears, is not the only one who has become incensed at the popularity of the now well-known song, "I Didn't Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier." The London Spectator has also entered into the lists, launching parodies at it.

Perhaps the parody will prove more to the taste of our readers, as well as to their feelings upon the subject, than the original. We quote for their benefit:

"I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier,
I brought him up to hate all row and fuss.
But he will put a musket on his shoulder
If other people try to bully us!
The nations ought to arbitrate their quarrels,
It's time to put the sword and gun away,
But they will rue the day
If they make mothers say,
'Well, after all, he's got to be a soldier!'"

The wily Spectator does not stop there, but follows up the attack with a stinging dig at our present political attitude:

"I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier,
I brought him up to know that he is free
To refuse to put a musket on his shoulder,
Or to fight for country, hearth, or home, or me!
If the nations will not arbitrate their quarrels,
My duty I shall none the less fulfil;
Burn and ravish if they will,
They'll find me saying still,
'I didn't raise my boy to be a soldier!'"

We plead guilty to having caught the fever—but have at least directed our trouble into another channel, with, we must admit it, an extreme effort, thus:

"I didn't raise my boy on spanks and licking;
I brought him up on moral, good advice.
Who dares to say my youngster needs a kicking
And who can claim his manners are not nice!
I sang that when the lad was ten—but later
I had good cause to renovate my lay,
When the judge said 'You must pay,
For you know you used to say:
'I didn't raise my boy on spanks and licking.'"

November 2—General Election Day.

Progressives in Essex county failed to file primary petitions for county nominations, despite the list of candidates compiled by the county orgainzation. As a result, the Progressives will have no primary box there. Morris county Progressives wanted a primary box, but Justice Swayze sustained County Clerk Mott in refusing to allow one. The Justice ruled that the Progressives did not poll enough votes in Morris county at the last election to be recognized as a political party within the meaning of the law. The Progressive contention was that as long as one candidate polled more than five per cent. of the total vote, the requirement of the law had been met. The Morris Progressives have now entered candidates in the Republican primaries on a local option platform.

The Kuehnle-Bacharach-Edge combination may back one of the Riddle candidates for an Assembly nomination in Atlantic, against Carlton Godfrey, speaker of the 1915 Assembly. Mr. Godfrey's candidacy for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination is viewed with much disfavor by many in his home county, who regard his ambition as a serious menace to Senator Walter E. Edge's boom. They evidently figure that if Mr. Godfrey can be defeated for renomination as Assemblyman, a quietus will be put upon his Gubernatorial campaign.

Former Congressman William E. Tuttle, Jr., was one of the especially invited guests upon the outing of the John P. Egan Association of Hudson county Wednesday. The other honored guests included a long list of prominent National figures.

While Union county may be honored in the next Legislature by having Assemblyman William N. Runyon chosen speaker, the return of Assemblymen Arthur N. Pierson and Charles L. Morgan to Trenton will also make Union unusually influential in State legislative matters in 1916. The record made by Messrs. Pierson and Morgan in the 1915 Legislature was such as to entitle them to increased recognition in the reorganization of the House. Mr. Morgan as a member of the municipal corporations committee, which successfully handled so much Elizabeth legislation, and Mr. Pierson on the appropriations committee, did work especially valuable to their constituents. Assemblyman Peacock, who was chairman of the municipal corporations committee last winter, will retire from the Lower House thus making it possible that Mr. Morgan will succeed to that position.

The Progressive-Republican primary candidates against Assemblymen Downs and Mutchler in Morris county have challenged the latter to a local option debate. John R. Spargo and William C. Webb are the Progressive-Republican claimants. They had intended to run as Progresives, but the failure of their party to secure a primary recognition in Morris caused them to enter the Republican primaries. In voting against local option, they declared that Messrs. Downs and Mutchler betrayed the people of Morris county.

James B. Furber, former Mayor of Rahway, one of the Progressive Assembly candidates, is one of the principal speakers in the State campaign for woman suffrage. For many months now, Mr. Furber has been speaking several times a week in different parts of New Jersey for votes for women. He is an especially effective talker and is enthusiastic in the cause. When asked to become a candidate for Assemblyman, Mr. Furber declared that "I am more interested in seeing women secure their rights, than in seeking public office for myself."

The "short ballot" will prevail in Union county again next year so far as the county campaign is concerned. There will be no county offices to fill then aside from the usual three Assembly jobs and a coronership. In this respect, the campaign then will be the same as this year's.

The petition of Democratic County Chairman Lucius T. Russell for reelection as a county committeeman from the Eleventh ward, Elizabeth, appears to bear the name of about every Democrat in his district. Judge Abe J. David, who had been suggested as an opposition candidate to Mr. Russell, was one of the first signers.

The district Election Boards of the county have organized and are getting their paraphernalia ready for the first registration day, which will be next Tuesday. By registering then the necessity of getting transfers by those who have moved since the election of 1914 is eliminated. Only by registering then can those who did not vote in Union county last November qualify for participation in the primaries.

The Progressives in Essex county have the other parties guessing. By failing to file primary petitions the Progressives are free to support whatever other candidates they desire or to join in the selection of a citizens' ticket after the primaries. That they will support Commissioner Charles P. Gillen, of the Board of Works, who was rejected by the Democrats, for renomination in Newark, is believed certain.

Of the six State Senators to be elected this year the Democrats concede that Republicans should win in Passaic, Cape May and Burlington. They claim Middlesex, Sussex and Hunterdon. Such a division would be a net gain of two for the Republicans, Cape May and Passaic now having Democratic Senators by virtue solely of the multiplicity of candidates in 1912. In predicting a three to three division, the Democrats admit that the Republicans are sure to retain control of the Upper House.

ENDEAVORERS PLAN FALL ACTIVITIES

Various Societies Are Mobilizing Their Forces for a Busy Year.

September is the "awakening" month for Christian Endeavor. Societies that discontinued their activities for the summer period are now ready for service. The various county organizations are mobilizing their forces and are mapping out tentative programs of work for the ensuing year.

With the convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union only a month off, considerable interest is being aroused, and many of the Endeavorers are already making preparations to attend. This event, which will be held in the Third Presbyterian church, of Elizabeth, October 6-8, 1915, promises to be one of the most successful of State conventions, and coming, as it does, at the very beginning of the season, will undoubtedly be an incentive toward a more effective advancement of the Christian Endeavor movement in our State.

Rev. Elliot Field, of West Hoboken, who is chairman of the convention program committee, has been strenuously at work on the program, and already has it in excellent shape. Mr. Field is arranging for the introduction of several new features which will be decidedly attractive and helpful to the delegates.

Rev. Worth M. Tippy, D. D., the new pastor of the Madison Avenue M. E. church, of New York city, will speak at the convention on Thursday afternoon on the topic, "A Working Program for a Young People's Society." Dr. Tippy was preeminently successful along this particular line in the Epworth Memorial church, of Cleveland, O., his last charge. He has recently published a very suggestive book on this subject.

"Spirituality in Social Service" will be the Rev. Isaac J. Lansing's theme at the Quiet Hour service on Friday morning of the convention. Dr. Lansing was one of the members of the Men and Religion Forward Movement team that toured the country a few years ago. He is an expert on social service and a man of wonderful personality and spirituality.

Professor James Melvin Lee, director of the department of journalism at New York University, will speak on Friday afternoon to the convention on the theme, "Christian Endeavor and the Newspaper." Professor Lee will be especially remembered by the Endeavorers of Union county, for his interesting address at their press rally in March. Mr. Lee, during the past summer, has been teaching journalism at the University of California, and he is acknowledged as an authority on this particular subject. A conference on press methods and plans will follow his address, and the Endeavorers, especially those directly interested in the press work of their society or union, will find this feature of the convention a most profitable one. Mrs. Lee, who is president of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Marble Collegiate church, of New York city, is also expected to attend the convention.

KUIL TUCKER'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Kuil Tucker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tucker, of 218 West Third street, whose death occurred Tuesday, was held from the home of the parents yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Edwin B. Maynard officiated at the service. The interment took place in Hillside cemetery.

She Threw Herself on the Beach.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Mermaid That Longed to Be A Land Child.

"THERE was once a little mermaid who had no brothers or sisters," daddy began.

"Poor child!" the kiddies exclaimed, cuddling closer.

"Over her gleaming white shoulders her beautiful golden hair fell, so curly that even salt waves could not make it look stringy. Her tail was more splendid than a peacock's, for, besides being blue and green, the scales shone in sunlight like plated gold. In fact, she was a princess mermaid.

"When she swam she looked blue like the waves, and when she rested on the beach she took on land colors, green as grass. The hollow between waves was her bed and their fluffy crests her playthings.

"Our little mermaid used to gather pretty seaweeds, all shining wet, and wreathe them in her golden curls."

"Was she very vain?" Jack wanted to know.

"No. But she had no playmates to think of and so thought too much of herself. And now we come very close to the little mermaid's heart—she longed and longed for a brother."

"Why didn't she pray for one?" Evelyn suggested.

"She used to keep so near the beach always, watching for land children, that the beautiful scales on her tail began to grow pale. But when the land children went in bathing where she could reach them their parents always hovered about, frightening her.

"One morning when she was playing in the waves a beautiful child came running down to the sea. He, too, had golden curls, and his garment was of velvet, just like a real prince. Far behind came his nurse, but before she got there he espied the little mermaid.

"'Oh, come out of the waves and play with me!' he shouted. 'I'm lonesome—are you?'

"Now it happens that the only earth call that can change a mermaid into a land child is the call of love. The little mermaid hesitated a moment on the crest of a wave, saw his nurse coming and swiftly made her choice. With a little cry of regret she threw herself on the beach, and when the little prince stooped and took her by both hands her tail faded, changed into two little bare legs in socks; her golden curls over her shoulders turned into a pink linen frock and what were left became a Dutch cut, just like the little prince's."

"Did the little prince take her home with him?" asked Jack.

"Yes. And because he, too, had no brothers and sisters his queen mother kept her. So they played and grew up together, happy ever afterward."

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

"Whatever is the matter?" asked Nell as she burst into the room where Dick sat with his slippered feet on the library table smoking serenely while he read the paper.

"Nothing," he answered easily. "The young man decided that I was to come and lie down with him while he went to sleep, and I had other plans. He's expressing his views on the subject." Dick grinned.

"Dick, we cannot let him cry like that; he'll get all nervously excited and be restless all night." Nell started for the bedroom, and the baby, hearing her voice, redoubled his yelling.

"Here, this is my picnic; remember your promise." Dick caught her hand and drew her onto his knee. "I thought if you had to spend your entire evening putting him to bed you would miss all the fun around the campfire during our outing. The evenings all together are the greatest fun of all."

"Oh, I wouldn't mind; the baby comes first." Nell tried to rise. "I'd far rather miss the camping altogether than have him cry so hard." She was greatly distressed.

"If it was a case of missing something because he really needed you, or even be better off for having you it would be different, but he makes a slave of you and for no good end. He would be better off if he could be undressed and put down to go to sleep quietly by himself. Then when company came in or we wanted to go anywhere you would be free."

"It's not a question of freedom; mothers are never free," answered Nell.

"Not if they willfully chain themselves by allowing such silly habits. We'll have a regular circus for two or three nights and when the young man finds yelling does not accomplish his object he'll save his voice for more profitable employment. See?" Dick smiled into her face.

"Dick, if you knew how hard you are making things for me you would not insist; it makes me so nervous to hear him scream I am all of a tremble."

"I'll go in and stop it, then, or try to." He attempted to rise.

"No, no; don't go! I can quiet him. Let me go," said Nell in a panic. It's half-past eight; he should have been asleep an hour ago."

"He can't hold out much longer; he'll give out." Dick was maddeningly cheerful.

"I don't see how you can sit there and smile when he is in such trouble," she said tearfully.

"His trouble is all of his own making; he might be peacefully sleeping if he were not so determined to carry his point." Dick drew Nell's head down on his shoulder.

"Most of our trouble is of our own making, but that doesn't make it any easier to bear." She put her hands over her ears so she would not hear the frantic crying.

"I believe a slap or two would draw the blood away from his head and be very quieting," said Dick soothingly.

"No, no, it's bad enough as it is; don't make the little chap think he has no one to love him. Poor little fellow! He's so hot, so——"

"Don't be sentimental, Nell," said Dick fretfully. The crying was not so easy for him to bear as he pretended. "There, I think he's reached his limit." The noise was lessening to some extent; in fifteen or twenty minutes more it stopped altogether. Nell heaved a shuddering sigh.

"I feel as if I'd had a fit of sickness." She pressed her hand to her head.

"He cried an hour and a half, it's nine now; tomorrow it will probably be no more than an hour, and the next day half that." Dick was again cheerful.

"If this is to be a continuous performance, I'm going to leave; I shall be in bed with nervous prostration before he has learned his lesson," moaned Nell.

"All right, you leave this to me to work out; it will make it simpler to have only one crying at a time." Dick pinched her cheek.

Household Hints

ANGEL FOOD RECIPES

Angel Food Cake—(Fine if directions are followed)—One and one-half cups granulated sugar sifted five times and set aside, one cup flour sifted five times with one-third teaspoon baking powder in it, and one-half teaspoon cream of tartar (scant), one teaspoon vanilla. Get all ready before commencing to beat the eggs; add pinch salt. Then start to beat whites of ten large or eleven small eggs; beat about half, then add cream of tartar; beat to very stiff froth. Beat or fold in sugar; last fold in lightly the flour, then vanilla, then bake forty-five minutes, slowly at first, then increase heat.

Angel Food—One cup flour, one and one-half cups granulated sugar, one heaping teaspoon cream of tartar, pinch of salt; sift all these together five times. Whites of twelve eggs; beat stiff; flavor with vanilla. Then fold in gradually the mixture of sifted flour, sugar, cream of tartar and salt. Before putting cake in pan, douse pan with cold water. Do not grease. Bake forty-five or fifty minutes. Have oven hot at first, then gradually decrease the heat. Never fails.

THE TABLE

Vegetable Soup—Ten-cent soup bone, two or three potatoes, same of onions, one-half cup barley or rice, celery to suit taste, a little cabbage, carrots and parsnips if you like, one pint tomatoes. Put tomatoes through colander to keep the seeds out.

New Cheese-Rice Dish—Boil a cup of rice in a lot of water until done; add a little salt while boiling, drain when done. Make a white sauce of one tablespoon of butter and the same amount of flour, add one and one-quarter cups of milk, boil until it thickens and free from lumps; add the cheese, about one-half pound more or less can be used to suit the taste; when the cheese is melted add the rice and serve.

Saratoga Chips—Peel good-sized potatoes and slice them evenly as possible. Drop them into ice water. Put a few at a time into a towel and shake to dry the moisture out of them, then drop them into boiling lard. Stir them occasionally, and when of a light brown take them out with a skimmer and they will be crisp and not greasy. Sprinkle salt over them while hot.

Lenox Potatoes—Chop cold boiled potatoes, and to two cups of potatoes add two tablespoons butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with thin cream and bake in a moderate oven until cream is nearly absorbed. Sprinkle with grated cheese and return dish to oven to brown. Serve hot. Onions and potatoes or onions and stale bread prepared in this way are fine.

Apple Croquettes—Measure two cups quartered apples and put into sauce pan with one tablespoon water and two teaspoons butter; cook until tender. Press through sieve and put back into sauce pan with one tablespoon brown sugar, one tablespoon cornstarch and a little salt; beat mixture until smooth, then allow to cool by putting on ice. When mixture is hard, form into croquettes, roll in bread crumbs and beaten egg, then in bread crumbs again, and fry in deep vegetable fat until nice and brown. These are delicious with smoked meats and roasted fowl.

Peach Dainty—Peel and slice in halves six fresh peaches. Break three sprigs of mint into one cup boiling water. Cover closely and let stand till cool. Strain and add one cup sugar. Boil until it threads. Quickly add strained juice of one orange and one lemon and beat all into whites of two eggs. Fill peach halves with this meringue, put together and top each with a walnut.

Raspberry Snowdrifts (or peaches may be used)—Bake any good sponge cake mixture in thin sheets. When cold, cut with a sharp knife into narrow strips about four inches long. Pile these, log-cabin fashion and about four inches high, on as many small plates as there are guests. Heap the centers with whipped cream, slightly sweetened and flavored, and dispose sugared berries (or peaches) about the base. The cream may be garnished with a few cystallized rose petals.

Tea Kisses—Sift together two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt; then rub in one-half cup butter, one cup white sugar, add two eggs well beaten, scant one-third cup sweet milk and one teaspoon lemon flavoring. Drop on buttered tin. Sprinkle with granulated sugar and bake in hot oven.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

THE JITNEY ORDINANCE.

Greater regularity and safety of the jitney service may be expected from the enforcement of the jitney ordinance as finally approved. In the main the requirements are sensible and moderate, and should permit to live such jitney business as will permanently serve the public convenience. It is understood that the bonding requirement will not be a very heavy burden; something of the sort is needed, not only to provide responsibility for accidents, but, even more, to prevent carlessness.

The Board of Works retains the power to approve or disapprove routes and hours of service, and this power is susceptible of abuse if unreasonably exercised. There will be a penalty for change of route or of schedule made without authorization, and the Board will in point of fact possess the power to control the whole organization of the jitney service by withholding its consent to operation except upon routes of its selection.

Moderation and good sense will be required to prevent mistakes of judgment. The right to dominate the jitney routes is a large right. It vitally affects the jitneys, and it concerns intimately the established street railway service. That it must be reasonably used is certain.—Newark Evening News.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Before "Daddy Long-Legs" became a play it was a successful novel with a record of a one hundred thousand copies sale, and before that it was a serial in the Ladies' Home Journal, where probably five million readers enjoyed it. Even before she wrote her quaint story, with its odd title, the author, Miss Jean Webster, had written half a dozen girls' books and achieved success, for Miss Webster had excellent training, having been Mark Twain's secretary and his niece as well. She had absorbed much of the great humorist's methods and style, as well as a definite style of her own.

Miss Webster, visiting at the New England home of her publisher, found a big "daddy long-legs" crawling on the cover of a book in her lap. "There is a cover design ready made for you," said the publisher. From that came the story of "Daddy Long-Legs."

As a serial, the story was a series of letter written by a quaint little orphan, Judy Abbott, who had been taken from a bleak New England foundling asylum by an unknown benefactor and given pretty clothes and money and a standing like richer girls in a big and fashionable girls' college. This play will appear at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow.

TEACHING CORPS IS ANNOUNCED

Everything in Readiness for Re-opening of Borough Schools on Monday.

SCHEDULES ARRANGED

Harrison Avenue Building Will Not Be Ready for Occupancy Until Later in the Month—Enrollment Expected to Be Large.

Monday morning will find the North Plainfield children on their way to school again. Vacation over, they will take up their work for the fall and winter.

Workmen are putting the finishing touches on the alterations in the Somerset School today, and cleaners are following them about putting the various class-rooms in condition for the reception of teachers and pupils Monday. Much rgret is expressed that the Harrison Avenue School will not be ready for occupancy at that time. Owing to unavoidable delays, this building will not be completed for another ten days and in the meantime other arrangements will have to be made by the Borough Board of Education and Supervising Principal Aungst for the accommodation of such pupils as will later attend that school.

For the present, pupils belonging to the Harrison Avenue School will attend on half time. Their hours will be from 8:30 to 12:30, with an intermission. The Somerset School children in Grades 1A, 1B, 2A, 2B, 3 and 4 will recite in the afternoon from 12:30 to 4:30, with an intermission. The authorities claim that this plan is better for the short time it will be used than to go back to last year's plan of part-time classes in the Watchung and Somerset buildings.

The boundary lines of the Harrison building are as follows: Beginning at the borough line on Somerset street, all children residing on the west side as far as Linden avenue, then westward all children on Linden avenue to Sycamore, south on Sycamore to Mercer, west on Mercer to Rockview, and west on Rockview to West End avenue, constitute the eastern and southern boundaries of the Harrison zone.

The east side of Somerset street to Fairview avenue is the west boundary line for the Watchung building. Fairview avenue is the southern line.

The Harrison School children will enter the Somerset building at the north entrances next to Park place.

Somerset Grades 1A, 1B, 2A, 2B, 3 and 4 will enter at the same doors.

Departmental grades and High School pupils will enter at the main door on Somerset street until further notice is given.

There will be no Harrison Avenue School kindergarten until the building is completed. Parents will send their kindergarten children to Watchung and Somerset School buildings, observing the boundary lines in effect before the new school building was erected.

Following is a list of the teachers who will be in charge of the several classes and subjects in the borough schools:

High School (Somerset building)—Principal, Mr. Earley; Miss Barnard, German; Miss Campbell, history, Miss Hodges, French and Latin, Miss Loetzer, commercial; Miss Love, English and biology, Miss Montague, commercial; Miss Mohring, science; Miss Duchesne, English.

SUFRAGE WORKERS PASS THROUGH CITY

Touring the State in the Interest of Votes for Women.

A party of Massachusetts suffragists headed by Mrs. Robert Gould Shaw, chairman of the Equal Franchise Committee, of that city, and including Miss Margaret Foley, Mrs. Susan W. Fitzgerald, president of the Political Equality Union of Massachusetts, and Mrs. Frances Peabody Morgan, passed through this city last night at 6 o'clock, destined for New Brunswick, where a large mass meeting was held at 8 o'clock. Mrs. E. F. Feickert, president of the New Jersey State Woman Suffrage Association, was among the party also.

This morning twenty automobiles, gaily festooned with suffrage colors and filled with Trenton suffragists, met the party at New Brunswick, and escorted them to Trenton, where two meetings were held, one at noon and another this afternoon. This evening a third will be held. Next Tuesday the party will proceed to Paterson and hold both noon and evening meetings there. On Wednesday the visitors will complete their tour with a monster meeting in Newark.

MISS GREENWOOD IS ENGAGED BY Y. W. C. A.

Will Succeed Miss Elizabeth Wetherell as Physical Director of Association.

The board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association has secured Miss Ruth Greenwood, of Wheeling, W. Va., as physical director of the local association, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Elizabeth Wetherell last spring. Although the association had secured Miss Ruth Sanderson, of Waltham, Mass., to take the position in the first place, illness in her family has prevented her accepting the work, consequently Miss Greenwood was engaged.

Miss Greenwood has been engaged in physical work in Wheeling for the past three years and comes to this city with the highest recommendation of those who know her work in the association in that city. In 1913 she pursued the summer course for physical directors at the National Training School in New York city, and the secretarial department speaks in most enthusiastic terms of her ability. She wil probably begin her duties at the East Front street building the first of October.

ELROY GILES MAY HAVE TO SPEND WEEK END IN A CELL

For his failure to appepar in the city police court in response to instructions given him by Patrolman John Fritts, Elroy Giles, of West Fifth street, will probably have to spend the week-end in a city jail cell. At least Judge DeMeza has issued a State warrant for his apprehension and when the police locate him he will be committed.

Giles was arrested yesterday by Fritts on the complaint of Patrolman Joseph Dunlap, who charged the youth with driving his motorcycle at a speed in excess of the speed limit.

TO RESUME SERMON SERIES.

Owing to the vacation season Rev. Dr. Strong, of the First Baptist church, was obliged to make a break in his special series of sermons entitled "Through the Year with Bards and Bible," omitting the July and August discourses. These sermons he will resume tomorrow night and will touch upon the previous two months, though devoting most of the discourse to the current month, and these sermons will be continued through the remainder of the year upon the first Sunday of each month, as heretofore. The discourse tomorrow evening should prove of great interest.

DR. JOHNSON TO PREACH.

The Congregational church will re-open tomorrow morning. Rev. Dr. E. P. Johnson, of New Brunswick, will be in the pulpit, and conduct the communion service immediately following the sermon. The Sabbath school will convene at ten minutes before twelve. The various departments of the church are looking forward to a season of unprecedented activity.

EAST END SCHOOL TO BE ABOLISHED

Removal of Netherwood Reformed Church Building the Cause for Action.

PLAN NEW STRUCTURE

Board of Education Hopes to Purchase Suitable Site for School—Residents Disappointed Over Action of School Authorities.

The Netherwood Reformed church, on Leland avenue, will not be used for public school purposes this year, much to the disappointment of a large number of mothers and fathers of the East End. Through the courtesy of the church people, the Plainfield Board of Education was able to conduct a kindergarten class and a primary class in the church building last year for the children of that section of the city, which plan was a great accommodation to the parents.

Owing to the fact that the old building has been moved from its former location to permit the erection of the new house of worship, and is resting on timbers preparatory to being moved to another place as soon as the new building is ready for use, probably in December, it was thought unwise to go to any expense in fitting up the present church for school purposes for such a short time.

The school authorities have therefore been compelled to arrange for the classes that used the church last year to attend afternoons in the Lincoln School, as was the case before the church was available. The Board of Education had hoped that when the new church edifice was completed in December arrangements could be made whereby the little church building could still be used as a schoolroom until the proposed new public school for the Netherwood section is built.

The Council recently granted the Board of Education money for the purchase of a lot for a new school, and as soon as a suitable location can be found it will be purchased and then plans will be drawn for the new school and arrangements made to build it. There is said to be no prospect of this coming to pass for several months yet, so there is little liklihood of the new school being ready before the opening of the school term next fall.

PREPARING TO ADVERTISE BORO DELINQUENT LIST

Collector Vanderhoef, of the borough, is preparing to have the list of delinquent taxpayers for 1913 advertised, and the copy is in the hands of the printers. Tuesday, October 12, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, is the date set for the sale. The list has been reduced from about 150 to about 60. The long period that has elpapsed since the list was first made up and the time selected for advertising the same on account of the illness and death of the former collector, and the publicity given the matter, have resulted in many of the bills being paid.

Kline, of Watchung avenue, was brought before Judge DeMeza in the city police court, this morning, and instructed to separate from his wife and pay $2 a week to the overseer of the poor toward her support. In passing sentence Judge DeMeza outlined the evils of excesive indulgence in intoxicants to Kline and culminated his reprimand by placing the offender on the "black list" in Plainfield and the borough.

Eighteen new members were elected, making the total membership thirty-eight. Three new workers were added to each voting district.

BORO TAX RATE WILL BE HIGHER

Installation of Sewer System is Responsible for the Additional Expense.

INCREASE IN VALUES

Anticipated Improvements Are Expected to Net North Plainfield Large Surplus in Revenue—The County Rate is .595.

Borough property owners are wondering what the tax rate this fall will be. Last year's rate was $2.36 on a hundred. This fall the rate will probably be a little higher, but the big boost will come next year, it is said, when the tax rate is likely to jump up 25 points.

The cause of this upward tendency, of course, is the installation of the borough sewer system with its attendant expenses. Sewer bonds will have to be paid off year by year, and a large sum in interest on unredeemed bonds will have to be met in April and October of each year for many years to come. Borough property owners need not expect a lower tax rate than they have been enjoying, but with the installation of the sewer system and the higher standard the borough will acquire through having these improvements, property values are expected to rise so high that they will more than offset any tax rate that may be levied.

The Somerset county tax rate for 1915 was fixed by the County Tax Board this week. The rate is .595, which is .043 higher than last year, when it was .552. The State school tax will be .266, of .004 above last year. This increase is made necessary to raise the additional budget fixed by the Board of Freeholders. The valuations in the county have been increased $875,000 this year.

Somerville's tax rate will be higher this year than last. It will be $2.246 on a hundred against $2.21 last year. Somerville's taxable valuations this year are $4,820,130 as against $4,707,117 last year, an increase of $113,013.

MRS. HELEN H. GREELEY WILL BISCUSS SUFFRAGE

Mrs. Helen Hoy Greeley, one of the most popular out-of-door speakers in the suffrage ranks, will address the gathering at the corner of Madison avenue and Front street tonight, under the auspices of the Plainfield Branch of the New Jersey Equal Suffrage Association. Mrs. Greeley is not unknown to the local public, having appeared here a number of times in the interest of the ballot for women. She presents her points in a logical, forceful and original way that holds her audience in rapt attention. The meeting tonight will start promptly at 8:15.

THE "COMMUNITY PICNIC" AT PLAINFIELD AIRDOME

The big "Community Picnic" of Fanwood township and borough, held at Scotch Plains on August 11, will be reviewed in moving pictures at the Plainfield Airdome Garden on Monday evening. If rainy on Wednesday evening. A specially fine view of Governor Fielder delivering the main address of the day is shown. Among the prominent Plainfielders who are shown in the film are United States Senator James E. Martine, Assemblyman W. N. Runyon and Fire Chief Doane.

The people who composed the large crowd will have a chance to see themselves in two panoramas. A fine picture of the cup winners is shown. In the group Charles Walpole, winner of the Plainfield Daily Press trophy, is seen admiring the prize. The girls' quarter mile run and the fat men's race provide a comedy element, and the film as a whole will prove most interesting. It was taken under the direction of Rutgers Neilson, who presents the picture.

BELIEF BIKE THIEF IS WEAK MENTALLY

William Morris Remanded to Await Examination by City Physician.

In order to give the police department an opportunity to inquire into his mental condition, City Judge William G. DeMeza in court this morning accepted a plea of not guilty in the case of William Morris, of 1250 George street, alias Charles Williams, who is accused of stealing a bicycle belonging to Paul Meeker, of Grant avenue, and remanded the youth to a cell until Monday morning in default of $300 bail.

Since his apprehension by the Newark police and commitment to the local jail by Acting Chief John J. Flynn, Morris has shown signs of insanity and appears to take little interest in his case. Fear that he might commit suicide was entertained yesterday and last night a careful watch was kept over him. He is twenty-six years old and is lame, having been shot in the hip by a detective while riding a blind baggage in the State of Omaha last year. The wheel was returned to Meeker this morning.

ADMITTED SPEEDING CAR; LET GO WITH A $10 FINE

Pleading guilty to a charge of driving his automobile through South avenue at a thirty-mile-an-hour clip Thursday afternoon drew leniency from the court in the case of Edward Lawson, an Allenhurst chauffeur, when he was arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning, and he was let off with a $10 fine.

Lawson was arrested by Motor Vehicle Inspector Harry Shedd, of Roselle, and Patrolman Martin Welsh and was liberated under $25 to appear this morning.

BERNSTORFF IN SECOND DENIAL

Did Not Use Archibald Because He Feared Detection.

WILSON TO BE FIRM

Abusing of Diplomatic Privileges Must End—Germany May Be Asked to Recall Military Attaches—Berlin Uneasy Over Dumba Case.

New York, Sept. 11—An emphatic denial was made today by Count von Bernstorff that he had used or attempted to use James J. Archibald, the American, as a message bearer to Berlin. Count von Bernstorff said:

"In view of the repeated assertions by several newspapers that I sent messages to my government by Mr. Archibald, I wish to state that I never gave Mr. Archibald a single paper or anything else. I thought I made this plain in Washington, but I feel a repitition is now needed. I did not attempt to use Mr. Archibald as a messenger chiefly because I did not think it safe, and he certainly did not prove safe."

Washington, Sept. 11—Firm and prompt action is to be taken by the United States Government in all cases where Teutonic diplomatic agents are found to be abusing their diplomatic privileges, and also in the submarine issue. The demand for the recall of Dr. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, is to be followed by prosecution of others for attempting to disrupt the American munitions industry. It is predicted that when the State Department has examined copies of documents taken by the British authorities from James F. J. Archibald that a demand will be made that Germany recall Captain Franz von Papen, military attache of the German embassy, and that at least two men will be prosecuted on charges of conspiracy.

The President is also determined to deal with a firm hand with Germany regarding the submarine issue. It is reported from Berlin that another note on the submarine issue has been handed to Mr. Gerard, the American ambassador, for transmission to Washington. That such a note has been sent surprises Washington, but it is thought it may be in the nature of a reply to the Lusitania note. Unless the communication is far more satisfactory than the Arabic note it is said that the President will announce a determined policy to be followed by this country on the issues involved.

Amsterdam, Sept. 11—The American note demanding the recall of Ambassador Dumba, of Austro-Hungary, is causing uneasiness, but little surprise in German official circles, according to despatches from Berlin. Germany is undoubtedly doing its utmost to induce Austria to adopt a complaisant attitude toward the United States as it is feared that any other course would endanger the position of Count von Bernstorff.

Paris, Sept. 11—The following was issued by the war office today:

"There was an uninterrupted cannonade during the night in the sectors of Neuville and Roclincourt, as well as south of Arras. Between the Somme and the Oise conflicts with mines were continually active. In the Argone only fighting with bombs and petards was reported at St. Hubert and Courtes Chaussees."

Lisbon, Sept. 11—The commander of the Portuguese troops in her African colonies reports the reoccupation of Cuamata, which was until recently in German hands.

London, Sept. 11—The British steamer Cornubia has been sunk by a German submarine. The crew was saved.

A despatch from Budapest to the Exchange Telegraph Company announces that a German contingent has reached the Servian front and is about to attack the Serbs.

Milan, Sept. 11—Seven German army officers who were wounded in the revolt of the Turkish troops, have arrived in Constantinople, say advices from the Turkish capital. The German officers declare that the Turkish officers made no effort to intervene in their behalf when they were attacked.

Constantinople, Sept. 11—Today's Turkish war statement says: "On the Iraka front there were four fights between Turkish troops and the enemy, between September 2 and September 9, north of Korna. In one night attack our troops surprised the enemy four officers and 100 men being killed and wounded. Our losses were four killed and nine wounded.

FOLLOWS FOOTSTEPS OF HIS GRANDFATHER

John F. Dryden, 2d., Takes Position With Prudential Insurance Company.

John F. Dryden, 2d, grandson of former United States Senator John F. Dryden, has gone to work with The Prudental Insurance Company, which his grandfather founded and of which his father, Forrest F. Dryden, is now the president. He started in this week, and after a month of general routine at the home office of the company he will be sent out into the field as an inspector.

Young Mr. Dryden is thus following in the footsteps of his father, who began his work with The Prudential in the field, later serving his apprenticeship as an industrial superintendent before being admitted to home office employment. And as was the case with the son so will it be with the namesake and grandson of the founder of The Prudential: he will first have to prove himself before he can expect advancement. The young man is asking no favors, however, and is very democratic in his desire to begin at the bottom and earn every right to ascend the Prudential ladder.

John F. Dryden, 2d, graduated from Yale last June and has recently announced his engagement to Miss Leila Batty, of Utica, N. Y. He is twenty-one years old, was born in Newark and attended Andover prior to entering Yale.

JERSEY POSTMASTERS ELECT H. M. KNIGHT PRESIDENT

Atlantic City, Sept. 11.—The New Jersey Presidential Postmasters of the second and third class, in convention here yesterday, elected Harry M. Knight, of Camden, president; Edward S. Nurke, of Morristown; George H. Smith, of Wildwood, and A. P. Corbett, of Linden, vice presidents; Edward C. Stabley, of Haddonfield, secretary, and C. C. Cowperthwait, of Mount Holly, treasurer. Assistant Postmaster Daniel C. Roper read a paper on the parcel post, in which he said it was proposed to encourage the system by carrying fruit products. He said the parcel post was one way of reducing the high cost of living.

SENATOR ROBINSON SUES NEWSPAPER FOR LIBEL

About two months ago several newspapers in various parts of the State published a letter signed in some instances "Barrett Crandall" and in others, "B. L. Crandall," which said among other things that Senator Helen Ring Robinson, of Colorado, had introduced the Race Track Gambling Bill in the Colorado Senate.

As soon as this was brought to her attention, Senator Robinson replied indignantly that the statement was untrue and gave the number of the page in the Senate Journal on which her vote against this bill was recorded. Several newspapers at once published a correction of Mr. Crandall's mis-statement, but others failed to do so, among these being the Summit Herald.

Through her attorney, Arthur T. Vanderbilt, Senator Robinson has started a libel suit for five thousand dollars against the Summit Herald.

NEW BRUNSWICK HAS A ROW OVER BALLOT BOXES

New Brunswick, Sept. 11—A bitter fight over the possession of the New Brunswick city ballot boxes, which may involve the employment of force to get them out of the hands of John Watson, city clerk under the Aldermanic regime, has been started. Mr. Watson in an advertisement inserted in the local papers yesterday, stated that the poll books and primary books are now ready at his office for the primary election on September 14. The advertisement also states that the ballot boxes will not be ready until September 27.

This puts an end to the hopes of City Clerk Eugene McLaughlin under the new Commission Government rule that he would be able to reach an agreement with Mr. Watson for the use of the ballot boxes, and it is the opening gun of a bitter fight. The present city officials are determined to obtain the boxes at any cost, and Mr. Watson is equally determined that the boxes shall not be issued by any one except himself.

TABLET TO BRITISH.

Boston, Sept. 11.—A tablet to honor the memory of 250 British soldiers and sailors, who fell at the battle of Bunker Hill, will be dedicated at the Old North church, from the tower of which flashed the lantern signal which sent Paul Revere on his memorable ride. The tablet will be placed in position near the chancel in the church on Monday. The project had the approval of patriotic societies her and of King George. Many of the British wounded were cared for in Boston, and a number of them were buried here.

One of Our Greatest Rug Purchases

Sale opens Tuesday, but the Rugs will be here Monday, being ticketed, and Monday's out-of-town visitors will then have opportunity of making advance selections

Seven Thousand and Seventy-Four Wiltons and Body Brussels, Fine Rugs

In 22 Sizes and 280 Selections, Amounting to Between $174,000 and $175,000

All of which are to be sold at less than current prices of today.

This is a notable commercial transaction, requiring a fortnight's negotiation. It exceeds in importance our large operations with the Whittall and Bigelow Hartford rugs, which have since been advanced in price.

The splendid offering of standard rugs which we are now ready to make is given to us by one of the older and best known weavers, whose experience and success covers a period of more than fifty years.

This is not an offering of odds and ends of rejected or discontinued patterns; neither are there seconds or imperfect rugs in the lot.

By our outlet being able to distribute quickly an enormous quantity, we were a desirable customer for the mills, and it is fair to say that they made a large discount, which enables us to make a fair profit, though the reduction is plainly stated in the figures below.

The sad fact is well known that wool is high and that dyes are much more expensive than usual; in fact, some are double former prices, and even at the high prices cannot be had.

There is no reason why the fact should not be made public, that after we secured this large lot of rugs the prices went up the next day.

We never use the word "unusual" in our advertising without remembering that the people depend upon our word, and when we say that this is an unusual transaction, from the point of patterns, colors, sizes and values of the rugs, we know that there is no danger of our disappointing our regular customers.

These are literally home-made rugs that the people will like to live with.

The Royal Kashan and Savalan Royal Wiltons (see list below) are made of the best quality worsted manufactured; the Trewan Royal Wilton, of the best quality wool worsteds; the Victor Body Brussels, of extra heavy quality worsted.

The Royal Kashan Wiltons have over 18,200 worsted 3-ply tufts in every square foot. The other three grades have over 12,200. All yarns in all four grades are dyed by the best known process.

The Rugs match up in all sizes.

If you select a pattern you particularly like, you may have it in any size—Monday, surely.

Our regular prices are given in the list below for the identification of the various grades

JOHN HILL JEWETT WEDS MISS CLARK

Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson Performs Ceremony at Home of Bride's Parents.

A very pretty wedding occured last evening at 6:30 o'clock, when Miss Mary Frances Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Clark, of 404 West Seventh street, and John Hill Jewett, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hill Jewett, of Central avenue, were married. The Rev. E. Vivar Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church, performed the ceremony.

The wedding was attended by the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom only. Miss Mildred Clark, of Newton, Mass., a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, while the bridesmaids were Miss Bessie Jewett and Miss Dorothy Jewett, of this city, and Miss Moyah Clark, of Redlands, California, another cousin. Thomas Jewett, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. James Harvey Clark, William Jewett and Lomax Clark were the ushers. Teddy Jewett was the ring bearer.

The house was handsomely decorated by Stanley with a profusion of flowers, ferns and potted plants. An orchestra furnished music. The ceremony was followed by a wedding supper and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Jewett left for California on their honeymoon. It is not known where they will reside permanently.

PETER BLOOM POISONED WHILE CUTTING WEEDS

Peter Bloom, one of Borough Street Commissioner Uhrhahn's men, was badly poisoned while cutting weeds and grass on one of the borough streets yesterday and today is unable to work. Mercury or poison ivy did the trick, and Bloom's face and hands are swollen to twice their normal size. He can scarcely see, his face is so puffed up.

Bloom is an old employe of the borough, having worked in the street gang for four or five years.

E. Smith, of Plainfield, the contract price for which was $384.70, with about $77 for extra work properly authorized, and the Thompson avenue bridge in Bernardsville, built by Cooper & Black for $331.

WALTER HARRINGTON IS HONORED AT BOSTON "TECH"

Walter Harrington, of 1060 Central avenue, was chosen by vote of his class to lead the in-coming class of freshmen in all their activities at the University of Technology, at Boston, Massachusetts. The Plainfielder was president of his own class last year, and the honor generally is given to the president of the sophomore class. He will have complete charge of their functions and will hold one of the most responsible positions at "Tech." During the first term he will have charge of their athletics and will act in the capacity of advisor to the class.

Mr. Harrington is a graduate of Leal's School and was also a member of the 1913 class of the Plainfield High School. He was awarded the Yale cup in 1913 at the former school, being acknowledged the best all round athlete.

ENCOURAGING REPORTS RECEIVED BY FRUIT GUILD

The meeting of the Plant, Flower and Fruit Guild, of this city, which was held in the Friends' Meeting-House, Watchung avenue and Third street, last night, was well attended. Rev. Henry Mesier, rector of St. Stephen's church, Netherwood, gave an interesting address on "Flowers." Encouraging reports were read by Mrs. L. M. Case, chairman of the distributing committee, and Robert Love, head of the Boys' Auxiliary.

The following members of the guild were chosen to form an orchestra to play at the meetings of the organization: Mrs. J. C. Evans, leader; Miss Harriet E. Higgins, pianist; Miss Dorothy Seader, cornetist; Harvey E. Naylor, violinist; Randolph Douglas, violinist; David McInnis, violinist, and Ralph Slonim, violinist.

Resolutions of sympathy were passed on the death of Mrs. C. H. Mallery and the secretary of the guild was instructed to forward a copy to Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery, husband of the deceased.

REGULAR SERVICES RESUMED AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

"The Sufficiency of the Christian Religion" will be the subject of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson's sermon at the First M. E. church tomorrow morning and in the evening he will preach on "Loss Through Neglect." The official board will meet in the parlors of Vincent chapel at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The three women's societies of the church, the Ladies' Aid, Foreign and Home Missionary Societies, will hold an all-day meeting in Vincent chapel on Tuesday. From now on all services of the church will be resumed.

WOMEN'S RELIEF CORPS FESTIVAL GREAT SUCCESS

The ice cream festival given under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps, No. 10, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., in Reform Hall last night was a success, a large number of members and friends attending. Dancing was enjoyed by those present, music being furnished by Miss Clara Barton Smith. The fortune booth was the most popular of the features arranged for the attendants, nearly every member having their future foretold.

The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Mrs. Annie L. Smith, chairman; Mrs. Edward Townley, Mrs. Ada T. England, Mrs. Mary E. Kitchell, Miss Edna Smith. The candy table was in charge of Miss Edna Smith assisted by Miss Laura Smith and Miss Christine Vestergard. Miss Elsie Townley served the punch.

Wednesday of next week "The Moth and the Flame," adapted from Clyde Fitch's masterpiece, will be screened at the Astor. It will present a splendid cast of well known film stars.

Buyers Are Found by Advertising—Because They Are Opportunity-Hunters!

If you have something to sell—real estate, personal property of any sort—there's a buyer for it. You don't know who he is, or where he is. You'd be helpless in trying to locate him—but for the fact that he is trying to locate you!

For buyers are opportunity-seekers. And they have learned that the Plainfield Daily Press classified columns are 'the Happy Hunting Grounds' for opportunities. Thus, when your "ad" starts upon its quest it meets the man for whom it was written—also upon his quest. And that's how "results" follow classified advertising.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIFLD

GOLD SHIPMENTS HELPS BUILDING

Better Conditions Throughout the East Are Reported by Contractors.

FULL TIME SCHEDULES

Arrangements Made for Continuing Production of Iron and Steel at 90 Per Cent. of Capacity Until First of the Year.

New York, Sept. 8.—Continued heavy shipments of gold into this country from abroad gave added encouragement to real estate and building interests in the matter of better building conditions for the immediate future. By way of furthering immediate action upon projected enterprises, prices of some commodities, notably copper and Portland cement, were checked in their upward trend. In this connection it was considered significant that there was not a single building commodity that reported an upward movement this week.

Definite preparations were made by manufacturers of many building commodities regarding winter capacities. Arrangements are practically settled for continuing the production of iron and steel at 90 per cent. of capacity until the first of the year on current orders. Hudson brick manufacturers have practically decided to continue manufacturing up to the middle of October, following the improvement of building conditions in the metropolitan district. Raritan interests probably will make no change in their present rate of production, which is said to be about 60 per cent of capacity. A report was current this week of a premium having been paid to a lumber manufacturer in the South to insure prompt delivery for special lines of lumber in anticipation of an autumn speculative movement in manufacturing sections of Queens and Newark, where factory extensions are said to be responsible for a heavy demand for inexpensive houses to rent. Hardwood manufacturers are going to be short on oak and maple flooring according to wholesale trade reports.

Advices from the Lehigh and Hudson Portland cement mills for August show that the twenty-four mills, eight of which are in the Hudson Valley, shipped practically the same quantity of cement from their mills in August as they did in the same month last year. The reserve was a little less in August than in July. There is comparatively little new business coming in at the new $1.52 level. This is because a great quantity of this material is still being shipped at the $1.32 and $1.42 levels.

Dealers in the metropolitan district are exceptionally well stocked with cement, which accounts for the apparent weakness in the $1.52 quotations. Some are said to be overloaded. The little business that does develop is eagerly sought for, and in order to get it some concerns have resorted to shading. Practically all the important Lehigh mills are standing firm at the $1.52 level, except where there is back orders to be filled. That quotation, however, is being rigidly adhered to on all business calling for delivery sixty days from date, and it was authoritatively stated that the prevailing winter price for this commodity would not be under $1.52, and may be as high as $1.62 per barrel wholesale. Talk of a threatened price cutting war like that of last spring, to force small dealers to come up to the standard list quotation was ridiculed. The prospects for heavy winter orders and continued low reserves are said to be sufficient in themselves to permit such a course, not to mention the heavy losses sustained by all the Eastern mills during the first five months of this year.

There is a rumor in crushed stone circles to the effect that a combination of several leading producers is being planned to create a more stable market here. This action was inspired largely by the fact that the local market has been demoralized for some time. When subway bids were opened recently there was such a wide range of prices as to cause all proposals to be rejected, and the contract was ordered readvertised. Quotations originally made ranged from 60 cents to 90 cents.

Despite the steadily stiffening condition of the steel market, wire mesh reinforcement prices for September show no change over those for August. The condition of the spelter market led many to believe higher prices would be asked, but spelter demand and prices slightly subsided, leaving the reinforcement market unchanged. Structural steel orders are reported to be better. New York base is $1.52.

The entire Eastern building situation at present is decidedly favorable to contractors and builders. Dealers and manufacturers are inclined to be conciliatory except in steel and other metals in which department quotations are rigidly held to list. Money is cheaper than it has been in a year and a half, according to mortgage authorities, and, while there is no definite assurance that it will remain so, the prospects are good that better opportunities will be offered for profitable building investments, particularly those designed for moderate price rents, than have been met with for some time. Real testate interests are receptive and are inclined to encourage purchases in most of the suburban cities and in some part of New York. Maufacturing prosperity always means a revival in building and real estate buying.

ONLY FOUR PERMITS ISSUED THIS WEEK

Contracts Represent a Total Expenditure of About $6,355.

Four permits, representing a total outlay of $6,355, were issued this week by Building Inspector Doane. The only large one was for the extension to St. Mary's T. A. B. Hall on West Fourth street. The permits by wards follow:

First Ward.

A. G. Barber, of 1475 East Second street, was granted permission to build an automobile shed at 162 Terrill road, near Edwin place. The building will be of frame construction, 12x20 feet in dimensions, one story high, and will case $40. Thomas Barber is given as the contractor.

Second Ward.

The Neumann Brothers Company was granted a permit to erect an extension to the rear of the building at 500 and 502 Watchung avenue. The addition will be of brick construction, 8x9 feet, 6 inches in dimensions, one story high, and will cost $215. Leland Manning is the mason contractor and James C. Manning the contracting carpenter.

Fourth Ward.

The permit granted St. Mary's T. A. B. Society calls for an addition to the hall on West Fourth street, near Liberty, 18x102 feet in dimensions, one story high, of frame construction. The addition will be used as bowling alleys and reception room. G. H. Fisher is given as the architect and M. D. O'Keeffe the general contractor. The estimated cost is $5,800.

Fourth Ward.

William H. Dennick is to build a two-story and bay window extension to his residence at 1337 Myrtle avenue. The extension at the rear will be 14x6 feet in dimensions, and the construction will be hollow tile and stucco. A bay window will be thrown out at the side. The improvements will cost $300. Mr. Dennick will do the mason work while Charles MacDonald will look after the carpenter work.

TWO PLAINFIELD PROPERTIES ARE SOLD

Several Parcels of Real Estate Changed Hands This Week.

Among the various parcels of real estate sold in Union county this week in foreclosure proceedings were two located in Plainfield, one in Union township and one in Westfield.

Two small parcels of land at Liberty street and Orchard place, this city, were sold to W. M. Sandford, complainant, in the suit against the Hudson Realty Company.

The other Plainfield tract was located at Kensington and Raritan avenues, and was purchased by Arnold H. Peterson, complainant, in his action against the Central Holding Company, defendant, for $100.

Seventy lots, comprising a portion of Mountain View Park, near Westfield, and several small parcels at Dudley avenue and Cory place and on the Harrison property, at Westfield, were sold to James C. Manning, complainant, in a suit against the Home Building and Supply Company, defendant, for $1,000.

Elias T. Abberley, complainant, in a suit brought against Frederick W. Buchrman, purchased a parcel of land on Salem road, along the tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, in Union township, for $3,000.

SCHOOL INSPECTOR TAKES CHARGE M'KINLEY MEMORIAL

Lindsey Watson, of the offices of the architects for the New Evergreen avenue public school building, who was engaged by the Plainfield Board of Education as inspector on the job, has gone to Canton, Ohio, to take charge of the construction of a marble memorial to the memory of the late President McKinley, a building about 200 feet long, and to cost about $250,000.

Mr. Watson had this engagement in mind when he accepted the appointment from the local Board, and it was understood at the time that his services could not be depended upon after September.

MIDDLESEX VOTERS ANXIOUS TO LEARN TAX RATE

Much to the disappointment of the Middlesex County Tax Board the Perth Amboy tax assessors did not turn in their tax duplicates at the Board meeting this week. As a result, the County Board has been unable to figure the tax rates for the various municipalities, as had been planned. All the taxing districts except Perth Amboy have filed their returns. The Perth Amboy Board wanted three more days in which to complete the work.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR AUGUST TOTALLED $87,225

The records of the Plainfield building department show that permits aggregating $87,225 were issued last month. The new work for which permits were issued represent an outlay of $63,225, while the alteration jobs figure $2,400. Following is the table by wards:

	New Bldgs	Alterations	Total
1st Wd.	$ 125	———	$ 125
2nd Wd.	1,300	———	1,300
3rd Wd.	53,500	450	53,950
4th Wd.	8,300	2,550	31,850
	$63,225	$2,400	$87,225

BUILDING TO BE OPENED.

The alterations underway in the Somerset School will be so far completed that the building can be opened for use Monday, as arranged. The Harrison Avenue School will not be ready for ten days more, it was reported yesterday. The schools in Piscataway township will open Monday, the opening having been delayed a week on account of delay in finishing the addition to the South Plainfield school.

RECEIVED NO PROPOSALS.

No one wants to repair the Borough Hall in Dunellen, it would seem, for no replies were received to the advertisements for bids for repairs recently published. The building is in need of repair, and the storms of winter will doubtless do considerable damage. The matter was left to the hall and park committee of the Council to have the work done at the lowest possible price.

The "tarfitt-instinct" in people makes the "For Sale" ads interesting to them.

FORECLOSURE SALES BECOMING NUMEROUS

Middlesex County Advertising Twenty-one Such Sales at the Present Time.

Foreclosure sales are getting to be numerous in Middlesex county, judging from the number now being advertised. Sheriff Edward F. Houghton is advertising twenty-one such sales at the present time and has several more in course of preparation. The foreclosure proceedings now under way are larger than at any time in many years. Poor business conditions are said to be responsible for this state of affairs.

Some of the foreclosures are on mortgages running into the hundreds of thousands. The largest on record is in the Chancery Court action between the Security Trust Company, complainant, and the Peerless Match Company, defendant. This involves property in Piscataway township, both land and factory equipment. The decree is for $263,000.

A close second is the foreclosure in the Chancery Court action between the New Jersey Title Guarantee and Trust Company, complainant, and the Perth Amboy Fire Brick Company, defendant, where the decree is $136,000. The property to be sold is located in Raritan and Woodbridge townships.

FIRE PREVENTION MOST IMPORTANT

Plainfield's Splendid Record Shows That it is by Far the Best Policy.

That fire prevention is an important study from an economic point of view is shown in the splendid fire record of Plainfield. Chief T. O. Doane and his efficient assistants in the local fire department believe it better policy to seek the prevention of fires than to marshal all their forces to extinguish one when it is started. Therefore, a vigorous campaign is waged constantly against the accumulation of rubbish and inflammable debris in cellars, backyards and alleys, which is no doubt one of the reasons for Plainfield's freedom from disastrous conflagrations.

Store where goods are unpacked are under constant observation by Chief Doane and his assistants, and if boxes, barrels, paper, excelsior, etc., are allowed to accumulate and remain about the premises any length of time a formal notice to have same removed is received by the proprietors. Invariably these notices are complied with, for the property owners have been educated to realize the fire risk assumed when they allow such material to lie around their premises.

NEW DIARY HEADQUARTERS.

Work is being pushed on the new brick and stucco building which the Welsh Dairy Farms Company is erecting on Washington avenue, near Green brook. It is the intention of the company to locate all its business under the one roof when the building is completed, and the structure will provide quarters for offices, distribution rooms and stables.

TAKE POSSESSION.

J. P. Lange and family, of Elizabeth, have taken possession of the Stanley farm, Terrill road, near Fanwood, which he recently purchased. The farm has a frontage of 550 feet on Terrill road and contains 20 acres, part of which is woodland. Mr. Lange contemplates making several improvements about the place.

FARMERS' GRANGE TO OPEN.

The store at 188 East Front street, at the present time occupied by the Welsh Dairy Farms Company, will be taken over by the Farmers' Grange, of which J. F. Cooper is manager. All kinds of farm produce will be handled at the grange, which will be conducted on a co-operative basis.

DELINQUENTS SETTLED.

As all the owners of property advertised for sale for unpaid taxes in Dunellen came forward with the necessary funds before the date set for holding the sale, the event was called off. The borough officials feel greatly pleased at the clean slate.

WORK IS STARTED.

Work on the new residence which S. W. Rushmore will erect on Belvidere avenue, a description of which appeared on this page of the Daily Press recently, has been started. Contractor William H. Dennick has put in the foundation.

The want ad way of tenant-finding is the accepted way—and means small expense and delay.

"HUB" STINE GETS FOOTBALL ORDERS

Popular Borough Young Man Will Depart for Springfield College Tomorrow.

Herbert Stine, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Stine, of 11 Mountain avenue, leaves tomorrow morning for Springfield, Mass., where he will enter upon his senior year in the International Y. M. C. A. College. Although the institution does not open its fall term until Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Stine has been ordered to report for football practice and will don moleskins Monday afternoon. He has been a member of the college football and baseball teams during each of his two years at Springfield and is a letter man in each sport. A coincidence of interest to his friends comes in the fact that he fills the position of left guard on the college eleven, the same place in which C. William Bingeman, formerly boys' secretary of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., but now of Madison, performed in during the fall of 1909.

Donald Sminck and George Townley, who attended the Springfield school last year, will not resume their studies. Townley pitched for the college baseball team and Stine did the bulk of the catching during the seasons of 1914-15.

During the summer months Mr. Stine has been identified with the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission, acting in the capacity of inspector. He has been in charge of large drainage and filling in contracts in the territory lying between Elizabeth and this city, a bulk of his work being centered in Fanwood township and in the vicinity of the Westfield Golf Club's links. He concludes his summer duties today.

VAN DEVENTERS SLATED.

The Van Deventer brothers, Philip and Ludlow, will compete in the finals of the Eastern tennis tournament at Rahway this evening. Their opponents will be Lindsay Dunham and Harold Tyson Emorton, the Princeton "crack."

POLITICAL NOTES.

Contests for election to the county committee have arisen in both the Democratic and Republican parties. Beside that between County Collector Nathan R. Leavitt and Arthur E. Warner for election to the Republican City Central Committee from the First district of the Tenth ward, of Elizabeth, Palmer H. Charlock and William J. Wood are candidates for election to the Republican City Central Committee in one of the Eleventh ward districts. Mr. Leavitt neglected to file a petition for election to the county committee, but he may be a candidate anyhow for that position, also against Mr. Warner, who filed a petition. In the Second district of the Second ward, Daniel H. Mylon and S. W. Cunningham filed petitions as candidates for Republican county committeemen. In the Democratic party, the First ward has two committee contests. In the Fourth district James P. Salmon is running against William J. McCaffrey, and in the Second district John A. Brennan and Edward Carolan, Jr., are candidates. Some other similar skirmishes are said to be possible.

John F. Sinnott, president of the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission, is said to be a strong candidate for postmaster of Newark to succeed Frank J. Bock. Mr. Sinnott is active in the Woodrow Wilson League, and has support in other quarters also for the position. The vacancy will not occur until January.

Adam Neubeck, Sr., is the Democratic candidate for councilmen in the Tenth ward, Elizabeth. He is one of the veteran Democrats of that city. Democratic outings have never been considered complete without him, and the only surprise is that he was not induced to become a candidate for some office before now.

That the county campaign this year will be exceptionally dull, is ensured not only by the lack of offices to be filled, but also by the conviction held by so many that the Republican Assemblymen are certain of re-election. Their defeat would be one of the greatest political sensations in years.

ASSETS WERE ONLY $18.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—Eighteen dollars was realized on assets scheduled at $36,400 by David S. Rose, who was five times mayor of Milwaukee when he filed a petition in bankruptcy in the U. S. Court. The case will be finally discharged today. Rose scheduled his liabilities at $37,533.33. The furnishings of his office are exempt.

FARMERS STORE POTATOES.

Westfield, Sept. 11.—Farmers in this part of the county are offered only sixty cents per bushel for their potatoes will not sell them at that price. Instead, they are storing them to be fed to stock in case the price does not improve. The crop this year was unusually good in spite of some rot in the field.

On Saturdays the editorial columns of the Daily Press are conducted by citizens who are free to express their own views. The contributing editor for today is Assemblyman William N. Runyon.

FORM A BOOSTERS' BATTALION.

It is a noteworthy fact that the manifold attractions of Plainfield are today being exploited and advertised by more agencies and more people, than has ever before been the case. While the city has at all times had many citizens who believed in her, and who proclaimed her advantages as a home town, a business center, and in all other respects a high class community, such support has until recently been somewhat desultory and without the driving effect which can be the result only of concerted effort. But now, under the wise guidance of many of our best citizens who are making a business of presenting the real Plainfield to the outside world, the present situation offers great encouragement, and the future looms big with possibilities for an ideal city.

The present splendid effort, however, can be immeasurably furthered or woefully retarded by the rest of us who perhaps are not actively associated with any of the bodies who are engaged in this laudable enterprise. It is always an easy task to sit in the "bleachers" and criticize the players or demand the annihilation of the umpire, but in the players' or the umpire's position ourselves we should probably move the grandstand to gnashing of teeth and bitter tears. In like manner, any one of us can play the part of the cynic; the man of little faith, and belittle the work of those who are earnestly endeavoring to make their city, your city, my city a better place for business, for educational facilities, and for homes. But is that the part of the good citizen? And have the cynics any real basis in fact for their skepticism and their objurgations?

Have we at any time been badly governed? Have we suffered from grafters? For every dollar of public money spent, haven't we received a dollar's worth of value? Has any town of its size better stores? Don't our schools compare favorably with any you know? Isn't there a fine spirit of comity among all religious creeds? Aren't our places of public amusement clean and wholesome? Do you know of any city where excise conditions are managed more strictly?

These are only a few of the questions which occur to one who endeavors to look at the general situation dispassionately, and with due regard for the facts as they actually exist. Cynic, be honest with yourself and with your home town, and acknowledge that Plainfiled is a mighty good sort of a city any way you look at her. And when you have settled this matter to your own satisfaction, why not tell your friends and your neighbors, far and wide, how good your home city is. With every citizen a member of the "Boosters' Battalion," what stands in the way of an extraordinary and splendid development? Absolutely nothing.

And let there be no feeling of narrow mindedness in our loyalty, as between those of us who earn our living in this town, and those whose business interests lie elsewhere. Let the idea of "commuter" and "non-commuter" be given decent burial for all time.

For be it known, this city owes a debt it can never pay to the unselfish devotion of many a commuter, who has given prodigally of his time and his talents for the city which he has honored in making it his place of residence in preference to countless other places he might have chosen.

From our list of mayors, eliminate the names of Evans, Randolph, Gilbert, Fisk, Stewart and our present indefatigable worker, Calkins, and you must acknowledge that without their contributions to municipal advancement we should be far behind our present splendid position. And, to cite but a few notable members of the Council who have belonged to the commuter class, examine the records of Potts, Erickson, Tracy, Hinna, Dumont, See and Barrows, and you will find no more worthy and unselfish service anywhere, look where you may.

And in our Board of Education, the names of Kirkner, Murray, Probasco, Abbott, Cox and Tilney must impress one with the fact that Plainfield has had the benefit of wonderful loyalty and unsparing service on the part of her commuters.

In a word, every one of us in a sense is dependent upon everyone else, and if as a mighty army, according to every one his just due, we move forward unitedly for the sake of Plainfield and her advancement, no one can measure the magnitude of the returns. Let us try.

The Exceptions

He takes a cold bath every day—
O well, on yesterday, of course
He had a fearful cold and—say,
His throat was sore, and he was hoarse!

And then this morning—to be sure
He'd taken medicine last night,
And wasn't certain that the cure
With ice-cold baths would work all right.

And day 'fore yesterday—well, then
He overslept himself and couldn't
Have spared the time—'twas nearly ten!
That isn't saying that he wouldn't.

He "takes a cold bath every day"—
I should perhaps befriend this dunce!—
I found this self-deceiving jay
Had taken one as much as once!

In The Jest Cemetery

A sad-faced crowd was gathered about the new-made pile of dirt in the jest cemetery.

On one tombstone, lichened and time-discolored, were the hardly-legible words:

"Sacred to the Memory of the Mother-in-law Jest."

On an adjacent one, scarcely less aged, was this:

"In Loving Memory of the Why-Did-the-Chicken-Gag."

On yet another:

"Here Lies (as it always did lie) the Coming-Home-Drunk-at-Two-A.M. Wheeze."

Near the newly-dug hole lay a freshly-carved slab marked thus:

"In Hallowed Recollection of the Fisherman-Can't-Tell-the-Truth Joke."

Despite the perfunctory solemnity of the pall-bearers, however, there seemed to be new life and a befitting and relieved hilarity among the villagers.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

How A Man Hardens His Arteries

HARDENING of the arteries, unlike hardening of the heart, is a very popular affliction which we must all come to sooner or later, preferably later. A hard-hearted man enjoys nobody's sympathy, but a hard-arteried man merits at least a little friendly advice. He doesn't know where he is going, but he is on his way. What obstacles can we throw across his path?

Graham-Stewart, an English practitioner, suggests a few of the common factors of arteriosclerosis. He says habitual constipation, causing a chronic toxemia, or self-poisoning, is an important factor. Then he goes on to list more familiar causes: Too much meat, the use of alcohol as a beverage, too much work with too little sleep—or burning the candle at both ends, hurried eating, a habit of humdrum occupation without daily relaxation—or, in America at any rate, the year round hustle, broken only by the annual vacation, instead of a little relaxation every day.

Life insurance companies oppose the progress of arteriosclerosis in many a case by bringing home to the applicant the fact that he isn't so hale and hearty as his full blood and big appetite lead him to imagine. Every man over thirty, whether interested in life insurance or not, ought, as a mere investment in health assurance, to submit to a complete physical examination regularly once a year, an examination as carefully made as any life insurance test; an examination, moreover, which, unlike many life insurance examinations made for unprogressive companies, devotes much attention to the applicant's condition and none to the nature of the complaint his grandmothers died of. You know, a good, twentieth century life insurance company doesn't care a scratch of the examiner's pen what your grandparents died of, or whether you ever had any grandparents; but some companies still do delight in tracing back the family pedigree—for what reason, it is hard to say.

We are not opening the charter just now, but if there are any readers who have more weight than they care to carry round, and a blood-pressure a few pegs too high, and especially a tendency to "biliousness" now and then (which is a polite way of saying over-eating), with perhaps a wee bit pain in the epigastrium like you can't hold it—if any such there be, the Bread and Milk Club will be glad to receive them into membership. The dues are very low—you pay nothing but close attention. The requirement for membership is exceedingly simple—you religiously confine yourself to a diet of bread and milk or crackers and milk one day in each week. Since the Club was organized neither Dr. Osler, Horace Fletcher, Upton Sinclair nor any charter member has filed a tentative protest against the rules of the order.

SEE AMERICA FIRST—FOREIGN LANDS AT HOME

EVERY American desires to travel in foreign lands and soak himself in strange and uncouth customs. However it is not necessary to pay over the price of a durable automobile to some steamship company in order to do this. All that is necessary is carfare to New York.

New York is the metropolis of America and half a dozen other nations. By feeding a nickel at intervals to the rapacious street car corporation the visitor in New York can skip lightly from Italy to Hungary, to Palestine, to China, and on to Russia without bothering about customs duties. He can find as much difficulty in making himself understood as if America was three weeks and $300 away, and he can eat meals which are as hard to understand and get over as the celebrated table d'hôtes of Naples, and Canton, China.

The New York visitor who leaves Fifth Avenue and plunges resolutely into the East Side a mile away can see Sicilian feudists stabbing each other in the back with all the grace and fluency which has made their native land famous. He can worship at Chinese joss houses if he likes and can wade through Russian streets which show as little regard for sanitation as the originals far away.

When he has tired of this he can go over on Fifth Avenue to some of the city's most tightly buttoned up clubs and discover more perfect English accents and manners than can be found in London; and he can go to a hotel and order a meal which is all French but the boy who steals the hats at the entrance.

The New York visitor can also study the customs and manners of Ireland in Tammany Hall and various precinct clubs; the justly celebrated literature of Greece in the shoe-shining parlors. He can look over the naval architecture of all the countries on earth except America in New York harbor and can find enough Gothic churches, Renaissance palaces, Early Tudor residences and late O'Brien billboards to keep him sight-seeing for a month.

The boy who steals the hats at the entrance

Seeing foreign lands in New York is very pleasant, because whenever the tourist gets homesick for America he can get into a subway jam at six o'clock and have the buttons torn off his clothes in a manner which will make him weep tears of thankfulness and exclaim: "After all, there is no place like home. Get off my foot, you chump!"

People's Legal Friend

BY E. R. BRANSON

The Validity Of A Contract

Q. If a contract concerns a matter which was the subject of a previous agreement of an illegal character, will such second contract be good?

A. If the second contract springs immediately from the former one, it will be vitiated by the illegality of the first transaction. If, however, the new contract is only remotely or indirectly connected with the first, or is not identified with it at all, and is based on a new consideration, it will be valid.

Married Woman's Estate

Q. Kindly inform me whether the estate of a married woman must go through the process of administration after her death.

A. Yes, as a general rule.

Legal Blanks

Q. Are legal blanks always reliable?

A. Not always. It would be better, in any event, to have your lawyer prepare your papers for you.

Liability For Wife's Debts

Q. My wife incurred some indebtedness and credit seems to have been given her by the person with whom she was dealing on the strength of her own separate property interests. Would I be liable in such a case?

A. No.

A Double Contract

Q. Is there anything to prevent a man and his wife from making a joint contract with another person?

A. Not if she has capacity under the statute, to make a contract.

Will Sell His Share

Q. I own an interest in land, in common with two other persons. They do not want to sell. Could I bring a partition suit? A. Yes.

Likableness

The salt of the world is sprinkled among those to whom every man and woman delights to go—the Likable People. You know them. You are drawn their way whenever their atmosphere touches yours. They lift and honor Life.

Likableness is one of the real essentials of Leadership—a thing felt because lived.

You meet a Stranger. But straightway he becomes your Friend—Likableness woven into his very make-up makes him akin to you. You look him in the eye, feel the warm, solid grasp of his hand and know that you can build upon his word.

You walk into a busy office. You face a busy man. But being sincerely Likable — approachable — you honor his time and his graciousness. You pay tribute to his Character—you do not impose upon his responsibility.

Likableness is a wonderful asset. It is one of the vital necessities for Success—Success through Happiness and Services. Make yourself Likable—genuinely so. You can—for anybody can.

Current Poetry

The Kind-Hearted Countryman

A simple old countryman dwelt with his wife
At the edge of a beautiful wood.
And one of the principal joys of his life
Lay in being as kind as he could.

His kindness to animal, insect and bird—
I've mentioned that he was most kind—
Often bordered decidedly on the absurd,
As doubtless you'll presently find.

He thought the poor bees had to work overmuch
In order to gather their honey,
So he filled all the flowers with sugar and such,
Which his wife thought unusually funny.

It pained him to see squirrels using their teeth,
In cracking the nuts that they found.
So he placed a new pair of nut-crackers beneath
Every tree for ten acres around.

Such kindness continued, as you may have guessed,
Till the limit was reached, you'll agree,
When, in order to give the birds plenty of rest,
He put perches up in a tree.

The Meaning And Purpose Of Work

By WOODS HUTCHINSON, A.M., M.D.

WORK in strict moderation is healthy. It is necessary to life, but is not life. Yet we make life subservient to work, instead of work to life. The most important, the most valuable product of any industry is the type of man and woman that it turns out. Work is far from being the biggest and most important thing in the world. Yet we are unconsciously coming to regard work as more important than life and the moment that any proposal is made to regulate or restrain it in the interests of the worker, the cry is raised, as of one aghast at sacrilege, that we are interfering with BUSINESS!

The real purpose of work is to build up the State and develop men, and not to build up industries or rear monuments for kings and conquerors. It is neither the amount nor the intensity of the work that counts, but the ends to which it is devoted.

Those people and races who profit most by their industry are not those who work hardest and most incessantly, but those who aim and plan their work most intelligently. The man who works hardest and most incessantly, everywhere and always, has been the peasant and the day laborer. A large part of our work, from a broad and rational point of view, is little better than busy foolishness. All good work should be educational, should make for growth as well as profit—yes, and should be enjoyable as well. The best work that we do is done in the spirit of play, because we love it and are bound to make it win.

We speak of education and play as something confined to the schoolroom, but our whole life's work should be one continuous college course, and could be made so, if the community would turn its brains to the matter in a broad-minded, considerate way for a few months.

The trouble is that we have never seriously considered the problem from a broad, racial point of view. If we were to be asked why we go to work at such and such an hour, and keep on until such and such a time, we could only give the cuckoo-like answer: "Because everybody else does."

There are few things we do so senselessly as work. To put in all the hours of daylight and steal one or two from the night at each end, no matter how stupidly or slavishly, ourselves, and to demand the same tale of bricks from those we have hired—that is the spirit of our boasted modern industry.

We know better than to work an ox, or a horse, or even a loom, or a locomotive, on such principles, but we will and do so work ourselves and our fellows. The one thing that would most increase the efficiency of our work would be an extra hour in bed in the morning, and from one to two hours of play between closing time and nightfall. Such unconscious, and often most unwilling experiments as have been made in this direction yield the same result with a positively astonishing unanimity. Every time that the hours of labor have been shortened in a given industry, the actual output per worker, per diem, has increased and been followed by that most incontestable of evidences, an increased wage—though this last is never in proportion to the gain in efficiency. Those countries of the civilized world, and those trades which have the longest hours, have nine times out of ten the lowest wages and the smallest output per worker. The best paid and most intelligent labor is in the long run the cheapest, whether it be your own or that of your employee. Only recently, for instance, the mills in a certain industry in this country cut down their schedule from six days a week to four and a half, in order to limit production, on account of the high price of raw material. Within a month, to their surprise and almost dismay, they found that they were turning out just as much material as when working on full time. The more snap and energy, yes, and cheerfulness, you or your workers have to put into your work, the more and better quality of it they will turn out. We know now that we cannot afford to reap profit from the labor of our children at the risk of stunting and impairing their efficiency for life, but we still treat ourselves and our fellows without any reasonable consideration — on brains—in this regard.

Sit down and consider the problem of your life work seriously, and when you have done it, go to your associates, your employees and your neighbors and ask them to consider it with you. All that is needed is team work and mutual agreement. Early closing, for instance, is now almost universal in our great cities; and yet our merchants make better profits than ever before. Any given community could add ten per cent. to its efficiency, and twenty per cent. to its health, lower its death rate and raise its income, by getting together and mutually agreeing to begin work in all lines an hour later in the morning, and quit an hour earlier in the afternoon. All the goods that the community requires can be sold, all its necessary work be done just as well, in eight hours per diem as in ten.

No work is profitable, however well paid, if it undermines your health. No work is profitable whatever its wage, which does not increase your efficiency for to-morrow, and for next week and for every week after that until you are sixty.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How the Trout Twins Learned Obedience.

They Looked So Much Alike.

"HOW would you like a fish story?" asked daddy, smiling.

"Truly fishes?" Jack wanted to know.

"I'd rather have mermaids," Evelyn preferred.

"All right," agreed daddy obligingly. "We'll have a fish story and a mermaid story all in one."

The kiddies cuddled down, one on either arm, and daddy began:

"Once upon a time Father and Mother Trout set up homemaking in a little brook overhung with alder bushes and young beeches. When the sun shone brightly it dappled the water with bright spots just like a mirror, and when storms or dangers came the trout swam out of sight under cool, slippery stones and hid there."

"Weren't there any baby trout?" Evelyn wanted to know.

"Yes, the 'Trout Twins' is the story, and their names were Speckle and Flash. They were boys. They were not very long, and they looked so much alike that even Mother Trout could not tell them apart. When they swam out from under their home rock to sun on their sandy floor or to swim in the cool, clean brook water she always tied a little red string around Flash's tail so he could not play pranks on her if he wet his new Eton collar and claim that Speckle did it."

Jack wiggled, for only yesterday, when he tore his middy, he claimed that Evelyn did it.

"The twins were sort of silvery, gray-green, and when the sun shone on them you could see that some day they'd have little red spots on their sides, just like their daddy.

"One day when they were playing somersault in their brook a small boy, with a birch rod and a bent pin, came and sat right down on its bank, so that his shadow fell across them."

"Did they run?" exclaimed Jack.

"No. They swam, darted home to Mother Trout and forgot their fear while she gave them nice sandwiches of tiny insects and baby worms. Then she warned them about the kind of big worms small boys hang on bent pins.

"Mother Trout made them both promise that always when they were hungry they would come to her for a sandwich instead of greedily snatching at the bent pin. And when children obey they rarely come to harm."

"You forgot my mermaid!" Evelyn reminded.

"She's for tomorrow bedtime," he promised, kissing the both kiddies good night.

Glimpses of Married Life

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

"Do you know it's half-past ten, Nell? If you are to be in any shape to start tomorrow morning, we must get to bed."

"You go, dear. I must get some more packing done tonight. Didn't you say Mr. Scott was to come at ten?" Nell looked flushed and tired.

"About that time. He didn't say definitely; but we will want to get settled in time for dinner, and tomorrow afternoon is hardly time enough to get all the tents up. If we can manage it, we want to go fishing the next day, as that is the only day all the men can be there together. What you got to do? Let me help you." Dick sauntered into the bedroom, where Nell was packing suitcases.

"You might pack the provisions. There's a lot of stuff; it's all out on the kitchen table, and it will help a lot if you'll pack it. I've got the table linen and so on all in this suitcase."

"All right. That won't take long. You hurry up and I'll stuff these things in the basket in short order."

Dick went whistling to the kitchen. After the suitcases were all packed, Nell opened the door. "Nearly ready," sang out Dick cheerfully, jamming something into the side of the basket with a great show of strength.

"Merycy! I hope the eggs are not in that basket, or anything else crushable."

"Eggs! Why didn't you say there were eggs?" he answered reproachfully.

"You don't mean to say you have gone ahead and stuffed those things in there without knowing what you were packing?"

"Sure thing. I wasn't asked to take an inventory," he bridled.

"I know, but butter and eggs and lard can't be packed that way. I've got to see what you have done with them."

"Do you mean I've got to take all this stuff out so you can put it all back?" he snapped. "I'm glad I helped, I am."

"But, Dick," she argued, "if eggs were broken and butter squeezed over everything it would ruin the rugs in the auto. That would never do."

Dick groaned. "You go to bed; I'll do this," said Nell.

"No, I'll spend the few remaining hours of this night moving groceries from the table to a basket and back again." Dick had the air of a Christion martyr, but he was banging articles forcibly on the table.

"Do stop banging things around; it's eggs you are looking for," remonstrated Nell with strained patience.

"Well, I've found them." He had stuck his hands into a mess of broken eggs and sugar.

"Oh, Dick," wailed Nell, "the broken eggs have soaked the sugar sack, and it's all running out. Don't touch it, Dick! I must try to save some of the sugar. And you've squeezed the sack of rice down into the butter hard enough to break the bag, and butter is over all the other things."

"Well, I'll let you go your own gait and get to bed when you can before I offer to help again, you can just bet." Dick's tone was injured, and he left the kitchen like a cyclone.

"I didn't mean to find fault, dear," called Nell. "You meant to help; you go to bed now. I'll come soon." There was no answer to her overtures of peace.

It was twelve o'clock before all trace of damage was removed and Nell got into bed.

MARKETING HELPS

A practical knowledge of marketing on the part of the housewife affects to a marked degree both the comfort and expense book of the family. Intelligence and skill in buying are only secured by careful practice. The purchaser must not fear to ask questions. Most men with whom she will have to deal will be found to be patient, helpful, painstaking and reliable, yet she must make sure by sufficient trials that the cuts of meat, etc., recommended are, all things considered, those that are best adapted to meet the needs of her family.

It is usually greatly to one's advantage to select a regular place for marketing. Greater consideration is shown such customers and better satisfaction results. Time is saved, and usually it proves to be quite as economical, often more so. Disappointments are less liable to occur than in buying more generally.

The fact of buying regularly at the same place should not, however, lead to the erroneous idea that a telephone may be substituted for frequent visits to the market. This is a mistake which is increasing rapidly in America. Orders given in this way, by note, or to the driver at the door, are liable to be less satisfactory than those which are given at the store, where the selection can be made by the purchaser. The telephone may be resorted to occasionally in emergencies, but should not take the place of regular visits. The greater satisfaction to be secured through personal selection, the greater variety secured by seeing otherwise unthought-of articles, and the closer economy possible more than offset the additional time consumed.

More than a single day's order may be given at a time. All orders needing prompt filling, as meats and vegetables, may be given the day before, so that there may be sufficient time to fill the order without discomfort to those who serve. This is only reasonable consideration for others, besides securing for oneself greater satisfaction.

It is evidence of an inexcusable lack of foresight when a housewife plans so little ahead of the immediate need as to leave the ordering of roast beef for a 12 o'clock dinner until 10 o'clock of the morning it is desired.

THE TABLE

Escaloped Veal—Chop cold roast veal, add pepper and salt to taste. Put layer of bread crumbs in buttered bake dish, put bits of butter over it, then a layer of meat; repeat until dish is full. Cover with a thick top layer of bread crumbs, moisten with milk and bake until nice and brown.

Beef Loaf—Have ground together two pounds of beef and a half pound of salt pork, add one cup milk, one cup bread crumbs, a good-sized piece of butter, one teaspoon salt, a little pepper, one egg. Put half this mixture into a deep pan, then place in a row four or five hard-boiled eggs, then pack down the rest of the mixture between and on top of the eggs. Bake about one hour. Onion may be added to loaf if preferred. This makes a very pretty and appetizing dish for a Sunday night supper.

Economy Mayonnaise Dressing—Two eggs, one tablespoon of sugar, one-half teaspoon of mustard, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons olive oil. Beat well together, then add one cup vinegar. Dissolve 1½ tablespoons lemon gelatin in as little water as possible. Beat all together and set in icebox to harden. Will keep for two weeks.

Nut Bread—Two eggs, two cups milk, four cups flour, one cup sugar, one cup nuts, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon of salt; mix. Let stand twenty minutes, then bake.

Brown Cake—Two cups brown sugar, one-half cup shortening (scant), one cup sour milk (buttermilk is best), two eggs, three heaping teaspoons cocoa, one teaspoon soda, flour to make batter for layer cake. Put cocoa in flour.

DEDICATE MARKERS.

Chester, Pa., Sept. 11—The 138th anniversary of the Battle of Brandywine is being celebrated with special exercises today at the Birmingham Friends' Meeting House. Federal Judge O. B. Dickinson is in charge of the affair. The markers on the battlefield are in place and will be dedicated today.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

San Francisco.—The D. A. R. special, with its notable women tourists, reached Yellowstone Park Wednesday. On Sunday the party will reach the San Francisco Fair. Mrs. William Cumming Story, the president-general, heads the delegation which is crossing the country to celebrate D. A. R. Day at the big Fair. With her are representatives of nearly every State in the Union, and many of the national officers. The week of September 13 to 18 will be Daughters of the Revolution Week at the Fair, and the women will be the guests of the Exposition. It is expected that the quarrel started by the Michigan chapter will be threshed out by the national officers when they arrive here. Members of the Detroit chapter charge that Mrs. Story is using the Navy League movement to cloak a campaign to insure herself in office "contrary to the principles of the organization." The Michigan women refused to accompany the delegation to San Francisco.

Covington, Ky.—A memorial to the women of the Colonial Period in American history, from 1607 to 1775, is now assured. A few weeks ago a big meeting of women was held at Cincinnati, which assured the Society of Colonial Daughters of the support of the New York, Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Missouri, Delaware, California and New Jersey women in the project. The Society of Colonial Daughters has its headquarters here, with Mrs. Betty W. Taylor as president-general. For eight years this society has been working to secure recognition of the colonial woman as one of the pioneer types to be immortalized.

Minneapolis, Minn.—The Old Trails Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will hold a patriotic rally on Saturday at Fort Snelling, and will dedicate a bronze tablet on the old round tower to honor the memory of Col. Leavenworth and his command, who were the first soldiers to occupy the reservation. The tablet will be unveiled by Mrs. Richard Chute, who has lived in Minnesota for sixty-four years. Mrs. James T. Morris, the regent of Old Trails Chapter, has secured much interesting data concerning the early history of Minnesota, and she will tell the story. Governor Winfield S. Hammond will accept the tablet for the State.

San Francisco.—A conference of the Needlework Guild of America will be held next Monday in this city. Mrs. Truman H. Newberry, of Detroit, president of the Guild, is expected to attend, and the California and western branches will send delegates to the meeting. Mrs. E. Percy Teal, of Glendale, Pa., will make the principal address. Mrs. Teal, who is a member of the national board, has been touring the West to strengthen the branches and form new branches. The Guild has established an exhibit in the Palace of Education at the Fair.

New York.—The statue of Joan of Arc, which will be erected at Riverside Drive and Ninety-third street, will rest on a pedestal made from the stones of her prison at Rouen, France. The statue is of heroic size and shows the daring leader of the French arms astride her charger. The cost of the monument is about $25,000, which was supplied by private subscription. Anna Vaughn Hyatt, the New York sculptor, designed the statue and its setting.

St. Paul, Minn.—A smoking den for women is an innovation being introduced in the new $150,000 women's building now being completed at the Ramsay County Poor Farm. The aged inmates, many of whom are grandmothers and great-grandmothers, may sit in comfortable rocking chairs in their den and enjoy their pipes in peace. The smoking den was introduced by vote of the women inmates, with hardly a dissenting voice.

Boston—The growing popularity of swimming among women is shown in the statistics at the Massachusetts State baths at three beaches. Back in 1910 the women formed 40 per cent. of the swimmers; last year this number had grown to 44 per cent. and so far this year the percentage is estimated at 45. Twenty years ago comparatively few women along the coast were swimmers. It was at first a fad, but is now the regular exercise of many women. The revolution in costumes has succeeded gradually in removing the long skirts which were such a nuisance to the swimmers, and before long the one-piece bathing suit will be generally seen on American beaches as they are at the European resorts.

LIFE OF AUTO IN WAR ZONE IS THIRTY DAYS

"The life of the average motor car," says a writer from the war zone "is less than thirty days."

The writer was not referring to destruction by shot and shell, either but to wear and tear—the inability of the car to hold up under hard service over rough roads.

If this is true, American automobile manufacturers have every reason to expect a big and abundant buying market for their goods across the sea declared a Western manufacturer.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Although "Robin Hood" is twenty three years old, and Reginald de Koven has written many other works this is the first time that he has lent his name to any company presenting his operas. The de Koven Opera Company, composed mostly of Grand Opera singers and headed by Ivy Scott, of the Century Grand Opera New York, will be heard at the Plainfield Theatre next Saturday, matinee and night, and, radical as it may seem, Mr. de Koven is authority for the statement that the vocal balance and calibre of the present company, suits him even better than did the original Bostonians. This is explained by the fact that in those days there was a certain amount of catering to the comedians of the organization, and now, while the comedy roles are not neglected, the music is sung by singers possessing voices suited to the score, who were carefully selected from the Grand Opera houses of this country and Europe.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Once more the bill at Proctor's is scheduled to change, but the mirth and melody which has prevailed at this house during the past week will continue throughout the season. While music has been the big feature for the past week, dancing is the feature of the next, so consult the program of the first three days which follows:

The Imperial Ballet Troupe, direct from the LaScola Milan, is an act beautiful, and lovers of the graceful movements of the dancing of stageland should by all means see this number before this bill passes. Miss Georgie Earl and Company are to spring comedy in a skit, while Rags Leighton and Val Sichin are to present some of the same line in a sketch entitled "Going Hunting."

Two dogs and one man, the name of whom are left from the program for some reason, are among the bookings to start Monday, and are listed under the title of "The Act Marvelous." The final two numbers of the program for the first three days of next week are musical in nature. Carmella and Rosa Rencelle, piano and singing, is the first, while Irene Marcerry and Joska, instrument specialists, are the others.

Do not forget the change of feature pictures daily, or that current events are shown each day in picture form. Others bear in mind that this house has an excellent orchestra under the personal direction of Karl Miller, formerly of the Proctor Fifth Avenue Theatre.

1,200 LAND OWNERS FIGHT.

Lynchburg, Va., Sept. 11.—Twelve hundred occupants of some 146,000 acres of valuable coal, mineral and timber lands in Buchanan county are fighting ejectment proceedings brought in the Federal District Court here by the Virginia-West Virginia Coal Company of Charleston, W. Va. Two of the cases will go to trial on Monday as test cases, and an agreement has been reached that the judgment in the test cases is to be entered in fifteen similar cases filed here. The coal company seeks to oust the present occupants of these various tracts, some of whom hold title dating back prior to the Civil War. There are 1,200 defendants named in the 17 writs.

WILL "WIG-WAG" G. A. R. GREETINGS

President's Message Will Be Translated Into Sign Language.

BY THE SIGNAL CORPS

Arrangements for This Feature Have Been Completed by Lieut. George Carr Round, of U. S. Signal Corps Veterans.

Washington, Sept. 11.—On the opening day of the forthcoming Grand Army Encampment in Washington, President Wilson will "wig wag" a message of greeting and goodwill to the veterans visiting the National Capital. Mr. Wilson will not personally manipulate the flags, for he does not understand the old Myer code, which was in use by the Union army during the Civil War, but his welcome will be translated into the sign language and sent from station to station about Washington by survivors of the Signal Corps of fifty years ago.

Arrangement for the signalling features of the encampment were announced today by Lieutenant George Carr Round, president of the United States Veterans' Signal Corps Association, who has called upon all members of the organization who are able to do so to be present in Washington during encampment week. The main station of the Signal Corps boys of '61-'65 will be upon the heights of Georgetown in the extreme western section of Washington and upon the very spot where the government had its signal camps of instruction during the war. Mt. Tabor Methodist church stands there now, and it will be used as the headquarters of the corps. From that point welcomes will be "wig-wagged" by such signal corps officers as General Fisher, General Greely, General Scriven and Colonel Albert J. Myers, Jr. These officers, understanding the code, will doubtless take the flags in their own hands and do their own signalling, flashing messages of peace and goodwill to the American people. At various points about Washington, such as Fort Stevens, Fort De Russy, the Soldiers' Home, Fort Richardson and Fairfax Seminary, which were used as signalling points in war times, stations will be established during the encampment and messages will be transmitted in the old way, as in the days before the invention of the field telephone and the wireless. Instead of being war orders, they will be what President Round, of the Signal Corps Association calls "jubilee messages." The scheme was tried with much success during the encampment at Chattanooga and Gettysburg, and will be worked out upon a much more elaborate basis for encampment week in Washington. Another feature will be the transmission of orders by the old "wig-wag" method during the time the veterans are passing in parade in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the grand review. Signalmen will be stationed in the dome of the Capitol and on top of the Treasury, at the west end of Pensylvania avenue, and from time to time, as the old veterans are passing in review, messages will be sent.

President Round has been obliged to scour the country for a set of old-time copper torches, which will be used in "wig-wagging" welcomes to the Grand Army on the night of the big reception. The station used on that occasion will be the dome of the Capitol. As none of these old torches has been preserved by the Signal Office of the Army, it is probable that the set provided will finally be presented to the National Museum as relics.

EXPECT BIG THRONG AT BRIGHTON FIGHT

McFarland and Gibbons "On Edge" for Their Encounter Tonight.

PERTINENT FACTS OF BRIGHTON BEACH BOUT.

Contestants—"Mike" Gibbons, St. Paul, and "Packey" McFarland, Chicago.

Place—Brighton Beach Motordrome.

Seating capacity—52,000.

Price of tickets—$1, $2, $3 and $5.

Time of bout—Ten o'clock tonight. Gates open at six o'clock and band concert at same time.

Purse—McFarland, $17,500; Gibbons, $15,000, in advance.

Weight—147 pounds at three o'clock today.

Referee—"Billy" Joh, New York.

Timekeepers—Dr. Muth, for club; "Jimmy" Moran, Chicago, for McFarland; "Billy" Newman, New York, for Gibbons.

Conditions—Ten rounds, no decision; New York boxing laws to prevail.

Other bouts—Three six round preliminaries, first starting at eight o'clock.

Essentially the ten round engagement between "Packey" McFarland, of Chicago, and "Mike" Gibbons at the Brighton Beach Motordrome tonight should be a classic in scientific defense of the human body. Probably these two great exponents of fistic lore, versed in every branch of boxing, skillful, speedy and game to the core, should provide a spectacle of hitting and blocking such as the sport has not known since "Kid" McCoy and "Tommy" Ryan met in their historic affair.

Trained to the minute, prepared to the best of their helpers' knowledge, each realizing to what extent the other may go, McFarland and Gibbons last night were confidently awaiting the clang of the gong. Not since the Horton law was abolished and the Frawley law went into effect in New York State has there been a bout of such magnitude as this affair. Never has the interest been so great as now.

Regardless of the bout itself, there will probably be a gathering around the ringside unprecedented in modern fighting arenas. If all seats are filled more than fifty thousand persons will be on hand. If half that number are present still all records for attendance at a boxing bout will have been exceeded. There were 27,000 at the Jeffries-Johnson affair at Reno, this being the largest crowd ever at a ring bout.

ANNEXES TWENTY-FIRST HOMER; PHILLIES SPEEDING

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 11—"Gabby" Cravath broke up the fourth and final game of the series between the Phillies and Giants yesterday in the eighth inning with the longest home run drive he has made since he joined the team, and one of the longest hits ever made on the Phillies' grounds.

Cravath picked the psychological moment for his smash, for there were three men on bases, the score was tied and no one was out. It was Cravath's twenty-first homer of the season. The four runs gave the Phillies their fourth straight victory over New York, by a score of 7 to 3. As Boston split even on its double header with Pittsburgh and Brooklyn did not play, the Phillies are now leading the Dodgers by 3½ games and are 4½ games in front of the Braves.

SOLONS HIT THE TRAIL.

Boston, Sept. 11.—Jerry Watson and Jimmy Storrow will hit the trail today. From City Hall where they hold forth at polished desks as Councilmen, they will go twenty miles. It will be a twenty mile talk as well as a twenty mile walk, if Jerry can keep up. The Back Bay blue-bloods are laying heavy odds on Storrow, and the alley gangs are backing their hero, Watson. The trail will begin at City Hall, and Storrow will blaze the way. Various rumors are in the air. It is said the foxy trail-blazer will pick out high hills, to thwart his fat and heavy opponent. Somebody has filled Jerry's locker with crutches and walking sticks. And one political jester has rigged up a windmill that will lift Jerry's feet every fifty words.

WESTFIELD BOWLERS.

Westfield, Sept. 11—The Westfield Sunday-school Athletic League met in the parlors of the First Baptist church Thursday evening and reorganized for the coming bowling season. Six teams will participate in the tournament, the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, Episcopal, Holy Trinity and Presbyterians. Each school was represented at the meeting excepting the Presbyterians who have signified their intention of participating in the sport.

NEW YORKERS WIN.

Sea Girt, Sept. 11.—The Inter-State Regimental team shooting match was won yesterday by the Seventy-first Regiment of New York with a team total of 818. The others finished as follows: Second New Jersey, 798; Third New Jersey, 795; Third District Columbia, 778; Fourth New Jersey, 751, and First Corps Massachusetts Cadets, 746.

That funny fellow scoop is on the baseball page.

TITLE WINNERS GET GLAD HAND

Coughlin and His Netherwoods Well Represented at City League Meeting.

NO PROTEST ENTERED

In the Opinion of League Officials Saurer Team Has No Grounds to Kick—Little of Interest Transpired at Session.

The weekly City League meeting was held in the Daily Press office last night, representatives of all the teams with the exception of Clinton Avenue attending. Many of the members of the Netherwood team, the league champions, were present and received the congratulations of their colleagues. James B. Coughlin, head of the Netherwood forces, made a neat little speech in which he thanked the league officials for the activity they have shown in obtaining for the winners a silver cup, donated by Leo Slonim; a pennant awarded by Harry Dreier, and watch fobs given by the Spalding company. Coughlin also commented on the sportsmanship exhibited by all of his competitors and said that he hoped to see the league re-organized next year with eight clubs instead of six.

Although the Saurer team representative did not enter a formal protest, one of the club members, George Miller, gave the shopmen's version of the rumored trouble. According to Miller the league constitution reads that only Spalding balls be used. Miller claimed that Britt Martin, who was unable to attend the meeting owing to business, based his protest on the fact that the Baptist manager purchased a make of balls known as the D and M and that these balls were cheaper and inferior to the Spalding regulation National League ball which Miller claimed the league by-laws said must be used. Dan Randolph, manager of the Baptists, entered his side of the argument and said that he had asked Frank Stires, who was present at the meeting, to buy him two Spalding baseballs for use in the afternoon game. Stires went to Harry Dreier's to purchase the spheres, but found that the stock had been sold out. Stires tried two or three other stores and met with the same result.

Frank Malanga, the umpire who officiated at the game, stated that before the contest began he inspected the baseballs and found that they were not of the Spalding make. At the same time Martin told Malanga to notice the balls, but he did not say that he had any objections to using them. No formal protest was entered last night, and in the opinion of the other managers Martin has no grounds for argument. James Coughlin stated that he knew for a fact that Stires could not purchase Spalding balls in this city on Labor Day afternoon. The matter was left undecided, but it is not thought that the Saurer team will gain anything by the argument.

A challenge was received from the Plainfield A. A., who are anxious to take a shot at the pennant winners. The letter was turned over to Coughlin as it was not considered league business.

FAMOUS HORSE DEAD.

Hamburg, son of Hanover-Lady Reel, one of the greatest race horses produced in the history of the American turf and a sire whose sons and daughters will long shed lustre on his name, died yesterday at the Brookdale (N. J.) farm of his owner, Harry Payne Whitney. News of Hamburg's death was received at Belmont Park yesterday afternoon only a few minutes after Mr. Whitney's four-year-old gelding, Slumber, 2d, by Hamburg out of Forget, had easily won the Merrick Handicap. Turfmen who had often hailed Hamburg as one of the best of his time when he was a stake winner and later as a great sire, discussed with mingled pride and sympathy the passing of the most widely known son of Hanover.

SWIMMING CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Boston, Sept. 11—The annual outdoor swimming championship for New England amateurs will be held in the Charles River Basin today and next Saturday. The 100-yard, 220-yard, 440-yard, 880-yard and one mile championships will be decided today, also the diving championship. Next Saturday the three-mile championship race is scheduled.

CAL. BIG GOLF TOURNAMENT.

Delmonte, Cal., Sept. 11—The California open golf championship has brought a number of coast experts to the qualifying round today. Eighteen holes will be played today and 36 holes tomorrow, the total scores determining the winner.

The man or woman who have not the habit of "trying again" very often fail as want advertisers, wholly for that reason.

NOTHING TOO BIG FOR THE CHAMPIONS

Coughlin Says His Charges Will Take 'Em as They Are Dished Out.

James Coughlin, manager of the Netherwood baseball club, has announced that he has accepted the challenge made by "Rube" Bond, of the Elizabeth A. A., and will lead his charges against the Betsytown boys either one week from today or the Saturday following. In addition to accepting the Elizabeth challenge, Coughlin has also agreed to try conclusions with the Bound Brook Bees and the Plainfield A. A. While no definite date has as yet been set for the Bound Brook argument it is understood that the Netherwoods will meet "Dippy" Jones' men on September 25, the game to be played on Parker Field.

According to Jones he will not have to pad up for the occasion and will use only the same men as have been performing for him every Sunday. This means that either Johnny Dixon or Benny Rosenson will get a shot at the Netherwoods. It is not thought that Jones took into consideration the fact that some of the other league teams, of which a few of his boys are members, have games already arranged for the 25th, when the agreement to engage with the Netherwoods was drawn up. "Russ" Stewart will likely attend to the Netherwood pitching when these two outfits get together. According to "Dippy" the city open diamond championship is at stake.

HAND WILL CATCH FOR CLIFF RANDOLPH

Plains Boy Agrees to do the Receiving for Pacer Outfit.

Cliff Radolph will twirl two games tomorrow, one against the Perth Amboy Franklins and the other against the St. Anthonys, of the same place. The last time Cliff attempted a stunt of this kind he made a great showing, hurling a no-hit game in the first session and allowing no runs, while only five hits were garnered off his stuff in the final exhibition.

Tommy Mullin, the North avenue speed demon, played for the Franklins and tapped the pill twice. Frank "Nibs" Hand, who recently returned from the Worcester, New England League team, after enjoying a most successful season with that club, will handle the shoots for Randolph tomorrow.

FARMER A. C. TO APPEAR IN DOUBLE BALL PROGRAM

The manager of the Farmer A. C. has mapped out a good day's work for his men tomorrow, when he will lead them against the Queen City A. C. in the first section of a big double decker and against the Loraine baseball club in the aftermath. The Loraine team comes highly recommended, but the Farmers feel that they can upset the visitors. According to A. C. Campbell, the Farmer leader, Kachelries, his mainstay on the hillock, will attempt another "Iron Man" stunt and expects to get away with it.

Of course, the merits of the Queen City team are known to local fans and as the Queen manager has promised to present his whole battle array tomorrow another good tussle is anticipated. Sid Butler and Cohen will be in the points for the Cittlads, while Kachelries and Joe Morley will attend to the same work for the Farmers. The games will be played on the Clinton Avenue Field.

SAURERS IN ACTION.

The Saurer baseball team will take a trip to New Brunswick tomorrow to take the Knights of St. Peter into camp. The last time the Saurer team made a trip to the Middlesex town rain stopped the argument but the locals had little trouble in piling up runs in the few innings they were there. The manager of the Knights has announced that he will use Ed Spille on the mound, while Britt Martin has advertised Warry McLaughlin. Among the local players who will make the trip are Jack Garretson, "Tush" Jaeger, Lou Dixon, Henry Alberts and Eddie Bergen, the latter at one time a Simplex Factory League catcher.

SECOND TITLE MATCH.

The second section of the Sunday baseball championship games being staged by the T. A. B. S. and the Plainfield A. A. will be run off at Avon Oval tomorrow. The first game, played last Sunday, resulted in an easy win for the Abstainers, who had

SPORT BRIEFS

Kid Williams, the bantamweight champion of the world, lost on a foul to Johnny Ertle, of St. Paul, in the fifth round of their scheduled ten-round bout at St. Paul, last night.

Wild Bert Kenny outpointed Leo Houck, of Lancaster, Pa., in the main bout of ten rounds at the Polo A. C., last night.

Joe Tinker, manager of the Chicago Feds, will undergo an examination on Monday and may submit to an operation for an ailment which has troubled him all season.

Pitcher Cook, of the Toronto Internationals, and former New York Giant, pitched a no-hit game yesterday against the Harrisburg team.

McFarland and Gibbons both in fine trim for their ten-round bout, which will be staged at the Brighton Beach Motordrome tonight.

NOT ONE OF FITZ ADVERTISING STUNTS

"Lanky Bob" Cannot Be Blamed for This Pugilistic Rumor.

Reports current about town state that during the coming winter prize fights will be held in one of this city's bustling suburbs. Which suburb will stage the bouts has not been decided but it is said that Dunellen is favored by the promoters. It has also been announced that several local fight promoters have interviewed the Dunellen officials and have received assurances that if the people want to sport the officials have no objections provided no decision four-round bouts are the only ones staged. The New Jersey pugilistic laws do not allow decision fights and just at present the fight game is far from being in a flourishing condition in this State. Among the pugilists who are going to appear here if a license is granted are Silent Martin, Bob Fitzsimmons, Kid Alberts, Charley Weinert and Jim Savage in addition to a host of second raters. Of course all the contests will be merely exhibition bouts, but should prove of interest to ring followers in this vicinity.

BRUNSWICK GIRLS OUT.

The city of New Brunswick, which boasted some time ago of having the best set of girl athletes in New Jersey, now comes out with the announcement that a representative girls' tennis team has been organized and will meet a Plainfield girls' team in the near future. This team is composed of the Misses Marguerite Prentiss, Katherine, Runyon, Jane Runyon, Henrietta Schenck and Ingrid Nelson.

LOOKING FOR WOMAN.

The local police are today making efforts to establish the identity and present whereabouts of a woman who called upon Mrs. Sarah Waerdner, at 524 Park avenue, yesterday and left a matting suitcase for which she has not since returned. In the suitcase were found a number of postal cards, but nothing of a nature that would aid the authorities in locating her.

Chalmers Six 40

$1350 Seven Passenger

Two Trainloads of Chalmers Cars

Seventy-six freight cars in two trains loaded with 226 Chalmers seven-passenger Six-40's were shipped from the Chalmers factory in Detroit to New York last week.

This is the biggest single shipment of high-grade motor cars that ever came into the Metropolitan district. The great majority of these cars are to fill orders on hand.

Our Mr. Walter Stryker has just arrived from New York with some of these new cars and we are now ready to prove that it is the best buy for the money that this town has ever seen.

This is the car with the wonderful valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor—the "20% more power motor"—which made it necessary for the Chalmers Company to so tremendously increase its production for 1916.

The Six-40 has a "trigger-quick" getaway, eager power, iron-hearted endurance.

The springs are long and easy the upholstery deep, comfortable and of real leather. The bodies are neither dipped, sprayed nor baked. They are painted in the good old-fashioned way that created the wonderful "coach" beauty of other days.

Orders will be filled in rotation—as received.

HUDSON $1350 F.O.B.

The Fine Car

That Outsells Any Other

Do you know that last year this new-type HUDSON won the top place among fine cars? It outsold any other with a price above $1200. It led both in dollars and cars.

Yet this new model—at $1350—is selling twice as fast.

This new car is exquisite. It has the Yacht-Line body. It has the new Lustrous finish. It has extra room. Luxury has been added in a dozen different ways.

This is the type of car which men want when they buy for keeps. It is a car to be proud of. It has beauty, finish, comfort and room. It is a car designed by Howard E. Coffin and built by HUDSON standards.

It offers a value found in no other high class car. The price has dropped $400 inside of 21 months because of a quadrupled output. Yet 51 improvements have been added in that time.

The demand for HUDSON this summer will exceed the supply, just as it did last summer. The sale so far has averaged more than 200 cars per day. The output is 100 daily. If you want this car, and want early delivery, we urge you to see it now.

GEORGE S. ROBINS NOW A BENEDICT

Takes Miss Bessie Alpaugh for His Bride at Home Ceremony.

A RECEPTION FOLLOWS

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of Crescent Avenue Church, Officiates in Presence of 200 Guests—Couple to Live in the West.

Miss Bessie Alpaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Alpaugh, and George Stanley Robins, son of Mrs. George H. Robins, both of Plainfield, were married at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 135 East Sixth street. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her younger sister, Miss Florence Alpaugh, and Harold S. Robins was his brother's best man. The bride entered the reception room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage.

Being one of the first of the fall weddings, the color scheme was in keeping with late summer and early autumn. Smilax and white asters prevailed in the library and reception room, while yellow roses brought the dining room in tasteful contrast.

The bride's dress was a combination of white satin, tulle and applique lace veil caught up with orange blossoms. Her bouquet was a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and tiny yellow rosebuds. Miss Florence Alpaugh wore a gown of yellow flowered taffeta and silver lace, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet with a shower of ribbons.

About 200 guests from this city and out of town were present. Following the wedding supper, which was served by Day, of Newark, the younger generation and several of the older enjoyed dancing. The music was by Austin, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Robins departed for a short trip before leaving this city on an extended tour through the Middle West.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the Plainfield High School, the former of the class of 1910 and the latter of the class of 1909. The bride continued her studies at Dana Hall. Since then she has taken an active part in the affairs of the local younger set and of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church.

Mr. Robins was graduated in chemistry from Rutgers College in 1913 and spent a year in research work in chemistry on the Vanderpoel Fellowship at that institution. He is a member of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity and Phi Beta Kappa. During his college years he was engaged in local newspaper work.

Mr. and Mrs. Robins will reside in Webster Groves, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis. Mr. Robins is engaged in the industrial chemical business in St. Louis.

MISS GRACE MENDELL TO WED DR. WARREN FARWELL

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mendell announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Grace L. Mendell, to Dr. Warren Farwell, of Dayton, O. PATROLMAN WELSH BROKE UP WEDDING

To the Strains of "Here Comes the Bride" He Arrests Eloping Couple.

Just what significance was attached to Lieutenant Maurice Higgins' selection of Patrolman Martin Welsh to break up a wedding in Robert Morley's home on West Third street yesday is not known, but it is admitted that for a bachelor Welsh exhibited enough courage before a houseful of wedding guests and a din of wedding music to qualify him for admission into the ranks of the benedicts. To the strains of "Here Comes the Bride," Patrolman Welsh marched from the Morley home with the prospective bride on one arm and the bridegroom-elect on the other, and continued the parade down West Third street to police headquarters, where the couple, John Keith Clark, of the "Big Woods," Westfield, and Edith Mildred Fluellem, of 631 South Tenth street, Newark, were introduced to City Judge William G. DeMeza and Lieutenant Higgins. But congratulations were not in order, for the police trouble makers had learned that Miss Fluellem was but fourteen years of age, and therefore not eligible for the marriage rite.

Shortly after 10 o'clock yesterday morning Lieutenant Higgins received a telephone call from Mrs. John Dingee, of Newark, informng him that the woman believed that her fourteen-year-old daughter was contemplating marriage with one, John Clark, of Westfield. Further investigation revealed the fact that the couple secured a marriage license from Miss Harriet O. Mattison, the local registrar, the girl giving her age as eighteen and the bridegroom as twenty-six, the latter being correct if the matured appearances of Mr. Clark are to be accepted as evidence of his years. It was further learned that William S. Clark and Fanny Keiser and Mrs. Robert Morley had acted as witnesses for the couple, and that the bride-elect had given her address as 968 West Third street.

Higgins recognized this number as Robert Morley's address, and despatched Welsh to the address to round up the youthful runaway. Welsh didn't exactly know where 968 West Third street was located, but when he got within a block of the house his ear for music detected the strains of a wedding march issuing from the Morley home. Little did the butler who answered the doorbell suspect that the copper was anything else save an invited guest when he ushered him into the house at 11 o'clock. Welsh happened to know enough wedding etiquette to offer his congratulations to the happy couple, but also took the oportunity to inform them of his mission.

When Welsh left the house arm-in-arm with the couple, the wedding guests failed to scent the cause for the breaking up of the proposed marriage ceremony, but the wiseacres in the gathering soon began a buzz of conversation that finally led up to the real solution of the mystery, and all fled in haste lest they should be pressed into service as police court witnesses instead of wedding guests.

At headquarters Judge DeMeza turned the girl over to her mother, and Clark was allowed to go, no complaint having been made against him. When the couple took out the marriage license the girl gave her name as Edith Mildred Dingee.

NAVAL ADVISORY BOARD IS NAMED

Dr. William L. Saunders, One of Twenty-two Experts, Chosen.

DEVELOPMENT OF NAVY

Plainfielder was Recommended for Appointment by the American Institute of Mining Engineers as the Representative of that Society.

Former Mayor William Lawrence Saunders, of Rockview avenue, North Plainfield, is one of the twenty-two members of the new Naval Advisory Board appointed yesterday by Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy. The Board is composed of private inventors and scientists, whom the Secretary gathered together in order to connect and co-ordinate the inventive genius of the country and the laboratory resources of private enterprise with the efforts of the navy in the development of naval inventions.

The first meeting of the Board has been called for the morning of Wednesday, October 6, in the office of the Secretary of the Navy. Thomas A. Edison, as chairman of the Board, will preside. Commeting upon the work of the Board, Mr. Daniels said today: "Desiring to make available the latent inventive genius of our country to improve our navy a short while ago, I requested Mr. Edison to become the chairman of an advisory board of eminent men, who would make up the Board. Mr. Edison, with the patriotism characteristic of American inventors, accepted the call to duty. The plan adopted for selecting the members of the Advisory Board was as follows:

"I requested eleven great engineering and scientific societies to select by popular election two members each to represent their society on the Board. The result has been most gratifying. I have received the nominations of all these societies and have accepted them, and it only remains to have a meeting, organize and determine the proceedure in order to utilize to the best advantage of our navy this mobilization of the talent and genius of our great country."

Mr. Saunders is one of the members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, who was voted to represent that society on the Board. He has had a noteworthy career; besides being an inventor of many devices for subaqueous and rock drilling, he has had considerable experience as a newspaper and magazine editor, and has been prominent in political life. He is chairman of the board of directors of the Ingersoll-Rand Company, of New York, and president of the New York Imperial Tool Company and Rand Drill Company; director of the A. S. Cameron Steam Pump Works, Edison-Saunders Compressed Air Company, International Pneumatic Tube Company, International Harvester Company, of New Jersey; International Harvester Corporation, and the Westfield People's National Bank. He has invented apparatus for drilling rock under water, Ingersoll track and bar channelers and gadders for quarrying stone. He is the author of "Compressed Air Information" and "Compressed Air Production," and the co-author of "The Subways and Tunnels of New York" and "Rock Drilling."

Benjamin Bowditch Thayer, of New York city, metallurgist and explosive expert, and now president of the Anaconda Mining Company, was the other representative of the American Institute of Mining Engineers.

Lamme; American Mathematical Society, Robert Simpson Woodward and Dr. Arthur Gordon Webster; American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Henry Alexander Wise Wood and Elmer Ambrose Sperry; the American Electro-Chemical Society, Dr. Joseph William Richards and Lawrence Addicks, and the American Society of Civil Engineers, Andrew Murray Hunt and Alfred Craven.

HACKMEN TO OPPOSE WEST END PETITION

Will Be Out Strong When the Matter Comes up Next Thursday Night.

Representatives of the hackmen and taxicab drivers doing business from the North Avenue Central Railroad depot are planning to attend the public hearing in the Common Council chambers Thursday night, when the proposed amendment to the hack-zone ordinance will be discussed. Certain residents of the West End have been instrumental in filing a petition with Councilman Thomas Hylan asking that the twenty-five cent hacck fare boundary be extended from Grant to Monroe avenue, and the matter was presented to the Council at the July meeting.

The hackmen claimed that they cannot afford to carry passengers further than Grant avenue for the quarter fare, and it has been rumored that a general strike would be declared if the Council acted favorably on the proposition.

In speaking to a Daily Press reporter this morning one taxi owner said that he had compiled considerable data for presentation to the Council, and that he, for one, would be present to speak in opposition to the measure.

HOAGLAND HONORED BY POSTMASTERS

Appointed to Serve On Committees at the Atlantic City Convention.

Postmaster Hoagland has returned from the New Jersey State Convention of Presidential Postmasters, which met in Atlantic City. Mr. Hoagland was honored by being made chairman of the nominating committee for officers. He was also made chairman of the topic committee for next year's convention. The National Association of Second and Third Class Postmasters, which was also in session at the same time, met with the New Jersey postmasters. United States Senator Martine addressed the convention at its banquet.

A matter discussed at the convention was the necessity of householders providing mail boxes or slots in front doors for the reception of mail. If the patrons of the Plainfield office would adopt such a plan, the delivery of mail in this city would be hastened by at least a half hour on each trip, it is said.

On very busy days the routes are not completed for the lack of time. Carriers average over 300 houses at which they deliver mail each trip. A delay of fifteen seconds at each door is an hour and a quarter delay by the end of the trip, and a minute delay, if made at all houses, would be five hours.

If it is still valuable, you can sell it through a For Sale ad.

ALLEGIANCE TO GOD IS URGED

Father Bogan Commends the Plan of State Commissioner of Education.

CO-OPERATION SOUGHT

In a Masterly Sermon Pastor of St. Mary's Church Instructs His People in the Duty of Deep Religious Trust in God.

In reference to the request of Mr. Kendall, State Commissioner of Education, that the people be urged to pray for God's blessing upon the work of education, Father B. M. Bogan took occasion at the 11 o'clock mass yesterday at St. Mary's to pay tribute of respect to the Commissioner for the spirit that prompted his request, and urged the duty of deep religious co-operation with the trust in God evinced in the Commissioner's communication.

"That the Commissioner," he said, "has at heart the eternal interest of the pupils of the State as well as their reliability as future citizens of the State is evident in the tone of Christian dependence on God's help, and in his plea for the prayers of the people. No call comes to us, whether it be from the President in Thanksgiving proclamation, or in Commissioner's communications to the educators in the State, recognizing God as needed among men, that does not find us happily familiar with the means of prayer and hopefully confident of results. May we not read in this religious spirit a trend back to fundamentals of which George Washington spoke, and in that trend read aright the commendations that come to us from statesmen, educators and the leading press of the country, endorsing the Catholic's allegiance to God in education as the only preserving influence for the Republic.

"Is it not in recognition of this return to God in education—even though that recognition is debarred from the classroom—that the Brooklyn Eagle thus addresses its readers: 'We are within measurable distance of the time when society may, of its own sake, go on its knees to any factor which can be warranted to make education compatable with and inseparable from morality, letting that factor do it on its own terms, and teach therewith whatever it lists.'

"May it not be in deference to the same spirit of dependence on God that the 'Methodist' writes editorially: 'In our judgment the denominational schools of the land, as compared with the purely secular or State schools, are on moral grounds incomparably the safer. Our State institutions, as a general thing, are the hotbeds of infidelity, not less than vice. That unbelief should be fostered and fomented therein is not unatural. We thoroughly believe that our church (Methodist) should invest at least ten millions of dollars in the next ten years in denominational schools. Why? Because we believe this system is the American one and the only safe one.'

Is it not in hope of the same help from God in matters of education that the editor of 'Age of Steel' thus put his plea for religious influence in education: 'A boy might be educated at school for several years, but if his heart is not educated with his head, his conscience with his memory, a knowledge of arithmetic and skill in penmanship, of the date of the Battle of Bunker Hill and the number of gallons of water in Lake Michigan, are no guarantee that he will not use his acquired knowledge in putting the finishing touches to as consummate a scoundrel as ever entered a prison cell. So far as education goes, there are rascals who understand geometry, and can give you the distance of the sun, moon and stars as easily as a railway conductor can punch a mileage book.'

"Many prominent non-Catholics have ceased to find in so-called nonsectarian, undenominational religion any hope for that moral character which positive religion alone can develop. Witness Honorable Amasa Thornton, of New York, in the North American Review: 'I am a Protestant of the firmest kind. The Catholic church has insisted that it is its duty to educate its children in such a way as to fix religion in the youthful mind. For this it has been assailed by the non-Catholic population; and Catholics have even been charged with being enemies of the people and of the flag. Any careful observer in the city of New York can see that the only people, as a class, who are teaching the children in the way that will secure the future of the best civilization are the Catholics; and, although a Protestant of the firmest kind, I believe the time has come to recognize this fact, and for us to lay aside prejudices and patriotically meet this question. The children and youth of today must be given such instruction in the truths of the Bible and Christian precept as will

BOY'S HONEST TALE MOVES COURTROOM

Judge DeMeza Balks on Sending Youth to Jail Who Has Some Good in Him.

Believing that there is a wealth of good in the youth that has never had an opportunity to show itself, Judge DeMeza, in the city court this morning, took the case of William Morris, of 1,250 George street, accused of stealing a bicycle belonging to Paul Murker, under personal advisement, and will endeavor to work out some plan by which the boy will be given a new start in life. Morris, after demanding an examination this morning, told a pitiful tale to the magistrate that brought tears to the eyes of a large assemblage in the court room. A mere boy, he admits being addicted to the use of intoxicants, and says that he cannot get along without dope. Judge De Meza has personally investigated the boy's home environment, and was profound in his denunciation of the father this morning. So angered was the judge by the boy's revelations of his father's treatment of his mother that he notified the police to have the parent in court tomorrow morning, when he will be given an opportunity to explain his degrading arts.

So long has it been since he has heard a kind word that Morris broke down and wept when urged to tell the truth by the court this morning. He admitted having taken the wheel and exhibited a long cut on his forehead, which he sustained when he fell from the vehicle near Fanwood, before continuing his ride to Newark, where he was arrested while trying to sell it.

Morris said that his father turned him out of the house when he was a mere child, and that he had gone West to get a start. He met with failure, however, and while coming back east was shot as he clung to a blind baggage. He is still lame, the bullet having lodged in his hip.

Probation Officer Irwin, of Union county, visited Judge DeMeza this morning, and the two men are cooperating in an effort to help Morris to start out again in the right path.

In speaking of the case Judge DeMeza said: "While I am convinced that Morris is guilty of the theft, I am also certain that there is lots of good left in the boy, and it is not my desire to impose a jail sentence when a wrong can be righted in a better way. I do not believe in making a criminal out of a boy, and this will certainly be the result if I hold Morris for the Grand Jury. Many prominent Plainfielders have interceded in his behalf, and with the support of these people I believe I can put him aright."

ROBERT MILLS WEDS MISS AUGUSTA LONG

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie Performs the Ceremony at Home of Bride's Mother.

Miss Augusta Louise Long, daughter of Mrs. Clara Goodman Long, of 819 Park avenue, was married to Robert Mills, of 538 West Seventh street, at an attractive home wedding solemnized Saturday night at the home of the bride's mother. The home was attractively decorated in yellow and white, chrysanthemums being the principal flower of decoration. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Walter L. Long, of this city. Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony.

Miss Long was attended by two matrons of honor, Mrs. Cornelius Bergen, of Somerville, a sister, and Mrs. Adolph Obrig, of Cleveland, Ohio, a sister of the groom. Fred Mills, a brother of the groom, acted as best man.

The bride wore a beautiful dress of white lace over white princess satin and carried a bouquet of white bride roses, and wore a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. The gowns of the matrons of honor were white lace over yellow satin finished in one of the latest modes. They carried armfulls of yellow chrysanthemums.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Paroubek's orchestra, of this city.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home at which one hundred guests were present. Later the bride and groom left on a northern trip and on their return will live in a newly furnished home in Netherwood. Mr. Mills is connected with the Santa Fe Railroad in New York city.

Most of the real estate sold today in Plainfield will be sold as a direct result of classified advertising.

LOSES HOPE FOR EARLY PEACE

Wilson Grows Pessimistic in Address to Visitors to White House.

FRAMING U. S. DEMAND

Bernstorff Sees Lansing—Germany to Be Presented With Final Note Asking for Cessation of Submarine Activities.

Washington, Sept. 13.—In a remarkable address to a party of visitors to the White House today, President Wilson disclosed the fact that he viewed the possibility of peace in Europe with pessimism and apparently had given up hope of an early ending of the great struggle.

"We are hoping and praying that the skies may clear," said the President, "but we have no control over that on this side of the water and it is impossible to predict any part of the course of affairs."

Bernstorff Calls On Lansing.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Secretary Lansing had a conference with President Wilson, this morning, supposedly on submarine warfare. Later in the day Mr. Lansing had a conference with Count Von Bernstorff. The purpose of the conference was to formulate the final demand of the United States for a cessation of German submarine warfare against merchant vessels. The German Ambassador was closeted with Mr. Lansing for one half hour and then returned to the Embassy. On leaving the department, he said he would have nothing to say as to the reason for his call and that any statement, if any were made, would have to be issued by the Secretary of State.

Hand Fighting In France.

Paris, Sept. 13 (French War statement).—The night saw numerous combats with grenades near the Bethune Arras highway and one attack by the enemy, which was easily repulsed. To north of the Souchez station there was continued activity by artillery on both sides. The conflict with mines is continuous. To the south of the Somme, before Faye, there was a violent bombardment in the sectors of Armancourt and of Beuvraignes, as well as on the plateau of Quennevieres and Nouvron. An intermittent cannonade occurred in Champagne and in the Argonne.

Aid Raids Bring Recruits.

London, Sept. 13.—Increased recruiting due to the recent Zeppelin air raid on England has added more than 50,000 soldiers to the British army. It is possible that within a week as many more will be enrolled. The British censor passed, without affirmation or denial, a Berlin despatch stating that the London docks and their environs were bombarded Saturday night.

MILLINGTON FARMER REPORTS THEFT OF COW

A farmer by the name of Valentine, living near Millington, has reported the theft of a cow last night to Chief Marshal Weiss, of the borough. The cow, a large, dark red animal, hornless, with a white patch on each flank, was led from the pasture in the rear of the Valentine barn sometime between 12 and 1 o'clock.

About that time the family were awakened by dogs barking, and arising, they found a length of fence down and the cow gone. They traced her nearly to Stirling in the soft road, but when near that place the thief evidently turned into a macadamized road, for all traces of the cow were lost. Mr Valentine values the cow at $125.

STEAMER ON FIRE AT SEA.

Halifax, Sept. 13.—The steamer Santa Anna, of the Fabre line, which sailed from New York, September 8, with 1,700 Italian reservists and 100 first cabin passengers, is afire in mid-ocean, according to wireless appeals for help received here early today. Fear is expressed that the vessel is in the gravest danger and aid is being sent from here. It is believed that vessels on the ocean will hear the wireless call for help and go to its assistance.

New York, Sept. 13.—It was announced at the offices of the Fabre steamship line here today that no confirmation of the plight of the vessel had been received by the company.

SAMUEL REA RECOVERS.

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who had been a patient at the Polyclinic Hospital, following a recent operation, has left that institution. Mr. Rea is expected back at his desk in a few days.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Mr. Thomas Louden's play, "Brother Bill," took well on its initial appearance at Atlantic City, and after a run at New York it will probably be classed as one of the season's theatrical successes.

Raymond Ross, of Astoria, Long Island, has returned home after spending a month in the 'Plains as the guests of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Albert.

As far as the tennis tournament between Fanwood and Scotch Plains progressed Saturday afternoon the racquet welders from the 'Plains carried off first honors, winning both matches played in the singles and one in the doubles. The singles were played on Hatfield's court, in the 'Plains, and resulted in Hatfield beating Carter, 6—1, 5—7, 7—5. Marshal also won by defeating Fancher, 3—6, 6—3, 6—3. Darkness called a halt to play between Kyte and Lewis after honors rested even with one set apiece. The doubles resulted in some fine play on Cressy's court, in the borough. In the first set Meggy and Taber handily beat Banks and C. Lewis, 6—3, but had to extend themselves in the next two sets to win, 5—6, 8—6. In the second doubles match Cressy and Cassidy paired up against the Marston brothers, the result being the best play of the afternoon. The first two sets were divided at 4—6 and 6—1, but the third went to 5—7 before the Marston brothers could capture the match. Both of them are over six feet tall, and between both of them returned practically everything. Cassidy's volleying and back slashes forced his opponents to keep to the back of the court, while his partner rolled most of their points over the net. The height advantage was too much to overcome, and it was only by playing the ball low that the losers forced the match into the best of the tournament. Kyte and L. Lewis will probably finish their match next Saturday.

William Schwatbach and Kenneth Tullock, the two fourteen-year-old youths who were before Recorder Jahn several weeks ago, after several escapades in the 'Plains, were before Judge Connolly, at Elizabeth, on Friday, charged with breaking and entering several dwellings in Scotch Plains. The court put them on probation for a year. Recorder Jahn let them off on probation after they had stolen a motorcycle belonging to Warren McCauley shortly before breaking into the Lyons residence, on Westfield avenue, and the Scotch Plains School.

Albert Walpole, of Scotch Plains, has removed to Brooklyn, where he has accepted a position with a pier contracting firm.
